DR. PARSONS DELIVERS THE THANKSGIVING SERMON

Scholarly Divine Preaches at Union Service of Denominational Churches.

OTHERS TAKE PART

Rev. Dr. Schenck, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, Rev. A. E. Finn and Rev. George Mooney Have Places on the Programme.

The union Thanksgiving service held at the First Baptist church yesterday morning was largely attended. The churches uniting included the First and Park Avenue Baptist, Trinity Reformed, Congregational, Monroe Avenue, Grace and First M. E., the Seventh-Day Baptist and Christian churches. The pastors of these churches excepting Rev. A. C. McCrea took part some in the service. A quartette choir, comprising Mrs. F. M. Ward, contralto; Mrs. Robert Gidden, soprano; William Holmes, baritone, and George Smith, tenor, sang special music.

In the opening exercises, Rev. A. E. Finn made the opening prayer, Rev. Phil. A. Parson conducted the responsive reading, Rev. C. L. Goodrich read the Scripture lesson, Rev. George B. Shaw offered prayer and Rev. George Mooney read the President's Thanksgiving proclamation.

The sermon was then delivered by Rev. Dr. Charles Wesley Parsons, pastor of Grace M. E. church. His subject was: "And What One Nation in the Earth is Like Thy People?" 2d Samuel 7—23. Dr. Parsons spoke in part as follows:

"The institution of an annual national festival of prayer and praise to Almighty God is pre-eminently an American institution. The first Thanksgiving proclamation in this western world was issued by Governor Bradford, of the Plymouth colony in 1623, three years after the landing. It has been preceded by a special day of fasting and prayer on account of drought, in the midst of which, while the people prayed, it is said, the clouds gathered and rain fell copiously. Whereupon the Governor issued the first Thanksgiving proclamation. The Dutch Governor of New York soon followed the lead of the Massachusetts colony. But the institution of a National Thanksgiving was not widely observed until after the struggle for independence. The Thanksgiving proclamation issued by President Roosevelt appoints for this nation-wide celebration this 30th day of November, A. D., 1905.

"Never has the bosom of earth borne a greater harvest—surely never was there such an acreage of cultivation and such a wealth of golden grain. Never were steamboat lines and railroad corporations so embarrassed for means of transportation. From Maine to California, from the St. Lawrence to the Rio Grande, for months there has been a constant hum of implements and steady stream of wealth flowing into our storehouses.

"Four millions of square miles—more than all Europe—a shore line exceeding the circumference of the earth—29,000 miles. A system of river navigation twice the circumference of the earth. A domain greater than that of Alexander's, when he thought he had conquered a world—equal to, and perhaps greater than that of Rome, when the Caesars sat on the throne, and that imperial power swayed scepter from the 'Persian Gulf to the western ocean, from the wall of Antonius to the mountains of the moon.' But our inheritance is a yet grander one. Our resources, our extent, our variety of climates, our unparalleled California's skies are brighter than Italy's—there are no more healthful breezes than Florida's.

"Mr. Gladstone once said, 'about the year 2,000 you will have 600 or 800 millions of people on your continent speaking the English language.' Well I suggest that at about that time it would be a good idea to change the name of the language and call it the American language, for if 800 millions are speaking it here and 200 millions are speaking it elsewhere, that honor ought to be ours. The German language here, the French language here, the Italian and Spanish and Scandinavian languages here! Yes, they will come with the men and women who come across the seas, but they'll only stay through the life time of those men and women. Their children and their children's children will speak the American language.

"We want no other language here for general inter-communication, spoken, written, printed or taught. And our German fellow-citizens in Milwaukee and Chicago and Cincinnati and elsewhere seriously mistake the temper of this people, if they think that any foreign language is to be exclusively used and taught in any of our public schools. It is not to be so. A political party in Wisconsin promised that a few years ago and rode into power by the 10,000 votes thrown in its way by the promise, but it rode out of power as quickly as it rode in on that very issue.

"I apostrophize and say-come, come from everywhere, men and women of the world if old things pass away with you and all things become new—but stay, stay where you are, everyone of you, if you do not intend to become as we are, and conform to our modes and customs and language and institutions. There is no room on this American continent for anybody but Americans—to visit, but not to reside. And the sooner we get that thought thoroughly inwrought into every fibre of our being the better it will be for this nation.

"Our natural increase with restricted immigration will be all we need in this land for the next fifty years. It is time to call a halt in this matter.

"A few years ago our Government began to place a restraint upon the hordes flocking to this land from the Italian ports. Commissioners were assigned and stood upon every wharf at the sailing time of every ship. They were to ascertain of every emigrant that there was an actual point of destination and means sufficient to carry him there and support him a reasonable time after arrival. One of these came along the wharf at Naples and sought to board the ship. The commissioner stopped him and asked 'where are you going?' 'I am going to America,' was the reply. What are you going to do when you get to America?' 'Going to farm it.' 'And where are you going to farm it?' 'In Mulberry street, New York.' We have too many of that kind of farmers here now."

"Western supremacy is sure to come, nay, western supremacy is here. The centre of population in 1800 was on a line running north and south through Washington, D. C. Now the centre of population is on a line running north and south near Indianapolis. If this is to be so, and there isn't a shadow of doubt of it, the kind and character of the population in those vast regions is a matter of the deepest concern to us all. It ought certainly to be distinctively American if it is to govern this American land, but I am afraid it is not.

"I felt like throwing my hat and cheering for brave old Abraham Hewitt, when Mayor of New York, when he declared that no green flag could be displayed from the public buildings on St. Patrick's Day, and John A. Wise, of Virginia, when he said that the Confederate flag was out of place in any parade of loyal soldiers and citizens, and the police of Chicago when they swooped down on the Anarchist assemblages and confiscated the red flag of wreck and ruin flaunting itself in the face of our people.

"Ah yes, One language and one flag—one speech and old glory—these are good enough for us and they must be for all who come here."

After the sermon an offering was received for the Plainfield Relief Association, during which Mrs. Ward and Mr. Holmes sang a beautiful selection. At the close, Rev. Dr. Schenck offered a brief prayer and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Parsons.

Col. Frelinghuysen Married.

The wedding of Colonel and State Senator-elect Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerville, and Miss Emily Macy Brewster, of Rochester, N. Y., took place in St. Luke's church, Rochester, Wednesday noon. BREAKFAST AND RUN.

Hunt Club Members and Guests Have a Very Sporty Thanksgiving.

Following a hunt breakfast, of the sort characteristic of old-country clubs, but not very common on this side of the water, the Watchung Hunt Club had a great run from the Baltusrol Golf Club to the kennels here yesterday afternoon. The breakfast was served at noon at the golf club. C. D. Freeman, president of the Hunt Club, and Louis Keller were the hosts.

The run was magnificent. The hounds behaved splendidly and stiff jumps proved the mettle of the fourteen riders out of a field of thirty who were in at the kill. There were several falls, but no serious accident. Mr. Wildey had a fall seldom seen in the field, his horse hitting a green fence in such a way as to stand on the fence straight up and down on his forefeet before toppling over to the far side.

Besides Dr. M. O'M. Knott, the master, and C. E. S. Bellows and R. A. Sebbeare, the whips, the following rode: Charles D. Freeman, G. P. Mellick, Lewis Waring, C. G. Sayre, H. W. Bourne, C. W. Fiske, George C. White, Jr., Mrs. W. S. Brown, the Misses Mary Holly, Gertrude Noe, Friend, Messrs. Simpson, Peters, Wildey and Alpers, H. S. Freeman, E. E. Schmidt, L. S. Freeman, H. Schmidt, C. W. Jefferies, Paul Harrison, L. S. Treadwell, C. W. Lentz and R. R. Howard.

JOHN HISCOX DEAD.

Recorder Office Manager Succumbs to Bright's Disease.

John Hiscox, business manager of the Sabbath Recorder printing house, died at his home in Westerly, R. I., at 7:30 this morning. He had been ill for some months and until ten days ago was under treatment in the West for Bright's disease. For the last thirty-six hours he was unconscious.

Mr. Hiscox was a genial, popular and able man and was invaluable to the Recorder office. He made friends rapidly and much of the success of the printing establishment with which he was connected was due to his untiring efforts. After being graduated from Amherst College Mr. Hiscox became identified with the Westerly Sun, of which George H. Utter, formerly of this city, Governor of Rohde Island, is proprietor. About two years ago he came here to assume the business management of the Sabbath Recorder. He was about thirty years of age.

Surviving him are a wife and little daughter. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at his father's home in Westerly.

DR. ZELIE ON THANKSGIVING.

Sermon on its Significance at Crescent Avenue Church.

The Thanksgiving service at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church attracted a large congregation. The service was not a union one, although a number of members from the three chapels attended.

Dr. Zelie preached the sermon. Taking his text from Cor. 1:3:7, he spoke of the proper attitude of Thanksgiving observance. He sketched the establishment of the observance from the fast day of Colonial times, and spoke earnestly of the beauty of the custom. As to the spirit in which the day should be observed, Dr. Zelie said it was much better to give way to undivided feelings of gratitude for the blessings enjoyed, rather than to think over, or yearn for, what the future might bring. He reminded his hearers whatever they did enjoy came by virtue of God's goodness, and not through any power of their own.

The special music was noteworthy. The choir sang three anthems.

Bush Mistook His Man.

Charles Bush, a painter, who recently came to this city from Bloomfield, became intoxicated yesterday and annoyed a family on Washington avenue, where his wife is employed. Chief Weiss was sent for and when he attempted to place Bush under arrest the latter attempted to put up a fight. HOTEL PROPRIETOR FINED

Pleading Guilty to Permiting Gambling in His Place J. H. Schnediker Pays $27

IN BOROUGH COURT

Complaint Against Him Preferred by Colored Man Who Had Lost in Dice Throwing — Arrest Spreads Consternation.

On complaint of Walter Barnardo, colored, the borough police, Wednesday night, arrested J. H. Schnediker, proprietor of the Manhattan Hotel on Somerset street, charged with an infraction of the local ordinance in permitting gambling to be carried on in his place. He was given an immediate hearing and pleading guilty was fined $20 and given seven days in jail additional. He escaped imprisonment by paying $27.

Schnediker recently bought the Manhattan Hotel from J. H. Gracely, coming to the borough from New Brunswick. Almost from the time his ownership began, the police received complaints as to the manner in which the place was conducted but no direct evidence was secured and nothing could be done. Bernardo went into the barroom Wednesday night and was evidently inveigled into some kind of gambling scheme. The usual method is to throw dice for drinks or play pool for the same kind of refreshment. From all accounts he must have lost and being a hard loser, entered a protest.

It wasn't received with very good grace and Bernardo was rather badly worsted in backing it up. When he appeared at police headquarters his face looked as though a mule had kicked him and he confessed to feeling that way. He preferred a charge of permitting gambling against Schnediker and the warrant was immediately served. When the complaint was read to him he said "guilty" without another word, not even asking that Bernardo be sworn. The amount of the fine staggered him somewhat but the cash was soon produced.

In some of the city saloons as well as those in the borough, throwing dice for drinks has been a part of the regular routine and Schnediker's arrest and fine caused no little consternation. The rattle of the bones in the leather box has been a scarce article since.

The bridesmaid's gown was pink and she carried orange blossoms. The bride was given in marriage by her father. After the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding supper was served. The couple will reside in this city, the groom being employed as chef at the Hotel Iroquois.

TRAIN DASHES INTO RIVER.

2 Killed, 8 Injured When Jersey Central Flyer Drops in Lehigh.

The New York flyer of the New Jersey Central, which left Wilkesbarre, Pa., at 6:55 last night, and consisted of three day coaches and a Pullman, left the tracks at Stony Creek, three miles below Pen Haven, and the engine and three day coaches plunged into the Lehigh River.

Several passengers imprisoned in the wreckage narrowly escaped burning to death. Engineer Detro, from Scranton, and Fireman Libbert, from Mauch Chunk, were instantly killed. Eight passengers were injured, some of them so severely that they may die. The injured were taken to the hospital at Bethlehem.

The first intimation of the wreck was obtained from a brakeman, who, with fractured arms, walked a considerable distance to the operator's tower at Penn Haven and notified the operator. Word was sent to Mauch Chunk and a relief train was sent out. The spreading of the rails on a curve sent the train over the embankment. Traffic was delayed for many hours.

He Will Work On.

Collector Robert L. Lee will hold office until January 1, as the Daily Press exclusively announced. When the announcement was made reports in contradiction were started; it was stated that the collector would retire today. A Daily Press reporter found Mr. Lee hard at work in the office this morning. "Retire today?" observed Mr. Lee licking the flap of a bill-envelope and pounding it closed with vigorous thumps of his fist, "This looks like it, doesn't it?"

RECKLESS WITH RIFLES

List of Accidents Caused By Small Boys' Use of Toy Weapons Increased.

BARRY BADLY HURT

Mishap in North Plainfield This Morning—Many Protests Made to the Police.

The dangerous pastime of using Flobert rifles, which has been prevalent with borough boys since the hunting season began, all but resulted fatally for George Barry, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barry, of Howard street, this morning. A bullet from a weapon in the hands of Frank O'Donnell, a neighbor's bay, glanced from a stone and struck him squarely in the nose, lodging inside the nostril. Screaming with fright and bleeding profusely, young Barry ran to his home and telling his mother what had happened, she extracted the leaden missile with a hairpin. The boy's nose was cut where the bullet went through, but a physician who examined him afterward found no ill effects.

Many young men and boys in the borough are the owners of these rifles, and at times some of them become reckless in their use. Young O'Donnell and another boy were on Howard street shooting at targets this morning and other children were playing about, unconscious of the danger they were in. O'Donnell aimed at a stone and the piece of lead struck it, then glanced upward and hit the Barry boy. But for the fact that the force of the bullet had been all but spent, another tragedy would have been added to the list credited to the so-called "harmless" weapon.

Charles Barry, the father of the lad, reported the occurrence to Chief Weiss, and though he would not prefer a complaint against O'Donnell, it will probably mean the confiscation of his rifle and all others found by the borough police in the hands of boys.

The city police have received numerous protests from residents in the outlying districts against allowing boys to handle Floberts, and the Barry accident will lead to a crusade on this side of the brook as well.

DINNER TO YOUNG MEN.

Y. M. C. A. Entertains a Somewhat Cosmopolitan Gathering.

The annual dinner of the Y. M. C. A. to young men away from home was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Johnson, Washington avenue. Covers were laid for seventeen. The affair was very informal, and correspondingly delightful. There was nothing condescending or eleemosynary in the atmosphere of the feast and the young men enjoyed themselves as they would had they been the guests of a common friend and bountiful host.

It was almost a cosmopolitan gathering. Included in the diners were Sergius Hosanna, a Persian; Edward Stockberg and Elliis Stockberg Danes; John Rumania, E. Hannush, Armenians; J. W. B. Pierce, Canadian, and H. B. Farrell, Englishman. As a matter of fact, Secretary Harry C. Manning was the only native Jerseyman at the board.

The dinner was served at 1 o'clock. There were no speeches. Anecdote and reminiscences of "back home" filled in the black coffee period. The dinner was arranged by the Women's Auxiliary.

The annual Thanksgiving services held yesterday morning at the Baptist church was well attended. Rev. T. Moore-Smith preached a strong sermon appropriate to the day. Special music was rendered by the choir under the direction of L. D. H. Gilmour. The church decorations were in touch with the close of the harvest season, potatoes, corn, wheat, pumpkins and other fruits of the land were piled upon the pulpit in abundance.

Following the usual custom of several years past, Thanksgiving Day exercises were held Wednesday afternoon by the scholars of the public school in the assembly room. A pleasing programme of recitations and songs was enjoyed by the scholars and a number of the friends of the school, after which school was dismissed for the four days' vacation.

Thanksgiving Day here passed as usual. No outdoor attractions were scheduled, except hunting. The day was more for home gatherings, the one day in the year when the scattered family gathers about the old family hearthstone, children and grandchildren gathering in one family circle around the festive board.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hull, of East Front street, were among those who enjoyed a family reunion yesterday, entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Frazer and family, of Newark, and Mr. and Mrs. Orbie Price, of Plainfield.

Miss Anna Bruchman, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bruchman, of Mountain avenue, has returned to her home in Newark.

The heavy rain of Wednesday was welcomed by many of the residents here, as a number of the cisterns in town were beginning to feel the long drought.

A stage-load of young people from here attended the dance held at Shott's Hall, Berkeley Heights, Thanksgiving Eve.

The Marsh building is being wired for electric lights, which will make a decided improvement in the stores occupying it.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schwalbach, of Westfield avenue, entertained relatives and friends from out of town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade, who have been spending a week with relatives at Orange, returned home Wednesday.

"Big Hearted Jim," at the New Plainfield theatre, last night, was the attraction for many from here.

No meeting of Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., was held last night, on account of the holiday.

A meeting of the Township Committee will be held tonight in the town rooms.

The weekly prayer meeting will be held tonight at the Baptist church.

Miss Minnie Hosinger was the guest yesterday of friends in Newark.

HOPE BOYS' GOOD TIME.

Held Open House on Thanksgiving Day.

The Boys' Club of Hope chapel held "open house" at the chapel yesterday. There were games of bowling and basketball and music. The basketball game between Hope and Whittier School was a feature. The home team won by a score of 60 to 19. The lineup:

Hope—Hunter, right forward; Mortimer, left forward; Snyder, centre; Kenney, left guard; Rimmer, right guard. Whittier—Vail, right forward; Williams, left forward; Thorn, centre; Phillips, right guard; Woodhull, left guard. Goals from field, Hunter, 3; Mortimer, 8; Snyder, 8; Kenney, 6; Rimmer, 4; Vail, 3; Williams, 3; Thorn, 1; Woodhull, 1. Goals on fouls, Hunter, 3; Woodhull, 1; Vail, 3. Referee—H. Vail.

A repast was served to the teams. The committee comprised Peter Sweeney, chairman; Frank Rimmer, A. Snyder, J. Kenney, Morris Hunter and Walter Firstbrook. The entire affair was under the direction of G. Herbert Condit, leader of the club.

Mrs. Ruliff Swackhamer, of Summit avenue, has returned from a visit with relatives at Whitehouse.

—The New Jersey State Grange will convene in the assembly chamber on Wednesday, December 6, at 11 a. m., and will continue in session until Friday.

LEST YOU FORGET!

That Thanksgiving is coming, we gently remind you that gala attire is the order of the day. Everybody wants to look his best and turn out spick and span in honor of this most American of all holidays. No need of new clothes either when those you already own can be made by an expert cleaner to look "better than new." Not an empty phrase that, but a fact, for the garment that's turned out by an up-to-date cleaner looks as if it really belonged to the wearer and loses the too apparent "newness" of the "just out of the shop" suit or gown.

Suits, Overcoats, Gowns, Jackets—in fact, every article of personal attire, we cleanse "in your own time," and in a manner unequalled for beauty and finish.

Dressy Distinction.

"Did it come from Watson's?" That's the question asked nowadays. It replaces the former one, "Is it custom-made?" Men realize that at Watson's they can get the newest of styles with the highest standard of tailoring in ready-to-wear garments. And these same garments will be taken for custom-made—that's an everyday occurrence. Then again, Watson buys all the material direct from the mill, fashions the garments in the Watson workrooms and saves for you the middleman's profits.

In the Overcoat world, the Watson Paddock reigns supreme, commanding attention everywhere because of its excellence. While closely following the dictates of fashion, nevertheless everywhere is evident the handicraft of the master tailor. In coats of medium length the same applies. "Only that which is best" goes out of the Watson store.

Overcoats $10 to $40.

In the Watson-made suit you get the style and fit equal to the best custom-made. The close-fitting collar, shapely shoulders and well-setting lapels are all points of superiority. For material the Watson store offers you the advantage of years of experience, every piece of material is chosen by one well acquainted with the wants of men. Every new weave and pattern is here. Remember—a "custom-like" effect for a ready-to-wear price.

Suits $10 to $25.

ALIS WINS FROM WESTFIELD.

Defeats Stubborn Rivals on Hope Common by 5 to 0.

Alis broke the deadlock with the Westfield A. A. on Hope Common yesterday. After two ties, the Plainfield youngsters won by 5 to 0.

The game was as close as the score indicates, the fortunes of the struggle swinging back and forth from team to team, but Alis had a shade the better of it always. Echart scored the touchdown early in the first half on a mass play. The wind balked Phillips' attempt to kick the goal. Manning made a spectacular run of half the field. He could have scored a touchdown but for an unfortunate trip-up by one of his own mates.

The line-up:

GOT STOLEN SILVER BACK.

Burglar Insurance Co. Locates John Huntsman's Plate in New York.

Through the burglar insurance company which covered his property, John Huntsman, of Watchung avenue, has recovered a number of the silver pieces stolen from his house by second story men last week. As soon as Mr. Huntsman reported the theft the company received descriptions of all the missing articles and started tracers after them.

Fourteen pieces were located in New York pawnshops and returned to Mr. Hunstman, and the company is hopeful of getting more of the stuff back. From the location of the goods clues to the identity of the thieves have been obtained and the police are hard at work on them.

WHITE STRIPE, NOT OLD LIGHT BLUE

STATE MILITARY BOARD MAKES IMPORTANT CHANGE IN UNIFORMS.

The State Military Board has adopted the recommendation made several weeks ago that the stripe on the blue uniforms down the trousers and around coat sleeve bands should be of white instead of the ordinary light blue.

The change was suggested for the purpose of giving the uniforms of the National Guard a nattier appearance and making the stripe more distinctive. It will make the blue uniforms neat looking in appearance and add materially to the dress of the men.

Orders changing the stripes from light blue to white will be issued at once by the adjutant general.

AMUSEMENTS.

Charles A. Taylor seems to have the knack of writing just the sort of plays that appeal to the people. There are probably not six plays in the history of melodrama that have achieved the success and played to the phenomenal business that has attended "Queen of the Highway" and "King of the Opium Ring." But Mr. Taylor has far excelled any of his previous efforts in "The Child Wife," the new domestic play which William T. Keogh will produce here at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. This latest play of Mr. Taylor's is built on entirely new lines. It concerns the life of a young girl of sixteen who marries a boy sweetheart to escape the persecutions of a lawyer, bent on securing her fortune by fair means or foul. This scheming villain causes all sorts of trouble for the youthful couple, finally attempting their murder in a boathouse on the East River; but they manage to escape in a boat during a raging storm and are rescued by the crew of the Fall River Line steam "Priscilla," and are brought to New York, where the villain is exposed and all ends happily. Mr. Keogh has engaged an especially capable company to interpret the piece and has provided a complete scenic production painted by Charles L. Carson, general scenic artist at the New Star theatre, New York.

How the astute reasoning Sherlock Holmes of Sir Conan Doyle's fiction can with such nice calculations, run to earth every class of malefactor and do it in the almost twinkle of an eye, must have set the whole secret service fraternity by the ears, and put in motion a considerable amount of resourceful machinery, which heretofore had not occurred to the detective mind. Some of our local sleuths will in all probability find enlightenment of incalculable value at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, on which occasion William Gillette's masterpiece of stagecraft, "Sherlock Holmes," will be presented.

The powerful and impressive melodrama, "Human Hearts," presented by an exceptionally strong company of players, will be offered for the approval of the lovers of all that is clean and wholesome in melodrama on the stage at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night. "Human Hearts" has been firmly established as one of the most original and interesting of modern dramas. The author has long been famous as a playwright, but in the present instance he has surpassed all his former efforts. For ingenuity, strength and brilliancy "Human Hearts" is a marvel of stagecraft, done by a master hand in stage adroitness. The author has poured out his entire store of theatric knowledge in this play. He has produced a work of magnificent possibilities for a melodramatic public. The characters are finely drawn, the dialogue is crisp, the human interest is all absorbing, the comedy is charming, the pathos is sincere. Taken on its entirety, "Human Hearts" is probably one of the strongest plays ever shown on the American stage.

"Bankers and Brokers" is the catchy title of the vehicle in which those favorite comedians, Yorke and Adams, will make their second bow to the local amusement loving public as full fledged stars, appearing at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday, December 12. B. E. Forrester has surrounde dthem with a capable company of sixty-five people, all with a natural bent for fun and the hilarity is only modified by the sparkling music and splendid specialties which permeate the production. Particular attention has been given to the staging of the play. The first act takes place in a modern brokerage office on Wall street, and in the second act you are transported to Palm Beach, Florida. The Southern pleasure resort is shown in all its rich tropical atmosphere and a bevy of pretty girls lends added interest to the scene.

An EXPLANATORY NOTICE

To the Citizens of Newark and our Customers throughout the State:

The 18th of last May I sold my business property known as 73 Market St. including Nos. 69 and 71, to the Chelsea Realty Co., and gave them a deed for it on July 12th, taking a lease on the property until March 1st, 1906.

To be perfectly frank with the people—having been in business since 1860, and in advanced years I began to tire, so made up my mind to close out my entire stock and devote the balance of my life to my Storage and Carpet Cleaning Business, and settle up my retail business.

But I found it IMPOSSIBLE to get rid of my stock in so short a time and now I have rented the store for another year, and will continue to sell goods at reduced prices—NO LOWER PRICES CAN BE FOUND IN ALL THE CITY.

Hoping this will fully explain my position and retain the good name and reputation we have built up and tried to maintain since we first started business in 1860, I remain,

Yours very truly,
AMOS H. VAN HORN, President.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.
Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.
The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

POTASH MAY BE FOUND NEAR HERE

INDICATIONS THAT POTASH EXISTS NEAR BOUND BROOK

Professor E. B. Voorhees, of the New Jersey Experiment Station at the meeting of the New Jersey Microscopical Society held last week reported that the United States Geological Bureau had discovered evidence of possible deposits of potash in the vicinity of Bound Brook as the result of surveys made of the entire country.

Professor Voorhees said the world's main supply is now obtained in Germany at Stassfurt, and that hardly any money is spent in this country trying to locate deposits, while Germany is constantly doing this. There was a possibility that a sufficient quantity might be found in the beds believed to be at Bound Brook, which would justify the working of this section and produce much wealth.

Professor Neilson for the biological section reported that his oyster culture researches last summer at Barnegat, in which his efforts were directed toward discovering how through the spawning there could be introduced a process of preservation of the young oyster, were not successful, but he will continue the work next summer.

The process of spawning was illustrated and also that of how the eggs form. The cells, he said, which fill the tubes to form the eggs are quite numerous, but in the struggle for existence only a tenth survive of the original number as eggs, the others having been eaten up by the survivors. He likened the process to the struggle in commercial organizations by which a few stockholders eat up thesmaller, only the oyster throws out its millionaires with the capital to develop a new oyster society. The professor exhibited a piece of tile, some china, a piece of spile bark, a whiskey bottle and clam and oyster shells on which baby oysters had fastened, some as mere specks and others the size of a dime.

Fred B. Kilmer gave a short talk on the use of catgut in surgery, and exhibited some put up for the trade. Professor Smith reported upon the cotton moth which attacked the maple trees last summer. Prof. Prentiss described the process of measuring the distance between the sun and earth by means of the spectrum. Prof. Van Dyck described a new enlarging lamp and John A. Manley exhibited geological specimens.

Dr. F. J. Warren, Prof. J. Volney Lewis, Dr. Caroline Marsh and William S. Valiant were transferred from the active to the honorary roll.

WHERE IS MAIR'S HOUSE

Borough, Looking For Tax Money, Hires Surveyor to Find Out.

TOWNSHIP CLAIMS IT

Borough Has Collected on It For Years—Councilman-elect McGee Looks Over His Future Colleagues at Work.

Just about business enough to make it seem like a real meeting was transacted by the borough Council at its monthly session last night. Reports from the standing committees took up most of the session.

There was a big bill for stone for street work last month. Chairman Arnold, of the street committee, reported the stone expenditure at $640.55. General street work cost $280.05.

The police court did a profitable business for the borough. Chairman Van Arsdale's report for the police committee included an item of $43 in fines. There were seven arrests and one commitment to jail.

On Chairman Arnold's motion the Council voted to accept Dupont street, from Somerset to Grove street. It has been satisfactorily laid out and graded.

The street committee was authorized to employ a surveyor to decide whether John Mair's house on Mountain avenue is in the borough or the township. The house is very close to the line, whatever municipality it is in. For several years the borough has taxed it without question from the township, but this year the township collector put it on his books. Mr. Mair objected vigorously in both directions when he received two tax bills.

The Mayor instructed Chief of Police Weiss to have his men watch carefully for extinguished street lights, and report every one in a book to be kept for the purpose at police headquarters. The borough officials have noticed that a certain percentage of lights is always dark, and the Council wants to know how to figure the reductions when the light bills come in. Chief Weiss said he had instructed the officers himself to watch for darkened globes, but they were lax in executing the order. He promised to jack his men up and keep them sleuthing after idle lights all over the borough.

On Councilman Arnold's motion the Council voted to meet on December 22 to receive the annual reports of all borough departments. The fiscal year ends on December 31 now, instead of in the spring, so the annual meeting must be held before that date. It was voted to have 500 copies of the annual report printed.

Among the occupants of the "gallery" was Councilman-elect Clifford W. McGee. He will take his seat after the first of the year, and watched the routine of the meeting with an eye for points on procedure.

"It was very interesting," he said after the session. "After seeing it all, I think you may say that I have no regrets."

Edward P. T. Smith, the other councilman-elect, was not at the meeting. He is a captain in the fire department, and has been almost as regular in his attendance at meetings as the members of the body. There is nothing about methods of procedure he needs to learn.

COMMISSIONERS HOLD FINAL PUBLIC MEETING

TAXPAYERS STILL HAVE PRIVILEGE HOWEVER TO GO BEFORE THEM.

An adjourned meeting of the Commissioners of Appeal was held last night in the Common Council rooms to further consider the large number of complaints made in cases of taxation. While the commissioners will not hold any more public meetings, any taxpayer has the right to go before them at any time before December 20 and state his or her complaint to the assessment made.

There appears to be a large number of complaints this year and the commissioners will be obliged to hold a number of sessions to complete their task. As usual, the ever-present dog tax seems to be one of the chief "kicks" and the commissioners have found it necessary to comply with many requests to have this tax crossed off the bill. No real serious complaints have thus far been reached, the appeals all being of the usual kind. The commissioners fully expect to finish their work before December 20, which is the last day for the payment of taxes before the tax collector adds interest.

—An informal dance will be given at the Park Club tonight under the auspices of the entertainment committee.

Y.M.C.A. 38 YEARS OLD

J. D. Spicer Talks Interestingly of Institution's Early History.

REMARKABLE GROWTH

Men Prominent Today Were Identified With Association At Its Inception—List of Officers in 1869.

Thirty-six years ago tonight the second anniversary of the institution was held in what was then the Second, now the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, of which the Rev. Dr. Bliss was then pastor. The church was located at that time on East Front street, near Park avenue.

Those who were identified with the association then, and who are still living, will be interested in its steady growth under wise and careful management. J. D. Spicer, who was a director of the association in the early days and who worked with many others for the success of it, has contributed some interesting facts in connection with the anniversary.

At the second anniversary, he says, a large choir furnished music to a crowded house. Several addresses were made, the principal one being by the president, A. F. Campbell. The annual report was presented by former president, Alexander Gilbert.

The bulletin, which Mr. Spicer still has on file, shows the following as the official workers of the association at that time. Board of Directors:

President, A. F. Campbell; vice president, Charles. W. McCutchen; recording secretary, William Raymond; corresponding secretary, James W. Jackson; treasurer, H. O. Newman; J. D. Spicer, Isaac E. Parker, S. H. Stevenson, J. K. Myers, J. R. Perine, Alexander Gilbert, Philip Swain.

Committees: Devotional, Philip Swain, F. E. Marsh, G. W. Wendell; library, J. D. Spicer, I. E. Parker, S. H. Stevenson; lectures and entertainment, James W. Jackson, H. O. Newman, J. K. Myers; charity, H. P. Reynolds, T. C. Aldrich, J. R. Perine; ways and means, Alexander Gilbert, H. O. Newman, Charles W. McCutchen; membership, J. D. Spicer, J. K. Myers, J. W. Jackson.

Since that time the remarkable growth of the association and the grand work it is doing is well-known to all interested. The members now occupy a commodious and well-appointed building at East Front street and Watchung avenue, where Christian work for men and boys is successfully carried on under the direction of a board of directors and J. H. Manning, general secretary, who has been at the head of this work for many years. Kenneth Robbie is now the secretary of the boys' department and F. A. Henckel is the physical director. By many the association is considered one of the strongest influences for good in the city, reaching as it does so many men and boys.

ELKS' MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Takes Places in New Plainfield Theatre Tomorrow Afternoon.

Fully 1,000 invitations have been issued for the second annual memorial service of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., to be held in the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon. It will be in charge of Exalted Ruler William N. Runyon and is to begin at 3:30. Rev. Otis Glazebrook, of Elizabeth, will be the orator and a stringed quartette from New York will furnish music. With the exception of the officers, the Elks are to occupy the seats in the front part of the orchestra.

The memorial committee is composed of L. A. Bellis, Charles J. Fisk, James Dodd, Charles A. Reed, George F. Schoonmaker, Charles J. Ward and Samuel P. T. Wilbur.

Mr. Law's New Position.

William T. Law, who has been one of the efficient staff at the Plainfield Trust Company, has resigned his position in order to accept a more lucrative one with the Union Exchange Bank, Fifth avenue and Twenty-first street, New York. He will enter upon his new duties December 6, but will retain his residence at Truell Court until January 1.

Dr. Barbour Dead.

Rev. Dr. Barbour, who has been pastor of the North Baptist church, Newark, and whose remarkable messages to his congregation during his long illness attracted much attention, died at his home in Newark on Tuesday. He was well-known among Baptists here.

Just Plain Drunk.

Patrick Grimes, thirty-five years old, of 207 Prospect place, was arrested last night for drunkenness. Judge Runyon suspended sentence in the city court this morning.

COMMON COUNCIL IN 1906

L. M. Daniel and R. I. Tolles Both Mentioned For Presiding Officer.

HANDING OUT PLUMS

Chairmanship of Committees Much in Doubt—New Ones for Streets and Fire Committees Must Be Chosen.

Although there has been no definite plans discussed as to the makeup of the various committees and the president of the 1906 Common Council, it is rumored that there is a desire on the part of the friends of Councilman R. I. Tolles, now chairman of the finance committee, to see him in the chair next year. On the other hand, the friends of President Daniel say that he is entitled to another year as presiding officer.

The complexion of the incoming Common Council is somewhat problematical at present. It is claimed by both the "organization" and the independents that they will control matters, and until the body is organized and some measure calling for a division of votes is up for consideration it will be impossible to tell how the members will stand.

It is generally conceded that Councilman Daniel has made one of the best presiding officers of recent years. He is thoroughly trained in parliamentary practice and is very particular in having the business of the city conducted in strict accordance with recognized rules. Several times during the period he has been in the chair he has been able to prevent irregularities which might have caused more or less annoyance if allowed to pass. It is not known whether Mr. Daniel will accept the presidency next year, but his friends are making a strong effort to persuade him to do so.

As for the makeup of the committees, no one can tell at this early day. There is sure to be a general change in all of the committees. Mr. Murphy, as chairman of the lights and trees committee, will retire, as will also Mr. Bullock, chairman of the fire committee; Mr. Wilson, chairman of the street committee, and Mr. Higham, chairman of the public affairs committee. These are among the most important committees of the Common Council and will mean the distribution of some good plums by the president of the incoming body.

Of those who remain, Mr. Tyler is chairman of the police committee, and it is now a question as to whether he will hold that chairmanship next year. The only other important committee is that of the finance, of which Mr. Tolles is the chairman. He holds over next year, and just where he will serve is hard to tell.

Of the incoming members, they are all well trained business men and will be able to serve on any committee with ability. Mr. Mellick, when a member of the Common Council before, was chairman of the finance committee, and made a most efficient head. He is well posted in city affairs and will make a valuable member. Mr. Ginna is also well fitted for membership on any committee, as is also F. L. Montgomery and Herbert Buxton, two new members. As for Charles C. Randolph, he has had a good part of the year in service and will do better work next year, and as for Mr. Gloak, he has had enough experience to be valuable in any place he is put. It will be a matter of considerable interest to those who follow councilmanic affairs to know who will be chosen for president and how the committees will be made up.

"Rube" Oldring to Be a Quaker.

"Rube" Oldring, who will be remembered as the star second baseman for the Plainfield baseball team during the early part of last season, will play with the Philadelphia Athletics next year. He will be with the Quakers through a draft or purchase. Clark Griffith, of the New York Americans, tried Oldring out last fall and would have added him to the New York team if Connie Mack had not beaten him out. Big league managers say that Oldring looks like a coming hitter. He with several other candidates will be given a tryout at short-stop.

"The Devil—Is There One?"

Rev. E. E. Roberson, of Bound Brook, will give the third of the series of four addresses at the Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The subject will be "The Devil—Is There One?" These addresses are largely attended and full of interest. Miss Edith Allen Mooney, of Westfield, will be the soloist. All men are invited to be present.

Organ Recital.

An organ recital of unusual character will be given at Grace P. E. church December 13. The artist will be S. Haxington Harker, of Jersey City. Mr. Harker is an organist of note.

CARNIVAL COMMITTEE FIXING UPON PLANS

WILL RECOMMEND THAT THE AFFAIR BE HELD FOR TWO WEEKS

The committee recently appointed by the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital to arrange details for the proposed carnival next spring met in the Casino last night and discussed plans at some length. Though nothing has practically been decided upon yet, it is understood that the committee will recommend to the board that the affair be held for two weeks, beginning May 19 and extending to June 2, inclusive. This will give it the benefit of three Saturdays and one holiday.

It is also understood that the committee will suggest that W. S. Miller, of the Excelsior Carnival Company, be engaged in the same capacity as last year, when he did so much to make the initial effort such a great success. There is no doubt but what the board will accept the recommendations.

From the enthusiasm already evinced, Plainfield people will be treated to another period of novel amusement when the carnival gets in full swing, and the returns for the hospital will be even greater than those of last spring. The committee which is preparing the plans for submission to the Board of Governors consists of Charles J. Fisk, DeWitt C. Ivins and Henry L. Hall.

COLUMBIA LODGE OPPOSE NEW RATES

A. O. U. W. MEN HOLD THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

Before retiring from the office of master workman last night, John Bicknell, of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., appointed a committee of past masters, comprising R. V. Kenney, Henry Leifke and W. A. Woodruff to attend the Grand Lodge meeting to be held in Atlantic City in March and continue to fight against the new assessment plan, which proposes an increase of rates similar to those of the Royal Arcanum.

The lodges of other States have adopted the increased rates, but the Grand Lodge in this State has been successful in its efforts to prevent its adoption here. It seems to be the opinion of many that the new rates will eventually be adopted in New Jersey as a majority of the past masters favor it.

These officers were elected by Columbia Lodge for the coming year:

Past master workman, John Bicknell; master workman, Clarence Leland; foreman, Peter Doeringer; overseer, Peter VanFleet; guide, John Calder; recorder, Robert Loughlin; financier, Frank Putnam; inside watchman, J. W. A. Bauersachs; outside watchman, Michael Kohler; receiver, Henry Leifke; trustee, three years, Henry Nitschwitz; representatives to Grand Lodge, J. W. A. Bauersachs, Henry Nitschwitz; alternates, R. V. Kenney, Henry Leifke.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the lodge to send Past Master Workman John Bicknell to Atlantic City in March for the Grand Lodge degree. The newly-elected officers of Columbia Lodge will be installed on January 5.

Dr. Buchanan's Leave of Absence.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Buchanan, pastor of the Baptist church at Pemberton, and father of Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of Duer street, has been disabled from work for many months. In October he tendered his resignation, but the church declined to accept it and gave him a full year for leave of absence from the time of his breakdown. Dr. Buchanan expects to spend the winter in Plainfield with his son.

Corner Stone Laying.

Arrangements are complete for the laying of the corner stone for the new Presbyterian chapel at Garwood, of which Rev. Edward Love, of this city, is the pastor. The exercises will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock and a general invitation is extended to any in this city who may be interested.

MR. ANGLEMAN'S RETORT

Answering Corporation Counsel Says People Should Not Get a Lawsuit

MAINTAINS POSITION

Declares Section 185 of General Election Law Has No Effect on Act of 1876— An Interview.

In reply to Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, who declared that the procedure in the recent municipal ownership election was strictly according to the law, Lawyer W. S. Angleman said to a Daily Press representative today that if the people want municipal ownership they should get it and not a law suit. For that reason, he stated, he pointed out some alleged defects in the manner the special election was conducted. He adheres to his statement that a majority was not obtained for the public water supply ownership scheme and adds that a section of the election law quoted by Mr. Marsh has no effect.

Mr. Angleman said:

"The corporation counsel begs the question. The very fact that the attorney general and a bond expert (unnamed) were consulted shows a weakness in the position taken by the city. Unfortunately neither the attorney general nor the unnamed bond expert will stand in the breach if an expensive law suit is thrust on the city, nor will they come to the city's aid if municipal ownership is delayed while the question is slowly working its way through the courts.

"That the provisions of the 1876 act were not followed at the recent election is practically acknowledged, and the dangerous ground that, because the election was held on the same date as the general election, the general election law's provisions prevailed over those contained in the act under which the election was supposedly being held, is taken, irrespective of warrant authorizing such procedure. In other words, drive as close to the precipice as you think you can.

"Section 185 of the general election law quoted by the corporation counsel was not referred to by me simply because it has no bearing on the question. That section merely attempts to define, in the language of the section, 'the intent and meaning of the words "legal voters",' when used in other laws. Those words do not occur in the section (Section 16) of the 1876 act which relates to the [illegible] of the water proposition [illegible] people. The number of 'legal electors voting' at the general election was 2,996 and a majority of that number is 1,49[illegible] 'legal electors voting' at the election and who 'assented' (in language of the statute) to the proposition was 1,141, [illegible] than a majority.

After an extended conference the board recommended to the association a course of action concerning sheriffs' fees. It was determined not to take up any portion of the fee-bill except that part relating to the care and keep of jail prisoners. Under instructions, the law committee of the association is directed to prepare a bill relating to this subject, which shall embody the spirit of Massachusetts legislation upon this subject. PYTHIANS' GALA NIGHT

Perserverance Lodge, No. 74, Celebrates in Honor of Its 1800 Meeting

MANY GUESTS PRESENT

Address by Supreme Representative G. Frank Shanley a Feature of the Programme—Collation in Conclusion.

When the members of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., assembled in their rooms in Odd Fellows' Hall, Babcock building, last night for the regular meeting it marked the eighteen hundredth time the organization had met, and in honor of the event the business was followed by a social affair. More than 125 Knights were in attendance and the gathering was one of the pleasantest the lodge has held in a long time.

Disposing of the customary secret work, friends of the order were admitted and an address of welcome was made by Past Chancellor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., by which he made visitors from New York, Newark, Elizabeth, Somerville and other places feel distinctly at home. He was followed by Elmore D. Cutting, who rendered a solo in such acceptable fashion that he was obliged to respond with an encore. Other solos were given by Alex Muir and Asa D. Pope, both being loudly applauded.

Supreme Representative P. Frank Shanley, of Jersey City, who has always manifested great interest in Perseverance's welfare, [illegible] and made a very encouraging address. He warmly compliments the members on the success [illegible] tion and predicted [illegible] ued prosperity for the lodge. Col[illegible] the best kn[illegible] der in the [illegible] eagerly sought [illegible] gets the preference.

[illegible] were made by William D. [illegible] Somerville, candidate for grand outer guard, and Freeholder Joseph Fitzgerald, also of Somerville.

Instrumental music for the occasion was supplied by the Perseverance jewsharp orchestra, composed of Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., pianist, and Frank Putnam, Asa D. Pope, Ephraim Compton, W. W. Warnock and S. H. Clouston, harmonists. In conclusion the members adjourned to the banquet hall, where a splendid collation was served by Caterer W. W. Warnock.

The celebration was arranged by a committee composed of Asa D. Pope, William Mills and Joseph C. Blimm.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Property owners in the Clinton avenue and Lincoln districts of the township are complaining over the lighting items on their tax bills. They say they cannot see why they should pay for lights that have not been installed. They will have to pay, however, because there is no way in which the authorities can adjust such matters. The tax applies to the whole lighting district.

THUMPING HEADACHES.

Many Plainfield Women Have Them, But Few Know the Real Cause.

Dull, thumping headaches,
Sick, prostrating headaches,
Dizzy, whirling, blind headaches—
Point to disorders of the kidneys,
Tell of uric poisons in the blood.
Narcotics may ease the pain.
But won't cure the cause.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure the kidneys,
Remove uric poisons, purify the blood,
Banish headache, backache.

Here's Plainfield testimony to prove it.

Mrs. E. Derflinger, of 219 Manson place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several weeks ago I began to have heavy dull pains in the top and back of my head. Backache continually clung to me and it seemed to me that my kidneys were weak and gradually breaking down. I also had a tired feeling, with a sort of languor or general depression. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and as it was a case of 'any port in a storm,' I got a supply of this medicine at Randolph's pharmacy and before I had taken two boxes of it I found that my kidneys were acting stronger and better and the pains were leaving me. I continued with the treatment and am now able to say that Doan's Kidney Pills have cured me,—at least I am not troubled any more and feel well and strong in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BUSINESS MEN'S TEAM LOSES.

Y. M. C. A. Runs Away From Them in Annual Thanksgiving Contest.

Two lively games of basketball were played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Thursday afternoon. The Business Men lost the annual match with the first team, 33 to 19, and the High School five defeated the Plainfield Consolidated combination, 34 to 28.

The Business Men lacked shiftiness and accuracy. Team work and the mathematical certainty of Leary's and Scull's shooting did for them. The line-up and summary:

Y. M. C. A.	Business Men.
Gavett	Haynes
Thompson	Spicer
forwards.
Scull	Lott
Leary	Clark
Neal	Miner

Goals from the field, Thompson, 4; Scull, 6; Leary, 5; Neal, Haynes, 2; Spicer, 3; Miner, 3. Goals from fouls, Leary, Spicer.

High School had some trouble defeating the Consolidateds, but managed to hold them safely in check at every stage of the game. Smith and Collier made a feature of their shooting. The line-up and summary:

High School.	Consolidated.
Smith, Line	Manning
Caldwell	Phillips
forwards.
Collier	McNaughton
centre.
Gavett, Templin	Cullingsworth
Line, Freeman	Douglas

Goals from the field, Smith, 5; Line, 4; Caldwell, Collier, 5; Templin, Freeman, Manning, 2; Phillips, 3; McNaughton, 5; Douglas. Goals from fouls, Smith, Collier.

AMUSEMENTS.

William Gilette's great play, "Sherlock Holmes," with a wealth of scenery and mechanical effects, will be the offering at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight.

When Nat Wills and his large company of entertainers in "The Duke of Duluth" play their engagement at the New Plainfield theatre, Wednesday night, December 13, the theatregoers of this city will be treated to a musical comedy that stands pre-eminently alone as a peer in that line. The "Happy Tramp," Mr. Wills, has been supplied with a comedy constructed on new lines, an innovation with bright new material, witty dialogue, catchy music, and the newest of the new songs, built on the topics of the day. The management has surrounded the star with an excellent company of artists; the production is perfect in every minute detail; the scenery and costumes are gorgeous; the chorus large and the girls beautiful, of which there are an abundance, with well trained voices. The music and singing are the strongest features of the perfromance.

At the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and evening Ralph Stuart will present "By Right of Sword." The play is in four acts with the scenes laid in and near Moscow, Russia. The story tells of exciting adventures of a nervy young American who goes to Russia in search of excitement, and gets it. The play opens at a military ball in Moscow, where young Hamilton meets Olga, the sister of Alexis, an officer of Hussars. The American bears such a striking resemblance to Alexis that Olga mistakes him for her brother. He convinces her of her error, but volunteers to assume the identity of her absent brother and protect her from the insults of Major Divinski, who is pressing his unpleasant suit upon her. He meets Divinski and causes consternation by slapping his face, thus giving cause for a duel. The duel scene is said to be the fiercest and most realistic fight ever shown on the stage. Mr. Stuart will be seen as Hamilton, the American, supported by an excellent company.

Strong, stirring dramatic situations, thrilling climaxes, a love story of absorbing interest, amusing, natural and unforced comedy scenes, allied with a plot that can be followed by everybody, are the really component parts of a successful melodrama. Add to the above a wealth of scenic splendor, new and intricate mechanical devices and a company of superior excellence, and the reason for the universal success of "Human Hearts" is found. "Human Hearts" is possibly the most successful and meritorious melodrama on the stage today, and it will be shown to our playgoers on Monday night at the New Plainfield theatre.

"Uncle Josh Spruceby," the best of the many rural plays now being presented in the different cities, will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Monday night, December 11. This production is said to be different from all others as it contains much comedy as well as pathos, and the realistic saw-mill scene is said to be the most exciting and intense effect ever produced. The scenes of the play are laid in Vermont and New York, which gives ample opportunity for portraying the simple rustic characters in country as well as the many incidents that befall simple country folk who visit the metropolis.

Of all the marvelous strides in the advancement of modern vaudeville there has been no greater achievement than the organization of the Broadway Vaudeville Stars, who appear in Plainfield Friday, December 8, at the New Plainfield theatre. For the first time in the history of vaudeville theatre-goers in the smaller cities will be offered productions direct from Broadway, given by Metropolitan artists of fame and by European artists who have won success abroad. That vaudeville of such great magnitude could be produced outside of big cities is due to an arrangement between Robert Grau, the famous promoter of opera and vaudeville, of New York, and Julius Cahn, undoubtedly the most prominent booking agent in America.

Yorke and Adams, who impersonate the two Hebrew characters in "Bankers and Brokers," the new musical comedy, which is underlined for Tuesday, December 12, at the New Plainfield theatre, are a unique team who for a number of years have been top liners in vaudeville. Their work is entirely different from the usual Jewish character seen on the stage, which is best explained by their own statement: "We watched the Jewish character as displayed on the stage and became convinced that there was too much fire insurance, hostility to pork and ventilation business. It was getting played out, and te audience wearied so we resolved to present the Jew in another way. We made him tell stories which could be told as well by an Irish or German character; we show him up in his own peculiar, unconsciously humorous manner, exaggerating only when we desired to make a point more obvious."

Mrs. L. J. Denton, of Washington avenue, has about recovered from recent injuries.

Dudley H. Barrows is among the college boys home from Princeton for the Thanksgiving vacation.

TWENTY-FOUR LAWYERS IN THE LEGISLATURE

PERSONNEL OF THE NEXT SENATE AND HOUSE OF NEW JERSEY.

If one may judge by the make-up of the one hundred and thirtieth Legislature, which will be organized for business Tuesday, January 9, 1906, there should be a few legislative enactments resulting from the session that will bear the closest scrutiny of ... courts, for of the eighty-one m... composing the two branches, twenty-four are lawyers. The Senate, with twenty-one members, will have eight lawyers—Senators Avis, Colby, Horner, Hutchinson, Hillery, McKee, Minturn, Wakelee. The House, with sixty members, will have sixteen lawyers—Assemblymen Mabie, Robbins, Scovel, Jones, Hildreth, Miller, Mills, Marelli, Hoagland, Perkins, Martin, Everett, Arrowsmith, Berg, Dippel, Morris.

The new Senate will be somewhat of an old affair, because of the fact that there will be but five new faces. Two of the new men have merely stepped across the corridor from the House to the Senate. The new members are Avis, Colby, Plumm... linghuysen and Ackerman...

According to the announcement of Councilmen Tyler and Bullock, the much heralded charges against Chief of Police Kiely will be presented to the Common Council Monday night. When this is done there should be no further delay. Give the chief the hearing he demands in justice to both himself and the people.

He got it last spring, and had just succeeded in breaking it to field work. He had planned to go hunting yesterday afternoon.

Dec. 3: "Our One Excuse"—Rom. xiv, 1-12.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

We have some very difficult lessons to learn in this life. The most difficult is not the memorizing of names of things, not even the learning how to use things. The multiplication table is not easy to master for some, but a far more taxing thing is to learn how to do right. Rectitude in conduct and righteousness in soul—ah, those are the tasks that take all there is in us to master. That is something of the nature of spiritual addition. Then when we have learned some of that there comes another harder problem.

That is the work of controlling oneself and letting the next one do his own figuring on his own slate. There are two kinds of scholars in every school. One is ever looking over on the desk of the next scholar to copy answers instead of working the problems for himself. The other is only less contemptible than the first. He is always determined to tell you how he did it and insists that you let him show you and that you must do it his way. If you tell him to let you alone to work it out yourself he thinks all manner of things about you and may do several manner of things to you. Nevertheless if you are ever to become a mathematician or any other thing of any account you must insist on being let alone to work out your own sums in your own way.

Did you ever think that we all have a slight streak of both these qualities in our makeup? We are all more or less inclined to look over the other fellow's shoulder and copy his answers instead of working them out for ourselves. Then when we have done a sum by ourselves we are so puffed up over it that we want to show everybody else how to do it our way and are irritated if they insist on doing it another way. How can there be any better way than the one we discovered?

It is just the same in spiritual things. Some do one thing and some do another. It is hard work to get into the habit of doing either way or anything. But it is far harder after you have got a religious opinion or habit to let other folks have their opinions and habits if they are different from your own. It is so natural to despise them as either narrow or too slack. If we are right, must they not be wrong? How can both be right?

Well, these questions are in the higher mathematics of spirituality. We must study them. No text book rule learned by rote will help us here. This is more than simple addition, more than subtraction or multiplication of works or division of labor. It goes as far beyond the low level of routine religious duties and practices as the heavens are above the earth. This is celestial arithmetic, and we must go [illegible] to the mastery of divine calculus [illegible] calculation of celestial quantities and values.

[illegible] is for your [illegible] to maintain [illegible]. But [illegible] let the next man think and see and do for himself also. There is a better charity than that which insists on carrying every child that cannot walk as well as you can. It is a spurious love that would ever carry another on one's back. He has feet. Teach him to use them. You enjoy walking and self helpfulness. Why, then, deprive him of the joy of using his own legs and feet. Crutches are good, but you have power to impart strength to walk. Why, then, give less? [illegible] live to the Lord; not merely to [illegible], and certainly not merely to [illegible] think and do the best God [illegible] do. Do all unto Him. [illegible] next man do the same and [illegible] it. He is God's son as [illegible] and God can speak to [illegible] to you. Teach him to [illegible]

An EXPLANATORY NOTICE

To the Citizens of Newark and our Customers throughout the State:

The 18th of last May I sold my business property known as 73 Market St. including Nos. 69 and 71, to the Chelsea Realty Co., and gave them a deed for it on July 12th, taking a lease on the property until March 1st, 1906.

To be perfectly frank with the people—having been in business since 1860, and in advanced years I began to tire, so made up my mind to close out my entire stock and devote the balance of my life to my Storage and Carpet Cleaning Business, and settle up my retail business.

But I found it IMPOSSIBLE to get rid of my stock in so short a time and now I have rented the store for another year, and will continue to sell goods at reduced prices—NO LOWER PRICES CAN BE FOUND IN ALL THE CITY.

Hoping this will fully explain my position and retain the good name and reputation we have built up and tried to maintain since we first started business in 1860, I remain,

Yours very truly,
AMOS H. VAN HORN, President.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Dec. 3.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Our one excuse.—Rom. xiv, 1-12. (Consecration meeting.)

The epistle of Paul to the Romans is the masterpiece of all his writings. In it he discusses the great doctrine of justification by faith, and this discussion has had a wonderful influence in the history of the church. Through its teachings Martin Luther found the truth, the preaching of which resulted in the Protestant reformation, and John Wesley's study of Luther's commentary upon this doctrine led him to see the light and subsequently to the organization of the great Methodist denomination. The practical part of the epistle (chapters 12-16) has also had a wonderful influence upon the church's life and history, and of this fact the fourteenth chapter is a striking illustration in its treatment of the relation of the strong to the weak and the weak to the strong. It has ever been looked upon as the final word upon this subject, and its conclusions are logical and incontrovertible. The strong should not disregard the feeling of the weak, nor should the weak presume to sit in judgment upon the strong. And this principle suggests the fact also that each man should think and act for himself, and hence cannot excuse himself upon the basis of what another thinks or does.

The tendency in all times has been for men to excuse themselves on the ground that others are not what they ought to be. The strong carry their freedom to excess just to show that they are not to be bound by the opinions of others, and the weak usurp the place of a judge over them or do what they believe to be wrong because some one else does it. But if in either case sin is committed it is not excusable. What others do or fail to do cannot be the standard of our lives. And yet how frequently this excuse is heard in various forms! Especially do we hear men excusing themselves because of the inconsistency of others. But what have they got to do with others? Their judgment of them may be wrong, and even if it should be correct they are not to be excused for failure to do because some one else does falsely. "Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind."

The folly of this one excuse should be easily apparent to all thinking people. One man has just as much right to steal because another does as a man would have to be false to God because another is. When Peter asked concerning the future of John, Jesus said: "What is that to thee? Follow thou Me." Our individual responsibility is the thing that should supremely concern us. You are responsible to God above all else for one person, yourself, and are therefore to inquire not what does John Smith do, but what does God want me to do. "Every one of us shall give an account of himself to God" and only of himself.

A Singing Convention.

The Baltimore convention is going down in history as pronouncedly a singing convention. The great festival of praise with which it opened put everybody "in tune," and after that it was easy to sing anywhere and everywhere. On the streets the Endeavor songs were heard, in the cars the Endeavorers sang, and on excursion days the railway waiting rooms rang with the melody of joy.

Thanks to the President.

When all the world was sending its congratulations to President Roosevelt upon the conclusion of the treaty of peace between Russia and Japan, with which his name will ever be inseparably linked, Dr. Clark felt that it was only right that Christian Endeavorers should have some part in these felicitations, and so he sent to the president the following letter:

President Theodore Roosevelt:

My Dear President Roosevelt—May I add my word to the great chorus of congratulations which you are receiving from all parts of the world on account of the success of the peace negotiations so largely due to yourself? I venture to do this, especially because the millions of members of Christian Endeavor societies in this and other lands are peculiarly committed to the cause of peace and arbitration and because I am confident they would wish me to express their gratitude to you for your part in the wonderful history of the past week. With sincere respect, faithfully yours,

FRANCIS E. CLARK.

In reply to this Dr. Clark has received from the president a card thanking him heartily for these congratulations. This reply, which he feels is for the Endeavorers at large, in whose name he wrote, Dr. Clark is glad to share with them.—Christian Endeavor World.

fixed the popular price on their original lines of SOROSIS SHOES for women (all constantly improved up to date) these extraordinarily fine shoes were often sold for $8.00 per pair, and to the question---"Why is this?" answer was made thus: "Some people don't in the least mind paying eight dollars for such excellent shoes and seem to consider it all right."

Since Then

there have been many millions of SOROSIS SHOES sold at the regular popular price which has remained one and the same, while many other kinds of shoes---shoes inferior to the SOROSIS ---have been sold at higher and higher prices to those who naturally belong in the class of persons soon parted from their money.

WOMAN'S CLUB ON A NEW PLAN

The "Sorosis Annex," in Lynn, Mass., Which Opened on Monday, Nov. 6th, Made Up of One Firm's Employes.

FINE HOUSE FURNISHED BY A. E. LITTLE & CO.

Rooms Admirably Arranged for the Purposes Assigned Them, and Essentials of All Kinds Are Provided.

The "Sorosis Annex" is the name of a new women's club that has come into existence in Lynn, Mass. It will differ somewhat, in its code of rules and general policy, from its sister organizations, although it will have the same general object in view, that of advancing the interests of its members. It will differ from other women's clubs, also, in the sense that its rooms will be devoted to rest and recreation and the cultivation of closed companionship among its members rather than the propagation of the advanced ideas which occupy much of the time and energy of the average woman's club.

This new club will be composed of the women employes of the Alexander E. Little & Co. shoe factory at Lynn, Mass. There are several hundred women in the employ of this concern, and all of them are enthusiastic over the venture. The idea, which originated with A. E. Little & Co., and the details of which were carried out according to their wishes, is in one sense a philanthropic movement. It is simply the product of an employer who appreciates that it is good business policy to enjoy the respect and confidence of one's employes, and that their good will is a valuable asset to a concern.

Some time ago the Sorosis concern conceived the idea of providing a clubhouse for its employes, where they might go when not occupied in a factory and spend their leisure hours. In pursuance of this plan, a large colonial dwelling house was purchased at 83 Broad street for this purpose.

For several months mechanics have been at work upon the interior and exterior of the structure, and have converted it into a most convenient building for the purpose for which it is to be used. No attempt has been made at display. The main objects desired were comfort and convenience, and they have been accomplished in a remarkable degree.

On the first floor is the kitchen, provided with the most modern cold storage plant, in which the meats and dairy products can be kept, and fitted up with the most modern accessories, and adjoining this is the dining room. Already it has been named the Dutch room, the tables and chairs being of this style, and on the walls, made bright and cheery by paper of brilliant tint, a Dutch clock ticks, and appropriate pictures harmonize with the general effect.

The game room, on the same floor, is provided with mahogany tables and chairs, and here the club members may indulge in innocent recreation. Across the hall is the parlor and lounging room, where are installed a number of couches, rockers and easy chairs. In one corner of the room is a piano, in another corner a library, which will be filled with the choicest works of fiction and history, as well as with magazines and newspapers enough to satisfy the literary taste of all.

In the upper part of the house are the sewing and writing rooms. Both of them look out upon Broad street, directly upon the site of the proposed clubhouse of the Lynn Women's Clubhouse Corporation. The sewing room is provided with several sewing machines, and here the members can bring their work, with the assurance of every facility and the companionship of congenial company. Several desks in the writing room, with stationery and all the other essentials, make it very attractive.

Everything about the building has a home-like air. One would never suspect in passing that it was a clubhouse. Rather would they think that it was the home of one in comfortable circumstances, for there are piazzas, finely laid out walks about the premises, a conservatory in the rear, and other evidence of private ownership. Within there is an atmosphere that is found alone in the home, an effect which is created largely by the general arrangement of the rooms.

While no definite plan has been formulated for the government of the organization, it is intended that it shall have the usual list of officers, and be administered much the same way as any other. The members will be required to pay nominal dues, which shall be devoted towards paying the running expenses of the establishment. This is done for two reasons. First, it is desired that the institution be made self-supporting without imposing hardship upon the members, and secondly, because it will tend to promote thrift and develop the business instinct in them. Mrs. Gardiner L. Lewis will be matron.

The Iron Brigade

A STORY OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC

By GEN. CHARLES KING
Author of "Norman Holt," "The Colonel's Daughter," "Fort Frayne," Etc.

Copyright, 1902, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

They were searching the impoverished little village under the heights, hoping somewhere to find ice to allay that burning fever, when the sight of blue-jacket cavalry sent them back and Benton followed. They, who over and again had forgotten and forgiven the sins of the stricken man, were amazed when, early next morning, a federal officer drove over from the distant camps beyond the Shenandoah and unloaded at their humble doorway, not the expected and hated guards, but a box of ice, packed in sawdust, and certain supplies from the commissariat. Then, while a brace of soldiers were attending to these, a gifted young physician on Sheridan's staff was gravely studying the tossing patient. Nor did charity end here—but details are unnecessary. The mother accepted all with wondering and tearful gratitude, the almost hopeless girl with humbled and sorrowing spirit, and even the doomed soldier himself, when consciousness returned, was too weak to resent or refuse, and so childlike and broken that he could only bury his haggard face in the poor mother's breast and sob out the story of his shame and contrition.

It was through Sheridan's lines and Benton's help they bore him away to his last resting place when the solemn struggle was over. It was at Charlottesville again that Maud Pelham and Rosalie met beside the grave, and that later, on her knees, her face buried in the lap of the once imperious queen, a poor, humbled, heart-broken girl sobbed out in turn her own sad story and Lounsberry's confession, little dreaming that it would send still another to her knees, praying not alone for mercy for the repentant dead, not alone for the rescue, the safety, of a beloved brother, but even for heaven's blessing on an enemy to Virginia and the sacred cause—the soldier she had so cruelly wronged.

"He's past prayin' for, bedad!" said the captain of the Montgomerys, at Benton, about this time—the captain and most of his men being at home on veteran furlough. "Ould Stanton's got the devil's own grudge agin him fur turnin' up in time to spoil a hangin'—all on account av Ladue that's dead." It was hardly a felicitious, yet surely a concise, way of settling the story. At no time during his incumbency was the great war secretary in so evil a mood as during the summer of '64. Grant and Sherman had both pushed southward in the face of furious fighting, yet gold had soared to flights hitherto unknown—so had the list of casualties—and a great political party, having pronounced the war a failure, set perhaps the greatest failure of the war at the head of their ticket and started a campaign to down the president beloved of the people. Then the conduct of affairs in the field had slipped from Stanton's hands. A greater than Halleck or he was now in calm, masterful, imperturbable control, while the head of the department of war had perforce to be content with managing matters at the rear, where, it must be owned, enemies were almost as active as over the line. Many a military head he hit that summer and fall—summarily dismissing even regulars without the form of a trial—sometimes imprisoning "suspects" without sign of a warrant, sometimes sending whole families into exile, and at all times being as overcharged with explosive shock as a bulging thundercloud sailing in search of object at which to launch a bolt. The illimitable humor and patience of the president, coupled with the unalterable conviction of the secretary himself that ruin would follow were he to resign, stood between the latter and open rupture with his incomparable chief. He would have hanged Jack Chilton before the end of the August moon if it had not been for Lincoln's restraining hand. Proof? What more proof was wanting? Had he not a second time—both times in disguise—visited notorious southern sympathizers within our lines? Was not the notebook found in his possession filled with memoranda, sketches, etc., of our field works and forces in Maryland? What if he did say he never pencilled a line of them? Anybody would say that! the president, said he, was "soft-hearted as a summer squash in September." The president wanted to see young Benton again, did he? What was this story about Benton's appealing to Sheridan for safe conduct through the lines for rebel families with rebel dead? Stanton was quite in the mood to carry out his threat of "breaking" Benton then and there, but rather ruefully was he realizing that he would have to take back another order, dismissing summarily a most gallant young regular, and Stanton hated to take back anything, right or wrong. However, he refused to order Benton to Washington, saying that a battle was imminent, that Sheridan needed every man of his staff, and meekly the president succumbed till the fight was over—and then it was Sheridan, not Stanton, who sent in our aide-de-camp, with hearty praise for his pluck and a shot through the shoulder. Winchester settled the matter for good and all. The president shook the other hand of the tall, bearded Badger and offered him two weeks' leave and a chance to go home until his arm was out of the sling. Benton begged instead for a chance to see Chilton, and the charges against him, and that very day drove Stanton to the verge of apoplexy, for when shown the fatal note-book he said he knew it well and could swear it was all the work of Paul Ladue and not that of Jack Chilton. Benton could not lift the gate of Lafayette, whither poor Jack had been sent, but he shattered all chance of their lifting the prisoner at the loop of a rope, and this news, too, went by devious, but still speedy ways to Charlottesville, where again, on her knees, by her father's bedside, with her arms about that father's neck, Rosalie Chilton thanked God for his mercies, and then found it harder than ever to begin the letter she had long meant to write to Elinor Benton, even though now the sending of it might be impossible.

One more ride had Benton near the Iron Brigade, after long months of separation from them, after many and many a day and night in saddle, mud and rain, in sleet and snow, up the Shenandoah, down the James river canal, around Richmond, and then, amidst volleys of chaff and catcalls, around the rear of the entrenched Army of the Potomac and out into the stripping woods about Dinwiddie. One vehement, relentless, resistless day and night ride followed, along a tormented flank, and then, that soft, sunshiny April morning, after the weeks of gloom and rain, the curtaining cavalry drew aside, revealing to the now hopeless eyes of the great confederate leader the barrier ranks of the Fifth corps—the Iron Brigade in their midst. And then, the historic surrender ended, while the blue columns tramped leisurely northward past the scenes of the fiercest endeavor, one command, following the line of the old Virginia Central, found itself, late in April, marching sturdily into Gordonsville, long time the abiding place of grim unrepentant old wardog Ewell and their veteran antagonists of Jackson's famous corps. Some of these fellows, in worn gray uniforms, were at the station ever now, two of them shaking hands with a tall staff officer in blue. "We hoped to have Jack here by this time, major," said Winston. "His release was ordered soon as Gen. Grant got back to Washington, but he had to stay because of—other matters," and a flush of deep embarrassment burned on the southerner's cheek. Even then they could not without grief and shame refer to the great tragedy that stilled even the joy of dawning peace, and hushed forever the voice of him who, with malice toward none, had never failed in boundless charity for all. Jack, though given his liberty, found himself still in need of war department clearance papers that, in all the horror of those mid April days and the excitement of the chase for fugitives, were possibly inadvertently withheld. And so it happened that, with other sorrow-stricken Virginians, he was still under detention at Washington, while every nook of the river counties was being searched, and that it should be his lot to encounter still further annoy. A steamer from down the Potomac brought in three wounded men, victims of a possibly avoidable affray between a searching party and certain fisher people whose huts and sheds had been too suddenly visited in the darkness that precedes the dawn. Shots had been exchanged, due, it was claimed, to the confusion and excitement; but the tall, lank, woe-begone civilian who guided the party and got three serious wounds as his share of the casualties, swore he had been singled out for vengeance because he had been the means of breaking up more than one well-planned escape of confederate prisoners. It was Jennings, and Jennings before breathing his last wished to see Capt. Chilton, who swallowed his repugnance and went; for, in common with most of his people he believed the stricken man a two-faced spy and the seller of information—which he probably was, yet hoped to play his game to the last and induce Chilton now to believe it was the dead and defenseless Lounsberry that threw the cavalry on Ladue that night below Mathias.

DELTA UPSILON CLUB IN STATE OF FORMATION

PLAINFIELD MEMBERS OF GREEK LETTER SOCIETY PLAN ORGANIZATION.

Members of the fraternity met at Rev. L. R. Howard's home last night to discuss a Delta Upsilon Club in this city. The general plans for bringing the club into existence were formed and steps for bringing the proposed organization to the attention of Delta Upsilon men in this section were taken.

The conferees were Rev. L. R. Howard, a Williams College man; L. M. Booth, of Swarthmore; Lindsey Best, Hamilton College; Fred M. Crossett, of New York University, secretary of the Delta Upsilon Association of New York, and R. V. Hoffman, New York University.

An effort is to be made to make the proposed club a central New Jersey organization. The conferees decided to hold a dinner in this city, to which Delta Upsilon members from all over this section will be invited, for the purpose of launching the proposed club. Invitations to the dinner will be sent to all members of the fraternity, undergraduates as well as graduate, in Bound Brook, Flemington, Roselle, Westfield, Elizabeth and vicinity.

MENTAL BREAKDOWN ENDS IN HER DEATH

MISS CARRIE RUNYON, VETERAN TEACHER, PASSES AWAY.

Miss Carrie Runyon, for thirty years a teacher in the Plainfield Public Schools, died this morning in the State Hospital, Trenton, following an illness of several years. She gave up teaching in the High School in 1900 because of poor health, and the State Retirement Fund Organization of Teachers pensioned her on half salary.

There was probably no more successful teacher in Plainfield than Miss Runyon, especially among the boys. A large percentage of the last generation in this city were taught by Miss Runyon and many of her pupils have risen to distinction and fame in various walks of life.

Miss Runyon began teaching in 1866 in the local public schools and during her early career she taught all grades, from the primary up. In later years she taught the highest grammar grade, preparing pupils for the High School course. She was highly esteemed and well thought of by her associate teachers and all the pupils who knew her.

After retiring from her position in 1900 her health did not improve, and the subsequent death of her brother, Albert Runyon, greatly affected her. It was then decided to remove her to the State Hospital at Trenton, where she received every attention and care. The news of her death will be a great shock to her many friends here.

Miss Runyon was the daughter of the late Ephraim and Eliza Runyon, and she spent her entire life here. She had three brothers, John, Albert and David Runyon, and two sisters, Sarah M., and Eliza A. Runyon, all of whom are dead.

MISS CHAPLIN TELLS OF MISSIONARY EFFORTS

ADDRESSES TRINITY'S YOUNG WOMEN'S MISSION BAND.

For the purpose of arousing a deeper interest in the home mission enterprise of the Reformed Church in America, and especially among the young people, Miss Chaplin, of New York, who is engaged in the young people's branch of the Board of Domestic Missions, addressed the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church yesterday afternoon.

The band is one of the most active missionary organizations among the young people and accomplishes a great deal during the year. Miss Chaplin recently undertook her work and at present her knowledge of home missions is more as to what she has heard rather than a personal knowledge.

The speaker is gifted and earnest and her talk was along the line of the work being done for the Indians, the mountain whites and the student volunteer movement, as well as the work among the Holland families of the West, where students are being supported. The work seems to lack the support of the young people in the Reformed church and it is Miss Chaplin's purpose to enlist the interest and help of them in home mission work. She is very enthusiastic about the work and is much encouraged by hopeful signs of renewed activity in this work.

The only other matter considered at the meeting of the band was the report of the committee on the recent "Every Day Af-fair" held in the church.

BUSH WILL SOJOURN.

Bloomfieldite Arrested in the Borough Gets Fifty-four Days.

Charles Bush, the Bloomfield man who was arrested by Chief Weiss Thursday night, received sereve punishment when arraigned before Recorder Doud last night. He was given twenty-seven days on two counts, or a total of fifty-four in the Somerville jail.

A charge of disorderly conduct was preferred against him by a Washington avenue resident and another of resisting an officer was made by Chief Weiss. In addition his wife was in court and declared that Bush has a bad record in Bloomfield, where he has frequently been arrested for small offenses.

ELKS LODGE OF SORROW

Annual Memorial Service Conducted in New Plainfield Theatre Yesterday

PROGRAM ELABORATE

Exalted Ruler William N. Runyon Delivers the Customary Eulogy —Musical Features on High Order of Excellence.

In commemoration of departed brothers of the Order of Elks, Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, conducted its second annual lodge of sorrow in the New Plainfield theatre, yesterday afternoon. Though the local organization has been fortunate, in that it has lost no members by death, the programme was an elaborate one and was heard by a gathering that filled the auditorium. The main body of the lodge was seated in the center of the orchestra while the officers and special guests were upon the stage. It was graced by a pretty interior setting that was greatly enhanced by a row of potted plants and ferns that paralleled the footlights.

It has been intended that Rev. Otis A. Glazebrook, D. D., of Elizabeth, should give the customary memorial eulogy but he was taken ill Saturday and was unable to attend. The short notice gave no opportunity to secure another speaker and the task devolved upon Exalted Ruler William N. Runyon. To those who heard his address there were no regrets, for seldom has he ever spoken in a more convincing manner or held closer the attention of so large an audience. There were no flights of oratory but his remarks were rich in quotations and addressed as much to the living as of the dead.

Through it all, the Exalted Ruler sought to impress upon the Elks and their guests before him that death should not be looked upon with apprehension, as it is but the awakening of a new life and one that has beauties not possessed by earthly being.

"You remember that babe that bore your name some twenty, thirty or forty years ago," he said, "yet it is all a thing of the past and you have no regrets. Babyhood passed into youth; youth has succeeded by manhood and there was no sorrow. The changes meant the beginning of a new life and so it shall be with us when we are called to the Great Beyond.

"But while we are living, let us remember that we are carving our own memorials and so conduct ourselves that death may have charms for us. Memory is the golden bridge that spans the chasm between the present and the past and those of us living think of departed brothers but to write their faults upon the sands, their virtues upon tablets of love. The order of Elks today is a synonym for one who loves his neighbor and it embodies the spirit of the Good Samaritan. Let each member strive to do his share for his neighbor and by so doing, live the life that prepares the way for better things."

The musical features of the service were on a high order of excellence and were provided by Townsend H. Fellows, baritone; Henry Conrad, violinist; William Paulding DeNike, violincello, and Charles L. VanBaar, pianist. The programme in detail was as follows: Trio, "Prelude," Rachmaninoff, violin, 'cello and piano; opening ceremonies conducted by Exalted Ruler William N. Runyon; baritone solo, "The Lost Chord," Mr. Fellows; prayer, Rev. Erskine M. Rodman; hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee;" violincello solo, "Berceuse," Godard, Mr. DeNike; memorial eulogy, Exalted Ruler William N. Runyon; baritone solo, "Heaven Is My Home," Mr. Fellows; closing exercises; trio, "Angel's Serenade," Braga, violin, 'cello and piano; hymn, "Abide With Me;" benediction, Rev. Erskine M. Rodman.

The officers of the lodge who were upon the platform were Exalted Ruler William N. Runyon; esteemed leading knight, Alexander D. Findlay; esteemed loyal knight, George O. Stevens; esteemed lecturing knight, Frank Rowley; secretary, Walter Freeman; treasurer, Lemuel B. Woolston; chaplain, B. Frank Coriell; esquire, Thomas Hanna; inner guard, John Bowman; tiler, E. C. Searing; trustees, James F. Buckle, Charles A. Reed and Herbert W. Stover.

The memorial committee consisted of L. A. Bellis, Charles J. Fisk, James Dodd, Charles A. Reed, George F. Schoonmaker, Charles J. Ward and S. P. T. Wilbur.

SCHOOL TO MOVE HERE

Head of Freehold Military Academy Buys Big Plot of Land

PLANS $40,000 BUILDING

Site at Prospect Avenue and Rahway Road, 800 Feet by 500 Feet —Grounds Will Be Handsome.

Authoritative announcement was made this morning of the sale of a plot of land at Prospect avenue, adjoining Rahway road, to Major Duncan, head of a military boarding school at Freehold, for a new site for his institution. The school will be moved to this city very shortly.

The plot measures 800 by 500 feet. The sale was made by Thompson & Manning, through the agency of Charles H. Lyman. The consideration was not named.

The proposed removal of the school has been brought about by the necessity for more room. Major Duncan could not find a location to suit him in Freehold, and after looking about several sections of the State he settled upon Plainfield. The beauty and advantages of the city appealed to him, and when, a week ago, Mr. Lyman showed him the Prospect avenue site his decision was made. So much was Major Duncan taken up with Plainfield that he refused a free site and building on the Erie railroad rather than forego location here.

Plans for the new school building are being drawn. The structure will measure 100 feet wide by sixty feet deep. The grounds will be handsomely laid out, with campus and athletic field. The building will cost at least $40,000.

Major Duncan's school is exclusive. The new building will have accommodations for 100 pupils.

IDES' GANG BOOTY CAUSE OF DOWNFALL

THREE ON TRIAL ON CHARGE OF RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS.

On a charge of receiving stolen goods from "Dutch" Ides, known as the "Jesse James of Union county," the trial of John, Julia and Flora Navatney was resumed before Judge Schenck at Somerville today. These goods were stolen from the New Jersey Central freight cars. They comprise groceries, dry goods, etc., and were found at the home of the accused persons at Gateville, near Somerville.

These goods are exhibited in the court room, making it look somewhat like a country grocery. The trial will probably take all day. A. M. Beekman, Esq., represents the defendants.

The trial of the indictment against Charles Kiszonak, charged with shooting and severely injuring former policeman John Stevenson, of Raritan, was concluded Saturday morning, the jury failing to agree, after being out all night. It is believed that the vote stood six to six.

DEATH OF B. A. STARR.

Stricken With Apoplexy, Passes Away in Elizabeth Hospital.

Benjamin A. Starr, Jr., of Denmark road, died at the Elizabeth General Hospital, on Saturday after a short illness. He was stricken with apoplexy on a train a week ago yesterday, while on his way home from Atlantic City, where he had been for several days. He was taken to the General Hospital, Elizabeth, temporarily, it being the intention to bring him home in a few days. His condition grew rapidly worse and this could not be done.

Mr. Starr was well-known here. Several years ago he resided in North Plainfield, afterwards moving to New York. He returned to this city several months ago and leased a handsome property on Denmark road. He was manager for the Wighton Soft Coal Company, with headquarters in New York. He was forty-four years old and leaves a widow and two children. The body was sent to Camden for burial.

KIELY CHARGES TONIGHT

Messrs. Tyler and Bullock To Present Them to Common Council.

TRIAL TO FOLLOW

Possibility That It May Be Held Within a Week—City's Case to Be Handled by Corporation Counsel Marsh.

It is expected that at the December meeting of the Common Council tonight the police committee, through Chairman W. S. Tyler, will present specific charges against Chief of Police Patrick S. Kiely for alleged wrong-doing. Announcement was previously made that the charges would be presented on or about December 1, and it has since been learned that it is the intention of the police committee to present them tonight.

According to the city ordinance a copy of these charges must be presented to the accused and another copy filed with the city clerk at least five days before the date set for the trial. If this is done today it would be impossible to hold the trial before Friday, and it may possibly be set for some day next week.

From a reliable source it is learned that the police committee believe that the trial can be concluded in one evening, and that there is no intention of dragging it along for any number of evenings. It is also said that the city is not likely to call any great number of witnesses.

It is not known just what action will be taken by Charles A. Reed, of counsel for Chief Kiely. It has been said that he will object to Councilmen Tyler and Bullock sitting at the trial as judges. If his position is sustained in this contention, the trial may not be held until the 1906 Common Council comes into power. If Mr. Reed permits the trial to proceed this year, it is believed that he will subpoena a number of witnesses to prove that his client has faithfully performed his duties and is not guilty of the charges to be made.

The city will be represented by Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, and according to the law the accused person must be tried by the entire Common Council, unless that body, by a four-fifths vote, delegates that power to the police board or some other recognized body. This, it is not believed, will be done, as it is believed that a fair and impartial trial is more likely before the Common Council. In this case, President Daniel will preside and conduct the trial as in a regular court.

HAD A FAST RUN.

Good Sport for Members of the Watchung Hunt Club.

The Watchung Hunt Club had a fast run after the hounds Saturday afternoon. Fifteen members were out, and they had one of the best afternoon's sport the riders have had in two seasons. The going was very fast, and the hounds behaved unusually well.

The dogs were thrown in at the kennels. They ran toward Westfield, circled and ran to Alton, where there was a ten-minute check. Thrown in again, they went to Mt. Pleasant, circled toward the Country Club, and ended the chase at the kennels. Next Saturday the club members will be the guests of L. E. Waring and C. J. Fisk at a hunt dinner at the Casino, after the weekly run.

Their Third Annual Concert.

Under the direction of Fred F. VanEps, banjoist, and William P. VanEps, mandolinist; W. E. MacClymont, pianist, their third annual banjo and mandolin concert will be given at the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Thursday night at 8:15. These artists will be assisted by well-known talent and an evening of great pleasure is assured all who attend. Those assisting will be Miss Marion Short, reader, whose work here has received great praise; Walter W. Waters, humorist and vocalist, better known as the "original seltzer waters;" Frank Hardman, banjoist, and a banjo and mandolin orchestra of twenty-five pieces. Tickets for reserved seat coupons can be exchanged at Hodge's pharmacy.

Criterion Dance Tomorrow Night.

The Criterion Club has issued several hundred invitations for its social and dance to be held in the Casino tomorrow night. It will be the first of the coming winter series and visitors are expected from Newark, Elizabeth, Somerville and New Brunswick.

A. R. FISK ENGAGED TO AN OHIO BELLE

SON OF FORMER MAYOR FISK TO WED MISS EDITH COLLINGS.

The Cincinnati Tribune yesterday stated that Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Collings, of that city, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edith Collings, to Augustus R. Fisk, of this city. The engagement was made known at a dinner given by the parents of the fiancee at their mansion there on Saturday. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Collings is considered one of the most charming young women in exclusive society there and her family is socially prominent throughout Ohio. Her father is a vice-president of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio and very wealthy.

Mr. Fisk is a son of former Mayor and Mrs. Charles Joel Fisk, of West Seventh street. He is a graduate of Yale and belongs to several clubs. On leaving college he was placed in the Boston office of the famous New York banking house of Harvey Fisk & Sons, of which his father is a member.

WAS PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF WATER WORKS PASSED?

QUESTION TO BE PASSED UPON IN DUE TIME BY COUNCIL AND MR. MARSH.

The status of the municipal ownership matter practically remains the same and will so remain until Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh formally advises the Common Council whether a sufficient number of votes were cast in favor of the proposition to constitute a majority. When interviewed by a representative of The Daily Press today, Mr. Marsh was disinclined to give his opinion, holding that it would not be proper for him to make the fact public before advising his client, the city.

Mr. Marsh said:

"The question whether enough votes were cast to carry the recent election in favor of adopting the act providing for municipal ownership of water works has not been passed upon either by the Common Council or the corporation counsel. Both will be required to pass on that question. If Mr. Winfield S. Angleman did not take the trouble to ascertain these facts before his first Daily Press article, he certainly knew them before he published his Saturday's article. The propriety, not to say the good taste, of his later fulmination, may therefore properly be left to the judgment of his readers."

JOHN HISCOX BURIED.

Funeral Services Over Remains of Recorder Manager.

The funeral services of John Hiscox, formerly manager for the Sabbath Recorder office here, were held from the home of his father in Westerly, R. I., yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends, including many young persons, former associates of the departed when he resided at Westerly.

Rev. Clayton Burdick, pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church, of Westerly, assisted by Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of this city, were in charge of the services. There was a beautiful display of floral tributes, attesting the high esteem in which Mr. Hiscox was held.

The interment was at Westerly, and the pall bearers were Frank J. Hubbard and Dr. O. B. Whitford, of this city; W. H. Browning and Laclead Woodmansee, of Westerly.

Funeral of William I. Brower.

SATAN AND HIS IMPS

Rev. E. E. Roberson Believes They Exist and Tells Why.

ARGUES FROM PARASITE

Evil Influences Are Always at Work In Physical World, Why Not In Spiritual Realm?

Rev. E. E. Roberson, of Bound Brook, declared his belief in the existence of a devil and an attendant group of imps, in a talk at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. "The Devil—Is There One?" was Mr. Roberson's subject. In part, he said:

"I believe there is a devil, and evil spirits co-operating with him. The Bible teaches there is one and gives him a personality. People ask if there is any evidence outside of the Bible that there is a devil, and certainly we should be prepared to make plain to people the great revelation, outside of the Bible, so I will call upon other sources to substantiate to you that there is a devil.

"You might gather along the line of natural history evidence from all over the physical world. Take for instance in vegetable life; there are parasites of almost every variety and description, enemies of vegetable life that attack and make it difficult for the plant to reach its ultimate stage of maturity. Sum from the vegetable to the animal kingdom and we find a multitude of enemies that make life miserable and almost impossible to attain perfect development. Recently there have been issued on this subject some little tracts by the greatest scientists in this country and the old. One treated on the enemies of the fish. I said to myself, after reading it, 'It is a wonder there is one of the finny tribe left.' Another pamphlet referred to the enemies of the birds, and I said to myself that 'since there are so many enemies of the birds, it is a wonder there is a single feathered songster left,' and so it is from the lowest to the highest in the animal kingdom.

"The very air is filled with little insects and parasites and disease germs that attack and destroy life in many instances. What do these things suggest? I am going to ask you in all seriousness, do they not suggest to us that in the spiritual realm there are influences that try to drag us into corruption and everlasting death? These malignant influences and powers, the Bible tells us, are demons co-operating with Satan their chief, who is trying to destroy the power and spiritual aspirations.

"Now for a little actual experience. Take the drunkard. He reaches the point where he sees friends leaving him, property gone, his loves ones suffering and his love for them, which was once warm and pure grows cold, and he loves the public house better than his home, and stands there with the little nobility he has left and curses himself that he ever indulged in these things that have brought about such ruin. At one moment he curses himself and the next moment is at it again. He drinks and curses himself and curses himself and drinks again. By and by he gets worse, and the doctor tells him 'if you have another drunken sickness you will surely die; nothing can save you.' So he resolves he will not drink again. By and by he takes the cup again and then the drunken sickness comes again; his soul is in torment; he sees the demons about him, not only demons but hobgablins of every kind while he is in the throes of delirium tremens. Can you explain it friends? I can only account for it in one way. Liquor bums nerves and tissues and destroys the will power of man. Can you account for it in any better way than by saying it is something connected with the prince of darkness?

"Take the gambler. The man comes into the city with a pure life, possibly from a rural district. After he takes the first step, something burns in his soul. What is that strange influence that makes him do what he does even though he does not desire to do so? As I look back over my own experience in Christ Jesus, I have made resolutions not to do this thing and that, as the Man on the Cross has been held up before me, with His pure life and noble character, he has won my heart and I have started to walk in his footsteps, but sometime in my life there has come up before me something that fascinated me and all before I knew it, I fell, transgressed and I remember that moment with remorse. If I did not do that myself, what made me lose my balance?

"Now friends in your lives as well as mine there has been something like that, why was it? There was somewhere a strong spiritual power that overpowered our better natures and tempted you to transgress. Now

AFTER THE SLOW PAYERS

Local Coal Dealers Formed Credit Association Saturday Night.

NO PRICE CONTROL

Combination, Dealers Say, Simply Designed to Realize on Bad Bills and Check Chronic Beats.

The Coal Merchants' Credit Association, organized to collect bad bills and prevent poor payers from getting any more coal until they reform, was formally launched Saturday night. All the local dealers are in the association, and Eugene Van Court, of Oak Tree, and J. D. Ten Eyck, of South Plainfield, are also members.

The sole and only object of the organization, the coal dealers say, is to realize as much as possible on their bad bills and to prevent people who aim to defraud them from obtaining coal. There is said to be an unusually large number of apparently worthless accounts on the books of the local dealers, and they are tired of furnishing coal for nothing to men who have all the symptoms of chronic dead beats.

It is emphatically denied that any move to boost or control the price of coal is behind the organization. Price control, it is said, is a matter wholly governed by the operators, and the dealers have no say in it.

The association will keep a list of poor payers and they will have a hard job getting coal without putting up the price. Slow payers who show a disposition to pay up, however, will not be reported.

The association elected these officers: President, H. O. Newman; vice-president, E. H. Holmes; secretary, W. D. Manning; treasurer, V. W. Nash, Sr.; board of trustees, Peter McDonough, John Johnston, Joseph Harrigan, J. Y. TenEyck and George O. Stevens.

BOROUGH POLICE LAND SEVEN GIDDY ITALIANS

HAD ENOUGH PISTOLS AND KNIVES TO STOCK AN ARSENAL.

The Italian colony located in Hudson's lane must have been celebrating some sort of festival yesterday, as the greater part of the male portion got highly intoxicated. When the supply of wine gave out they adjourned to Somerset street, where the obliging proprietor of a French delicatessen store near Chatham street, it is alleged, sold the wet goods they needed. As a result they were cutting up high jinks on the sidewalks until Chief Weiss and Marshall Emmons landed seven of them behind the bars.

When searched at police headquarters the pockets of the septette yielded up two revolvers, a wicked looking stiletto and several large bladed knives, grounded to the keenness of a razor. Two of the prisoners, Victor Marsino and Regis Albino, asked for trial this morning and Recorder Doud fined them $5 each. The others were in no condition to tell what had happened and they will be arraigned tonight.

Funeral of Mrs. Parry.

The funeral of Mrs. David Parry, who died last week at her home on Morris street, was held yesterday from the Methodist church at High Bridge, of which she was a member. It was in charge of Rev. Mr. Harris and was attended by a large gathering, many friends from this city being present. Interment was made at Clinton. A short service was held at the home here Saturday afternoon, Rev. George Mooney, of the Monroe Avenue church, officiating.

Woman Enveloped in Flames.

Mrs. David Smith, wife of the manager of the Duke estate, at Raritan, was severely burned Saturday. Her dress caught fire from some live coals that had been thrown out in a driveway where she was walking. In a moment her garments were aflame. She ran into the house and a servant threw a bucket of water over her, putting out the flames, but she was horribly burned. Her condition is critical.

Death of Young Colored Girl.

Mabel Jones, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Sarah Jones, colored, died at her home on West Fourth street, Saturday. The funeral will be held from the Mount Olive Baptist church this afternoon and interment will be made in the Methodist cemetery.

W. J. Roome, 3d.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roome, Jr., of Willow and Sycamore avenue, are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a son this morning.

NEW RECTOR'S SERMON

Rev. George A. Warner Preaches From Holy Cross Church Pulpit.

NO PERSONALITIES

"No True Priest," He Says, "Ever Preaches Them"—Urges His Parishioners to Forget Old Sores in Church Life.

Rev. George A. Warner, the new rector of Holy Cross P. E. church, preached his first sermon since he accepted the rectorate at the church yesterday morning. In spite of the drenching rain there was a large congregation to welcome the new pastor. He was well received. The sermon, including personal reference, was much more than merely interesting, the manner in which it was delivered producing a strong and favorable impression. Mr. Warner's delivery was quiet and simple, but the earnestness back of the level tone gave his discourse a force and directness that held the close attention of all his hearers.

"It is hard for a new rector to master all the details of his charge in the beginning," said Mr. Warner, in part. "Be patient with your rector and lenient in your judgments. Remember that whatever I do, I am working only, and with the singleness of purpose, for your best interests.

"Some strong things may be said from this pulpit—straightforward, direct truths; but I want you to believe that there never will be anything of a personal nature in them. No true priest of God ever preaches personalities. Some of the things that are said may seem to strike you with a personal meaning, may cause you to look upon your own life in a new way—that is what the preachment of the truth is for—but nothing will be said with a personal bias. I do not know you well nor your personal lives, nor do I want to study your lives simply to build personal sermons.

"I want to be your pastor and your friend. I come here at the beginning of a new church year to make a new start in the parish life with you. I do not know much of your past history; I do not want to know much. I know what the future can be, and on that I fix my gaze and all my hopes. If there are any old sores, any old heartburnings, forget them. Be generous, and let not that which is past mar that which is to come in the future."

The keynote of Mr. Warner's sermon was the larger Christian life, greater generosity in giving both of the spirit and of the substance to the Lord.

"Be watchful and vigilant over your tongues," he said. "Criticism is so easy. Watch over the spirit of envy and jealousy which often mars the work of the churches. In the different organizations of the church—the guilds, the societies and circles—there is apt to be so much meanness and pettiness of spite. I have seen it. The petty, small, mean sins too often hurt the Church, and nullify the efforts of her faithful servants.

"Let us be generous in our giving. The church that spends but for itself; spends but to enlarge its own plant, is not the church that grows spiritually and is a good force in the community. We can make this church one of the leading ones in the diocese, and I pray that we will. I have written so to the bishop. Yes, let us give generously. I want to see the money of this church go freely to the diocesan and general missionary funds."

The service was a long one. The full litany was said, and to mark the occasion the choir sang special music. After the service Mr. Warner received warm greetings from the members of the parish who had not yet met him.

All Men's Clubs Invited.

All of the Men's Clubs of the city have been invited to attend the musical service to be given at the First Baptist church tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Men's Club. Women will be welcome also. Besides the rendition of Gaul's "Holy City," and part songs by the choir, assisted by the Schill String Quartette, of New York, President Rush Rhees, of Rochester University, will deliver an address.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The electric light service in town Saturday night was out of commission. Front street and Park avenue were in total darkness. The service generally for the past six months has been very poor, and it would be a good thing if a tab was kept on the number of lights the township pays for each month that do not burn. This would no doubt make the P. S. C. do something toward improving the service.

The monthly communion was held at the Baptist church yesterday morning. Owing to the weather the attendance was much smaller than usual. By special request the choir, under the leadership of L. D. H. Gilmour, repeated some of the Thanksgiving Day carols.

Funeral service of John, the infant son of Mrs. Mary Munroe, was held from the home Saturday afternoon. Rev. T. Moore-Smith had charge of the service. Interment was made in the Baptist cemetery.

FORTUNE GOES BEGGING.

Heirs of Robert Graham, or Dunn, Cannot Be Found.

Morristown, Dec. 4.—Search is being made for the wife and children of Robert Graham, or Dunn, who came to this country from Norwich, England, on the steamship Idaho in 1870 and who died in Morristown in 1898. Henry P. Witte has $9,000, with interest for seven years, which was left by Mr. Graham and which has not yet been claimed.

Mr. Graham said he had no relatives, but after his death Mr. Witte, who had been appointed trustee of his estate, began a search for missing heirs. Recently he discovered a man in Norwich by the name of Adams, who formerly lived in Morristown, and who says his real name is Dunn, and that he left England after a quarrel with his family about thirty-five years ago. He left a wife and two children, and these are the ones Mr. Witte is now trying to find.

The matter came up in court today on the application of Mr. Witte for an extension of time in his search for the heirs, as, if there are no claimants to the property at the end of seven years, it reverts to Morristown township, in which Mr. Graham made his home while in this country. The motion for extended time was granted.

FINE HOME FOR NEWSBOYS.

J. D. Rockefeller Backing a $150,000 Project in Cleveland.

Cleveland, Dec. 4.—John D. Rockefeller is back of a project to build in Cleveland a newsboys' home to cost $150,000. The plan grows out of the work being done for newsboys by the Rev. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, of which Mr. Rockefeller is a member, and by H. M. Briggs, a merchant.

The newsboys' institution will be unlike other newsboys' homes. A canvass will be made to find newsboys who are homeless or who are living in homes under immoral or destitute conditions. Only such boys can get lodging at the home. The rest con have the other advantages. All homeless lads under a certain age will be cared for at the home for nothing.

The rooms will not be of the conventional institution kind. There will be soft rugs, low easy chairs and drop lights. The latest magazines will be there, games will be played, meetings of the union will be held in the committee room, and there will be a debating club, and rehearsals for "shows."

Miss Addie Harrison, of the borough, has returned from a visit with relatives at Warrenville.

James Cuzen, of West End avenue, is entertaining his brother from Scotland, who arrived a few days ago. He intends to remain in this country for the present.

N. J. IN 59TH CONGRESS

There Will Be Two New Faces in Delegaiion This Session.

POSSIBLE CHAIRMAN.

Memberships on Various Committees Held by State's Representatives in Last Congress and What They Accomplished.

Washington, Dec. 4.—With the convening of the fifty-ninth Congress today the New Jersey members of the House of Representatives, in common with others, will anxiosuly await the announcement of the committees by the Speaker, who will presumably be Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, better known as "Uncle Joe." New Jersey will have two new faces in the Congressional delegation this winter. They will be Henry Corsby Allen in the Sixth district and Marshall Van Winkle in the Ninth district.

In the fifty-eighth Congress New Jersey had four chairmanships. According to precedent the State may be expected to retain as many chairmanships in the new Congress. To some extent this may operate against the new members, because the increased membership on the Republican side of the House of Representatives will make a problem for the Speaker in making up the committee assignments.

Commencing his seventh term Representative R. Wayne Parker, of Newark, has had long experience on two of the most important committees of the House. He will probably be reappointed on judiciary and military affairs, two committees whose work is in line with his tastes. Representative William H. Wiley served on the District of Columbia committee, and his long experience as a civil engineer made him a valuable member. That he will be appointed again on this committee is probable, and he may also get some other assignment.

The chairmanships New Jersey had in the last Congress were those of pensions, banking and currency, labor and immigration and naturalization. As chairman of the committee on pensions, Representative Loudenslager, from the First district, has done some good work, and he has also served on the committee on naval affairs, one of the most important of the House. Representative Gardner, of the Second district, has long been recognized as an authority on all labor matters. He has filled the chairmanship of the committee on labor for several Congresses and the committee would not seem the same without him. Mr. Gardner is also a member of the committee on postoffices and post roads.

Representative Howell, of the Third district, has done more work for New Jersey as a member of the committee on public buildings and grounds, where he was in a position to aid every New Jersey bill. He was also chairman of the committee on immigration and naturalization in the fifty-eighth Congress, and he will probably get the same appointment this year. Representative Fowler, of the Fifth district, was chairman of the committee on banking and currency last year, and he will probably have that committee again, as well as his place on reform in the civil service.

Representative Wood, of the Fourth district, served on the committee on coinage, weights and measures, and he will probably get this assignment as well as one on some other committee. Allan L. McDermott, who will be the lone Democrat in the new Congress, has been on merchant marine and fisheries. Mr. Hughes, of the Sixth district, will be missed on the Democratic side this winter.

It is not known what changes may be made in the makeup of the Senate committees. However, it is not expected that Senators Kean or Dryden will be changed in the rearrangement. Senator Kean has been chairman of the committee on contingent expenses, one of the most difficult committee assignments of the Senate, and so admirably has he administered its affairs that there is no doubt about his continuance in that capacity. Senator Kean is also a member of the committees on foreign relations, claims, territories, interstate commerce and private land claims.

As chairman of the committee on enrolled bills, Senator Dryden took up the position once held by the late Senator William J. Sewell. It is an important committee with plenty of work attached to it. The Senator is also a member of the committee on Canadian relations, immigration, interoceanic canals, and Library and University of the United States.

While the Representatives will all have new seats with the usual drawing for seats, Senators Kean and Dryden will probably retain their same seats. Senator Kean has seat No. 17, the second in the front row to the right of the Vice President; while Senator Dryden will occupy seat No. 40, the third seat in the second row, not far from that of Senator Kean.

Like a Fairy Palace

is Hahne & Co.'s store, Newark, at Christmas—at least, the children think so; and we, too, believe it to be the nearest to fairyland of any store in the country. It is an excellent plan to take the children through our store and watch their interest in various things. In that way you will easily learn what the little ones most desire that Santa Claus shall bring them. It would be a good plan, also, to induce the older ones to come with you, and then that ever-perplexing quandary, "What shall I give them?" will not linger in your mind and cause you so much unrest. Books, handkerchiefs, gloves and umbrellas always prove acceptable presents, and you have them to fall back upon; but we have such a mammoth stock in every line that it will be well worth while to come in frequently and walk through the various departments. Every time you come you'll see something new, for we add fresh arrivals every hour of the day. Everybody can purchase all their presents here, for we cover the whole Christmas field. We have one of the most brilliantly illuminated stores in the world, within and without. Daylight is very good to us and even weak-sighted persons can purchase to their entire satisfaction. At night the store lights up as with the noonday sun, and at Christmastide, now here, the effect is one of royal splendor and fascinatingly beautiful. The electrical flash advertisements on our Broad street front are the wonder of the town. Don't fail to see them. In our grand court, main entrance, will be seen a gigantic Santa Claus, twenty-five feet high. His head, with cap, measures nearly six feet, and his boots are six feet long. His coat contains 170 yards of cloth. He will bid you welcome with a pleasant bow. All through the store will be found various kinds of entertainment; in fact, you will be so pleased with our holiday attractions that you may spend a whole day with us and be unconscious of the flight of time. Mail orders promptly filled. It is delightful shopping here, because we have broad aisles, perfect ventilation, various attractions, many resting places, correspondence and other conveniences for ladies, a fine restaurant, a smoking room for gentlemen, prompt and satisfactory service, many demonstrations of new goods, mechanical and electrical exhibitions, musical treats and a superb picture salon. No other firm in the world has accomplished so much in the entertainment and for the pleasure of its guests. We extend a hearty welcome to everybody, young and old. Hahne & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Westervelt, of this city, have returned from a visit with Bound Brook friends.

Miss Ernestine C. Smith, of Madison avenue, has returned from Westerly, R. I., where she attended the funeral services of John Hiscox, until recently manager for The Sabbath Recorder in this city.

GOFF SENTENCE ABSURD

State's Leading Newspaper Tells Why Plainfield is Surprised at Court's Action.

TOTALLY INADEQUATE

If Judge Vail Had Followed Judge Foster's Rule Man Indicted for Running Speak-easy Would Have Paid $2,000.

In the following editorial, the Newark Evening News reviews the history of the Goff case and declares that if "anybody with a grain of common sense supposes that the $50 fine imposed would put an end to the scandal" they will find how grievously they were mistaken:

"The scandal over the operation of a speak-easy in Plainfield by one John Goff has not been silenced by the fining of that individual for selling liquor without a license, but has rather been increased. Plainfield has the most progressive license system in the State of New Jersey. The cost of a license to sell liquor is $1,000 per annum, and in addition there is a 'saloon zone,' outside of which no person can secure the privilege of selling liquor. Goff applied for a license but was refused. Nevertheless he continued to sell. The police did not attempt to close him up, but the members of the Police Committee of the Common Council, going over the head of the chief, raided the place on a Sunday night, found the bar-room crowded with drinkers, and brought about the indictment of the proprietor. As a consequence, Mayor Buckle took a hand in the matter, appointed a Police Commission, and thus attempted to take from the councilmen the power of interfering with the police. The law under which this action was taken was, however, declared unconstitutional, with the result that the old order of things was established, and this was followed by the announcement that the chief of police would be tried on charges of not performing his duty. In the mean time, Goff, who had originally pleaded not guilty to the indictment against him, retracted his plea and entered one of non vult, thus avoiding a trial that was expected to prove sensational. It was announced that he would be sentenced today, but unexpectedly he was brought before the court last Friday morning, when there was no one present except the judge and jury, and was fined $50, which he paid.

"These are the facts in the case that have stirred up the people of Plainfield afresh. Goff's attorney has tried to make it appear that there were no unusual features regarding the arraignment of his client or the amount of the fine imposed. He has announced to the public that the penalty inflicted was the maximum for the offense charged. But Plainfielders will not forget that in Monmouth County recently Judge Foster fined illegal liquor sellers as high as $1,000, and in Camden last week the same class of offenders were forced to pay as high as $125 and costs. In the Asbury Park cases, the rule laid down by Judge Foster was to make the fine twice the amount he would have charged for a license. Had the same method been adopted in the Plainfield case Goff would have been forced to pay $2,000 for selling liquor without a license, to say nothing of the fact that he was doing business on Sunday when discovered.

"Is it any wonder, therefore, that the people of Plainfield are scandalized by what they call a miscarriage of justice? They remember, too, the allegations that Goff had a 'pull' because he patronized the Rising Sun Brewery, of Elizabeth, which is controlled by leading Republican politicians of Union County, including a former Governor. It also remains in their memory that there had been an attempt to secure a license for Goff by the chairman or the Republican county committee on the ground that the liquor seller had always been a liberal contributor to campaign funds. Would anybody with a grain of common sense, therefore, suppose that the $50 fine imposed would put an end to the scandal? If there be any such, they will find how grievously they were mistaken."

Army Officers to Cook.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Under a new policy of the War Department officers of the commissary department are to be taught to bake bread, and will be given practical instructions in cooking. Officers will be sent, two at a time, to the school of application for cavalry and field artillery at Fort Riley, Kan., for a course in the school for cooks and bakers. As they complete the course they will be sent out among the troops to instruct the soldiers.

Plainfield, N. J., December 4, 1905.

Lest we forget—what has become of that proposed building ordinance which will put an end to spite-houses?

For the first time in its history flowers were prohibited in Congress today. Thus is Mayor Weaver prevented from sending a bouquet to Senator Penrose.

Chauncey M. Depew and Thomas Platt are occupying their seats in the United States Senate today as the representatives of the greatest State in this free country. And just to think of the audacity of it.

At any rate the Elizabeth minister who says that he is in entire sympathy with the movement yet cannot conscientiously take part in a union revival campaign certainly cast his logic to the winds in writing his declination.

The Civil Service Commission declares that the great defect in the federal service today is the lack of opportunity for ambitious, well educated young men.—New Item.

James M. Beck, now counsel for the Standard Oil Company, is but one example to prove the fallacy of this contention.

There's nothing stingy about the religious people of New Brunswick when it comes to furnishing means to fight Satan with. Over $1,400 was donated for the expenses incident to the revival movement, and that amount could easily have been doubled, were it needed.—New Brunswick Home News.

Don't you think it's needed, brother?

ADMITS SUNDAY SELLING.

But Taylor Will Stand Trial for Disorderly House Charge.

David Taylor, the Lincoln hotelkeeper, did not go on trial before Judge Strong at New Brunswick on Saturday, although everything had been prepared for the trial. The case had been set down for this morning at 10 o'clock, so that it could be concluded before the Saturday half holiday arrived.

But Lawyer Clark, of Newark, counsel for Taylor, did not arrive until 11 o'clock. He sent telegrams to both the prosecutor and the court that he would not be able to get here until 11 o'clock. Judge Strong did not arrive until 11 o'clock, either, there having been some misunderstanding about sending a carriage for him.

Lawyer Clark told the prosecutor that his client was willing to plead guilty to the charge of selling on Sunday, but that he would fight the charge of keeping a disorderly house.

The Prosecutor said that the trial of keeping a disorderly house could not be completed before noon, and that he did not care to go on with the case after that hour, even though the defendant should waive his rights, not believing that a conviction upon a holiday would stand.

So it was decided that the case should go over for two weeks, when it will be called at 10 o'clock. Watson Emery, who has sued Taylor for winning Mrs. Emery's affections, was in court with his sister. His wife and daughter were also there. Mrs. Emery is a witness for Taylor.

There were several other witnesses present. Taylor was not sentenced on the illegal selling plea, sentence being deferred until he shall be tried on the other complaint.

Sentence Suspended.

Clayton H. Olney, thirty-four years old, a machinist, was arraigned in the city court this morning. Sentence was suspended.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Parfitt, of Gravenhurst, Canada, are visiting Mrs. Parfitt's parents, former Mayor and Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street. They will remain here until after the holidays.

then take the history of the drunkard; the man who when temptation came did that which brought calamity and degradation upon him; take the suicide; as the idea first presents itself to him it is repulsive, but it burns within him until he puts the revolver to his brain, pulls the trigger and falls dead; take the man who gambles and spends not only his own but his employer's money. He keeps at it and at it until in a moment of desperation he takes his life. So all along throught the great catalogue of experience."

THE FORUM.

Editor The Daily Press:

On leaving train from New York at Plainfield and trying to get to the street, I have several times been compelled, at the entrance nearest Park avenue, on North, to clamber over several vehicles (a large cart, a wheelbarrow and several small wagone), much to the sorrow of my clothes and temper. Hoping you will see fit to jar them at the station a little about this, I am, yours gratefully.

WILL TAKE NO ACTIVE PART IN A REVIVAL

MAKES STATEMENT IN CHURCH PUBLICATION, DESPITE CONGREGATION'S

Rev. Dr. H. H. Oberly, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Elizabeth, one of the wealthiest and most fashionable congregations in that city, makes a statement in The Chronicle, the official church publication, in which he says that his church will have no active part in the revival services which will begin at Elizabeth today. Other Episcopal churches of the city are preparing for this revival and meetings will be held in some of them, notably St. John's church.

This is what the minister has to say: "Such services, with extemporaneous prayer, unfamiliar phraseology and foreign modes of thought, would be unedifying to people accustomed to sobriety and stateliness in worship, to restraint in emotion, to the lofty diction of the prayer-book and to the prominence of doctrinal and sacramental teaching. If such people, laying aside their principles and convictions, were to attend the union services, they would come away unsatisfied and unimpressed."

Regarding his attitude toward the union services Rev. Dr. Oberley continues:

"The rector of this parish, while in entire sympathy with the spirit of the movement, cannot conscientiously take part in the union services. Earnestly desiring, however, that he and his people may have the benefit of this great faith, he has offered to co-operate according to the methods of the church. The committee of pastors, including all the rectors except the rector of this parish, has issued a letter which was read in Christ church on Sunday, October 22. The announcement is made that the union services are to be held on December 3 (the first Sunday in Advent) and are to continue through three weeks."

The rector of Christ church, however, has arranged for some special ministers and a change in the usual programme. He advises his parishioners to pray for the success of the revival.

To Remove P. S. C. Offices.

While definite announcement of the fact has not been made, it is stated on reliable authority that the Public Service Corporation will soon move their offices from West Second street, near the electric light plant, to the store in the Babcock building now occupied by Shirley & Johnson. This firm has leased the store formerly occupied by Woodhull & Martin and will move there this month. For a long time the Public Service Corporation has been desirous of securing offices on Front street, near the business center, it being realized that its present location is away from the principal traffic and not as accessible as on a main thoroughfare. It is understood that arrangements are about complete for the change and that it will be made during the month.

Thieves Active at a Fire.

Three stores were gutted by fire at Morristown early yesterday morning and two others were damaged. Several persons complain of having been robbed, one of whom, a business man, who says more than 100 meerschaum pipes were stolen from, has evidence, he alleges, against several persons and threatens to make arrests. Meyer Friedman, who lived over his store, lost $400, which was burned up. It is charged by another fire victim that $82 was stolen from his dresser and a young woman says $20 was stolen from her pocketbook.

Prof. Smith Talks to Farmers.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture was held Saturday afternoon in the Court House at Somerville. There was a large attendance of farmers from all over the county. The chief speaker was Prof. John B. Smith, of New Brunswick, the State entomologist, who had for his subject "Up-to-date Methods for Sprays." His remarks were both interesting and instructive.

AMUSEMENTS.

Richard Carle, the player-playwirght, who scored so decided a hit with his new farcical opera, "The Mayor of Tokio," in Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, will open his New York engagement on Monday, December 4, at the New York theatre. Mr. Carle is probably the most versatile musical comedian in the United States, inasmuch as he is a librettist, composer, producer, star and manager. Mr. Carle plays the character of Marcus Orlando Kidder, a comic opera impressario, who has gone broke with his luckless company thousands of miles from Broadway. By a peculiar chain of circumstances Kidder and his Komiques, as the troupe is called, become entangled with the destinies of the Mayor of Tokio. This entaglement results in a series of humorous misunderstandings and complications, which keep the audience interested and laughing during the course of two acts. Aside from the personal hit scored by Mr. Carle, a splendid impression has been made by the "Peanut Ballet," nine little girls whose dancing borders on the sensational. They were selected by Mr. Carle from a number of Western musical productions and are probably the youngest ballet on the stage, as their average age is between sixteen and seventeen years. Among the members of Mr. Carle's excellent supporting company are Fred Frear, William Rock, John Wallerstedt, Jo Smith Marba, Jess Caine, William H. Platt, Hortense Mazurette, Emma Janvier, Adele Rowland, Minerva Courtney, Madge Vincent, Ethel Lloyd and Ada Mitchell. In addition there is a large ensemble which was christened by a Boston dramatic writer, "The Blue Ribbon Chorus of America."

The phenomenal success that is rewarding the limited coster engagement of James K. Hackett and Mary Mannering in Alfred Sutro's wonderful play, "The Walls of Jericho," at the Savoy theatre, New York, speaks louder than words the appreciation that the public holds for this great drama, which has been proclaimed the play of the year. In New York "The Walls of Jericho" is only repeating the same story of success it enjoyed in London, where it is still being played, a fact which also serves to demonstrate that when it comes to a drama of strong, human interest, a play which deals with life as it really exists today, and one that touches the heart, the opinion of its merits, no matter how widely at variance the audiences of England and America may have been about other plays, their appreciation of "The Walls of Jericho" are one and the same. In its appeal, which is direct, the Sutro play possesses untold value in its forceful endeavor to put the stage to its legitimate and almost forgotten purpose, in a word, acting as a moral agent, it enforces a salutary lesson by administering its teachings in the form of interesting entertainment. During this engagement two matinees are given weekly, on Thursdays and Saturdays.

Charles Dillingham will present Thomas W. Ross in a new comedy called "A Fair Exchange" at the Liberty theatre this evening. This piece is by Henry Blossom, the author of "Checkers," and was written especially for Mr. Ross, who has been fitted with a glovelike nicety in this production. The new play comes to New York with the enthusiastic endorsement of the critics of Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis and other large cities. The plot of the comedy deals with the adventures of a young ranchman, Cliffe Austin, played by Mr. Ross, who has made a fortune in Arizona and comes East to visit his sister. At first he finds it hard to conform to the manners and habits of the Easterner. He is a typical Westerner, clear-headed and long-sighted, and he soon discovers the scheme of a broker who is preying upon his sister's property. The main thread of the plot, however, hinges on the result of a yacht race which is to be sailed between this broker and a friend of Cliffe's. The broker plies his rival with wine until he is in no condition to command his boat. Cliffe, who has only a theoretic knowledge of yachting, takes his place, and though outsailed and beaten at every point, he manages to have the race declared a draw on a technicality. The hero gets himself in no end of trouble trying to right his sister's affairs and makes countless enemies, at one time coming dangerously near losing the love of the girl whom he subsequently marries. This comedy is one of the cleverest seen on the American stage in years, and fairly bristles with bright up-to-date repartee and scintillates with good-natured satire. Mr. Dillingham has engaged a very strong supporting cast, among whom are Lizzie Hudson Collier, Bijou Fernandez, Claire Kulp, Channez Olney, Gertrude Doremus, John Flood, George Parsons, Percy F. Ames and Forrest Robinson.

"Bankers and Brokers" is the title of one of the most popular offerings of the present theatrical season, and will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday night, December 12. The play is a musical comedy, tuneful and witty, full of life and action, constructed on an exceptionally funny plot and serves to introduce those clever comedians, Yorke and Adams, as co-stars in the amusement firmament. George Totten Smith and Aaron Hoffman are responsible for the book and lyrics, while the music is furnished by the well known composer, Gus Salzer. B. E. Forrester has produced the comedy on a sumptuous scale and an ensemble complete in its entirety is assured.

Messrs. Broadhurst & Currie have departed from the conventional in presenting Nat Wills and his extensive company in "The Duke of Duluth," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre Wednesday night, December 13. Mr. Wills enjoys the distinction of being somewhat different than others. The remembrance of his portrayal of "The Son of Rest," the past two seasons, won for him praise and admiration from both the press and public, and in his new vehicle, "The Duke of Duluth," a merry musical comedy, he has found one of the most musical comedies for wit, humor and melody that has taken the road. His surroundings are splendid, the scenery gorgeous, and the production itself par-excellence. The large and augmented choruses is a beauty doctor in a large form as fell as an exhilarating relief from the general run of recent farces.

A play that has always had an extreme fascination for amusement seekers is W. E. Nankeville's melodramatic offering, "Human Hearts," which will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

The musical features with "Uncle Josh Spruceby" company this year include a band and an orchestra of ten solo musicians. At the noon-day concert a programme of popular and high-grade selections are rendered by the band, and these concerts have become very popular and invariably attract much attention and comment. The orchestra between the acts discourses a pleasing programme and is one of the many attractive features with the show. For the first time this season this company appears at popular prices and it goes without saying that a jammed house is assured. "Uncle Josh" appears at the New Plainfield theatre Monday, December 11.

Julian Mitchell has become famous as a producer of magnificent musical plays, but none that he has done in the past equals in harmony of pictures and novelty of features his latest piece, "Wonderland," at the Majestic theatre, New York. The house is filled every evening, and so freshly has it appealed to the discriminating theatre-goer of the city and its environs that the boxes are all engaged for a long time in advance by the best known people in society. Miss Alice Roosevelt's recent visit to the Majestic has been followed by the appearance there of many leaders of the swell sets. There are several things in "Wonderland" that would, any one of them, be sufficient to make an ordinary musical comedy success. The "Nature Class" song is even more popular than "I Can't Do That Sum" was in a former success at this theatre. Miss Lotta Faust's "Pauline" makes nightly hits. Miss Bessie Wynn has another of her splendid boy parts. Miss Aimee Angeles justifies her reputation as the best dancer ever seen on Broadway. In the matter of stage pictures Mr. Mitchell is known as the Belasco of musical comedy, has distanced all his previous efforts. The transformation scene, in which a flood descends upon a department store and carries the actors into the land of enchantment is regarded as a wonderful piece of stage magic. The costuming of "Wonderland" is exquisite. It is a quality of Mr. Mitchell's work in this direction that his colors never clash, but blend delicately into alluring combinations. As for the music, Victor Herbert is at his best in this piece.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.
Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.
Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 30 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

"SYMPOSIUM" DOOMED.

Public Printer to Stamp Out Money Lending Business in Washington.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Public Printer Stillings, who has just assumed office, has stamped his disapproval of the "symposium business," or money lending associations in the big public printery, and hereafter under no circumstances will the symposiums be again permitted to flourish here.

Mr. Stillings plans to clean up the whole business of money lending in a short but effective manner. Not only does he propose forcing the payment of exisiting "symposium" debt, but legitimate debts of every kind. He does not believe that a man or woman can do a fair day's work if harrassed with debts.

It has been shown conclusively that the borrowers of money at 2 per cent. per week cannot hold up long, and it has also been made public that several of the managers and treasurers of these money lending concerns have mismanaged affairs, and their friends and families, to say nothing of the stockholders, have suffered.

The Iron Brigade

A STORY OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC

By GEN. CHARLES KING

Author of "Norman Holt," "The Colonel's Daughter," "Fort Frayne," Etc.

Copyright, 1902, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

It was southern lead, however, that ended Jennings's career, and he, at least, had he lived, could never have set foot again on Virginia soil.

These things they told Fred Benton that soft April evening on the way up to Charlottesville, as the sun was sinking behind the ragged mountains and the Rivanna tore full, came rushing and foaming down from the beautiful Blue Ridge. They led him, from the wreck of a railway, through bowered streets, to the gate of an old Virginia homestead, where leafy trees clung thick and protecting about the columned portico and the wide-spreading eaves. There these two war-trained young cavaliers, still wearing their uniforms of gray left him for a brief hour, and went their way to answer many a question, doubtless, from the lips of loved ones, not so entirely absorbed in their own bliss as to feel no interest in the possibilities of another affair. Every girl in Charlottesville had at least one lover in the war. Some had many more than one. Some, alas, had lost the only one. Was it like that Queen Rosalie should care for none? Queen Rosalie she was again in the hearts of many of her old coterie, but imperious, wilful, domineering no longer—changed to one and all, as all could see.

The trees and shrubbery were ringing with a riot of melody as Benton softly closed the gate behind him and stood a moment, waiting for his heart to cease the violence of its throbbing. Blue birds, wrens and orioles were piping in final frolic before the close of day. The hedge rows and the lofty boughs alike seemed thrilling with life and ecstasy and song. Only the old white mansion was still. The broad doorway to the lower hall stood invitingly open. An easy chair, cushioned, stood close beside it, and other chairs, with a footstool or hassock, an old gray traveling shawl and a book or two were scattered about. A venerable horse, wheezy and sedate, was cropping the grass and switching at gnats under the blossoming fruit trees on the southward side. The locusts drooped over the old fence along the cross street, where that feathered, drab felt hat first caught Benton's weary eyes. But on this lovely, breathless evening no human form appeared, no human voice was heard in concert with the vesper hymn of the myriad songsters of the air. Purposely had Benton given no hint of his coming. Indeed, to whom should he send word? Why should he send to any one? Why, indeed, should he have come at all?

Three years before, this very month, he had escaped in the darkness of midnight from these surroundings, and it was Rosalie who pointed the way. Two years before, this very month, she had driven him forth from her presence, or turned from him in a fury of disdain, with insult on her lips, with wrath and contempt in her flashing eyes. Surely, encouragement he had none; yet, the moment military duty would permit, here again he stood, the knight, the champion, the lover she had spurned, and never again even by faintest sign had summoned.

He wished her not to know of his coming. Men who deeply love and deeply long for answering symptom throw to the winds their every chance in coming heralded, for the fondest woman, given time and warning, is a consummate dissembler. The warmest heart will coat itself with ice impenetrable. No, he meant to take her by surprise as completely as Gordon's fellows had amazed the men of the Eighth corps that dark dawn under the shadows of old Massanutten, and only to Winston at Richmond had he spoken of the possibility of his stopping over a day at Charlottesville. Half a dozen girls, however, knew of the presence of the invader before Rosalie Chilton, but none learned it in just such a way.

A few minutes Benton stood there in silent reconnoissance. He might have seized the old-fashioned brass knocker at the door and brought somebody in answer to the summons, but that would have spoiled the surprise. He bethought him of that old arbor in the garden, and wondered if he could pass the windows and the kitchen without attracting notice. Then, looking about him, and drawing closer to the shelter of the vine-shaded portico, he saw that the placidly grazing horse had uplifted his venerable head, and, with ears on end, was regarding, evidently, some approaching object; then, with low and welcoming whinney, moved slowly through the fruit trees as though to meet some one still beyond the field of the soldier's vision. Then it was that Benton for the first time realized that this was old Pyramus, the horse that three years before had safely borne him through the woods and by-roads to the mountain cabin, thence on to the gaps of the Blue ridge, on from Rivanna to the Rapidan, and again to Bucklands and the final rescue north of Bristoe, only to be turned loose and abandoned to the pursuing gray-coats when poor Hector sank exhausted, crippled, and begging not to be left to the vengeance of the foe. Pelham's friends must have restored the old horse to his owners, yet now the veteran was being made at home here at the Chiltons'. How came that?

Fred would have gone instantly to renew acquaintance and reward his old four-footed friend with caress and praise, but someone else was crossing the lawn, with a white hand extended, palm uppermost, before her—some one in white dimity, though Benton didn't know it from damask, and cared nothing what it was, save that the waist, at least, clung to the queenly form he was so thrilled to see. The voluminous skirt was doing its best to balloon without the aid of a "skeleton;" for crinoline, being the height of fashion, was contraband of war, scarce in the south as cinchona; but these were details of which Benton took no note. There had been a time when he fully intended that, not so much for what she had said in her wrath as for what she must have believed of him, this proud, imperious, wilful girl should be made to feel that he, too, could rebuke, but at sight of her and the weariness and lassitude with which she moved, all this seemed vanished into the air. All that he now saw—heard—felt—knew—was that it was she, Rosalie, who, only half a dozen rods away, lonely as ever in her dark beauty, yet pathetically changed, had thrown one arm about that scrawny, grizzled, equine neck, and stood softly stroking the lean old head, softly murmuring to the unheeding ear and nestling the warm velvet of her cheek upon that unresponsive jowl—all that sweetness thrown away upon a superannuated steed that, ignoring sweets incomparable, nuzzled about her rounded neck and arms in quest of lump sugar, long since a forgotten luxury. Rosalie's back was toward the intruder in blue, as, no longer hesitant, he went striding under the trees until almost within arms' length of her, Pyramus, the while, regarding him with mute and placid curiosity, with neither hope nor fear. And here the soldier stood and looked on hungrily a moment at priceless caresses, for any touch of which he could almost sell his soul, and listening to low, murmurous words of tenderness and affection that, lavished on him, would have turned grief or suffering to instant ecstasy. The sight thrilled him, even while it fired his soul with envious greed. And then—and then came further murmured words, at sound of which his heart stormed at its heaving bars, and fairly leaped in mad delight and passionate, rejoiceful love. Gracious heaven, could he believe his senses!

LITERARY.

"Success Magazine" for December contains a very timely and interesting article on "How Roosevelt is Regarded Abroad." Vance Thompson, who has gained repute as the greatest American interviewer, has found everywhere on the Continent the warmest admiration for our strenuous President. Mr. Roosevelt's books can be found in the library of every French home, and the people quote his political teachings as a goad to keep their erring politicians in line. In short, the Continent is almost as proud of Mr. Roosevelt as we are. "Turning Children into Dollars," by Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, is an extremely enlightening description by this well-known writer of the way in which the child-labor law is evaded in the New York tenements, with the inevitable result of the stunting of mental and moral growth and the placing of a tremendous handicap on the coming generation. This is only the first of a series of articles on child-slavery. David Belasco contributes a sketch of "The Beginnings of the Drama in America," and Mme. Schumann-Heink, in "Studying for Grand Opera," gives some suggestions, drawn from her own experience, for those whose aspirations lead toward the operatic stage. Richard Le Gallienne in a light and fanciful vein depicts the efficacy of "Books as Doctors," and foretells the final displacement of drugs by sedatives for the mind. "The Romance of News-gathering," by Remsen Crawford, gives the lay mind a glimpse into the varied and adventurous life of the reporter. The fiction is the strongest this magazine has ever presented. "How Coleman Got Home for Christmas" is a deep-set story by James B. Connolly. It contains all the subtle characterizations and powerful touches that distinguish this master of stories of the sea. Ellis Parker Butler's "A Blue-Label Saint" is a delightfully humorous story of the complications caused in a Sunday school entertainment by an inopportune janitors' strike. Frederick Upham Adams' "Wanted—A Desperado" and Jennie Betts Hartswick's "A Busy Morning" are excellent pieces of up-to-date fiction. A poem by Wallace Irwin, "The Skipper and the Cabin Boy," recounts the adventures of two castaways in the Arctic regions and a meeting with Santa Claus. Other verse is contributed by Mildred I. McNeal Sweeney, Roy Farrel Greene, Strickland W. Gillilan, Henry Coyle, Alfred J. Waterhouse, and Agnes M. Matthews. This issue is the most attractive number that this magazine has ever published. The cover design is a beautiful piece of work by J. C. Leyendecker, representing an episode under the mistle-nisa... name.—O. S. Marden in "Success Magazine."

MISTAKEN FOR BURGLAR.

Apparently Demented Man Pursued and Captured at Somerville.

Somerville, Dec. 4—An apparently demented man, who was mistaken for a burglar, was captured by Constable John Bunn and a posse of farmers at North Branch Thursday night and landed in the county jail here at midnight. The man led his pursuers a wild chase across country and was run down on the meadows near the North Branch Hotel. The stranger had been acting in a mysterious manner about the village Thursday. He was caught in the act of hiding a set of tools in a doghouse in the rear of the village hotel.

The loungers at the hotel were sure that the tools were for house-breaking purposes and that the man was a burglar.

A posse was formed at the hotel, which caught up with the man as he was leaving the village. The man started on a run and drew a package from his pocket, which he threw in the bushes by the road side. When he was captured he was in great terror of the posse and talked incoherently. When arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kitchen here his condition was improved. He said that he was Harry Oxton, of Jersey City, but refused to give his street address.

He claimed to be an iron molder who was traveling from High Bridge to Jersey City, when, for some reason which he could not explain, he was impelled to jump from the train when it stopped at a country station. The tools found in the doghouse are like those used by iron molders. The man's story was further verified by a memorandum book found in his pocket bearing the name of Henry Oxton, ironworker. He also had a railroad ticket reading from Whitehouse to Jersey City in his pocket. He will be held for a further hearing.

A. F. Naylor, of 918 East Front street, left this morning for Somerville, S. C., where he will spend the winter. He will return here April 1, to resume his business.

STRICKEN BLIND WHILE SHE DANCED

NEWARK GIRL VICTIM OF A STRANGE MALADY.

Miss Anna Schaub, twenty-three years old, of Kinney and Livingston streets, Newark, was stricken blind while dancing early yesterday morning at the ball of the Unknown Pleasure Club, in Doelger's Hall, Morris avenue, Newark. This is the third time in about a year that she has been thus affected.

Miss Schaub was waltzing. Suddenly she stopped, complained of dizziness, and soon collapsed. When she opened her eyes she began to stare vacantly into space. When Miss Schaub put her hands to her face she exclaimed:

"Oh, mother, I am blind again!"

The stricken girl was taken home by her cousin and placed in a room without light. Her condition did not improve, apparently, and her mother arranged to take her to New York today for treatment by physicians who twice before restored her sight after similar affliction.

Mrs. Schaub lives with her widowed mother an dyounger brother. She is an experienced jewelry worker. A little more than a year ago she suffered her first attack of blindness. It was then determined that paralysis of the nerves of one of her eyes had resulted from intense strain. She was three months under the care of specialists.

Again, early this year, while enjoying a play at the Newark theatre one evening, she lost her sight. This time she remained blind fifteen days.

The specialists who have been treating Miss Schaub consider her case one of the most remarkable in their practice.

WITH SHOTGUN, HE HELD 50 MEN AT BAY

FARMER ARMED HIMSELF AND TELEPHONE-POLE HAD TO QUIT.

With a double-barrelled shotgun and his pockets bulging with ammunition, Abraham Garrabrant, a farmer at Brookdale, three miles from Bloomfield, held fifty men, employes of the Coast Line Telephone Company, at bay on his farm Saturday afternoon to prevent them from erecting telephone poles on his property.

The men had torn down several lengths of fence and dug several holes before they were discovered. When Garrabrant was told of what was going on he hastened to the scene, and when he ordered the men to stop work they laughed at him.

Richard Garrabrant, a son, who was with his father, told the latter to go back to the house and get his gun. After he had gone Richard seated himself on the fence. The elder Garrabrant had just got out of sight when the telephone men resumed their work of destroying the fence, in spite of the son's efforts to stop them. While Richard was perched on the fence it was cut down from under him and caused him to roll in the street.

The elder Garrabrant returned with his gun and commanded the men to get off his property or he would shoot. All obeyed and for an hour Garrabrant held the fort until Chief of Police Collins arrived with Policeman Smith. The telephone employes were ordered off the premises as trespassers who had no right there.

Gilbert Collins, of Jersey City, counsel for the telephone company, was communicated with and he advised that the men cease their efforts to put up the poles and said the case would be fought in the courts. Before the men went away Chief Collins compelled them to replace the fence and fill up the holes that had been dug for the poles.

DRYDEN AND KEAN SAFER.

Victory of Fagan Forces Might Have Jeopardized Both.

Trenton, Dec. 4.—Both of the United States Senators—Kean, whose term has yet five years to run, and Dryden, whose term will run out in sixteen months—awaited the outcome of Friday night's battle between Dickinson and Fagan for the control of the Hudson County Republican Committee with keen anxiety.

If the Fagan forces won, a combination of the Hudson legislative delegation with the Colby men in Essex would put Senator Dryden's re-election to the Senate in jeopardy, and might not be without its disastrous effect upon a possible future candidacy of Mr. Kean. With Dickinson still leader of the Hudson Republicans the chances of both are improved.

The contest was only preliminary, however, to that at the primaries on Wednesday next to fill some vacancies about to occur in the committee.

Nearly Drowned by Insane Woman.

Charles Scudder, a business man of this city, who lives in Ewing, had an exciting experience last night with an insane woman whom he found trying to drown herself in an ice pond on his farm. Mr. Scudder jumped into the water and the woman seized him, declaring that they should die together. After a lively struggle Mr. Scudder succeeded in dragging the woman ashore. He was nearly exhausted, and, breaking away from him, the woman again jumped into the water. Mr. Scudder followed, and was having a hard time with the woman when two attendants from the State Hospital, from which she had escaped, arrived, and with their assistance she was finally subdued.

Leaves the Bench.

Governor Stokes formally acknowledged the receipt of the resignation, accepting it. Judge Skinner had notified him verbally of his intention a few days previously, and sent in the formal letter on Friday.

Fire in Minister'st Home.

A bureau at the home of Rev. Mr. Creut, colored, on West Fourth street, caught fire in some way early Saturday afternoon and caused a lively blaze. An alarm was turned in from box 34 and the department responding used the chemical engine with good effect. The damage will reach $50. Mrs. Rosie Stout owns the house.

Left Wife Who Took His Watch.

William E. Willever, formerly a noted baseball player, was arrested at Trenton yesterday, charged with failing to support his wife, who lives in New Brunswick. His defense is that Mrs. Willever recently "went through his clothes," took a new overcoat and a gold watch from his bedroom and refused to tell him what she did with them. He was taken to New Brunswick for a hearing.

Tried to Die on Wife's Grave.

Charles Classtetter, of 165 Railroad avenue, Jersey City, was found yesterday writhing on the grave of his wife in the New York Bay cemetery. He had taken a dose of carbolic acid. At the City Hospital, where he was taken, it was said that there was but little chance for his recovery. He is the father of three little children. His wife died two months ago.

Hit by Train; Foul Play Feared.

The body of Charles Cross, seventy years old, whose home was in Paterson, was found this morning in a ditch beside the Erie Railroad tracks, between that city and Clifton. He had apparently been hit by a train and hurled into the ditch beside the tracks. He had been missing from homesince yesterday afternoon. His relatives think he met with foul play.

Dryden's Turn Next.

Senator Dryden expects to appear before the insurance investigators on December 13, and a number of questions have been put to the Prudential Company, so that he will be prepared to answer them. This, of course, does not preclude the investigators from asking any other question. The counsel of the committee, Charles E. Hughes, has a large corps of assistants, many of them insurance experts and all the work is conducted systematically, every question being asked with a purpose and a knowledge of what the answer will probably be.

Sent Back Stolen Wallet.

George N. Vincent, a well known resident of Boontown, while riding in a street car in New York a few days ago was relieved of a fat wallet and his ticket of membership in the Morris County Country Club. He knew that he was being robbed at the time, but the thief was too quick for him and escaped in the crowd. Mr. Vincent was surprised, therefore, when he received a letter yesterday, mailed in New York, containing the missing money and membership ticket. Mr. Vincent believes that the thief was new at the business, and later, regretting his dishonesty, returned the property to relieve his conscience.

Want Men in Central at Night.

An effort is being made by the Town Improvement Association, of Montclair, to induce the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to employ men as night operators instead of girls. The women of the Town Improvement Association are of the opinion that girls should not be employed throughout the night at telephone switchboards, although they admit the conditions there are the best possible.

CONTRACTOR'S PENALTY

Street Committee is to Say Whether Meeker Must Pay.

COUNCIL IS UNDECIDED

Plainfield's Share of County and State Tax Ordered Paid to Collector—Routine Work of City Fathers.

In reporting the street bills at the December meeting of the Common Council last night Chairman Wilson kept his promise and moved that C. M. Meeker's bill for macadamizing certain streets be returned to him for correction. Mr. Meeker did not complete his work on time, November 15, and he was informed that a penalty of $10 for each day after that date would be exacted until his work was finished. Mr. Wilson said that his action was in accordance with instructions from Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh.

Mr. Tolles declared that while he did not thoroughly understand the matter, he thought such an exaction would prove a hardship. Mr. Wilson further exlained that Mr. Meeker had not yet completed his contract. After further discussion Mr. Wilson moved that the bill be returned to the street committee for further consideration and settlement with Mr. Meeker.

A resolution was adopted authoring City Treasurer W. F. Arnold to pay to the county collector $66,013.28, this being Plainfield's share of the county and State tax.

Mr. Tyler, chairman of the police committee, reported adversely on one police bill for the services of a special patrolman appointed by the former police commission, and it was referred to the corporation counsel for adjustment.

On motion of Mr. Murphy, chairman of the lights and trees committee, a light was ordered placed on Madison avenue, between Stelle avenue and Randolph road, and two lights were ordered placed on Leland avenue, between North avenue and East Second street.

Building Inspector Doane reported the granting of twenty-two permits durirng November.

Mr. Tolles reported back the petition of Robert Bellchambers and J. P. Emmons, executors for the estate of Ellen Gill, asking for an adjustment of taxes, and on the advice of the corporation counsel recommended that the petition be denied, which was done.

Mr. Tolles offered a resolution providing for the apportionment of back tax moneys received from the enforcement of the Martin act, after the expense for the enforcement is met. This money will be distributed to the various departments of the city. Another resolution offered by Mr. Tolles, and adopted, provided for the borrowing of $10,000 for sewer improvements, the same to be secured by notes in the usual way.

A MARK OF RESPECT.

High School Classes to Suspend at Noon in Memory of Teacher.

For the first time in the history of the local schools, the classes in the Stillman building will be dismissed at noon today out of respect of the memory of a teacher, Miss Carrie B. Runyon, who taught in the city for thirty-four years. The Board of Education, last night, took cognizance of the fact that she had served faithfully and passed a resolution that the High School departments suspend. Miss Runyon's funeral will be held in the First Presbyterian church this afternoon and the majority of the city teachers and members of the Board of Education will be in attendance.

The subject of closing at noon was broached by Superintendent Maxson, who said that he did not believe in such action as a rule but the record left by Miss Runyon is such that it was the least the Board could do. His views were in accord with those of Mr. Cave and the latter immediately offered the resolution that was adopted.

Navatney Sisters Guilty.

Julia and Flora Navatney, of Raritan, were found guilty by the juay in the Somerset County Court last night of receiving stolen goods from "Dutch" Ides, of Elizabeth. A similar charge against their brother, John Navatney, was dismissed. The jury arrived at the verdict in a short time and recommended mercy for Flora. They will be sentenced Friday.

HOSPITAL LETS CITY IN

Municipality Given Representation on Muhlenberg's Board.

MAYOR IS A MEMBER

Arrangments Also Made at Last Night's Session for Annual Carnival—Committee Is Appointed.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, at its December meeting last night, agreed that the mayor of the city shall be ex-officio a member of that body. The action is taken so that the municipality may have some voice in the management of hospital affairs.

When the question of requesting the taxpayers to vote money for the support of the institution came up before the Common Council a short time ago; one strong objection to it was that the city was not represented on the Board of Governors. It was subsequently announced that a representative of the city would be named to take his place on the board.

Charles J. Fisk, DeWitt C. Ivins and Henry L. Hall were appointed an executive committee with full power to make all arrangements for a carhival and fair to be held for the benefit of the hospital. The show will take place between May 19 and June 2, 1906, inclusive. The work of arranging the details for this affair will be earnestly prosecuted.

Paul Taylor Brown was elected secretary of the board of succeed Charles E. Brooks, who resigned.

A contract has been made for an elevator for carrying patients between the basement and upper floors of the administration building, and it will be installed at once. The cost of the improvement will be about $600. The funds were raised by a subscription among a few friends of the institution.

The report of the medical staff showed that there were thirty-three patients remaining at the hospital at the beginning of the month. During the month forty-nine patients were admitted, forty discharged cured, seven improved, two not improved, four died, remaining twenty-nine. The total number of patients treated was eighty-two, hospital days 874. In the dispensary there were twenty-five patients, 102 visits and five operations.

A communication was received from the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Governors, informing the board that Mrs. F. H. Andrews, Mrs. J. B. Dumont and Miss Tracy have been appointed to co-operate with the carnival committee and assist in any way possible.

DILATORY PLUMBER ANGERS SCHOOL BOARD

TRUSTEES MAY TAKE HIGH SCHOOL CONTRACT OUT OF HIS HANDS.

The city Board of Education departed from its usual serenity last night and besides saying some very uncomplimentary things about the methods of D. J. Galbraith, the plumber, passed a resolution calculated to make him hurry along his part of the work on the new High School. It was made known to the members of the board by Supervising Architect Morse that several of the contractors are behind, but none so much as Mr. Galbraith, and there is a possibility that his laxity will cause a serious delay in the completion of the building. As a result, the following resolution, offered by Mr. Abbott, was adopted:

"Resolved, That if the plumber has not finished his work in the new High School by December 20, the architect, acting under the provisions of the contract, shall take the work out of his hands and employ a sufficient number of men to complete it by December 31 and deduct the same from his contract price."

The clerk was instructed to serve a copy of the resolution on Mr. Galbraith today, while Architect Morse was told to hurry the other contractors along as well. The board was informed that it will be fully two months before the building is entirely completed, but that it will be in condition to hold the New Year's reception as planned. According to the general contract it should be entirely finished by December 20.

GRACE CHURCH ANNUAL

Wardens, Vestrymen and Deputies to Diocesan Convention Elected.

A SPECIAL COMMISSION

Advistory Body That Will Study and Recommend Sunday-school Methods—Story of the Year's Finances.

The annual parish meeting of Grace P. E. church was held in the parish house last night. Wardens, vestrymen and deputies to the coming diocensan convention were elected.

The two wardens chosen are E. H. Booth and M. S. Ackerman. The vestrymen elected, seven in number, were Howard Fleming, S. D. Lounsbury, L. G. Timpson, J. E. Erickson, W. T. Gough, W. T. Pelletier and O. G. Waring. The two first named are new members. The deputies are W. E. Low, J. B. Dumont and G. S. Clay. Their alternates are E. L. Finch, Howard Fleming and R. H. Depew.

E. H. Booth read the treasurer's report and gave an interesting resume of the figures. The receipts of the parish during the past year, exclusive of $10,000 on a mortgage on the new parish house, were $18,767, of this sum $941 being given for missions. Pew rents, amounting in total to $6,378, decreased $6, and collections, amounting to $3,732, increased $400. $6,05? was raised for the new parish house fund during the year, which added to the balance from the year before, made a total of $10,541 raised for the fund. The house has cost to date $19,379, and there are bills unpaid amounting to $1,349, making the grand total of cost $20,728, a trifle over the receipts. The record on the financing of the parish house construction is an unusually good one, and the rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, referred to it when the report was read. There is a total of $877 in a special fund for memorial windows.

An old mortgage of $8,800 is on the church. The assured revenue of the church, embodied in the pew rents and collections, is $10,714. The expenditures this year exceeded the receipts by about $50. During the year $559 was spent on repairs, an unusually large sum. So much money for repairs has not been spent in one year in some time. The exterior of the church was completely overhauled and made much more attractive.

It was voted to submit seven names to the rector, from which he will choose a Sunday school commission, the duties of which will be to study Sunday school methods and curriculums and advise the rector and superintendent from time to time. In effect the commission will be a Sunday school board of education for the parish. The names submitted, named by various members of the parish present, are G. S. Clay, Miss Hartridge, Mrs. S. B. Herrick, H. S. Huse, Miss Tweedy, D. H. Rowland and Richard Stevens.

It was voted to close the fiscal year of the parish hereafter on September 30, in order to enable the treasurer to have a full statement of the church finances at the annual meeting.

The session was a long one, but very little besides routine business was transacted. The rector presided and M. S. Ackerman was elected secretary. He has been secretary of the vestry for seven years.

MRS. SCHENCK RESIGNS.

Her Health Prompts Her to Give up Superintendency of Chapel.

Mrs. J. W. Schenck, for the past year superintendent of Marconnier chapel, has sent her resignation to the consistory of Trinity Reformed church, and the resignation will be acted upon at the next regular meeting of that body, Thursday night, December 14. Mrs. Schenck has endeared herself to many at Oak Tree during the time she has been superintendent and the ending of her visitations among the members of the chapel will be a source of regret to many.

Living nearly a mile from the chapel and the approaching winter season causes Mrs. Schenck to feel that her health would not permit her to do the work expected of her during the bad weather soon to come. She therefore asks the consistory to relieve her of her position as superintendent.

Juniors to Attend Service.

The members of Franklin, Somerset and Benevolent Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., will attend services at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Roberson, of Bound Brook, a member of the order, will make the address.

BOARD ANSWERS PETITION

School Trustees Acknowledge Need of Increased Facilities in Lower West End.

NO ACTION AT PRESENT

Feeling That Plainfield Alumni Association Has Overstepped Bounds in Arranging Opening of New High School.

At its regular meeting last night the city Board of Education considered the petition for increased school facilities in the vicinity of West Front street and Clinton avenue, presented last month and signed by Jacob Kriney and 212 other property owners, and apssed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the clerk of the Board of Education he and hereby is instructed to acknowledge the receipt of the petition of residents of the Fourth ward and to say that the board fully recognizes the need for greater accommodations for the children of that ward and will respond to the need as promptly and completely as possible. The use of the new High School building will result in such changes as to partially relieve the pressure for the immediate future, but the growth of the city will no doubt before long oblige the board to take other measures to furnish greater accommodations, and the matter of providing for future needs has been the subject of frequent informal discussions between the trustees and the officers of the schools."

The board was in receipt of a communication from M. C. Parker, chairman of a meeting of the Plainfield Alumni Association held recently, in which part of the organization's plans for the opening of the new High School New Year's afternoon and night was outlined. It was stated that a reception would be held in the afternoon and a "jollification" at night, to which the members and ex-members of the board, the graduates and students of the old High School and present and past teachers would be invited. Mr. Parker's letter was read by the secretary, and immediately Mr. Lovell offered a resolution that "the Alumni Association consult with the board before it makes any further plans for the opening of the school." The feeling seemed to be that the organization had overstepped its bounds and was getting into territory over which it had no control.

The school calendar for the coming year was fixed by Superintendent Maxson as follows: Winter term, from Wednesday, January 3, to April 13; Spring term, April 22 to June 21; Fall term, September 11 to December 21. Mr. Maxson also stated the school law demands a committee to examine teachers who have not State certificates, and as an occasion has arisen locally where this is necessary, he asked that the board serve in connection with Principal Travell, of the High School, and Principal Day, of the Whittier School.

A communication was received from Benjamin Evans giving his formal acceptance of the appointment as engineer and janitor of the new High School.

COMIC OPERA FOR CHARITY.

Pirates of Penzance to Be Given for Day Nursery.

Following a conference between officers of the City Union of King's Daughters and William Holmes, it has been decided that Mr. Holmes give the comic opera, "The Pirates of Penzance," for the benefit of the Day Nursery, which is to be opened in this city January 1. The opera will be given probably at the New Plainfield theatre early in February. The rehearsals will be started on Monday night.

Mr. Holmes hopes to have practically the same cast that gave the original performance of this opera with such success at the Casino a few years ago. Several well-known persons who are interested in the King's Daughters' work and who are socially prominent are behind the movement to give the benefit performance and its success is assured already.

A $55,000 IMPROVEMENT

Common Council Acts Favorably on Proposed Sanitary Sewer Extension.

A PUMPING STATION

To Be In Portions of City Where Gravity System Cannot Be Used—In Three Distinct Branches.

The attempt of Councilman Wilson, chairman of the streets and sewers committee, to secure the adoption of an ordinance providing an extension of the sanitary sewers in portions of the city not possible to sewer by gravity, caused a lively discussion at the December meeting of the Common Council last night. The matter has been under discussion during the past two years, and a few months ago Mr. Wilson secured an appropriation to investigate the subject and have plans prepared for the improvement, which calls for pumping stations.

It was arranged to have a public hearing on the proposition last night, and no one appearing to speak for or against the improvement, Mr. Wilson called up the ordinance. After a lengthy argument the ordinance was adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised. The improvement will call for an expenditure of about $55,000, of which amount the affected property owners will pay about $11,000 and the city the balance.

Mr. Bullock started the argument by asking Mr. Wilson if the proposed extension included all that section which cannot be sewered by gravity. He was informed that it did not.

Mr. Tolles stated that he thought it unwise at this time to pass the ordinance. The work could not be done this year, and he thought it best to let the 1906 Common Council take up the matter. He made a motion to that effect, but it was lost by a vote of seven to three. The members voting against the motion were President Daniel, Councilmen Bullock, Hibbard, Higham, C. C. Randolph, Tyler and Wilson, while those voting in favor were Councilmen Tolles, Gloak and Frank Randolph. By the same vote the ordinance was adopted on its first and second readings and ordered advertised.

Mr. Hibbard wanted to know something of the history of the movement to make the proposed extension to the sewer system, and at Mr. Wilson's request Mr. Higham made a brief statement. He said that primarily the urgent need for sewer connection at Muhlenberg Hospital was the means of agitating the matter, and besides a large section of the West End of the city was found to be in need of the system. He could see no reason why residents in that end of the city should be compelled to help pay the interest on the sewer bonds and not have the use of the system.

Street Commissioner Gavett was present and he was asked to make a few remarks on the subject. He explained the plan, which is to provide three pumping stations to sewer the easterly, westerly and southwesterly portions of the city In reply to a question he said that three distinct branches of the system were planned and they could be built separately or together. He said that the total cost of the extension would be about $55,000, and that about $11,000 would be the property owners' share and the balance would be paid by the city.

In further explaining the need for this extension Mr. Higham said that, in his opinion, the city should assume the care and cleaning of cesspools in the unsewered part of the city where taxpayers are obliged to help pay the interest on the sewer obligations, and where they cannot get into the sewer by gravity.

Mr. Higham took exceptions to Mr. Tolles' desire to lay the matter over until next year, stating that the latter member was well versed in the provisions of the ordinance and knows how urgent the extension is. In reply to Mr. Tolles' remarks that the ordinance should be considered by the incoming members, he said that it would be unwise to overburden the 1906 Common Council.

Mr. Tolles did not think that anything would be lost by laying the ordinance over and the preliminary cost would be just as valuable to the 1906 Common Council in making the improvement, which he believed would surely be made next year.

After the question had been thoroughly discussed, the vote was called for by Mr. Wilson, and his motion to adopt the ordinance on first and second readings was passed as stated.

The portion of the city to be sewered by the new system includes these and adjoining streets: Randolph road, Park avenue, Arlington avenue, Arlington place, Grove street, Clinton avenue, Morris street, McDowell street, Manson place, Monroe avenue West Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth streets and Hobart avenue.

DEFER KIELY CHARGES

Accusations Against Police Chief Kiely to be Presented Friday Night.

ON MR. TYLER'S REQUEST

Chairman of Police Committee Asks for Postponement Because Corporation Counsel Desires Time to Frame Charges.

Greatly to the disappointment of a large and interested lobby, the much talked-of charges against Chief of Police Patrick S. Kiely were not presented by the councilmanic police committee at the December meeting of the Common Council last night. Mr. Tyler, chairman of the committee, moved that the regular order of business be suspended to receive the report of the police committee. This being done, Mr. Tyler stated that Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh had not had sufficient time to prepare the charges to be presented, and he asked that when the Common Council meeting adjourned it be to meet on Friday night to receive the charges of the committee. The Common Council concurred in the motion, after which Mr. Tyler stated that no further report of the committee would be made until Friday night.

The disappointment of those in the lobby was quickly shown after Mr. Tyler's announcement. Nearly all the spectators retired before other business was taken up. Prior to the meeting it was whispered that the charges would not be presented for the reasons stated by the chairman of the police committee. Mr. Marsh informed Mr. Tyler of his inability to prepare the charges in time and he thought it best to ask for an adjourned session on Friday night.

Mr. Marsh did not appear at the meeting of the Common Council, neither was Charles A. Reed, counsel for Chief Kiely, the latter evidently being informed that nothing would be done at this session. As the Friday night meeting is called especially for the purpose of hearing the charges, the members will be able to devote their entire time and attention to the police committee report.

HER FEET ROPED, GIRL DRAGGED AFTER WAGON

REMARKABLE ACCIDENT IN WHICH MISS MARY PIERSON FIGURES ON PARK AVE.

Passersbys on Park avenue near Front street at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon stared in amazement at one of Woodhull & Martin's delivery wagons that was bowling rapidly along in the direction of Second street. That which attracted their attention was a young woman was trailing along the roadway on her back, about twelve feet behind the wagon, attached to it by a long rope. She was gliding very smoothly, and for all the excitement that came from her she might have been having a pleasant, if eccentric, time.

The horrified yells of the people on the sidewalk caused the negro driver of the wagon to pull up suddenly at Antony Seidel's barber shop. When he saw what his wagon had been dragging he was so scared he nearly fell off the seat. The young woman was Miss Mary L. Pierson, of West Front street. When the wagon started from the store a long length of doubled rope trailed behind, with the loop end out. Miss Pierson stepped into the loop as it slipped over the crosswalk at Park avenue, and the next instant she was jerked prone and her unusual journey down Park avenue began. She made several ineffectual attempts to free herself, and, finding them useless, lay quietly and waited whatever fate had in store at the end of the ride.

The half a dozen men who picked her up and freed her from the rope were smitten with increased amazement to find her unhurt and not even fainting. She was a bit frightened and her dress was very mussy, but the trip had left no bruises. Miss Pierson took her experience with a great degree of coolness, everything considered.

"If he hadn't stopped when he did, I guess my ankle would have stretched some," was her only comment. She expects Woodhull & Martin to pay for the dress.

Her Own Play.

Alice Mehl, the twelve-year-old daughter of Fireman George Mehl, Jr., gave a party to about forty of her young friends last night. The feature of the affair was the presentation of a play, "The Changed Home," which was written by Alice for the occasion. Gertrude Blimm, Mildred Priemer, Rosalind Rogers, Ethel, Alice and Margery Mehl took part in it. Refreshments followed the play.

VALUE OF THE COLLEGE

Mr. Randolph's Topic at University of Rochester Alumni Banquet.

SOME GOOD SPEAKERS

President Rush Rhees and Charles E. Hughes Among the Other After-Dinner Talkers.

Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, president of the New York Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange, was one of the principal speakers at the annual dinner of the University of Rochester's alumni in New York last night. Dr. Rush Rhees, president of the university, a nephew of Charles W. McCutchen and Samuel St. John McCutchen, of this city, was another prominent speaker. The others were former Lieutenant Governor Stewart L. Woodford, Dr. John F. Finley, president of the College of the City of New York; Charles E. Hughes, the insurance prober; Senator Armstrong, chairman of the insurance investigating committee; J. Sloat Fassett, Justice John M. Day, Willis S. Paine and William R. Willcox.

Mr. Randolph spoke at some length on the advantage of a college education in the business world and he also dwelt upon the self-sacrificing work of the educator. He said in part:

"The burning question with not a few business-men (even outside of the insurance profession) is—How much can I take and still stay out of purgatory and the penitentiary? If the limit were but clearly and certainly marked, a large percentage of men would live up to that limit. Neither the shortness of life nor the sense of personal responsibility serves to restrain the appetite for greed.

"It is refreshing to turn from a picture so saddening to such a one as we may contemplate in a noble university. Here the question always is —not how much can be got out of it for selfish satisfaction, but how much can be done for the world's benefit? Who ever knew the president, or any professor or instructor, of a university to go into the service in order to make money by it, or from any base motive whatever?

"To the sordid mind, President Rhees, your noble profession and your devoted life can have no attraction. For this reason, if for no other, the exalted ideal presented by the very inception of the university, and by its every effort and step of progress and by the life of every one of its ill-compensated and faithful officers and directors and workers, is of inestimable value to a world too much given over to the worship of Mammon.

"And yet it would be no welcome task of mine to decry or berate the world as we know it. Half a dozen centuries ago learning was hiding in monastic seclusion. Today our students and our seers work in the sunlight of a latter-day revelation. Even so with religious and ethical culture. It may yet be a far cry to the realization of the millenium of lofty faith and ideal behavior; but, as it was more than a Sabbath-day's journey from the state of degraded and wilful wickedness to that of the narrow and self-conscious but decent Pharisee, so it has been the journey of many days of intelligent self-abnegation from the Pharisee's admiration of the breadth of his own phylacteries to the unnumbered self-forgetting heroic lives of the prophets, who, today, make glad proclamation from the watch-towers of Zion.

"The cloister no longer imprisons the world's culture; and even the honored but limited institutions of learning of our own grandfathers' days have developed into magnificent universities in which all noble science and art and ethics are generously disseminated for the uplifting of a receptive humanity.

"The true value of a progressive and many-sided education is better understood than at any time in the past. Herbert Spencer justly rebuked those who 'assume that the goodness of education is to be tested by the quantity of knowledge acquired;—whereas it is to be much more truly tested by the capacity for using knowledge—by the extent to which the knowledge gained has been turned into faculty so as to be available both for the purposes of life and for the purposes of independent inquiry.'

"It is clear that Spencer viewed knowledge and culture as constituting capital capable, not only of reproduction and growth, but actually capable of evolution;—that is, having the power of self-transmutation into something always better in kind and quality. All this and more is involved in the function and mission of the modern higher education.

"Permit me as a man of business —one who has spent more than half a century in touch with the financial

The regular monthly meeting of the trustees of the M. E. church was held in the class rooms of the church last night. It was the first meeting in two months, last month's session being postponed.

MORRIS CANAL BILL WILL APPEAR EARLY

LEHIGH VALLEY R. R. CO. ORDERS ADVERTISEMENT OF INTENDED CONTEST

Newark, Dec. 5.—One of the features of the legislative session, which opens January 9 next, will, according to a legal notice ordered advertised, be a renewal of the contest for the abandonment of the Morris Canal for navigation purposes on terms agreeable to the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, its present owner.

Particular interest is attached to the notice that a bill will be introduced with that object in view, at this time, because the law requiring four weeks' notice of the introduction of a special act to be given prior to the convening of the Legislature or introduction of the bill was superseded by the Duffield act of last session, which required only the publication of a notice for one week in a Trenton paper.

The latter act was introduced, according to its sponsor, for the special purpose of meeting the Morris Canal abandonment issue. Much adverse criticism was occasioned because the notice was not published according to the then existing law, four weeks prior to its introduction. In papers published in the counties affected by the possible enactment of the proposed abandonment measure it was broadly hinted that publicity was feared and it is for that reason William H. Corbin, of Collins & Corbin, counsel for the company, said that the notice will be published under the old law and the act of 1905, which supersedes it, as well.

Mr. Corbin said that as far as he knew the terms of the new bill would be the same as the one which failed to reach final passage at the last session. The latter act was originally drawn after a report on the subject had been made by a commission of three former Governors—Griggs, Werts and Voorhees—and Mr. Corbin said he was not aware of any intention to change its provisions.

MAYORS' EQUAL TAXATION LEAGUE RENEWS FIGHT

WILL MEET THURSDAY AT JERSEY CITY AND INVITE LEGISLATURE TO CONFAB.

Jersey City, Dec. 5.—Arrangements for carrying on the equal tax fight at Trenton this winter will be made at the city hall, here, Thursday afternoon, at a meeting of the mayor's equal tax league, which has been called by Mayor Fagan. Today a letter was sent to each State senator and to each assemblyman calling attention to the meeting and inviting him to attend, if possible, and if not to communicate his position on equal taxation and limited franchises.

Mayor Fagan, in the letter which he sent to each mayor in New Jersey, calls attention to the organization of the league a year ago, and declares that the instalment of equal taxation secured last winter by the passage of the Duffield act was due in a large measure to the public sentiment aroused by the league in support of the justice of the equal tax demand.

Mayor Fagan urges that it is important that the work be continued, and that this year a law should be passed by the Legislature providing for the taxation of main stem railroad real estate at local rates, and for the taxation at local rates of the franchises of public utility corporations and for the restriction of such franchises to a limited period. The mayor declares that the first step is to obtain the election of a speaker in the house of assembly who shall be committed openly and clearly to the passage of these laws. To that end, and to consider and take action as may seem advisable on the subject of the laws needed he called the meeting of the league.

AROUND THE GLOBE.

Never before has there been so much personal intercourse between the monarchs of Europe. Within the last twelve months the Kaiser has met the rulers of all important European countries. King Edward is the only one with whom the Kaiser did not shake hands this year.—Konigsberger Zeitung.

The experiments that are being made in the Madras Presidency with the curing of tobacco grown there are of a most encouraging nature, and there is no reason why Indian-grown tobacco, if it gets fair play, should not cut out American in the English market.—Englishman, Calcutta.

The government intends shortly to distribute spoils taken in the war for exhibition at the Shinto shrines. Some time ago the London County Council rejected the offer of the British Government to present some guns taken in the Boer War, saying that things calculated to arouse warlike feelings should not be displayed in a public place. The sentiment is worthy of a great civilized nation. We hope that Japan, the ally of Great Britain, will show a similar love of peace.—Yorodzu, Tokio.

When the extent of the damage in the recent Suifu flood was realized, the officials of the city, coming in solemn procession to the water's edge, and kneeling with their heads touching the ground, besought the river to desist. They even threw in their buttons, and the fu his official hat.—North China Herald, Shanghai.

There are no good and up-to-date novels dealing with school life. The only person we could possibly expect to be a successful writer of school novels would be an Oxford or Cambridge man endowed with the good taste of Thackeray, the sympathy of Dickens, the judgment of George Eliot, and the humor of Mark Twain. —Eton College Chronicle.

ILL-TIMED COMPLIMENT.

One of the two was a ticket scalper. The other dabbles in various things, including mining stocks. "I heard a man, in fact, I have heard several men, pay you a very flattering compliment," said the man of the mining stocks, when the two met on Market street. "I don't tell you this to make you swell up with pride, but one of them declared that you were absolutely the smartest man in San Francisco, and the others all agreed with him."

"What's coming now?" queried the scalper.

"Oh, nothing. I thought maybe you would be interested in hearing yourself so highly complimented."

"Well, that's very flattering, of course."

"By the way, you know those mining stocks of mine?"

"Well?"

"Well, I need a little ready money. Could you let me have $3,000 or $4,000 on them."

"Say, look here! A moment ago you were telling me that I was the smartest man in San Francisco, and now you're trying to make me out a blithering idiot."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Peter Garretson, of Clinton avenue, who fell several months ago and injured his back, is improving steadily.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Blazier, of Elmwood place, have returned from a visit with friends at Springfield, Union county.

W. W. St. John, city editor of the Courier-News, will leave tomorrow for Asheville, N. C., where he will remain until January 1.

SAYS NEGROES' VOTES WERE SOLD AT $2 EACH

CLERGYMAN DECLARES REPUBLICANS WERE PAID TO STAY AWAY FROM POLES

Elizabeth, Dec. 5.—The alleged cause of the defeat of Clark McK. Whittemore, Republican candidate for alderman in Elizabeth's Sixth ward, was brought out recently at a meeting of the colored Republican county committee. Chairman Charles R. H. Hawkins presided at a meeting held a week ago to investigate the charge that a sufficient number of negro votes had been paid to remain away from the polls and this accomplished Candidate Whittemore's defeat.

A committee was appointed to investigate, and its report was made Friday night. The report compromised the negro dog warden of the city, Edward Malson. An emphatic statement was made by Rev. John H. Jones, of Shiloh Baptist church, who was a member of the poll committee on election day, that Malson approached him on that day at the polling booth and invited him out for a carriage ride. During this ride, so Jones stated, Malson unfolded to him the plan by which the Republican aldermanic candidate was to be beaten. It was, in substance, that the negro voters in the Sixth ward were to be paid $2 a piece to stay away from the polls. Parson Jones, who is a stalwart Republican, revolted, as he declared, at this scheme, and told Malson his "game" would not work. The outcome, however, evidently proved that Malson knew more about the colored voters than the clergyman.

The election returns show that out of thirty-two negro voters in the district only two went to the polls. Chairman Hawkins asked Jones if he had any idea where this alleged corruption money came from. The clergyman replied that he did, but was not at liberty to mention any name. Chairman Hawkins insisted that as Jones had made such a serious charge, he should, in all fairness to the committee, give the name or names of those who, as alleged by him, had tampered with the colored voters of the ward.

Jones absolutely refused to give the name of any individual, but did mention a prominent Elizabeth brewing company, which, he claimed, was mixed up in the deal. Chairman Hawkins then made a bitter denunciation of those members of his race who allowed themselves to be purchased on eection day, and declared he was in possession of sufficient information, which he intended to place before the grand jury at the January team, and which, he felt satisfied, if the grand jury did its duty, would result in the indictment of one or more prominent Democratic politicians of Elizabeth. The committee adjourned for two weeks, when more interesting developments are promised.

STRANGE CASE ENDS.

Jury Fails to Agree in Somerville Shooting Affair.

Somerville, Dec. 5.—A strange case which has occupied the Somerset Court for five days terminated Saturday when the jury, after deliberating twenty hours, failed to agree whether Charles Kiszonak, a wealthy saloon keeper, of Raritan, shot his friend, former Policeman John Stevenson, intentionally or by mistake for a burglar. Stevenson, who formerly lived in Plainfield, went to the back door of Kiszonak's residence at 3 o'clock on the morning of March 19, and knocked repeatedly on the door for admittance.

Stevenson swore that Kiszonak opened the door in a fit of anger and shot him in the chest. Stevenson has carried the bullet in his right lung for eight months and is now a physical wreck. Kiszonak, on the witness stand, swore that he shot at Stevenson from a second story window and believed that he was a burglar. There was a lot of medical expert testimony added by both the State and the defense to prove the manner in which Stevenson had been shot.

The medical witnesses for the State were sure that Stevenson had been shot at short range by a revolver held on a level with his chest, while the doctors for the defense swore that he was shot at long range by a revolver held above his head. The jury failed to agree on the subject any better than the doctors and stood six for conviction and six for acquittal. They were discharged by Judge Schenck after being out all night. It is believed that Kiszonak will be tried again.

Telephones in East Orange Church.

Members of the congregation of the Munn Avenue Presbyterian church, of East Orange, no longer have to strain their ears if they sit away back in the church and desire to hear the doctrine of Presbyterianism propounded by the Rev. Dr. James M. Ludlow, their pastor. The old folks and those who sit in the rear of the church Sunday found in their pews telephone receivers, which are connected with a powerful and finely adjusted transmitter in the pulpit. The whole arrangement is really nothing more nor less than an interior telephone system with an instrument in every pew. All that is necessary to do is to set a little switch lever when the occupant of the pew wants to use the telephone.

Plainfield, N. J., December 5, 1905.

County seat papers report that a Union county lawyer has been robbed. Turn about is fair play.

Newark newspaper man has resigned his membership on a State commission. Couldn't have been any money in the job.

As Sam Bernard would say, the Army and Navy people got a "sufficiency" of Princeton on Saturday—in one respect if not in another.

Mr. Carnegie's hero fund commission will please note the fact that an insurance director has quit his position because he experienced pangs of conscience in drawing $300 a week for doing nothing.

Certainly the Elizabeth Journal has a queer idea of college spirit and athletics when it argues that because Harvard's football receipts have fallen off, the public will decide the fate of that enjoyable sport. There is not one penny of income from varsity oarsmen's contests. In fact there is a very heavy expense incurred in maintaining a crew, but what institution would abandon the sport for that reason? The same is generally true of college baseball, hockey, and track and field sports. Fortunately college spirit has not got a pecuniary basis.

CITY TO PRESERVE ITS BEAUTIFUL TREES

WAR ON MAPLE AND SAN JOSE SCALES TO BEGIN AT ONCE.

George T. Powell, an expert in agricultural problems and president of the Agricultural Experts' Association, of New York, who has been conferring with Street Commission A. J. Gavett with a view to exterminating the insect known as the cottony maple scale, will soon begin the work of spraying trees.

Announcement of this fact was made by Chairman Murphy, of the lights and trees committee, at the Common Council meeting last night. Percy Nelson, of New York, has been studying the insects injurious to trees in and about Plainfield and has found the San Jose scale doing considerable damage. Some trees are nearly ruined from the ravages of the scale.

Mr. Murphy stated last night that plans are complete for systematically spraying affected trees along the streets with materials that will effectively keep in check the scale and other injurious insects. It is the desire of the chairman of the lights and threes committee that persons knowing of trees affected by these injurious insects will communicate that information to him or Street Commission Gavett as soon as possible, so that they may be treated with others now on the list. Trees on private property will not be sprayed at public expense.

Rev. Dr. Richards to Make Address.

Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, former pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, now pastor of the Brick church, New York, will make an address at the union meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Crescent Avenue church to be held in the chapel Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Thank offerings for both societies will be received.

Problems Facing the Colonists.

Mrs. Charles L. Goodrich read a paper before the Monday Afternoon Club, yesterday afternoon, on "The Problems Facing the Colonists." The article was of exceptional interest and was well received by the club. This was one of the series of similar papers on colonial life in Virginia and New England, which have proved so instructive and interesting during the winter.

ROUTINE MATTERS AT COMMON COUNCIL

PETITIONS CONSIDERED BY CITY FATHERS AT REGULAR SESSION.

Objecting to a sewer assessment made on one side of his property on the northeast corner of East Seventh and Richmond streets, having previously been assessed for the sewer which runs in front of his property, Peter Neuman communicated with the Common Council at the December meeting last night, asking that the one assessment be set aside. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company informed the Common Council that it had located one two-way hydrant at Hunter and Evona avenues, as ordered.

Morris Abrams and M. Weinberger petitioned the Common Council to apportion the taxes on several properties on South Second street, a portion of which had been sold to various persons. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

The Home Real Estate Company petitioned to have a tax paid on the property at 1424 West Fourth street returned, as it had been paid twice. The finance committee will adjust the matter.

A communication was received from Charles A. Reed, Esq., in which he asked the Common Council to adopt a resolution cancelling the bonds of the former police commissioners and return the same to him. The action was asked, as the act under which the commission was appointed was declared unconstitutional. The matter was referred to the police committee.

DINNER TALE FATAL TO TWO.

Suicide of Moulder Follows Murder of Wife.

Trenton, Dec. 5.—A murder and suicide were commited here at noon yesterday. One of the victims died almost immediately and the other died in the ambulance on the way to the hospital.

Edward T. Lovett, of 347 Academy street, left home shortly after breakfast this morning, and returned at noon for his luncheon. According to the police, he was told by his wife that his meal would not be ready for half an hour, whereupon he flew into a frenzy and seizing a razor which was in the dining room he caught hold of the woman and drew the sharp edge of the weapon across her throat.

She tried to resist, but failed, and fell to the floor. Lovett, who had been drinking during the day, became frightened when he saw the woman lying apparently dead on the floor in a pool of blood. Taking the razor, he drew it across his own throat, making a long gash, and fell to the floor beside his wife.

Neighbors who heard the sound of the bodies falling became alarmed at the quietness of the place, made an investigation, and found both Lovett and his wife on the floor.

A policeman was summoned, and he sent in a hurry call for an ambulance. When it arrived the surgeon pronounced the man dead, but said the woman was still alive, although not likely to live long because of the loss of blood. He took her in the ambulance and started for the hospital, but Mrs. Lovett died before the vehicle reached the institution.

The police say Lovett was under the influence of liquor when he murdered his wife and took his own life.

ELIZABETH LAWYER DEAD.

John J. Lowden Succumbs to an Attack of Liver Trouble.

Elizabeth, Dec. 5.—John J. Lowden, a prominent lawyer of this city, died Saturday night at his residence, 110 Elm street, here, after a long illness from liver trouble. He was forty-three years old, born in Jamaica, Long Island, but had lived in Elizabeth since he was three months old.

He was a member of the Union County Bar Association, Washington Lodge of Freemasons and Court Elizabeth, Independent Order of Foresters. Mr. Lowden was a member of the board of trustees of the East Baptist church.

Mr. Lowden studied law with Senator John Kean, in the office of Counsellors James E. and N. C. J. English, of Elizabeth, and was admitted to the bar in February, 1884.

He leaves a widow, three children, two boys and a girl, and one brother, Joseph Dye Lowden, managing editor of the Elizabeth Daily Journal.

The funeral services took place at his home at 3 o'clock today. Rev. John V. Ellson, pastor of the East Baptist church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Stiffler, pastor of the Baptist church at Roselle, and Rev. Mr. Murdock, pastor of Epworth Methodist church, Elizabeth. The pallbearers were members of the Union County Bar Association. Interment was at Evergreen cemetery.

Having House Enlarged.

Henry Grennert, of West Third street, is having his house enlarged by the addition of a kitchen and bathroom. He drew the plans for the work himself.

TWO CLAIMANTS FOR MRS. GARRETSON'S LAND

FARSON'S ASSN. WANTS IT AS DOES ALSO THE PENTECOSTAL ASSOCIATION

Somerville, Dec. 5.—Considerable interest was aroused a few weeks ago when it was alleged that Mrs. C. V. N. Garretson, who had become, it was said at the time, a convert of the mission workers of the Pentecostal Union, had transferred her farm in Franklin township, and personal property to the amount of $5,000, to the union. A new situation was brought to light Saturday when Duke M. Farson, president of the Metropolitan Church Association, a corporation of Illinois, deposited a protest in the county clerk's office here against the transfer of the property, on the ground that in February Mrs. Garretson donated it to his association. In consideration of the gift she was to be allowed to enter the Bible school of the association in Wisconsin.

It was alleged that Mrs. Kent White, connected with the Pentecostal Union of Denver, upon learning of the donation, induced Mrs. Garretson to convey the property to the union, representing to her that it would be agreeable to the church association. The affidavit further states that Mrs. White's conduct in the transaction was not authorized by the association, which claims the property as it sown.

The Metropolitan Church Association, in consideration of Mrs. Garretson's donation and other gifts, it is said, has purchased property in Wisconsin to provide suitable accommodations for the Bible school applicants and other acceptable students for the sum of $80,000.

VALUE OF THE COLLEGES

district of this metropolis—to take to the business life and world some slight credit for the enlarge outlook of our great educational institutions. I do not here refer to splendid endowments generously made by wealthy men of affairs. I refer rather to the attrition of thought and the reciprocation of idea and purpose between the man of affairs and the man of learning and the increasing value of the modern college-graduate in the business-life of today. The university is learning—has learned—what the world of today wants, and is furnishing that very desideratum. The world is learning what the university needs and is rushing enthusiasticaly to supply those needs.

"Marry then the university to the world's aspiration. Harness the deep thought of the scholar to the worthy ambition of the secular worker. Unite the serene, star-eyed ideal to the mighty practical purpose of humanity's strenuous life. Kindle with the flame fresh from your divine altar the ever spontaneous activities of human endeavor; and the splendor and power of the result shall outrank the sun in its magnificence, and its transcendent glories shall rise to mingle with those of sublimer spheres."

PREPARE FOR TURKEY SUPPER.

Trinity Reformed Organization Getting Ready for Annual Feast.

Several matters of interest were considered at the meeting of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, held in the parlors of the church yesterday afternoon. Mrs. A. L. Force and Mrs. William A. Woodruff, who attended the anniversary meeting of the Women's Executive Board of Domestic Missions, held in New York in November, presented reports of that meeting which were greatly enjoyed.

There was a discussion regarding the annual turkey supper, which will be held during the latter part of January or the first of February. Those in charge of the arrangements are Mrs. Emma Gillem, Mrs. A. E. Leggett and Mrs. Edward T. Van Winkle. There will be a more extended report at the January meeting. It was also proposed that a missionary tea be held next month, when it is hoped to have Mrs. Duryea present to make an address.

AMUSEMEN

From the opinion of the press throughout the State, the "Uncle Josh Spruceby" company is composed of people of ability and merit. The play is a story of New England life, and while written for laughing purposes, has a serious vein running through it. A number of specialties are introduced and special scenery is used to show off the wonderful scenic effects. The realistic saw mill scene is a startling illustration of stagecraft. The band and orchestra accompanying the company is composed of high-class musicians. It will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night.

The happy tramp, Nat. M. Wills, whose work behind the footlights is rapidly winning him riches as well as fame in his chosen profession, is this season the central figure in Broadhurst & Currie's magnificent production of the musical farce, "The Duke of Duluth." This is booked for the New Plainfield theatre Wednesday night, December 13, and while Mr. Wills is well known to the playgoers of this city and has always given unusual satisfaction it is promised that this time he will appear in a more elaborate production than ever before. In fact, the "Duke of Duluth" has just concluded a run at the Majestic theatre in New York and it has been universally pronounced the most beautiful seen in New York city for years. Mr. Wills as been fitted with a part that gives his comedy nature full scope and he has been provided in the singing line with some characteristic numbers.

Constructed only for fun, with a foreground of jolly comedians and a framework of pretty girls, B. E. Forrester's merry musical comedy, "Bankers and Brokers," which will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night, has proven the premier laugh maker of all stageland. It is replete with bright musical numbers, novel features and brimfull of humor throughout. There is a variegated display of attractive femininity, with an abundance of dances, marches and brilliant costumes. The production is lavishly staged and the atmosphere perpetually surcharged with merriment. Paying unlimited dividends in laughter, above par in sweet singing and as full of snap and ginger as an hour on Wall street, "Bankers and Brokers" stock goes up with every performance. A company of fifty headed by those perennial favorites, Yorke and Adams, will interpret the comedy and locate laughs.

"The Galloper," is the unique title of the new farcical play which Manager Henry W. Savage will offer Raymond Hitchcock at the New Plainfield theatre on Thursday night, December 14. The new farce is by the well known newspaper correspondent, novelist, and dramatist, Richard Harding Davis, and it is said that in "The Galloper" he has added another to his numerous successes in the field of stage literature. The title of the play suggests speed, and it may not be amiss to state at this time that it is a phrase or expression in common use among war-correspondents and army people, and is descriptive of the man who gets away from the scene of battle and files the first report of the war. The scenes of "The Galloper" are laid in and about Athens, Greece, during the recent Graeco-Turkish embroglio, so that its use as a caption to the play is timely and appropriate. The play is a farce pure and simple, and comedy scenes are brought about in a legitimate way and at the same time the construction is novel and up-to-date. Mr. Hitchcock will, of course, have the chief comedy role, foiled by a numerous company of capable and well known comedians who are assigned parts second only to the stellar character. After a short road season Mr. Hitchcock and "The Galloper" will go to Boston for several weeks, after which the comedy will be seen in New York for an indefinite run.

BERNHARDT BANNED.

Montreal Catholics Forbidden to See Her Play.

Quebec, Dec. 5.—In all the Roman Catholic churches here Sunday the faithful were warned not to attend the Sarah Bernhardt performances, which were described as immoral.

The priest of St. Sauveur church said that some people would ask what they were to do with the tickets they had already purchased. He asked if they would be bound to swallow ten dollars' worth of poison, even if they had purchased it.

As a matter of fact all the tickets for the performance have been sold and the actress herself, who is at the Chateau, received a rousing reception from the populace.

Moving Pictures at Y. M. C. A.

D. W. Robertson's famous moving picture company, of New York City, the greatest organization of its kind that has ever visited Plainfield, will give another of their matchless programmes in the Y. M. C. A. Hall tonight. Among the astonishing moving pictures that will be presented will be the famous steeplechase, the vendetta, the young apple thief, stupendous juggler, the moon lover and many others. In addition, all the latest illustrated songs will be presented.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

ABOUT PASTRY.

In proper combination nothing produces better results than sour cream. Sweet milk and baking powder rarely brirng out cakes and biscuits of such light and delicate texture as may be made with sour cream or milk with soda. In the following recipes the cream has reached the thickened stage, and the soda, measured with punctilious care, is stirred into the cream until it is perfectly in solution, the whole a foaming mass.

Nut Layer Cake.—Two eggs, one cup granulated sugar, one-half cup rich sour cream, two cups flour measured before sifting, one-half teaspoon soda, one level teaspoon baking powder, pinch salt. Beat the eggs till whites and yolks are well blended and add sugar. Dissolve the soda in cream, stirring it then into the eggs and sugar. Sift into the mixture the flour, baking powder and salt, and beat well together. Bake in three layer cake tins.

Filling.—One cup pecan or walnut meats run through meat chopper or crushed with rolling pin on bread board, one small egg, three-quarters cup confectioner's sugar, one-half cup sour cream, few drops vanilla. Beat the egg well, white and yolk together; add the sugar and nut meats, and last of all the cream and vanilla, stirring it then only enough to mix all together. Spread between the layers and top of cake when cold.

Gingerbread—Three-fourths of a cup of thick, sour cream, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup granulated sugar, two cups flour measured before sifting, two eggs, rounded teaspoon baking soda, tablespoon ginger, dessert spoon cinnamon. Beat together eggs, sugar and molasses, add half the cream, and dissolve soda in the remainder, after which beat all lightly together. Sift into the mixture flour, ginger and cinnamon, and stir until smooth. Bake in a moderate oven about half an hour.

Biscuits—One cup flour measured before sifting, one-half cup sour cream, one-half cup sweet milk, one level teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon soda, scant measure, one-third teaspoon salt. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together in a mixing bowl. Add the cream, in which the soda has been perfectly dissolved, and, when well mixed, add the milk. Mix smooth and roll out, using as little flour on the bread board as may be possible. Roll about an inch thick, and bake ten minutes in a hot oven.

INTERESTING OLD DEEDS.

Contain Signatures of Owners' Great-Great-Great-Grandfathers.

Through the death of his aunt, Miss Sarah Amanda Lindsley, who resided in the old Lindsley homestead at New Vernon, Morris county, Foster H. Lindsley, a merchant at East High Bridge, has come into possession of two old deeds conveying lands at Hanover, Hunterdon county, dater the first year of the reign of George II of Great Britain, October 3, 1727, and October 4, 1727. The deeds are plainly written on either side of parchment and are in good condition.

The indentures are made by John Alford, of Milford, county of Middlesex and province of Massachusetts Bay, in New England, of the first part, and Stephen Tuttle, of Newark, now of Hanover, in the county of Hunterdon, and western division of the province of New Jersey, of the second part. The first deed conveys 250 acres of land in Hanover between the Whippany and Passaic rivers, and the other, 254 acres adjoining. Five shillings is named as the consideration in the first case, and £82 in the other. By power of attorney both deeds were executed by John Reading and witnessed by John Hayward, James Gobel and John Lindsley. The village of New Vernon now occupies a part of these parcels.

Mr. Lindsley prizes the parchments not only as being the oldest known deeds hereabouts, but because of his direct connection with John Lindsley, a witness, and Stephen Tuttle, party of the second part to the instruments, they being his great-great-great-grandfathers on both his paternal and maternal sides.

The Lindsleys came to America from the northern part of Scotland, and settled in Hanover in the early part of the seventeenth century. The family was large and there are many descendants scattered throughout the State.

Say He's a Murderer.

New Brunswick, Dec. 5.—Chief of Police Harding has received a letter from Sheriff John R. Pickett, of Lyman county, S. D., stating he has under arrest at Oacama a man wanted in New Brunswick on a charge of killing his wife's sister. The sheriff gives the name of the man as S. Kamba, alias S. Konyha, a Hungarian, and the letter also states that the prisoner gave his name to the county clerk of Vermilion county, Ill., as Stephen Razor. The description goes on: "He is between forty-five and fifty years old, of light complexion, with a sneaky look, and weighs 135 pounds. He has a lady's bangle, on which is engraved 'Georgian.'" The local police know of no such man being wanted, and no case of murder such as described has taken place in Middlesex county.

—Woodhull & Martin's new building on East Front street is enclosed and the work of completing the interior is being pushed rapidly.

The Iron Brigade

A STORY OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC

By GEN. CHARLES KING

Author of "Norman Holt," "The Colonel's Daughter," "Fort Frayne," Etc.

Copyright, 1902, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

"Dear old fellow—dear old fellow! Did anybody think I'd let him be sold to strangers, after all he'd done for me and mine? Good old Pyramus! Good old boy!" And all this with petting, patting hands, with that soft cheek still nestled against the long, brown, bony muzzle. "He'd do it all over again, wouldn't he? He'd bring him back—bring to me—if only—I hadn't—" [illegible] arms were clasped about that preposterous neck, and the dark tresses of the girl were bowed against and mingled with the grizzled, tangled mane of her one confidant. The lovely face was hidden from the worshipping eyes of blue, but only for an instant. In daring and delight and overmastering love, with caution thrown to the winds, and pride and resolution totally forgotten, Barton sprang forward, one low cry of "Rosalie" on his lips; seized; tore loose the clasp of the clinging arms, and, despite amaze and struggle and breathless protest, just as on that wondrous night at the old stone house, he strained the slender, panting, swaying form to his breast; and just as he did not then do, rained kiss after kiss on the velvet of that flushed, tear-wet, astonished cheek; yes, dared even in his strength and glory and delight to turn the now furiously resisting head upon his breast until the wild, dilated eyes were staring into his; until the rosy, panting mouth was so close to his quivering lips that denial seemed utterly in vain; then down he swooped upon the prize. But with one superb, supreme effort, she tore herself from his embrace; stood one instant, panting, speechless, with hands uplifted against him, waving him back; with eyes that flashed and commanded and refused to melt even at sight of the passion and pleading and bewilderment in his face.

"I could not help it," he began. "You must know how I love you, and when I heard——"

"Heard!" and up went the hands in impotent wrath and protest. "How dare you—listen? Oh! Don't I know what—" but then the torrent of her words was stemmed by the sight of the changing light in the deep blue eyes, and all in a second she saw them clouding again as in pain and amaze they had clouded the bitter night of her impetuous, inexcusable attack two years agone. Yes, and his face was paling, his lips setting. He was seeing her again as time and again in mind's eye he must have seen her—unjust, ungrateful, unreasoning, in face of all that he had done and endured for her and for those she loved. And then—O heaven! with pain, disappointment, yet with conviction—conviction that she was after all not the Rosalie he had loved and worshiped in spite of herself, but the Rosalie she really was—proud, passionate, ungrateful, unjust; yes, utterly unworthy—he had dropped his strong hands and was slowly turning—surely turning away. Now he would go and never dream how she had prayed for forgiveness and for him and for the time when she could tell him all. And now he had come all unannounced and had startled and stunned her, and heard—heard her weak, unmaidenly words, and, ah, there was the rub! would think, would surely think that she knew he was there, and so was only acting a part to lure him back. Oh, the shame, the bitter shame of it! But none the less was he going, and this time it might be for good and all. It was more than she could bear. It was the last and cruelest stroke of the evil fate that had so long hounded and pursued her. It broke the last prop of her stubborn womanly pride, her long-tried, failing strength, and for the first time in her daring, fearless, resolute life, Queen Rosalie threw out nerveless, groping hands for aid, and, sudden as the stroke of heaven, went crashing down.

O blessed sun that sank behind the ridge and would not see! O blessed songsters that, trilling their last good-night, would suffer no other sound. O wise old Pyramus to wander off beneath the blossoming trees and give place to him who sprang, too late to seize; who knelt and, defiant of hygienic laws, lifted the bonnie, swooning head; clasped again the now pliant, yielding form, pressed kiss after kiss upon the soft, unresponsive but unresisting lips, and plead and prayed and called on heaven and on her until, with faint sigh, the fluttering breath returned, and then the dark eyes slowly opened, and one moment seemed ready again to blaze with the battle fire of the south, but that presently took refuge beneath the white flag of their own, long-lashed lids, and with another sigh, with a soft glow stealing slowly up over rounded throat and cheek and even to the snowy brow, the beautiful, humbled face turned fairly toward him and buried itself in the blue of the broad shoulder. Like that of Appomattox, it was the surrender of utter exhaustion.

D. nineteen hundred and five, at which time and place, prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 27, 1905.

AN ORDINANCE

for the permanent improvements of certain streets and portions of streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable macadam pavement, and to provide the necessary funds in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement to be completely laid and constructed on or before the fifteenth day of May, A. D., 1906, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified, and to be in every respect equal to the macadamizing on Madison Avenue between West Sixth Street and West Seventh Street, in said City, and all work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after the bids therefor shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

Park Terrace, from the easterly curb line of Belvidere Avenue to the westerly curb line of Berkeley Avenue;

Berkeley Avenue, from the southerly curb line of Park Terrace to the southwesterly curb line of Leland Avenue;

Webster Place, from the southerly curb line of Putnam Avenue to a point 183 feet north of the northerly side line of Watchung Avenue;

Section 2. That said streets and parts of streets described in Section 1, shall be macadamized for a width of sixteen feet, that is to say, eight feet on each side of the center lines thereof, and a depth running from six inches in the center to four inches at the sides, and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades already established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets respectively.

Section 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, the Common Council of the City do hereby, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, authorize the issuing of two registered municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield, of One Thousand Dollars each, amounting in all to Two Thousand Dollars, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually and be payable three years from said date of issue with the option of the city to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them, at any time after one year from date of issue, and before three years from said date of issue, on giving personal notice to the said holders of said bonds, or thirty days' notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City, of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds may severally or collectively be sold for an amount not less than par value, and the interest on said bonds shall be raised annually by taxation, and the principal be paid by the City at maturity, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Section 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

TRUST PROSECUTIONS.

Large Crop of Corporation Delinquencies This Year.

Trenton, Dec. 5.—Attorney-General McCarter's annual report, submitted to Governor Stokes yesterday, shows that during the year 365 New Jersey corporations were enjoined from doing business under their charters for non-payment of the tax imposed by the State, and that proceedings are pending against 1,353 others. The sum of $203,718.33 was collected from delinquent corporations during the year.

The department has prosecuted 235 cases under the pure food laws, collecting $7,462.48 in penalties. For violations of the State's rigid fish and game laws the penalties collected amount to $2,082.50.

New Use for Cans.

Baking powder or cocoa cans make excellent potato choppers. Place your cold potatoes in the spider and chop fine with one of the empty tins. When the edge becomes dull discard it for a fresh one. Then turn your potatoes into the serving dish so as to enable you to heat the spider hot, using some scraps of salt pork, before warming the chopped potatoes. Let the potatoes crisp on the bottom; turn like an omelet before serving. You can readily see you have saved the bother of washing chopping tray and knife.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

The upstairs of the Plainfield Country Clubhouse was closed yesterday for the rest of the season. The lower floor will be kept open until January 1.

The past season has been a very successful one at the Plainfield Country Club and the idea of closing the active season earlier than heretofore has met with popular approval from all.

The members of the Westfield Golf Club will continue to play on their course while the weather remains favorable, and several social events have been arranged for at the clubhouse during the winter.

Now that the members of the Plainfield Country Club have closed the season on the links, they will direct their attention to a series of dances and social events to be held at the Casino during the winter. The season promises to be a lively one.

There will be two golfing matters of interest to start the new year in the same week, the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association at Delmonico's on January 19 and the international tournament at the Mexico Country Club, which begins on the same day and lasts for two weeks.

SIX MONTHS' TRIAL FOR HUBBY.

Then His Wife May Decide to Take Him Back.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Margaret L. Morris, of Englewood, against Walter Morris, recently of Englewood and now of Jersey City, was not heard yesterday by the Chancery Court in Jersey City because the husband wanted a reconciliation and has been put on probation for six months.

Desertion is alleged, although the papers show that in August, 1905, Mrs. Morris left her husband's house in Englewood, with their two children. Morris signed yesterday an agreement to pay his wife a specified sum of money each week for six months. Mrs. Morris did not give up her right of continuing the suit, but she said she would give him "a chance." She said:

"If after six months you have proved by paying me the money and by not coming near me and not seeking to annoy me in any way that you wish to come back, I will take you back again. But remember, if you fail once"——

"I won't fail," interrupted Morris.

The arrangement was made in the office of Mrs. Morri's lawyer, Adolph L. Engelke.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stafford, who have been living in Toronto, Canada, for some time, have returned to this city, where they will reside in the future.

Recorder Arrested Hobo.

A report that a hobo was selling carpenter's tools too cheaply to have gotten them honestly about the borough reached the ears of Recorder Campbell, of Dunellen, yesterday afternoon, and the doughty official went out after the suspicious character without bothering to send for a constable. He located the hobo and placed him under arrest. The tools were identified as the property of Willard Apgar, a Dunellen contractor. The alleged thief will be arraigned before Justice Von Minden tonight.

Robbed Former Judge.

Elizabeth, Dec. 5.—Burglars gained an entrance to the home of former Judge Hamilton Gilhooly Sunday evening while the family were at dinner, and stole a lot of valuable jewels belonging to Mrs. Gilhooly. The thief entered through a window on the second story, which he pried open. The jewels were in a drawer of the bureau in Mrs. Gilhooly's room and the key was lying nearby. The stolen goods are valued at about $2,000. It may be found that considerable more booty was taken.

NEWARK FIVE WINS A CLOSE, SPIRITED GAME

PLAINFIELDERS GIVE STATE CHAMPIONS A HARD TUSSLE FOR SUPREMACY

The Newark Y. M. C. A. five, champion basketball team of the New Jersey associations, defeated the local Y. M. C. A. combination last night, in the latter's gymnasium. Plainfield, however, put up a great fight, and contested every stage of the game with brilliancy. The score was 14 to 10.

Plainfield showed a great improvement in form over the showing of the last game. All the Plainfielders played fast and accurately. In the first half they more than held their own, making six points to the Newarkers' five.

In the second half the Newarkers put on steam and played to the limit of their science and stamina. The contest gave the large gallery a lively twenty minutes of high class sport.

The playing of Leary, Plainfield's guard, was a feature. He was all over his territory and shot three of the goals his side scored. The line up and summary:

Y. M. C. A.	Newark.
Smith	Long
Thompson	Eggerting, Kerr
forwards.
Scull	Vreeland
centre.
Leary	Spalding
Lister	Poland
guards.

Goals from field—Smith, Thompson, Scull, Leary, 3; Vreeland, Spalding, Poland, 3. Goals from fouls—Vreeland, 5.

In the second half Smith, of Plainfield, was dazed by a fall, but continued in the game after a rest with unabated speed and dash.

The "curtain-raiser" between North Plainfield High School and the Consolidated five was won by the latter, 18 to 9. The contest seemed slow in the shadow of the big game. Lineup and summary:

N. P. H. S.	Consolidated.
A. VanArsdale	Phillips, P.
M. VanArsdale	Douglas
guards.
Fisher	Burlow Allholm
centre.
Burtus	Manning, J.
Webster	Cullingsworth
guards.

Goals from field—VanArsdale, 2; Phillips, 3; Allholm, 4; Cullingsworth, 2. Goals from fouls—VanArsdale, 3; Burtus, Webster.

PHILANTHROPIST'S FUNERAL.

Dr. Wm. Bassenger Leaves Almost $1,000,000 to Widow and Grandson.

New Providence, Dec. 5.—The funeral of Dr. William Bassenger, ninety-four years old, the philanthropist, who died at his home here, was held Sunday. His death was due to a complication of diseases, which, with his old age, proved too much for him. He leaves a widow and a grandson, both of whom were here when he died. They will inherit almost $1,000,000 in cash, property and railroad bonds.

Mr. Bassenger began his career in life in the West as a doctor about sixty-five years ago. He was one of the pioneers of the Southwest, and has left valuable property in Texas to his grandson, Harry Wellborne.

After making a fortune there he moved eastward and took up his residence at New Providence Township, which comprised at the time all the towns and cities on the Passaic and Delaware Railroad from Summit to Bernardsville. It was he and his brother who built this road, and they held the controlling interest in it until it was bought over by the Lackawanna.

Mr. Bassenger was a veteran of two wars. He took part in the Civil War and in the war with Mexico. In his later years he had been a philanthropist. For some time he had supported a home for aged ministers at Murray Hill, where many of New Jersey's divines have passed their last days. He had always been the main support of the little church to which he belonged. For the last year his health had been failing and his death was not unexpected. Only the relatives and a few friends were present at the funeral.

Bridge Whist Tournament.

The bridge whist tournament was continued at the Park Club last night, there being twelve tables. Miss Weber received the highest number of points for the women and George S. Clay the highest number the men. Mr. and Mrs. Drake finished second, while Miss Munger and Augustus Kleinecke were third. Miss Weber is now tie with Mrs. Max Munger with four points for first position. After the play refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Monday Bowling Club's Meeting.

The Monday Night Bowling Club, comprised of society men and women, met at the Casino last night and spent a delightful time bowling and playing bridge whist. The new restaurant, recently opened by Mrs. Lena Hellstrom, was used for the first time, and all expressed great satisfaction over the service and menu.

Councilman-elect and Mrs. Herbert Buxton, of West Front street, will give a card party at their home tonight.

RECORDER DOUD BREAKS ALL FINING RECORDS

COLLECTS A TOTAL OF $127 FROM TEN PRISONERS.

In disposing of ten prisoners who came before him last night, Recorder Doud broke all records for enriching the borough treasury through his department. He collected a total of $127, divided in fines ranging from $5 to $27.

Of the seven Italians arrested by Chief Weiss and Marshall Emmons Sunday night, but two got off luckily. They willingly paid $5 each to gain their freedom, while their five compatriots had to hand up $15 each. The penalty in the latter cases was made more severe because their pockets yielded up two pistols and several wicked looking knives. J. Caneparo, keeper of the French delicatessen store on Somerset street, who sold the Italians part of the wine and whiskey that made them drunk, was arraigned on a charge of illegal selling and was fined $20 and seven days. He paid $27 to keep out of jail.

William Calloway, arrested for disorderly conduct, contributed $5, while Theodore Wilson, taken in custody at the same time, failed to appear. A friend had deposited $10 bail for him and the court made this the amount of the fine and appropriated the money.

Detective Totten, of Somerville, viewed the proceedings, and it is said he will prefer a county charge of illegal liquor selling against Caneparo. The borough police had been watching his place for a long time, but did not get sufficient evidence to arrest him until the Italians told where they had gotten their wet goods.

CHAIRMAN DRAKE EXPLAINS.

Piscataway Lights May Be Missing, But P. S. C. Won't Get Money.

Complaints by property owners about Lincoln over what they regard as the unjustness of the road lighting item in their tax bills, to which reference was made in The Daily Press last week, were answered this morning by Silas Dewey Drake, chairman of the lighting committee. The complaint is based on the ground that the lights for which the tax is levied have not been installed; the taxpayers say they should not be taxed for an improvement that has not been made.

"At a meeting of the legal voters held last June at Lincoln," said Mr. Drake, "it was voted to raise a tax to pay for electric light in this lighting district. The lighting committee entered into a contract with the Public Service Corporation, in which they agreed to have lights in operation by August 1, 1905. They have been placing poles through the district, and I, as chairman of the committee, have many times urged the P. S. C. to hasten the work. They say they are doing the best they can. While the taxpayers have been assessed for the light, the money is in the hands of the township treasurer, and none of it will be used until the light has been furnished; and it will be just that much less to raise next year. In the mean time Ralph P. Bache, superintendent of the P. S. C., can verify this statement."

The breakfast was a testimonial of the regard in which Mr. Lord is held by undergraduates and alumni of The Sun. More than 100 members of the staff, past and present, attended the breakfast, which began at 11 o'clock. Edward G. Riggs was toastmaster.

Mr. Morton and his companions then went to the Pennsylvania Railroad station here and took a train at 1:08 for Princeton. The accident to the machine was trivial. It has been removed to the garage here.

William T. Hunt Retires Because of Business Duties.

Trenton, Dec. 5.—Governor Stokes received yesterday the resignation of William T. Hunt, of Newark and Chatham, as a member of the State Sewerage Commission. The resignation was accepted to take effect on January 7, 1906, the date specified by Mr. Hunt, the Governor, in his letter of acceptance, expresseing regret that Mr. Hunt should find it impossible to continue as a member of the board.

Mr. Hunt gave as a reason for his resignation the fact that his business duties will not permit him to devote to his duties on the commission the time and attention which that position requires.

Trolleys Jump Track.

While one of the main line trolley cars was descending the hill near Grant avenue last night about 9 o'clock the rear trucks of the car left the track and traveled the whole length of the hill that way. Fortunately the front trucks remained on the tracks and no damage resulted. There were few passengers in the car. For some time the tracks at this point have been in poor condition. A few weeks ago a trolley jumped near the home of F. D. Woodhull and ran in the gutter. Soon after last night's accident a gang of laborers were sent to the scene and spent the rest of the night making necessary repairs. The gang is still at work there today.

During the month there was reported six cases of scarlet fever, one of diphtehria, one of tuberculosis and three of chicken pox. Three deaths resulted from tuberculosis.

During November fifty-three dairies were inspected and forty-one samples of milk analyzed. JR. C. E. ENTERTAINMENT.

Successful Affair Held by Young People of Trinity Church.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity church held a successful entertainment in the church lecture room last night. It was much enjoyed by a good-sized audience.

The feature of the programme was the appearance of Miss Augusta Acken, of Metuchen, a professional reciter. Her numbers were warmly applauded. The programme included a solo by Edna Cole; piano duet by Ernest and Raymond Stevens; motion song by Anna Boss, Madeline Strader, Helen Roberts and Helen Wooly; and a song in Syrian by Miss Amelia Saleeby, of Syria, who is staying in this city for a time. Harold Storr also played a piano solo.

The committee in charge was made up of Mrs. G. W. Righton, Miss Bessie Reighton, Miss Anna Boss and Lawrence French.

Unusual Council Proceeding.

A somewhat unusual proceeding at the December meeting of the Common Council Monday night was the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting by President Daniel. This work usually devolves on the city clerk, but Mr. Daniel undertook the task for a change. In the absence of Clerk MacMurray, George B. Wean acted in his place. It is a habit common with Mr. Daniel to read resolutions and ordinances so that he may become better acquainted with the wording and intent of the official papers.

FR. BOGAN TO RESIGN C.Y.M.D.U. OFFICE

UNABLE TO REMAIN SPIRITUAL DIRECTOR OF DIOCESAN UNION.

Announcement was made at the session of the Catholic Young Men's Diocesan Union, held in the rooms of the Father Matthew T. A. B. Society at Newark Sunday, that Rev. Bernard Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's church, here, would resign as spiritual director of the union, to take effect at the January meeting. Father Bogan, who has been the spiritual head of the organization since it was formed sixteen years ago, it is understood, finds that his other duties impose so many calls on his time that he is unable to give the attention to the union that the need requires.

There were delegates to the meeting from many societies, and when President B. J. Owens announced the resignation of Father Bogan there were many expressions of regret.

The literary committee, of which E. J. Flynn, of the Elizabeth Lyceum, is chairman, reported that arrangements had been made to issue an eight-page paper quarterly, which would be devoted to the interests of the union.

The bowling tournament committee stated that arrangements would be completed this week for a women's auxiliary, the games for which would begin about January 1. Five teams have already entered.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the annual reception of the union. The Elizabeth members requested that the reception take place in that city, and it is expected this will be arranged for.

MISS RUNYON'S FUNERAL.

Service in First Presbyterian Church Conducted to the Pastor.

Before a large gathering which included the majority of the city school teachers and many of her former pupils the funeral of Miss Carrie B. Runyon, for so many years a member of the High School faculty, was held in the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Charles E. Herring and was extremely simple. In his discourse the cleryman took the text, "She being dead, yet speaketh," and spoke of the influence she wielded over hundreds of lives and of the respect she held of men and women who had left their schooldays behind. He declared her to be a remarkable teacher in many respects and that it was a whim of hers to watch over former pupils and keep in correspondence with many who went far away, often giving them advice and words of cheer. Miss Jessie Utter presided at the organ and rendered a passage from "The Messiah."

The floral tributes were profuse and included a set piece from the teachers of the local schools and another from the pupils.

Interment was made at Hillside cemetery, the casket being borne to the grave by Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, of the city schools; Principal I. W. Travell, of the High School; Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett and F. E. Smith.

It was attended by 125 young people from this city, New York, Elizabeth, Staten Island and New Brunswick. It was as highly successful as the other dances the club has conducted and was greatly enjoyed by the gathering.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair consisted of Harry Blimm, Harry DeMeza, Albert Clark, George Pope, George Graves, Willard Martin, Edward Bennett, William Doud, William Townsend, Walter Emmons and Clarence Brokaw. The club will hold the second dance in January.

Benevolent Council Goes to Newark.

Twenty-eight members of Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., paid a fraternal visit to George H. Adams Council, of Newark, last night. The Newark council provided a good entertainment and supper for the visitors. The trip was made to and from Newark by train.

Entertained at Bridge Whist.

Mrs. Walter Gaston, of East Seventh street, gave a bridge whist party at her home, yesterday afternoon. There were four tables and a pleasant social time was enjoyed between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock. At the close of the play, refreshments were served.

MEN'S CLUBS AS GUESTS

Rich Musical Entertainment Given By First Baptist Organization

DR. RHEES SPEAKS

Gaul's Holy City Rendered—College President Dwells on Value of Men's Clubs.

Under the auspices of the Men's Club of the First Baptist church all of the men's clubs of the city, together with their friends, enjoyed a rare musical treat last night. The programme was given by the chorus choir of the church, under the direction of Edward J. Fitzhugh, conductor, and assisted by the Schill string quartette, of Newark. In addition to the musical numbers, which included part songs and "The Holy City," by Alfred R. Gaul, there was a short address by Rush Rhees, Ph. D., president of Rochester University. The large audience present thoroughly enjoyed the entire programme and accorded the work of the singers and instrumentalists deserving applause.

The numbers comprising part first were of a light character. The first selection, "The Evening Wind," by Fred J. Harper, was rendered by the entire choir, showing the full strength and quality of the voices. This was followed wit htwo numbers, "Andante Moderator," Raucheneckker, and "Moment Musical," Schubert, by the string quartette. The perfect rendition and delightful harmony was fully appreciated.

The third number was "The Night is Calm and Cloudless," from Golden Legend, by Sir Arthur Sullivan. This was given by Miss Louella C. Harris, soprano soloist, and the choir. Not only in this rendition, but in all of her solo parts, Miss Harris sang delightfully. Her voice, especially in the higher notes, was rich and full of expression.

The next selection was "Daybreak," part song, Alfred R. Gaul, given by the choir. Longfellow's beautiful worrds set to this charming composition was greatly enjoyed. The musical numbers of part first were concluded with two selections by the string quartette—"Proposal," and "The Mill," by Raff, and an encore to which they responded.

Before giving the last part of the programme, Dr. Rhees was introduced and made a short and appropriate address. He spoke of the value and importance of men's clubs in the church, affording the opportunity for a development of interest and energy on the part of men in spiritual matters. He referred to the fact that a large part of the church membership is usually made up of women, whose activities are well known in all departments.

Dr. Rhees advanced the thought that while it is true that the church cannot get along without men, it is equally true that men cannot get along wihout those principles for which the church stands.

Referring to the recent investigation into a certain department of business activity, the speaker said that it was enough to make a man stop and take a personal account of stock. He urged that men accept the true and living Spirit and devote their energies to the better things of life. He said that he thought sometimes that the church is the scene of too much bustle and that there is a lack of that spirit which led Christ to the mountain tops and the quiet places to seek strength in prayer and meditation.

After the address the choir sang "The Holy City." The string quartette rendered the introductory portion of the musical work, which was followed with the singing by the chorus and solosits. The many beautiful parts in this composition were perfectly given. Not only to the chorus, but to Miss Harris, soprano; Mrs. F. M. Ward, contralto; William Holmes, baritone; George Smith, tenor, and Mrs. Robert Giddes, mezzo-sporano, and Miss Miner, alto, is deserving praise due. There was harmony throughout in the quartette and sol parts, while the string quartette assisted largely in giving a finished production. There was also the assistance of Miss Jessie Utter at the piano, and Howard M. Case at the organ, and their work called forth the highest praise. Credit is due also in a large measure to Charles W. McCutchen, who made such a delightful programme possible, and both he and those taking part in other ways were congratulated for their work.

Mr. and Mrs. Buxton Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Buxton, of West Front street, entertained the whist club, of which they are members, last night. There were the usual four tables. Mrs. Theodore Mantz won the prize for the women and Herbert Buxton the one for the men. After the play refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Smith will entertain the club two weeks from last night.

CIVIL SUIT LIKELY TO EFFECT CRIMINIAL CASES

STANBERY'S APPEAL FROM JUSTICE'S COURT VERDICT BEING HEARD TODAY.

In the trial of the appeal case of Oscar Harrison against William R. Stanbery, called this morning in the Middlesex County Court before Judge Strong, the jury was called and sworn in, after which an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock. The court stenographer did not arrive this morning and this caused the adjournment until afternoon.

At the first trial before Justice von Minden at Dunellen, Mr. Harrison was given a verdict in his suit for the loss of his horse and other damages resulting from a collision with Mr. Stanbery's automobile at Dunellen. The case was then appealed.

The plaintiff, represented by W. L. Hetfield, Jr., of this city, and George S. Silzer, of New Brunswick, is suing for $200 damages. The defendant is represented by S. S. Swackhamer, of this city, and Allan H. Strong, of New Brunswick.

After the completion of the civil suit, it is expected that the charges of manslaughter against W. R. Stanbery and Oscar Harrison will be tried on the indictments found by the last Grand Jury. Mrs. William A. Westphal lost her life as a result of the collision.

The witnesses to be called are Firman Gise, John B. Coriell and Anton Marienchek, of Dunellen; Morris C. Ballentine, Chauncey Martin, John P. Fenner, Walter Vail, Walter Craig and George Staller, of Plainfield.

PLAINFIELD DONATED $789 TO RUSSIAN FUND

LOCAL BRANCH HOLDS MEETING AND RECEIVES COMMITTEES' REPORT.

Meeting for the first time since the organization was perfected, the Plainfield branch of the Russion Hebrew Relief Association, last night, received reports of the work accomplished by the various committees appointed three weeks ago. It was made known that a total of $789 had been forwarded to Banker Schiff, of New York, who is treasurer for the fund. In comparison with other cities, Plainfield's share in aiding the sufferers is quite large. The congregation of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church contributed over $100 of the amount.

The local branch will be continued but there is slight possibility of its holding any further meetings unless for some urgent reason. All the members worked heartily in securing the funds and the movement was one of genuience sympathy. In New York subscriptions are still being solicited and the total fund this morning had reached $1,029,600.

ENGINE WRECKED ITSELF

Driving Rod Broke Loose, Ripped Cab and Tore Off Wheel

GOING AT 90-MILE GAIT

Boy on Street Hurt by Flying Wreckage—Brakes Work Badly and Smashed Engine Travels Half a Mile.

With the cab wrecked and splintered, one of its big driving wheels missing, and a loose driving rod whirling like a giant's flail, the engine drawing a Philadelphia flier traveled a half of a mile in this city shortly before 9 o'clock this morning. The rod broke from the cylinder at Richmond street, tore the cab to pieces and jerked the wheel from the axle. The wreckage of the cab was flung into the street and flying bits knocked fourteen-year-old Paul Mullener, of Raritan, who was walking on East Fourth street, senseless.

The brakes, which were set by the engineer when the crash came, did not work properly, and it was not until the wrecked engine reached Madison avenue that the train stopped.

The engine was in charge of Engineer Tice, of Jersey City. John Burns, of Bayonne, was his fireman. It started with the train from Jersey City at 8:11, due here at 8:44. The engine is one of the new type, with the sides of the cab overhanging the driving rods. The run to Plainfield was steady and on schedule, and the train shot by Netherwood at ninety miles an hour.

Just before Richmond street was reached, Burns, the fireman, stepped down from his side of the cab and went back to the firebox. The action saved his life. He had been out of the cab less than half a minute when the driving rod on his side of the engine tore loose and whirled up at the cab. It tore through the wood and iron as if they were paper, and sections of the cab flew in all directions. The roof and all of the fireman's side were tore away, and just about enough flooring for Tice to stand upon was left. A blinding volume of steam rolled up and about the engineer's head and the next instant a wrench and a bump shivered the engine from pilot to tender. That was the driving wheel, loosened by the rod, flying off. The steam shut off everything outside the cab from Tice's view, and he didn't know what had happened or what to expect. Clinging to the levers of his engine, he clapped on everything in the way of brakes and waited tensely for developments.

For some reason the brakes did not grip the wheels as they should have, and the engine tore on with speed only partially diminished, the flying rod pounding the roadbed at every revolution of the wheel to which it was attached, shaking the cab like a crazy thing, tearing big holes in the roadbed and scattering a fusilade of stones at the houses and streets along the road. Tice kept at the brakes and finally the pounding engine halted at Madison avenue.

In the meanwhile, Paul Mullener lay senseless in the roadway of East Fourth street, in front of Joseph Harrigan's house, near Richmond street. Mullener, who is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Mullener, at 725 East Sixth street, was walking along Fourth street, when the rod tore loose. A big piece of wreckage struck him across the forehead and stretched him in the roadway as if he had been shot. Mrs. Harrigan, hearing the crash as the rod struck the cab, came out to see what it meant and saw the boy. She carried him into the house and telephoned to police headquarters for the patrol wagon, in which he was carried to the hospital. He recovered consciousness before he was taken from the house and the hospital doctors say his injuries are not serious or even severe. He is painfully bruised, they say, but the bruises are only superficial.

The pieces of cab flew in all directions. The biggest section, the roof, landed in Cottage place, teardown a lot of telephone wires in its flight. Stones gouged out of the roadway by the whirling rod struck several people and broke some windows. One of them crashed into the window of Undertaker E. E. Runyon's carriage, which stood in front of 335 Cottage place. Mr. Runyon was in the house and the carriage had no occupants.

The accident blocked traffic on two tracks. The driving wheel, split in two, was found on the inside eastbound track. A long freight was held for fifteen minutes until Station Agent Haynes had the wheel removed. The train was uncoupled from the wrecked engine and shifted to Dunellen, where another engine carried it on to Philadelphia. The engine was patched for the journey by the wrecking crew and taken to

CARRIER BOY INJURED HIS ROUTE SOON COVERED

KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTO, OWNER AIDS IN DELIVERY OF PAPERS.

When Raymond Force, of Mercer avenue, a Daily Press carrier boy, was run into and knocked down by an automobile on Duer street, yesterday afternoon, he did not realize that the accident would result in residents of the Netherwood section getting newspaper delivery service in the most up-to-date manner. The machine was driven by Mrs. Sidney Schuyler, of Belvidere avenue, and when Raymond had been taken home in it, suffering only from a slight cut on the head and a shaking up, the question of how his paper route was to be covered confronted the anxious mother.

When Mrs. Schuyler learned that he was about due to begin serving patrons, she quickly volunteered to attend to the matter and ran the auto to The Daily Press office. The circulation manager secured a substitute and with his bundle of papers he was placed in the machine. It was sent speeding to Netherwood and the carrier was taken from house to house until the last Daily Press had been delivered, half an hour ahead of the usual time. It was a new experience for Mrs. Schuyler but she rather enjoyed it and when the substitute's work had been completed he was given a ride back to the starting point.

Raymond was playing in the road when the auto came upon him before he noticed it. He was bewildered for the moment and Mrs. Schuyler, thinking he would jump to one side, kept straight on. He stood still and was knocked down. The machine was not running fast, which accounts for his not being badly hurt.

A movement has been placed on foot by members of the High School faculty to place a memorial in the chapel of the building for the late Miss Carrie B. Runyon, for thirty-four years one of the teachers. The idea is to procure a sufficient amount and purchase a picture, affixing a suitably inscribed tablet. It is thought that many of Miss Runyon's former pupils may wish to aid the plan and if so, contributions may be sent to Superintendent H. M. Maxson.

TAKE ONE OF IDES' GANG

Capture of a Bound Brook Burglar in South Plainfield.

BOOTY IS RECOVERED

Clue to Fugitive Also Obtained—Trip of Young Woman Across Field Leads to Discovery.

Some of the loot secured by the burglars who robbed the Bound Brook stores Monday night, trace of Frank Ides, for whom the Rahway Reformatory authorities are searching, and one of the thieves who committed the Bound Brook robbery, were found in South Plainfield last night as a result of a young woman's short-cut through an apple orchard on her way to a neighbor's house.

The girl was Miss Edna VanNest, daughter of Thomas VanNest. On her way to visit a friend, Miss VanNest crossed her father's orchard. Half-way through it she was startled to see a man lying on the ground. She ran back to the house and told what she had seen. NanVest and his son, Harry, armed with shotguns, wen to the orchard, and drove the man away. They found a dark lantern on the ground where he had lain, and carried the lantern and their story to citizens who were holding a borough meeting in Washington Hall. A posse was organized and went o the orchard.

They discovered another man hiding under a pile of clothing and started to surround him. He sprang to his feet and fled, discarding a heavy overcoat to facilitate his flight. There was only one revolver in the crowd and the two cartridges in it were discharged at him without effect. He escaped by fording a brook and climbing fences on the other side.

In the overcoat he dropped a number of watches, chains, bracelets, diamond rings and three revolvers were found. This morning Constable Riley found John McMilian, of Bound Brook, hanging suspiciously about the Lehigh Valley railroad track, and arrested him. He confessed to being the man discovered by Miss VanNest, and said his companion was Frank Ides. The jewelry and guns, he said, were the result of the Bound Brook robbery. He charges Ides with being the instigator of the robbery.

Ides is supposed to be hiding in Dismal Swamp. A posse is searching for him.

JAMES MERRITT DEAD.

Well Known Plainfielder Passes Away After Long Illness.

James Merritt, for many years a well known resident of the city, died this morning at his home on Watchung avenue, after a long illness. He was born at Peekskill, N. Y., in 1820, and came to Plainfield when middelaged. He was at one time a stove merchant in New York, but retired a long time ago.

Several years ago, while on a visit to New York, he was knocked down by a United States mail wagon and received injuries from which he never recovered. He entered a suit for damages which is still pending. He was a member of the Plainfield Social Club, formerly the Asbestos, and was at its rooms every day until his health failed him. Pleurisy was the direct cause of death.

He was married twice, his second wife, who was a Miss Lafetra, surviving him. By his first marriage he had two sons, one of whom, the late Richard Merritt, was at one time city clerk. The body will be taken to Peekskill for interment.

Perkins for Floor Leader.

The chief outcome of the struggle of the morning at the State House at Trenton yesterday was an added certainty that Samuel K. Robbins, of Burlington county, will be made speaker of the House, and Randolph Perkins, of Union, floor leader of the majority. These are the candidates of the machine.

All Good Elks to be There.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., meets for the first time tonight in its handsomely appointed rooms in the New Plainfield theatre building. To mark the occasion a more elaborate "spread" than customary will be had after the business session.

Boroughites in Horse Race.

Herman Klinsman has made a bet of $10 with Harry Dunham that he can drive his trotter from Summit avenue and Somerset street to Scotch Plains in less time than he. The race will come off Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

PAINT KILLED THE GOAT.

Pet of J. B. Cottrell Pays for His Untutored Appetite.

Until Monday night J. B. Cottrell, of Central avenue, owned a goat—his children's pet. The goat ate two quarts of paint on that night and the Cottrell children are mourning a departed pet.

The goat found the paint in the barn, where the children put him late in the afternoon, after painters who were at work on the house had left a big bucket half full of paint. When Mr. Cottrell got home a little later he found a very sick goat in the barn. An empty paint bucket and stains about the goat's mouth and streaks in whiskers that drooped pathetically explained the illness. Mr. Cottrell hurried downtown to get something for the goat, because the children loved it and he knew they would be sorry to see it die, but the trip was in vain. The goat was dead when he returned.

The goat was a representative of a fancy breed and Mr. Cottrell wouldn't let the children bury it. He gave the body to John Venable, who works for him, and Venable took off the skin to have it made into a rug.

A business meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the rooms tomorrow afternoon at 3:30.

Much of the comfort derived from reading evenings depends on the light. It should throw a soft glow over the book or paper and leave the eyes in the shadow. This is effectually accomplished by the use of a Gas Portable. We carry a large and varied stock of portables, ranging in prices from $1.50 to $10.00 or $15.00. They make pretty holiday gifts with their beautiful and effective shades.

isn't many days off and that means spending many of your hard earned "shekels" for Xmas gifts. Why not be a little wisely selfish and get that much needed suit now. Otherwise you may find it quite impossible.

Just now at Watson's we are selling suits to men who previously have only worn custom-made suits. But a Watson made suit has exactly those features that make the custom garment desirable,—the big difference is in the price. By Watson's way you save about $20.00. If it's worth while to save that much while sacrificing nothing of style or appearance—why not come in? The seeing for yourself is mighty satisfying.

Suits $10 to $25.

In material you have your choice from Worsteds, Cheviots, Cassimeres and Tweeds in plain blacks and blues or fancy mixtures.

Once you get the Watson habit you'll never care to lose it.

PRINCETON FORGOT GOVERNOR STOKES

NO OFFICIAL NOTICE WAS TAKEN OF HIS PRESENCE AT THE ARMY-NAVY GAME

Considerable criticism is being made of the scant courtesy shown to Governor Stokes at the Army-Navy football game at Princeton Saturday. Though the Governor is president of the board of trustees of Princeton University, no official notice was taken of his presence at the game, and the only invitation extended to him was to one of the receptions tendered to the cadets from West Point. The first criticism was occasioned Saturday when it was noticed that Governor Stokes took no part in the formal functions incident to the event.

While it is known generally that hundreds of tickets were sent gratis to distinguished persons who were to be guests of the university, none was sent to the Governor.

Numerous social functions accompanied the game in honor of the presence of President Roosevelt, but Governor Stokes was overlooked in sending out the invitations.

Friends of Governor Stokes stated that he surely was entitled to more consideration than was shown him.

"Tippy—and Tyler too"

In his message to Congress yesterday, President Roosevelt called attention to the coincident increase of women in industrial occupations and decease in the birth rate. He says very rightly that the tendency toward race suicide "forms one of greatest sociological phenomena of our time" and it is of far greater importance to this country than any political or economic question. Statistics, such as have been gathered, bear the President out in his contention. The decrease in the birth rate throughout the county is of the gravest concern and before the matter can be solved, as the President says, a vast amount of data must be gathered "in a sane and scientific spirit in the course of an exhaustive investigation."

AFFIRM "JIM CROW" CLASSES.

East Orange Board of Education to Continue Negro Segregation.

East Orange, Dec. 6.—The members of the East Orange Board of Education held a conference Monday night with many negro citizens relative to the segregation of negro pupils in the public schools. The negroes are said to have presented their case in a forceful and logical manner, but, nevertheless, the board announced today, through Superintendent of Schools Vernon L. Davey, that the separate classes would be continued. Mr. Davey gave out a set of resolutions setting forth the reasons of the board for keeping the negro children in a separate class without giving them the benefit of the different graded classes.

The resolutions state that the negro ch[illegible] make progress more slowly [illegible] whites, and that in mixed classes the faculty is confronted by the problem of discipline and deportment. From the two schools where the trouble started the board decided that it might open similar rooms in the other schools.

The negroes of the city, as a result of this decision of the Board of Education, are angry, and it is declared that next election they will add their votes to those who for years have been trying to rid the East Orange City Hall of the men now in control. That the reform element in the city will encourage them to do this is extremely likely. Steps will also be taken to obtain legislation at Trenton which will make illegal the establishment of these "Jim Crow" classes. Several well known white people have promised their help and County Counsel Joseph L. Munn may be selected to draft the measure.

Senator Dryden Pleased.

Washington, Dec. 6—Senator Dryden expressed himself yesterday afternoon as gratified with the expression of the President's views on the question of federal control of the insurance business. The declaration and ideas of the President, he said, were along much the same lines as those which would be embodied in his own insurance bill, which will probably be introduced next week. "Taken altogether," said Senator Dryden, "it is a very interesting message."

Bill for Postal Savings.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—Representative Snapp, of Illinois, introduced a postal savings bank bill yesterday. It provides that the Postmaster General in Washington, which shall issue postal savings stamps of small denominations and provide stamp cards, on which these may be preserved until they aggregate $1, when postmasters shall receive them as deposits.

—The findings and recommendations of the Commissioners of Appeal of this city will not be made public until after the report is prepared by A. H. Atterbury, the secretary. It will then be presented to the Common Council.

CHIEF FEATURES OF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

REGULATION OF RAILROADS AND TRUSTS AND CONTROL OF INSURANCE.

In many particulars the message of President Roosevelt sent to Congress yesterday is the most important and remarkable document that has been submitted to that branch of the Government for many years.

It is regarded as remarkable for the strong, concise arguments with which the President backs up the propositions he presents to Congress. It is remarkable for the number of recommendations he makes, and in view of the frequent and persistent misrepresentation of the President's position on great issues, it is remarkable for its conservatism.

The main points in the message summarized briefly are:

Federal control, or supervision, of corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

The appointment of a "competent administrative body" to fix maximum rates that may be charged for interstate transportation, all private car lines, industrial roads, refrigerator charges and the like to be included under this supervision.

It would be unwise to deprive courts of the power to issue injunctions in labor disputes. Investigation of general labor conditions and of the status of working women by the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Federal supervision of life insurance companies engaged in interstate business should be considered by Congress.

Reciprocity of treatment between other nations and the United States, so as to establish closer commercial connections.

Compulsory publication of contributions made to political funds and prohibition of such contributions by corporations.

Application of the Monroe Doctrine so that weak nations on the continent may be protected from European aggression, but not encouraged to indulge in misdeeds or repudiate obligations.

Exclusion of "every man of anarchistic tendencies."

Speedy fulfillment of the nation's pledge to construct the canal.

An increase in efficiency, but no larger in number of battleships than today.

THE FORUM.

Contractor's Statement.

Editor The Daily Press:

An article in your issue of yesterday related to the Board of Education's contention that the plumbing work being done under my contract at the new Plainfield High School building was not sufficiently advanced, and that the board decided to take action tending to expedite the early completion of this part of the work.

Such an action at an earlier date covering other contract work being done on this building would have secured possession within the time desired. As the building now stands, it will be March, 1906, before other contractors will possibly complete their work.

There should have been heat in this building two months ago to protect from damage work already installed and to have the building in proper condition for the reception of pupils, without risking or jeopardizing their health by occupancy of a "green building."

I desire to state that the plumbing work is far ahead of any other work being done on this building.

In justice to my position, would you kindly give space to this in your edition of today?

WHITE RIBBONERS OPEN A TWO-DAYS' FAIR

PRETTILY DECORATED BOOTHS AND TABLES—CAKE FROM THE BIBLE.

The W. C. T. U. opened a two day's fair in its rooms on Madison avenue yesterday afternoon. It opened at 3 o'clock and closed at 10 o'clock in the evening. There was a large attendance and the prettily decorated tables and booths were liberally patronized. The fair will continue this afternoon and night.

Two entertainment features mark the fair. The young people who go this afternoon may see, as those who went yesterday, a Punch and Judy show. The other feature is a big concert graphophone.

The most striking of the booths is the one conducted by the Loyal Temperance Legion, the junior branch of the W. C. T. U. It is bright and attractive with streamers and colored hangings. This booth, with the palmist's tent and the Punch and Judy show, are conducted in the vacant store next to the W. C. T. U. rooms.

The general committee in charge of the bazaar is headed by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson. Her assistants direct the various attractions as follows: Candy, Mrs. C. W. Smith, Mrs. Frank Rowley, Mrs. A. D. Honeyman; mystery table (articles in "blind" packages), Mrs. Rita Honeyman, Miss Edna Randolph; cake, Mrs. L. A. Udelle, Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, Miss Susie Jackson; fancy goods, Mrs. H. M. Maxson, Mrs. W. B. Maxson, Mrs. D. E. Titsworth; toilet articles and Heinz goods, Mrs. Carmon Parse; ice cream, Mrs. Edward Winter, Mrs. I. Cubberley, Mrs. Andrew Cox, Mrs. Charles Vail, Mrs. John Manley; toys, Miss Essie Thompson; Loyal Temperance Legion tent (apples, peanuts, candy, popcorn and lemonade), Mrs. Alvah Ten Eyck, Miss May Howlett; palmistry, Miss Margaret Case, Miss Edith Cairns. The graphophone is in change of T. A. Weaver. The identity of the Punch and Judy artist is kept a deep mystery.

One of the odd things on sale at the "mystery" table is a recipe for a Scripture cake. The reason for the name of that recipe is the fact that the ingredients are all indicated by Scripture texts. The investigating housewife will find the everyday, usual component parts of a cake named in the texts. Even the directions for mixing are indicated by a text. There are a good many other interesting things on the tables and searchers for Christmas suggestions will find them at the fair.

PRIZE FIGHT WITNESSES FINED.

Witnesses of "Athletic Entertainment" Pay $50 Each.

Thomas O'Donnell, Stephen Bruggi and Thomas Marley, of Elizabeth, who were witnesses of the prize fight held near the Wheatsheaf Hotel in Linden township last June, were arraigned in the Union County Court this morning and each was fined $50. These three were among seven men arrested at the time of the prize fight, but the other four have not been arraigned yet. The principals and a majority of the spectators got away. In imposing the fine on O'Donnell, Bruggi and Marley, Judge Vail declared that if it was not for the spectators there would never be any prize fighting.

Murderer Patrick Collapses.

Ossining, Dec. 6.—The iron nerve of Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer convicted of the murder of Millionaire William Marsh Rice, left him today when he was confronted with a trip to New York to be re-sentenced to death. He was found to be in such a state of collapse when the officers went to his cell for him early this morning that it was necessary to postpone the trip.

Death of Miss Laura E. Kully.

Miss Laura Elizabeth Kully, colored, daughter of Ellen and the late John H. Kully, died this morning at her home, 355 Cottage place, following a long illness. The funeral services will be held from Grace church Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be at Hillside cemetery.

Use "Randolph's Benzoin Witch Hazel" Soap and you will be delighted with the good results that will surely follow.

It keeps the skin soft and prevents the face and hands from chapping. Best for use with Plainfield's hard water.

It is excellent for shampooing, as it makes a copious lather.

Works on Science for Library.

A letter from F. L. Metcalf suggesting plans for the purchase of books for the Scientific Library, was received at the December meeting of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library, last night. The library committee reported upon certain recommendations made by the librarian in the annual report presented in June. The matter of publishing a supplemental list of fiction was referred to the library committee with power. After the treasurer was authorized to complete repairs at the Madison avenue property, the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. Sarah C. Drake Dead.

Mrs. Sarah C. Drake, aged fifty-one years, died this morning at the nome of her son-in-law, John Kiederling, near the Plainfield Country Club. She had been ill for some time. She is survived by two daughters. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed, but the interment will be at Somerville.

AMUSEMEN

What a New York Hippodrome spectacle means in expense may be casually estimated by any visitor to the big playhouse this week by an inspection of one item, the costumes, of the coming production, "A Society Circus," which are now in view in the promenade. It was to offset the popular idea that all that glitters behind the footlights is the cheapest of tinsel that Thompson & Dundy are showing the dresses to be worn in the flower ballets, and a few of the court costumes which will illuminate the stage on December 11. These are merely a small percentage of the whole, but a vision of gorgeous fabric and artistic design which enthralls the senses. The designs are by Archie Gunn and Alfredo Edel, and Parisian modistes have brought them out in velvet and satin. There are 175 out of a total of 982 costumes on exhibition, the approximate cost of the whole being $160,000, the largest amount ever expended for theatrical properties.

Charles Dillingham presents Thomas W. Ross in a new comedy called "A Fair Exchange" at the Liberty theatre. This piece is by Henry Blossom, the author of "Checkers," and was written especially for Mr. Ross, who has been fitted with glove-like nicety in this production. The new play has the enthusiastic endorsement of the critics of Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis and other large cities. The plot of the comedy deals with the adventures of a young ranchman, Cliffe Austin, played by Mr. Ross, who has made a fortune in Arizona and comes East to visit his sister. At first he finds it hard to conform to the manners and habits of the Easterner. He is a typical Westerner, clear-headed and long-sighted, and soon discovers the scheme of a broker who is preying upon his sister's property. The main thread of the plot, however, hinges on the result of a yacht race which is to be sailed between this broker and a friend of Cliffe's. The broker plies his rival with wine until he is in no condition to command his boat. Cliffe, who has only a theoretic knowledge of yachting, takes his place, and though outsailed and beaten at every point, he manages to have the race declared a draw on a technicality. The hero gets himself in no end of trouble trying to right his sister's affairs and makes countless enemies, at one time coming dangerously near losing the love of the girl whom he subsequently marries. This comedy is one of the cleverest seen on the American stage in years, and fairly bristles with bright up-to-date repartee and scintillates with good-natured satire. Mr. Dillingham has engaged a very strong supporting cast, among whom are Lizzie Hudson Collier, Bijou Bernandez, Claire Kulp, Channer Olney, Gertrude Dorenus, John Flood, George Parsons, Percy F. Ames and Forrest Robinson.

George Edwardes' great company in "Veronique" continues to draw capacity audiences to the Broadway theatre and will score one of the most successful runs made on the Rialto in many years. This piece is an entirely new departure in musical entertainment and one seeing it does not wonder that it made a run of over 500 nights at the Apollo theatre in London. Ruth Vincent proves a most captivating personality in the title role.

George M. Cohan's engagement in "Little Johnny Jones" at the New York theatre ended last Saturday evening, and he was followed on Monday evening by Richard Carle in his new musical play, "The Mayor of Tokio."

The offering at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night of this week will be the favorite Broadway All Star Vaudeville, which has been winning success in all the largest cities of the East. The acts are all high class and the artists are known as being among the highest salaried in the business. The headliner is Chas. Dickson, late star of "Incog;" while others are Mrs. Goldfinch and Company in "Dear Charles Edward;" Charles Wayne, the famous comedian of the "Tenderfoot" company; Marie Jansen, Leah Russell, Coralio, The Brothers Wood, and The Great Zeno Popular prices will prevail.

Plainfield playgoers who so enjoyed Ralp Stuart's work in "The Christian" when it was presented here a short time ago, will again have an opportunity of seeing him next Saturday night, when he comes to the New Plainfield theatre in "By Right of Sword." It is one of the best dramas ever put on the road and is said to afford Mr. Stuart exceptional opportunities to display his histrionic abilities.

The theatre-going public will hail with delight the good news that our old friend, "Uncle Josh Spruceby," is to visit us next Monday night. This company, which has made an exceptionally strong impression wherever it has appeared, has many friends here who will await their coming with interest. The organization this year is better than ever, all the old favorites being retained and capable new ones added, and now takes rank with the best dramatic companies touring the country. The play is one of those homely New England dramas with a beautiful story running through it.

"Bankers and Brokers," the rollicking comedy, which will hold the boards at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night, is said to be as bright an datfractive as the lithographs which herald its appearance at this cozy playhouse. It is one of those clever divices of humorous complications which keeps the audience in continuous roars of laughter and the busy people on the stage do not lose a single moment in contributing good clean fun. The comedy serves to introduce Yorke and Adams in their drolleries and they are supported by a big company of sterling merit, including James J. Collins, Rita Redmond, Bert Thayer, Anna Wilkes, Floyd Buckley, Mamie Lafferty, Eddie Barto and E. Berry. A rosebud chorus of forty adds to the general air of superiority and displays all the vagaries of daintiest feminine fashion. As a beauty show no musical comedy has shown more loveliness and in every respect the play ranks above all predecessors.

Messrs. Broadhurst & Currie, in presenting Nat M. Wills, better known to the public as "the happy tramp," in his latest musical absurdity entitled "The Duke of Duluth," have secured a play that is modern and u pto date, it is a magnificent musical farce that fairly bubbles over with laughter and song, plot and consistency have been thrown to the winds and an elaborate scenic production, beautifully costumed with special mechanical effects and a handsome chorus of ladies clad in royal raiments, in varied musical numbers appear from time to time during the action of the play. Mr. Wills is seen in a character that fits him like a glove and gives him ample scope for his characteristic comedy and his ever popular parodies, of which his supply never runs low. Among the well known artists in the cast of principals are Carrick Major, Nathaniel Cafferty, Frank White, Robert A. Rale, Jack Mason, Etta Pearce, Margaret Witt, Hattie Arnold, May Harrison and others. The "Duke of Duluth" comes to this city intact from its successful run at the Majestic theatre, New York City, with an exact production as seen there, and will appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night.

Miss Nanette Comstock, than whom there is no more charming or capable leading woman on the stage, will be seen here at the New Plainfield theatre on Thursday night, December 14, in support of Raymond Hitchcock in Richard Harding Davis' latest comedy, "The Galloper." Not only has Miss Comstock been identified with numerous successes on the American stage, but she has won her spurs on the English boards as well. Her last appearance was in a stellar capacity in which she enacted the heroine in "The Crisis." Another actress of almost equal prominence in support of Mr. Hitchcock is Miss May Buckley, who has won her way to her present enviable position through a long series of successes, she was last season the leading woman with Wright Lorimer in "The Shepherd King."

A Typical American Village.

Certainly the strongest testimonial to its advantages that any pleasure resort can have is the fact that it has been selected as a rendezvous by the best society and made the objective of a good deal of capital invested in beautiful homes. Georgian Court, the home of Mr. George Jay Gould, at Lakewood, the ideal American village of beautiful residences, represents an investment that one would not be apt to suppose was made at random. Lying west of the village on an estate of two hundred acres the spacious mansion, in the Georgian style of architecture, modified by the spirit of the French renaissance, lends a distinguished air to the landscape. The main entrance, where there is a garden with vases and statuary, looks to the north. On the south the wild forest growth has been allowed to remain in its natural state. The Italian garden, covering several acres, extends to the court, which is larger than the mansion itself and contains a riding school, a recquet court, lawn tennis court, squash courts, bowling alley, automobile room, gymnasium, swimming bath, Turkish and Russian baths, needle bath, club parlor, breakfast room, kitchen and some thirty bed rooms. A descriptive booklet on Lakewood has been recently published by the Central Railroad of New Jersey, which will be gladly given to anyone applying for it, to C. M. Burt, G. P. A., Central Railroad of New Jersey, 143 Liberty street, New York City.

Christmas World Out Next Sunday.

The Christmas number of the New York Sunday World, to be issued next Sunday, December 10, will be a notable number, including many special feautres and illustrated with many extra pages in colors. A Santa Claus cut-out mask for the children, a great Christmas story by "O. Henry," a children's Christmas fairy tale by Paul West, a double-page illustration on What Christmas means to New York; a story by Mrs. Russell Sage, on "My First Doll," and a remarkable page on Novel Christmas Toys will be among the attractions.

—Invitations have been issued for a dance to be given at the Plainfield Seminary on Friday night, December 29.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.
The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.
It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

The Iron Brigade

A STORY OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC

By GEN. CHARLES KING

Author of "Norman Holt," "The Colonel's Daughter," "Fort Frayne," Etc.

Copyright, 1903, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

They were standing two hours later in the dusk of the old portico. There was a blessed, yet almost solemn, quiet at the bedside of the aging father, and all the story of that last year, with much that had been told. With the coming of the squire and Elinor returned to the west there was no one to warn them against McKinnon, who from the very first had seemed to gain the guileless doctor's confidence. It was Chilton's childlike belief that every well-mannered man was a gentleman until proved otherwise, and it was not long before McKinnon knew all about them and all about Jack. It had been Rosalie's growing belief that her aunt must have had help, and that Squire Benton or his son was the helper; but at the last her father amazed her with the admission that he had given his personal note to McKinnon for money to be sent to Jack, and for other needs. Little by little her intuitive aversion to the man had given way before his apparently unobtrusive courtesies. He had never hinted at such a thing as a quarrel with the Bentons, father or son. He never referred to them except guardedly until Ladue's recapture and Jack's narrow escape. Then he had told her aunt, to whom he had been kindness and helpfulness itself, that the plan was known to the secret service, that Benton and Ladue had been still in covert correspondence; that Ladue wished to make it appear that he was striving to rejoin his regiment, while in point of fact he planned to be again captured and confined where he could escape the dangers of the battlefield, and the expedition to capture him and Jack was guided by information furnished by Benton himself—Benton, who had been under a cloud and hoped by the capture of confederate officers to win his way back to favor. Rosalie had indignantly refused to believe at first; had even had a fierce verbal affray with the major, who brought the Virginian, Jennings, to prove a truth that, as McKinnon put it, he "never thought could reach her ears or it should never have escaped these lips." An eloquent man was McKinnon, and music was in his voice and mischief in his soul. Benton had planned, he said, to capture Jack, and Jennings there stood ready to swear to it. Then, before she had time to recover herself, she had been ushered into that cozy parlor, and had come face to face with the man who filled her thoughts. It all looked like design on his part, and in her wrath and doubt and bitter trouble, she had hurled her accusation and fled. But, long before Ladue's visit to Charlottesville, she had begun to suspect both McKinnon and Jennings. After his coming she had known no moment of peace, yet how could she write or tell him whom she had so outraged? Of what use was it? He would forget it—and her—in course of time——

"Does this look like it?" asked Benton.

They were standing by the open doorway. She had brought down to him the beautiful sash he had left with her when he rode away, for this very night he must return to Gordonsville and join his chief for the morning's march. Meantime he had been winding it about her, the silken folds clinging to the dainty white dimity, and now, having thrown the tasseled ends over his arm, had seized her soft hands and was looking down fondly, wonderingly, in that almost unrealizing, unbelieving bliss of newly requited love.

"Does this look like it—that for two years I should have been making every effort to reach you, only to be stormed at as if I had sinned past pardon in having clasped you—here?" and raising her little hands he held them firmly upon his breast, the creamy white upon the dusky blue. Then, one hand being quite big enough for that purpose, he stole his right arm round her and drew her closer. The sound of slow, measured footfalls and soft voices could be faintly heard along the shaded street. Some of her coterie were surely coming to scout the approaches if not actually to seek the presence of their erstwhile queen. Not that they would interrupt for worlds! They only wished to see. And through the summerlike stillness of the night, afar down at the railway station, the sputtering hiss of steam told that the iron horse was waiting impatient for the start. "It may be weeks before I can hope to reach you again," he murmured, "and—isn't that Georgia Scott's voice?" A swift upward glance of the soft, dark eyes said yes, and though for an instant they fell again, it was but for an instant; there was something so compelling in the glow of his.

"Then—" said he, speaking and bending lower.

"Then—what?" she murmured, persistingly insistent on being told, though her head drooped again.

"Then—it's time for some—token of surrender, is it not?" And now, loosing the little hands, leaving them self-clasping on his breast, he wound the other arm about and drew her closer still.

"I don't—quite—" she dimpled, her soft cheek sinking on her own hands, her tiny ear catching the loud beating of his heart, a vagrant tress fluttering in the breath from her parted lips.

"You do, I think," he answered, half smiling. "When a soldier surrenders he gives up his sword. When a girl surrenders she should give up—her lips," and holding her more firmly, he bent yet lower, seeking with wordless eagerness the sweet symbol that he craved. But she nestled closer still where he could not see her glowing face, and the answer came, half stifled, after a moment of shy silence:

"You're not magnanimous like your commander. He would not touch the sword of Gen. Lee."

"I see!"—and this very slowly, "and—you prefer that I should be—like Gen. Grant?"

No answer, verbal at least. Even queens are women and would be wooed. He should be made to know this, even when both heart and lips said yield. But the fates were against her. Silvery laughter and soft voices sounded close at hand now. Ah, some were happy, even in the shadow of the great surrender, since there were still loved ones left for the sweet homecoming.

"It is Georgia," whispered Benton, "and, as I live, Kate Falconer! They'll be here in a minute and I'll be gone. Rosalie, do you remember that night three years ago when you said 'now or never?'"

Plainfield Citizens Glady Testify and Confidently Recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed "the old Quaker Remedy" so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Plainfield citizen:

Albert Naylor, music teacher, of 436 East Fifth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was afflicted with a dull aching in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I resorted to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills for same, as I had been told that they were a cure for such pain as I had been having. I think that I took only two boxes before the pains left me, and I was soon feeling first-class in every respect. I have often endorsed and recommended Doan's Kidney's Pills to those suffering from backache as I was."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The thrifty who put their savings in the Plainfield Trust Company are showing that the wisdom indicated by their thriftiness is of a very sound order. The Trust Company savings department offers unusual advantages to the intending depositor. Think well before you decide to put you account elsewhere.

In winter time when earth is drear, when trees stand bare and meadows sear; cold storms that bring the ice and sleet, say, now's the time to guard your feet. The best way to do it is to buy your shoes of A. E. & A. L. Giddes, of West Front street, who handle a superior line of fottwear, guarantee to defy winter's worst elements.

At this season of the year S. Scheuer & Co., of West Front street, are carrying an exceptionally large stock of fine groceries, meats, vegetables, choice fruit and nuts, all of which go to make the holiday season all that it should be. Now comes the season of the year when everybody thinks of the gifts that are to be made and as a result the stores are filled with eager patrons. Santa Claus makes this store his headquarters during the holidays so don't fail to make it a visit.

Investigating Man's Death.

Somerville, Dec. 5.—The body of Edward Mason, a resident of Rocky Hill, was found in the Millstone River on Saturday about a mile and a half from his home. Investigation by County Physician Taylor showed that Mason and another man, of the name of John R. Handerham, purchased a bottle of whiskey and ten bottles of beer from a hotel in Griggstown on Friday evening and then started in a leaky boat down the river. Handerham says the boat upset. He says he swam ashore after great difficulty and left Mason struggling in the water. He went to his home, and the following morning reported to the Mayor of Rocky Hill that he feared Mason had been drowned. After a long search the body was found. Prosecutor Reger is investigating the case.

Children Starving in Hut.

Gunners while in quest of game four miles east of Millville, on the road to May's Landing, discovered a dilapidated hut in which were six deserted children named Hyson. The children had nothing in the house to eat and the only furniture in the hut was an old chair and a table. The children were clad in rags and nearly frozen to death. Officers of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children are investigating the case.

DIAMOND DUST.

President Ban Johnson was largely instrumental in securing the banishment of the two players. The commission has decided that contract jumping from the big league to minor ones must stop and drastic measures have been adopted for that purpose. In the meantime the big league managers will still continue to steal players away from the minor leagues, leaving them in a weakened condition and handicapping them in their race.

"Jack" Heydon, who jumped from Baltimore to the York, Tri-State League Club, last season, and "Red" Owens, who jumped from Brooklyn to Williamsport, of the same league, will never again be able to play with teams under the National agreement. This ultimatum was decided at a recent meeting of the National Commission held in Cincinnati. The decision, one of the most important yet given by the commission, was so carefully worded that it cannot be broken and there is no appeal from it.

Thus far the commission has done nothing regarding "Lou" Wiltse, who jumped from Baltimore to York, with Heydon. Howevere, his case is not as aggravating as that of Heydon. Wiltse had a long talk with Hugh Jennings before leaving Baltimore, and explained the circumstances fully. It is understood that Jennings sympathized with Wiltse in the treatment he was receiving, and put no barrier in his way of bettering his condition. Wiltse has not yet decided where he will play next season.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Andrew McClean Parker, of West Seventh street, has issued invitations for a card party to be given at her home on Monday.

Eugene Alexander, formerly of this city, but late of Cuttingsville, Vt., has returned here, where he will live with his daughter, Mrs. William Symons, of East Front street.

Rush Rhees, Ph. D., president of Rochester University, who has been the guest of his uncle, Charles W. McCutchen, of the borough, for several days, returned to his home last night, after making an address before the men's clubs of the city in the First Baptist church.

CLOSED PORTALS.

The Oriental Degree team of the three local Councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet soon and initiate several candidates.

The Women's Relief Corps will meet Friday night and elect officers for the ensuing year. The installation will take place in January.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will elect officers at a meeting to be held Tuesday night, December 12. The installation will take place in January.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Edward Love, of this city, assisted by Rev. George Francis Greene, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Cranford, laid the cornerstone for the new chapel at Garwood, on Saturday. This chapel is being erected by the Elizabeth Presbytery, and Mr. Love is the pastor in charge of the work there. Prior to the laying of the stone, several hundred children paraded the principal streets of Garwood and afterward attended the exercises. The chapel will be constructed of pressed brick and wood, modelled in Gothic style. The cost of the chapel when completed will be $7,500. Through the efforts of Mr. Love this work has grown and people of Plainfield have generously contributed toward the building of the chapel.

Fire in Waste Paper Basket.

A large waste paper basket in the hallway of the Woodhull & Martin building, on the third floor, caught fire in some way this morning and filled the place with smoke. Some one noticing it pouring out of the windows sent in an alarm from box 15 and brought the city department. The danger was all over when it arrived, although the woodwork and wall near the basket was scorched. The blaze was evidently started by some one dropping a match in the paper.

Trenton, Dec. 6.—A map and a description of the first branch of the Jersey City end of the Interstate Tunnel Railway Company of New Jersey were filed yesterday in the office of Secretary of State Samuel D. Dickinson, together with a cash deposit of $2,400, which was placed with the treasurer as provided by law. The plans which were filed were accepted at a meeting of the company held Monday morning, and they were signed by the principal officers, who are Thomas N. McCarter, president, and Frederick Evans, secretary.

The description indicates that the total length of this branch will be a little more than 6,000 feet. The road will begin immediately east of the intersection of Henderson and Twelfth streets, Jersey City, and continue in a northwesterly and southwesterly direction to the middle of the North River. The road from the place of beginning to a point 1,200 west of it, will be on the surface and parallel with property of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and Erie Railroads. At this point the tunnel will be constructed under the bed of the river and for a distance of 1,600 feet extend to the middle of the river.

The greatest distance of the tunnel below mean high water of the North River will be seventy feet.

ELIZABETHIANS ARE GROWING DECOROUS

CITY COUNCIL TO ACT AS CENSORS OF PLAYS IN THE FUTURE.

Elizabeth, Dec. 6.—Taking their cue from the suppression of "Mrs. Warren's Profession" in New York by Police Commissioner McAdoo, the City Council of Elizabeth has decided to exercise a censorship over all plays produced here. This action was decided upon by the local governing body Monday night, after a debate on the floors of the Council.

It was Councilman William S. Bate who introduced the censorship resolution and, in advocating his measure, he said the children of the city stayed away from school and gave the truant officers more work than they could attend to by attending such plays as "The Burglar's Daughter" and "Why Girls Leave Home." Mr. Bate said it was impossible to keep the children away from the theatres, either in the afternoon or evening, when their mothers were matinee fiends. He declared that many women in Elizabeth neglect their homes and children to gratify their propensity for emotional plays.

Councilman Nugent agreed with Mr. Bate and added that children got the bad habit when they were very young because their mothers lugged them to theatres to the matinees, sometimes in baby carriages, rather than have to stay home from the show.

Some of the Councilmen said they were in favor of a national censorship of the drama, whether melodrama or tragedy, as well as vaudeville shows, but didn't just know how the scheme could be worked. Others expressed the hope that the revival which has just opened in Elizabeth may have the effect of weeding the matinee fiends from the feet of the matinee idols.

TO REVIEW 2D REGIMENT.

Governor Stokes Names January 10 for the Purpose.

January 10 was decided upon yesterday by Governor Stokes, Colonel Collins and Quartermaster General Murray as the date for the formal opening of the Second Regiment armory at Trenton. Governor Stokes and his staff will review the regiment. There will also be a drill and inspection.

After the drill the Collins medal for rifle practice will be awarded to Sergeant C. F. Sylvester, of Company L, Princeton, he having won it this summer by his score on the rifle range at Sea Girt. The medal of the National Rifle Association will be awarded to Captain William Libby, of Company L. About 150 one hundred per cent. medals will be given to the men of the regiment for regular attendance during the year.

MISS RUNYON EULOGIZED

School Supt. Maxson's Talk to Pupils on Veteran Teacher's Life.

HER INFLUENCE FELT

Her Effect Will Abide for Untold Generations, He Declared—The World Is Cold.

Dr. Henry M. Maxson addressed the pupils of the Plainfield High School yesterday morning on the death of Miss Carrie B. Runyon, whose funeral took place yesterday afternoon. She was a teacher in the local schools for thirty-four years and was widely known and respected throughout the city.

The superintendent of schools paid a beautiful tribute to Miss Runyon. He spoke as follows:

"We are all prone to give our attention and admiration to that which is conspicuous or unusual, while to the ordinary, everyday affairs we give little thought and scant attention. When we ride through the country our interest is caught by the distant mountain, the noble tree, the rose-tinted cloud, the foaming waterfall, but the ordinary potatoes and beans and corn and wheat and the other products of the farm we pass by with little thought. But it is on the ordinary corn and oats and wheat that our happiness, our very existence, rests. It is through them that we are able to enjoy the distant view and floating cloud.

So it is with the spiritual matters of life. We give our admiration and our applause to the men and women that are unusual or conspicuous—a preacher with unusual power to stir our hearts; a statesman who passes some epic-making measure; a warrior who wins some great battle; a philanthropist who starts some world wide movement, but for the ordinary, everyday lives about us, each performing its work faithfully and doing its part to uplift the world in its limited sphere, for these we have littlethought and no admiration, and yet it is these ordinary, everyday lives that form the warp and woof of life. The notable men and women are only the great artists that weave a pattern into the warp and woof with threads of scarlet and gold. It is the everyday lives that make the fabric substantial and enduring.

"Just now we are all turning our love and admiration toward the great man who sits in the Presidential chair in Washington, and we may well do this, for he is every inch a true man who is breathing into public and private life a spirit of truth, of sincerity, of honesty, of personal responsibility, of high ideals, such as no man before him has ever done. And yet Theodore Roosevelt is not our national life, he cannot make our national life, he can only influence it. Our national life is made by the hundreds and thousands of ordinary men and women in Plainfield, in Westfield, in Elizabeth, in all the cities and towns and hamlets and lone cabins of our broad land, and any man or woman who by his life or his efforts uplifts these ordinary lives in the sphere which his influence covers is a public benefactor in his degree as truly as these notable men and women to whom we give our admiration.

"Why is it that New Jersey is a better place to live in than Turkey or Italy or Spain or Russia? Not entirely because we have better rulers or better government, but because the warp and woof of life is better. Many years ago groups of men and women with a strong purpose, with great ideals of liberty and life, came across the waters and built new homes all up and down our coasts. There they lived lives that were strenuous and plain and meagre, lives that would seem to us uninteresting and wellnight wasted in their rude surroundings, but together they created an influence, and that influence has gone on strengthening and widening, spreading from State to State until it covers our whole country and forms the national spirit which makes our land more blessed than any other which the sun looks upon. Each generation received that influence as an inheritance from the past; it cherished and strengthened and broadened it and handed it to its successors, but when we trace that spirit back to its origin we find it composed of plain, individual, ordinary, everyday lives and, in the main, it has been cherished and strengthened and perpetuated by the same kind of ordinary, everyday, men and women, and each man or woman who has devoted himself to uplifting and elevating that influence is a public benefactor and merits admiration and prise as truly as the great names which history cherishes. But the world knows little of these lives and does not cherish them long in remembrance. Their influence, however, is none the less precious.

"One such life came to a close among us a few days ago. It is just forty years ago that Miss Carrie Runyon, herself hardly more than a schoolgirl, was called to take charge of a class that had proved too great a problem for its teacher, and every years since, until failing health prevented, she has given her thought, her energy, her whole self, to the instruction and upbuilding of the classes of boys and girls that followed one another in endless succession through her schoolroom, and the value of her influence over these boys and girls can not be measured.

"None of you who sit here have had the valuable privilege of sitting under her instruction and receiving her influence directly, but there are many of you who are every day being blessed by her influence indirectly through father or mother who were taught by her years ago, and no one can tell how many of you are here in this room today, receiving the benefits of this school, because years ago some boy or girl was touched by her influence. There are fifteen hundred men and women who have been influenced for time and eternity through a year which they spent in her schoolroom in days gone by, for no boy or girl ever passed through her room, after she attained her power as a teacher, without receiving at her hands an impress which never left him, and the influence of that impress will bless their children's children.

"This afternoon we shall lay under the sod all of her that is mortal; tomorrow we shall go about our ordinary duties with but little thought of her; in a few years all of us that knew her will be dead and the chief mark of her remembrance will be a name on a tombstone over a forgotten grave. Is that all? Have we told the whole story of her life when we say 'she was born, she lived, she died, she is forgotten?' No. A thousand times, no. Her soul has gone to its Maker, her body will crumble to dust, but her influence is with us, and will abide for untold generations.

"If you go into a pine forest, where there is no sign of maple or birch or beech, and cut down the trees, in a few years the ground will be covered with a forest of birch and beech and maple. Man knoweth not whence the seeds come nor when they were placed there, but when circumstances gave them a chance, they sprang into life and covered the ground with new verdure and new beauty. So the life of every good man and woman is ever sowing seeds of goodness and happiness in the hearts of those whose lives they touch, and these seeds are ever springing into life and bearing fruitage for generations that know not their sower.

"On a bright, peaceful day, you may stand on the seashore and see the waves pounding the beach from some furious storm. You know not when or where the storm raged, but the waves are before you with resistless power. So the influence of the quiet life lived so many years in this building will appear again and again and show its power in coming generations. No man will trace it back to its source in the life of this faithful teacher, but the power will be there, a power for eternal good."

P. R. R. ABOLISHES PASSES.

Cassett Helps Along the Anti-Rebate and Concession Movement.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 6.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company yesterday afternoon issued the following:

In view of the general agitation on the subject of legislation on railroad rates and the abolition of all rebates and concessions, it has been decided by the management of the Pennsylvania Railroad that all forms of free transportation will be discontinued after the end of the present year.

An officer of the road in discussing the order said:

"Such an order was to be expected. It will be carried out in its fullest meaning. It is known that President Cassatt favors railroad rate legislation, and naturally he would be the first person to assist in any movement intended to abolish all forms of rebating or making any kind of concessions. The railroad is amply able to pay for all it obtains, and it is only fair that every person who gets any service from the railroad should be willing to pay for it in return."

NURSES' MEETING.

N. J. State Association to Secure Higher Standard of Education.

Jersey City, Dec. 6.—The fourth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Nurses' Association was held in Hasbrouck Hall here late yesterday afternoon. One of the most important points before the convention is the endeavor of the nurses to secure a higher standard of preliminary education for applicants for admission to the training school. The main aim of the association, however, is the raising of the standard of general nursing.

Reports from the various officers were read yesterday and the chief speaker was Miss Annie A. Goodrich, superintendent in the New York Hospital Training School. Miss Bertha C. Gardner, the present president, was the presiding officer.

The double list of candidates to be voted upon for officers follows: First vice president, Miss Mary P. Mason, Newary City Hospital, and Miss Marcia Schofield, Elizabeth General Hospital; for second vice president, Miss Laura MacHale, St. Joseph's Hospital, Paterson, and Miss Rose Schmoker, New City Hospital; secretary, Miss Emma Young, St. Barnabas' Hospital, Newark, and Miss Martha Cameron, Elizabeth General Hospital; treasurer, Miss Catherine Neafsy, Newark German Hospital, and Miss Fannie Brown, St. Barnabas' Hospital, Newark.

BRINGS CZAR'S MESSAGE

Russian Autocrat Sends Word to President Roosevelt by Plainfielder.

W. H. BROWN, BEARER

He Is a Naval Constructor, Who Has Been Superintending the Building of Russian Torpedo Boats.

Bearing a message from the Czar to President Roosevelt, W. H. Brown, of this city, returned from Russia yesterday, on the SS. Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.

Mr. Brown is connected with the Nixon shipyards at Bayonne. He is an expert in naval construction, and when Lewis Nixon, head of the shipyards, went to Russia during the war with Japan, to dispose of some torpedo boats, submarines and whatever else in the way of marine fighting machines the Russian might want to buy, Mr. Brown was commissioned to accompany him.

The Plainfielder was in Russia from January of this year until September, superintending the construction of torpedo boats in one of the government yards. He came back to this country in September, but returned to Russia six weeks ago.

During his stay there Mr. Brown had several interviews with the Czar. The latter, who is much interested in this country, its naval strength and policy, talked much with Mr. Brown of conditions here. His interest naturally increased when President Roosevelt brought the peace negotiations to a close, and the Czar's thoughts on his country centered about the personality of the President.

When Mr. Brown announced that he was about to return to America this last trip, the Czar summoned him and gave him a message for the President. It was carefully wrapped in silk coverings and enclosed in an ornate box. Mr. Brown guarded that box as if it had contained all the jewels of the East on his way to America.

As soon as he landed in New York he drove directly to the Russian consulate, where he turned over the message to an attache of the Czar's ambassador to Washington. The latter will deliver the message to the President.

VISIT FROM SUPT. KREBS.

Head of Borough Educational System Inspects City High School.

Supt. H. C. Krebs, head of the borough school system, was a visitor at the Plainfield High School this morning. He came to inspect the workings of the school, and learn, at first hand, how Supt. Maxson and his aids conducted what is acknowledged to be one of the finest secondary schools in the East.

Mr. Krebs, besides being borough superintendent, is county supervisor for Somerset, so that his interest in educational methods and policies is more than usually keen. He was, of course, accorded all the opportunities possible to view the work at the high school. He saw a good deal to interest him and asked many questions. His comments were warmly complimentary.

LIEN ON S. A. HALL.

Brick Makers Want Claim Settled—Salvationists Seek a Mortgage.

The firm of E. T. & Irving Hand, of Netherwood, brick manufacturers, have filed a lien on the new Salvation Army building on East Second street, in the Union County Circuit Court. The claim is between $400 and $500. Deputy Sheriff Weaver tacked the notice on the Army's door this morning.

There are several unsatisfied claims, it is said, against the Army and the Acme Building Co., of New York, who constructed the building. The Hand lien is made against both corporations. Ensign Magie, who is in charge of the army here, is trying, it is said, to arrange a mortgage on the building, in order to clear up all the debts left by the construction.

LOCAL ELKS ENTER HANDSOME NEW ROOMS

PLAINFIELD LODGE OBSERVES THE OCCASION WITH JOLLIFICATION.

Changing its home from the old Stillman building to handsome quarters in the New Plainfield theatre building, Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., held a jollification, last night. The greater part of the membership was in attendance and when the regular order of business had been transacted a short time was spent in looking about. The lodge is now comfortably established but the rooms are to be made still more attractive as its needs become better known.

The meeting room is on the third floor while the club apartments are on the second. Adjournment was made to the latter shortly before 11 o'clock and while refreshments were being served an orchestra in charge of B. A. Paroubek, rendered a musical programme. The instruments comprised piano, violin, violincello and flute and the selections were heartily encored. Exalted Ruler William N. Runyon favored with some of his best known vocal solos and others were contributed by George O. Stevens, Charles Ward, W. J. Counihan, John H. Cose, William and John O'Keefe.

CENTRAL TO ABOLISH ALL FORMS OF PASSES

P. R. R. AND READING TOO AND MAYBE L. V. TO DO LIKEWISE.

"The Reading and the Central Railroad of New Jersey," said George F. Baer, president of the two roads, yesterday, "will abolish every form of free transportation after the end of the present year. Every other railroad with which I am connected will do the same thing if I have my way."

Mr. Baer is also a director of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and is closely identified with the management of several of the larger Eastern railroads.

"I intend," Mr. Baer went on, "that the order shall be carried out to the very letter. Ever since I have been connected with railroads I have opposed the giving of passes to members of courts, legislators, mayors, members of city Councils, and the thousand and one others who felt they were entitled to be hauled around over railroads free of charge. The courtesy has been abused ever since it has been in vogue, and now is the time to stop it. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company was the proper road to start the reform, and I am glad to have the opportunity to follow."

An officer of the Pennsylvania road said yesterday: "You would be surprised to know that it would take a train of ten coaches every day, including Sundays, to handle the passengers holding free transportation on our line East of Pittsburg and Erie. We have known for a long time that passes have been traded, sold, loaned and passed around promiscuously, and there was nothing left for us to do but 'wipe the slate clean.' On some of the suburban trains there are forty and fifty political passes used five and six days a week."

The drastic measures of the Pennsylvania and the Reading Railroad managements will have a telling effect on many political clubs of the city. They have been held together largely by the knowledge that the club leaders would take the members on junkets to conventions and provide the more faithful with passes for themselves and the membefs of their families.

President Baer, of the Reading, indicates, too, that the Vanderbilt lines —including the New York Central, the New York, New Haven and Hartford, Lake Shore, Michigan Central, Big Four and Chesapeake and Ohio roads—will shortly take action similar to that of the Pennsylvania and Reading. The Wabash, Baltimore and Ohio and Rock Island systems may do likewise at an early day.

Taking Prisoners to Trenton.

Sheriff Lawrence took his first batch of prisoners to Trenton this morning. Alfred Porch Smalley, of Clayton, known as the "gentleman burglar," who burglarized James W. Jackson's home in Crescent avenue, and many other places, was among his prisoners. He will serve five years in State prison. There was also Fred Rose, a member of the "Dutch" Ides gang, which has been rifling freight cars along the New Jersey Central, and John Baldwin, of Summit, who was convicted of several burglaries. Rose and Baldwin each received a sentence of two years. Former Sheriff B. Frank Coriell, of this city, accompanied Sheriff Lawrence on the trip to the State prison.

EVICTS PANHANDLERS FROM PLAINFIELD

NEW YORK NEGROES DENY CHARGE UNTIL SCARED BY THREAT OF PUNISHMENT

James Crothers and Frank Williams, both colored, applied for lodgings at the police station last night. A few minutes after they were cooped in a cell, several East End women telephoned to headquarters that two colored men had been panhandling and begging in that section all evening. The description of the pair tallied exactly with that of the lodgers.

They were arraigned in the city court this morning on a charge of begging, but stoutly denied the charge. In the face of exact descriptions they maintained their innocence until Judge Runyon hinted that he would hold them for investigation and might be a little severe on them if it turned out that they had been lying. Then Williams abandoned his yarning and made a clean breast of it. He said they feared a sentence of imprisonment would follow a confession. The magistrate gave them a lecture and suspended sentence on condition that they leave town at once. Almost immediately after they were released Detective McCarthy brought word into headquarters that the pair had been begging all over town. Before they left the Chief made them promise that they would leave the city without looking for another handout.

FORMAL CHARGES MAY BE DIFFERENT

SAID THAT SOME ACCUSATIONS AGAINST CHIEF MAY BE NEW.

It is expected that the councilmanic police committee will present its much-talked-of charges against Chief of Police Kiely at an adjourned meeting to be held tomorrow night. This matter was postponed from the regular meeting Monday night because Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh did not have time to complete the document for that session.

There is considerable speculation as to the nature of the charges to be presented and their seriousness. While it is generally known that the committee alleges wrong-doing on the part of Chief Kiely, it has been rumored that the specific charges may not be similar to the several counts mentioned in the recent lengthy report of the committee. So far as the committee is concerned no intimation as to what the charges will be has been given.

Again, the friends of the chief say that while the police committee feels at liberty to take as much time as desired in preparing a report and charges they are not willing to give him five days after they are presented to answer them.

It is not known whether Chief Kiely's counsel, Charles A. Reed, will make any effort at this time to hold up the trial, as intimated recently, by objecting to Councilmen Tyler and Bullock sitting at the trial. He has declared that it would be unfair for them to act both as accusers and judges, yet some one or a committee is obliged to bring the charges and the law provides that the entire Common Council shall be the judges as to whether the accused is guilty or not. It does not provide for exceptions to this rule, other than that the Common Council may by a four-fifths vote delegate the power to the police board or some other recognized body. If delegated to the police board Mr. Tyler would still be called upon to sit as one of the judges.

If the charges are presented tomorrow night, it will not be possible to held the trial before Thursday of next week, allowing five days for the accused to make his answer and be prepared to meet the charges.

Work for Light Inspector.

Residents of the West End are complaining of the poor street lighting service in their section. Many of the lights are out repeatedly despite the fact that an inspector is supposed to renew globes. The light at Essex and Spruce streets has been out for the past four nights though the fact has been regularly reported by the police.

Roll Call of Members.

According to the custom of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., every two years, there will be a "roll call" of members on Monday night. In addition to this interesting feature, there will be an entertainment, followed by a banquet. It is the desire of the officers that every member attend this meeting.

MR. KEAN INTRODUCES P. O. BUILDING BILL

Asks Congress For $100,000 Appropriation For Federal Structure.

TEXT OF MEASURE

Bill Presented a Year Ago Died in Committe But Senator Determined to be Successful This Time.

United States Senator John Kean introduced a bill in Congress today for a Federal building for Plainfield. The cost of the land and the structure must not exceed $100,000, according to the provisions of the measure read to the Senate.

On March 25, 1904, Senator Kean introduced a similar bill. After being read twice it was referred to the committee on buildings and grounds of the Senate. Soon afterwards it was announced that a policy of retrenchment had been decided upon in postoffice department appropriations. As a result the bill died in committee.

Along the same lines as the bill for a postoffice building here, Senator Kean also fathered one for Elizabeth. The Federal building there is to cost $250,000, and it is likely that more than $100,000 will be needed for the proposed structure here.

The full text of Senator Kean's bill follows:

"A bill for the purchase of a site and the erection of a public building thereon in the city of Plainfield, New Jersey.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and is hereby, authorized and directed to acquire, by purchase, condemnation, or otherwise, a site and cause to be erected thereon a suitable building, including fireproof vaults, heating and ventilating apparatus, and approaches, for the use and accommodation of the United States postoffice and other governmental offices in the city of Plainfield and State of New Jersey, the cost of said site and building, including said vaults, heating and ventilating apparatus, and approaches, not to exceed the sum of one hundred thousand dollars.

"The compensation of said commissioners shall be fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury, but the same shall not exceed six dollars per day and actual traveling expenses: Provided, however, That the member of said commission appointed from the Treasury Department shall be paid only his actual traveling expenses.

"The building shall be unexposed to danger from fire by an open space of at least forty feet on each side, including streets and alleys."

TRINITY COMMANDERY HONORS TWO VISITORS

OCCASION OF CLINTON COMMANDERY'S ANNUAL VISIT.

Trinity Commandery, No. 14, K. T., entertained the members of Clinton Commandery, of Brooklyn, on the occasion of its annual visit last night in its usual hospitable manner.

The Brooklyn Templars were met at the station by a delegation from Trinity Commandery. All business was laid aside and the fraters adjourned to the banquet hall. Mrs. Lena Hellstrom was the caterer. There were over two hundred Sir Knights present.

After the banquet several short speeches were made by visiting Sir Knights, including Past Grand Commander George Nicholson, of New York; Grand Junior Warden Thomas Lowden and Eminent Sir Commander Joseph Cummings, of Clinton Commandery.

Remarks were also made by Past Grand Commander Jacob Kirkner, a feature being his presentation on behalf of Trinity Commandery, to Past Grand Commander George Nicholson, of New York, and John J. Henry, of Newark, of certificates of honorary membership in Trinity Commandery. These were handsomely engraved and suitably inscribed and bound in book form with a morocco cover. Messrs. Nicholson and Henry both responded.

BANKS MAY CORRECT ERRORS IN PASS BOOKS

DECISION AGAINST GOERZ ON APPEAL, ESTABLISHED AN IMPORTANT POINT

That bank books are not in themselves complete evidence of what banks owe to depositors was established by Judge Vail in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday in deciding the appeal case of Edward Goerz against the First National Bank, of this city, against Goerz.

The case grew out of an error made by one of the bank's clerks in making an entry in Goerz's bank book. The entry credited Goerz with something like $100 more than he had deposited. The bank, in making up its balance, detected the error, and sought to correct it. Goerz denied their right to change the entries in his book except on depositing of drawing, and sued the bank in Justice Mosher's court to establish his claim that the bank was liable for every cent with which he might be credited in his pass book.

The case, which was tried before a jury, went against him and he carried it to the higher court. Judge Vail, in confirming the verdict, ruled that a bank had a right to correct such an error, when it could demonstrate that one had been made.

Codington & Swackhamer conducted the bank's case.

PERKINS MADE A RECEIVER.

May Sue to Recover Assets of N. J. and Santo Domingo Company.

Vice Chancellor Garrison, in Jersey City, has signed an order appointing Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, receiver of the New Jersey and Santo Domingo City Bridge Company. The application was made by Henry M. Black, a bondholder.

The company, which numbers among its stockholders John Wanamaker and Ogden P. Pell, of New York, came into existence through securing concessions from the Santo Domingo government. Work was done on the islands for which the government paid $91,000.

The money was collected by Nathaniel McKay, the millionaire shoe manufacturer, of Boston, who, it is claimed, died before he could turn the money over to the company. The receiver, it is said, will now bring suit against Henry F. Woodward and Mabel F. McKay, the executors of the McKay estate, to recover the amount of money alleged to have been collected. Outside of the $91,000 the company has no assets.

McMillan Held.

Detective Mulvey, the county officer attached to Prosecutor Mulvey's staff at New Brunswick, was in this city yesterday, in connection with the arrest of John McMillan, one of the Ides gang at South Plainfield yesterday morning. McMillan was held for the Grand Jury by Recorder Brampton, of Bound Brook. McMillan's claim to being a Bound Brook man is scouted by residents of that place. Nobody seems to know him there.

A Birthday Whist Party.

The Misses Burke, of Ravine road, gave a large bridge whist party at their home Tuesday afternoon. There were eight tables. Miss Virginia Hegeman and Miss Helen Bushnell won the prizes.

CONTRACTOR LOSING $10 A DAY ON JOB

MEEKER'S WORK FOR CITY SHOULD HAVE BEEN DONE BY NOV. 15.

Acting on the advice of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, Chairman Wilson, of the councilmanic street committee, has imposed a penalty of $10 a day upon C. M. Meeker for every day after his time was up for the completion of macadamizing work on certain streets. The time was up on November 15, and Mr. Meeker was informed prior to that time that the penalty would be imposed if he did not finish his work as the contract specified.

Several complaints were received by the street committee regarding the delay in macadamizing these streets in question, one of which in particular was Monroe avenue. Mr. Wilson claimed that Mr. Meeker acted very indifferent to all appeals made to hustle the work, and that it was impossible for the committee to do anything.

Mr. Wilson consulted the corporation counsel and was informed that a fine of $10 a day could be imposed after the time limit, and it was decided to enforce this. Mr. Meeker's work now under contract to the city is not yet completed, although he is doing all in his power to finish it at the earliest possible date.

ENTERTAINMENT MAKES MONEY FOR CHURCH

THIRD ANNUAL AFFAIR OF CONGREGATIONAL MUSIC COMMITTEE.

The music committee of the Congregational church, West Seventh street, gave its third annual entertainment last night at the church. The programme conisisted of Walter David, impersonator, in a three act comedy, "The Village Folks," written especially for him. He was assisted my Annie Louise David, harpist.

There was a large attendance, and the music committee looked pleased. The money realized is applied to the music fund. The audience was pleased, because it couldn't help being so with Mr. David on the platform. He is a favorite entertainer at the Congregational church. He always draws big audiences there and wins much applause. Last night was no exception to the rule.

"Village Folks" is in three acts. Comedy and pathos are blended in it, and Mr. David was admirably natural in both. He took the parts of all the characters, seven men and three women. He was particularly good in depicting the old men.

Mrs. David playad selections on her harp in every act. She is a player of unusual skill, and received much merited applause.

The music committee of the church is made up of Morris C. Van Arsdale, Frank A. Weekes and Willard Wadsworth. They were assisted last night by R. D. Rice, Warren Weseman and C. B. Morse, who acted as ushers.

Typos' Tribute to Mr. Hiscox.

Typographical Union, No. 399, of this city, met last night and nominated officers. William Smith and G. E. Mowen are named for president; William Bond and Roy Woolley for vice president; L. W. Niles and James Kermode for secretary-treasurer. Resolutions on the death of John Hiscox, manager of the Sabbath Recorder printery, were passed. The resolutions declare that he "had endeared himself to the members of the organization during his few years of acquaintance as an emphatic believer in all that is just and right."

Paper on Liberia.

At the quarterly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon in the church lecture room the devotional service was led by Mrs. Reuben Knox. The loss sustained by the society in the death of Miss Florence I. Marsh was dwelt upon, and resolutions of appreciation and sympathy were adopted. Miss Susan Rafferty read the main paper on "West Africa, (Liberia)," which was full of interest. Current Events were given by Mrs. Morris A. Zook.

Ferdinand Meyer Released.

Ferdinand Meyer, the borough young man accused by the local police of stealing a dozen or more bicycles, was arraigned before Judge Vail in the Union County Court yesterday. He was placed in the care of the probation officer and will retain his freedom as long as he behaves himself.

Tax Collections Good.

City Tax Collector R. L. Lee reports the collections during the past month to be far ahead of those a year ago for the same length of time. All taxes not paid on or before December 20 will be delinquent.

TOLD PARTY'S POSITION

G. O. P. State Chairman Explains to County Chairman Smith "What's What."

TO FULFILL PLEDGES

Republicans to See That There is Equal Taxation and That Limited Franchise Idea is Made Into Law.

Frank H. Smith, of this city, chairman of the Republican County Committee, has received from State Treasurer Frank O. Briggs, chairman of the State Committee, a letter defining the attitude of the Republican organization upon important matters of legislation, which were the subject of platforms upon which the party conducted its campaign last fall.

The letter has been addressed to all county chairmen in the State, and declares that the party stands for equal taxation and limited franchises. A copy of the communication follows:

"Dear Sir—In view of several inquiries I have had from Republicans in various parts of the State, concerning the party policy at the coming session of the Legislature, I deem it wise to communicate with each of the county charmen, so that there may be no misunderstanding of conditions among the party representatives.

"The attitude of our party has been so clearly defined that there is no cause for uncertainty or doubt. The last Republican State platform declared unequivocally for equal taxation of all property, corporate and personal. It specifically promised that second-class railroad property should be taxed at local rates, and last winter a law was enacted fulfilling this promise, under which the various municipalities of our State will receive annually, in round numbers, $500,000 more than theretofore received from that source. The platform also promised that the subject of main-stem railroad property should be carefully investigated, and that any inequalities of taxation, as between this class of property and the property of individuals, should be removed. That investigation has been made under authority of the Legislature.

"From my contact with members of the Legislature and prominent Republicans, I am satisfied that it is the unanimous sentiment of the whole party that this question will be settled by the enactment of such laws as will leave no doubt that the railroads will pay equally, with all other property, their fair share of the burdens of taxation. This will, undoubtedly, increase the amount of taxes payable on the main stem of the railroads, and will, correspondingly, benefit the people.

"Of course, it is for the Legislature to arrange for the collection and disposition of the revenues thus to be collected. From the present tax on main-stem property the State is enabled to pay a substantial share of the State school taxes. Under the prospective legislation the revenue from main-stem taxation should be sufficient to entirely relieve the people from the payment of any State school taxes.

"A number of the county platforms this fall declared in favor of limited franchises for public utility corporations. The demand for this legislation is unmistakable. There may be some discussion as to the details of the plan as between thickly-settled and sparsely-settled communities of the State, but it is evident that public sentiment is strongly opposed to permitting the voting away of the rights of future generations through the granting of franchises for an excessive term of years.

"The Republican party, as is its custom, will meet this and all other questions that arise in a spirit of courage and fairness, and with no other object than that of serving the people. The charge that there is any organized opposition within the party to these important issues, or any disposition to evade them, is entirely groundless. These are party principles, which it is the duty of Republicans to see enacted into law. Eleven years ago the people of this State entrusted its destinies to the Republican party in the interest of good government and reform. Since that hour our party has gained in popular favor, and met with such approval at the hands of the voters that today it is almost without opposition throughout the State. It will not fail to do its duty now, but will prove worthy of its past record, and meet to the full the just expectations of the people."

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The retrial of the damage suit of Mrs. Sarah Feller against the P. S. C., in the district court at New Brunswick, has been put off until December 18. The case, which ended in a dis agreement of the jury, in favor of the defense, a week ago, was to have been retried this week, but the sudden illness of one of the plaintiff's witnesses compelled her lawyer to ask for delay. The suit is for $300. The question to be decided by the jury is whether one of the defendant's cars ran into Mrs. Feller's wagon at Gallagher's Corner last July, or she backed the wagon into the car. At the first trial the defense was strong, as the disagreement of the jury indicates.

CONSECUTIVE SENTENCES.

Court Decides They Can Be Imposed In Jersey.

Trenton, Dec. 7.—By an opinion filed in the Supreme Court yesterday it was decided that New Jersey courts have the right to impose consecutive sentences.

The decision was made in the case of John Mahoney, of Hudson county, who petitioned the court for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that he was illegally being held in State prison for a five-year sentence after having served seven years on another indictment.

His counsel contended that the five-year sentence was contrary to the statute, which says all sentences must begin twent days after conviction. The Supreme Court holds that the power to impose consecutive sentences is not affected by the statute.

About fifty convicts who hoped for release by a favorable decision of the case are disappointed by the result.

Miss Hackett, of Atlantic City, has been visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Knox, of Washington avenue.

Mrs. Mackillop, of Somerset street, who has been in Scotland for some time visiting relatives, sailed last Saturday for home.

FOOTBALL CAPTAINS.

Pennsylvania and Chicago Elect Quarterbacks as Leaders.

Two of the leading football teams of the East and middle West yesterday elected quarterbacks as captains for next season. The University of Pennsylvania players chose Vincent Stevenson, quarterback for the past two years, to lead the eleven in 1906. Stevenson in 1904 was one of the best quarters in the East, but this season fell below his standard of a year ago.

The University of Chicago team, undisputed champions of the middle West, selected Walter Eckersall as captain for next fall. Eckersall, who is a quarterback, is considered the most sensational player in that position of recent years. He is an excellent field goal kicker and punter. At running back kicks and in quarterback runs he had few equals on the gridiron this year.

Miss Ada Marsh, of Franklin place, has gone to Europe for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Skillman, of Detroit, Mich., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Moon, of Grandview avenue.

Miss Jeannette Addis, of Orange place, is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Clarence Mundy, of Beverly, Mass.

AMUSEMENTS.

The All Star Vaudeville Company, which appears at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, numbers some of Broadway's favorites. Among them are Charles Dickson, Charles Wayne and Marie Jansen. The combined performance is one of the most entertaining seen in years and the company has been meeting with great success throughout the East.

Speaking of Ralph Stuart and his performance of "By Right of Sword," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday night, the New York Evening Journal said: "Every one in the American theatre last night felt like a matinee idol worshipper when the curtain fell on the last act of Ralph Stuart's performance of "By Right of Sword," for one of the most critical audiences that ever came to the house joined the ranks of his admirers. Thirty-four recalls is the exact number the star received. Stuart was admirably fitted for the role, that of a young American in Russia, who changed places in life with a coward, partly for the love of his sister and partly for adventure. Although the play fairly reeked with adventure, there was no swashbuckling or tiresome strutting. From the start Stuart was a reckless, unthinking, "devil-may-are" fellow, who performed his heroic deeds with wonderful activity. He had the appearance of Hackett, the charm of Faversham and the manliness of Bellew. His lines were smooth and easy and fairly bristling with humor, but it was in the strong scenes that he shone with particular brilliancy. After a duel with swords in the second act, which lasted for several minutes and looked almost too real, the audience had thorough confidence in the curly-headed young American. A fist fight in which real blows were given and received wound up the third."

You can almost imagine that you are inhaling the fragrance of the apple blossoms during some of the scenes in the charming play of "Uncle Josh Spruceby," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre Monday night, and, dear reader, we will let you into the secret, you are not imagining it, as it is reality. During the scene in question the theatre is secretly perfumed by the sprinkling of apple blossom perfume through the house. This may be thought a little costly, but nothing is too good for the patrons of the play. So say the managers, and they are the men who carry little hatchest, just the same as the immortal George W.

A tangeable story which the audience can follow, is what B. E. Forrester claims for his new musical comedy, "Bankers and Brokers," in which Yorke and Adams will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. This may be a new way of stating that the musical play has a plot, but nevertheless Mr. Forrester is quite anxious for those who did not credit his statement to witness the performance and prove it otherwise. George Totten Smith and Aaron Hoffman are responsible for the book and lyrics of this play, which should in itself be a guarantee of the quality of the work. Archie Gunn designed the costumes and the scenery has been painted by John Young. A number of novelties are promised and the management guarantees that there will be something doing all the time.

Broadhurst & Currie present Nat M. Wills and his specially selected company of players in the effervescent effusion of musical farces, "The Duke of Duluth," at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night. Of the production it can be said without fear of contradiction that it is one of the most sumptuous and gorgeous musical companies on tour, numbering sixty-five people, mostly girls whose grace and singing have won for them the highest praise from both the press and public everywhere the play has been presented this season. It is the "Eiffel Tower" of pure and wholesome comedy, original and in a class peculiar to its own. During the action of the piece twenty-seven vocal numbers are introduced, among them "There's One Sweetheart," "I'll Never Forget," "The Dream," "Nicodemus," "If My Man Could Do It for Me," "I Like Your Way," Mr. Wills' parodies and his topical songs, "G. O. P."

Discriminating theatregoers will be interested in the announcement of the forthcoming engagement of the distinguished comedian, Raymond Hitchcock, in his new play entitled "The Galloper," the most recent work of the equally distinguished writer, Richard Harding Davis, who needs no special introduction at this time. Since the day when Mr. Davis put forth his delightful newspaper story entitled "Gallagher," he has been distinctly in the literary limelight of the day and his numerous clientele who have followed his various succeeding delightful tales as a novelist and war-correspondent down to his recent success, "The Dictator," which has so well served Willie Collier both in this country and England will be anxious no doubt to witness his latest effort, "The Galloper," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre Thursday night, December 14. The scenes of "The Galloper" are laid in and about Athens, Greece, during the period of the late Graeco-Turkish War and deals principally with that picturesque rollicking and uncaring individual enshrined in the war correspondent. The title part will, of course, be in the hands of Mr. Hitchcock.

"Babes in Toyland," Hamlin and Mitchell's musical extravaganza, is meeting with prosperity at the Academy of Music, the big playhouse on Fourteenth street being nightly crowded with enthusiastic audiences. Victor Herbert's music in this fairy play is characteristic and is by many of his admirers considered to be the best work of his career, while Glen MacDonough has supplied an amusing tale, and it goes without saying that Julian Mitchell's arrangement of the figures and evolutions of the chorus is artistic and harmonious. Nothing better has been seen on the New York stage than the Toy March in the second act of "Babes in Toyland," in which each member of the company impersonates an automaton. The organization is an exceptionally large one, filling up the big stage of the Academy perfectly, and the principals are all clever in their various roles. Ignacio Martinetti is Alan, and proves himself a capable singer and dancer as well as a comedian of worth, while Katherine Bell, who is the other "babe," Jane, is dainty and sweet and has an infantile personality that is positively refreshing. Miss Albertine Bensen is Tom Tom, and sings the Toyland solo quite as well as it has ever been rendered. Others are Gus Pixley, Gene Luneska, Walter Schrode, Maud Campbell, E. P. Sullivan, John Ward, Robert Burns and James Wilson. The chorus is made up of a bevy of pretty girls who in addition to their charming appearances have voices which are heard to advantage in the different musical numbers. As "Babes in Toyland" is particularly attractive to children, the management is making a feature of the matinees which are given on Wednesdays, Saturdays and holidays.

Julian Mitchell has become famous as a producer of magnificent musical plays, but none that he has done in the past equals in harmony of pictures and novelty of features his latest piece, "Wonderland," at the Majestic theatre, New York. The house is filled every evening, and so freshly has it appealed to the discriminating theatregoer of the city and its environs that the boxes are all engaged for a long time in advance by the best known people in society. Miss Alice Roosevelt's recent visit to the Majestic has been followed by the appearance there of many leaders of the swell sets. There are several things in "Wonderland" that would, any one of them, be sufficent to make an ordinary musical comedy success. The "Nature Class" song is even more popular than "I Can't Do That Sum" was in a former success at this theatre. Miss Lotta Faust's "Pauline" makes nightly hits. Miss Bessie Wyon has another of her splendid boy parts. Miss Aimee Angeles justifies her reputation as the best dancer ever seen on Broadway. Then there is the laughing horse, which is the funniest animal performer ever contrived. The chorus is already famous for its beauty, and the fronts rows of seats are in great demand.

ISAAC F. LLOYD'S LUCK.

Mutual Life Officer Gets Back His Stolen Jewels.

Isaac F. Lloyd, second vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, has received from the New York customs authorities $20,000 worth of diamonds, jewelry and silver plate which was stolen from him about a year ago.

Some time ago a maid formerly in the Lloyds' employ was arrested in Chicago for selling jewelry and silverware that, she said, had been smuggled into the country. Her arrest led to her identification and to the identification of the jewelry and other loot as having belonged to the Lloyds.

Panic on Ship.

Havana, Dec. 7.—There was a panic today on board the French steamer La Champagne, which brought 800 immigrants from Spain. The vessel was taking coal on board, when she heeled over and a quantity of water entered an open port. Some one raised a cry that the vessel was sinking, and in the resulting panic over a hundred of the immigrants jumped overboard. It is reported that a baby was drowned. All the other frightened passengers were saved, but a number of them were injured.

ELIZABETH LIBRARY A MYTH.

Alderman Nugent Makes Statement in Regard to New Building.

Elizabeth, Dec. 7.—The financial condition of Elizabeth's public library was the subject of discussion Monday night at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen. A resolution was offered by Alderman Bate, calling the attention of the board to the slender means of support which the library had, and asking the finance committee if, in its judgment, a sum of money could not be annually appropriated to help along so deserving an institution. In a preamble to the resolution it was stated that a prominent citizent, Representative Charles N. Fowler, had some years ago offered to furnish the city with a fine building for a public library, but the proposition was not accepted because it would entail an expense of several thousand dollars on the taxpayers to maintain such a structure, and the city financially could not afford it.

Alderman Nugent, of the finance committee, said it was news to him that any citizen was willing to build a library building for the city. All he ever heard of the subject was that on certain occasions this matter was aired in the newspapers, and he had seen a set of plans exhibited in the window of a store on Broad street, which purported to be a description of a proposed public library building. That was as far as the project had ever gone, Alderman Nugent said, and he plainly intimated that the library building was in his opinion a myth.

The preamble was eliminated, with Alderman Bate's consent, and the resolution then passed.

Paris, Dec. 7.—It is learned that the Ambassadors of the Powers yesterday considered the Sultan's latest proposals regarding Macedonia. The fact appears to be that the matter is approaching a satisfactory ending.

McKinley Club's New Officers.

There being no contest, the attendance at the annual election of the McKinley Club, in Elizabeth, held Monday night, was not very large. Charles A. Trimble received the full vote for the presidency. Trimble; first vice president, Everard K. Tucker; second vice president, George Rowland; secretary, Harry C. Hurt; board of governors, George P. Matthews (two years), Henry H. Drake (two years), S. Merchant Meeker (one year); auditing committee, Raymond C. Neefus, C. W. Hoffacker and Richard F. Henry.

Heart of Gold for Roosevelt.

Washington, Dec. 7.—A gold heart was presented yesterday to President Roosevelt in behalf of the people of Colorado by Representative Robert Bonynge, of Denver. The heart was enclosed in a case, inscribed "From the heart of the Rocy Mountains, this symbol of pure Colorado gold is sent by men, women and children, rich and poor sharing alike, to Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, whose great heart brought peace to the people of Japan and Russia, Thanksgiving Day, 1905, A. D." Among the subscriptions to pay for the gift were 8,000 pennies. President Roosevelt expressed his pleasure and sent his thanks to the donors.

MURDERER LONG HAS PLENTY OF NERVE

CONDEMNED MURDERER CHEERFUL DESPITE IMPENDING DOOM.

Charles Long, who is under sentence to hang on January 12 for the murder of Matthew Cunningham, at Trenton, has a surprising amount of nerve, considering that he stands in the shadow of the noose.

Sheriff Wilbur visited the jail yesterday on his daily tour of inspection, and stopped at Long's cell to speak to him.

He asked the prisoner how he was feeling and Long said in a cheery voice, "I am feeling all right, sheriff."

Sheriff Wilbur asked him if he could do anything for the prisoner and the latter asked for medicine and added that he would also like to wash his shirts. Sheriff Wilbur told him that his requests would be granted.

When the sheriff left he said to Long, "Keep a stiff upper lip," and the prisoner replied, "I surely will."

Long has not lost hope and perhaps his hopes account for the wonderful nerve displayed by him. He is under surveillance all the time, but he always greets visitors with a smile and says that his treatment is O. K.

Long is daily visited by his spiritual adviser, Rev. I. W. L. Roundtree, and seems to take a deep interest in religious matters.

He has read a number of books on religious subjects.

FOR "OLD IRONSIDES."

Bonaparte's Suggestion Rouses New Englanders to Protest.

Boston, Dec. 7.—Boston is grieving over Secretary Bonaparte's suggestion in his annual report that the old warship Constitution might be used as a target. Opinions are practically unanimous that Secretary Bonaparte is not at all in touch with the feeling of New England toward the historic frigate.

Hon. Judge D. Long, former Secretary of the Navy, said:

"I am surprised that he exhibits so much feeling against 'Old Ironsides.' The Constitution has a national significance. So long as a plank remains it ought to be held in reverence and preserved. Mr. Bonaparte can have no idea how many people visit it, and what a stimulus it is in patriotic education. I sincerely trust that he may modify his views."

President Eliot, of Harvard, said: "Let the Constitution stay where she is and as she is."

Charles Francis Adams said: "The report strikes me very unfavorably indeed. It is simply brutal. I am astonished at such a thing."

AFTER PATENT MEDICINES.

Whiskey Tax Ordered on Various "Compounds."

John W. Yerkes, commissioner of internal revenue, has issued a circular commanding his deputies to collect from all druggists and storekeepers special whiskel tax on the following patent medicines: Atwood's La Grippe Specific, Cuban Gingerie, De Witt's Stomach Bitters, Du Bouvier's Meat and Malt, Duffy's Malt Whiskey, Gilbert's Rejuvenating Iron and Herb Juice, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, Kudros, Peruna, Rockcandy Cough Cure.

This action of the commissioner will be followed later by another list of patent medicines suspected of containing alcohol, and its in pursuance of a circular to all collectors of internal revenue.

Girl Thief Sent to a Home.

Perth Amboy, Dec. 7.—Detective J. A. Huff reached this city last night from Biddeford, Me., with Celia Tarbox in custody. The girl this morning pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny, admitting that she stole from S. R. Farrington about $800 worth of clothing and jewelry. Almost every article taken was recovered. She had gone to her home in Biddeford and had carefully taken everything with her. She was committed to the county jail today, but, at Mr. Farrington's request, she was taken at once before Judge Strong to be sent to the Industrial Home at Trenton.

Killed in North River Tunnel.

New York, Dec. 7.—By the fall of an elevator in the tunnel shaft at the foot of Morton street, Arthur R. Chait, of Jersey City, an engineer in the North River tunnel, was instantly killed yesterday. The man, with three others, was descending in the elevator when the ring connecting the cable to a cross beam broke and the car fell. On the elevator were fifteen bags of cement. Chait was thrown out of the car before it struck bottom and landed on his head. The other workmen held to the car. They fell on the cement and were not injured.

Black Hand Murder.

Greenwich, Conn., Dec. 7.—John Salvatore, an Italian employed on C. W. Post's new mansion, was set upon last night by an agent of the Black Hand, it is believed, and killed. The assassin plunged a stiletto into Salvatore's groin without a word of warning, severing the femoroid artery. He bled to death in a few minutes. One of Salvatore's companions, trying to defend him, was also stabbed, but will live.

What's the use of being a political boss since the railroads have put an end to the free pass graft?

Secretary of the Treasury wants an elastic currency. For method of getting easy money he should consult life insurance officers.

Minister in a Pennsylvania hamlet says all the place needs to make it abreast of the times are good roads, good water and good drainage. Good citizenship would bring all these things.

Republican State Chairman Briggs has addressed a letter to the various county chairmen defining the policy of the party on important issues. Little use of holding a convention when you have such an obliging man at the head of the State committee.

Senator Tillman has some "'orrid habits." Only yesterday he wanted Congress to learn whether the big bank presidents have contributed to the National campaign funds. Doesn't he know that public confidence in men of exalted trust is already too badly shattered?

COMPANY MUST PAY POLICY.

Decision of Court of Errors and Appeals Sustained.

Trenton, Dec. 7.—Litigation in the well known insurance suit in which heirs of the late Dr. Theodore Y. Kinne, of Paterson, sought to recover $9,951 from the Security Mutual Life Insurance Company, has been concluded by an opinion filed in the Court of Errors and Appeals by Judge Vroom, in which the judgment of the Passaic Circuit Court is sustained.

Dr. Kinne was in arrears in his premiums of a $10,000 policy at the time of his death. The policy was declared forfeited by the company because Dr. Kinne had failed to make payments on a note given in payment for premiums amounting to $431.76. The complainants contended that acceptance of a renewal of the note was a waiver of the forfeiture provided in the policy.

Dr. Kinne died three weeks after the note was renewed. The opinion of Judge Vroom sustains the contention of the complainants. In the litigation John W. Griggs was for the complainants and Eugene Emley for the defendants.

TRAINMAN'S LEG CUT OFF.

Richard Purcell, of Elizabeth, Perhaps Fatally Injured.

Elizabeth, Dec. 7.—Richard Purcell, of 75 Fulton street, Elizabethport, a Central Railroad trainman, while at work on a drill engine that was moving cars from a side track near the racetrack on the salt meadows, yesterday, caught his foot in an open switch, and, being unable to extricate himself, was struck by a car that had been shunted by the engine. He was run over and perhaps fatally injured.

The car passed over his right leg, severing it just below the knee. His clothing caught on an iron bolt that projected from the car and he was dragged fifty feet over the ties. He was badly cut about the face and may be internally injured. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital in Newark.

PROTEST AGAINST THE NEW TIME TABLE

TRENTON AND OTHER PLACES NOT PLEASED WITH SCHEDULE.

All along the line of the Philadelphia and Reading and Jersey Central roads, between New York and Philadelphia, a loud howl is going up over the new timetable, which went into effect on Monday. A particularly hard kick is being made by the residents of Trenton, Trenton Junction, Pennington, Bell Meade, Hopewell and other towns on the Philadelphia and Reading division because of the withdrawal of trains.

One train from Philadelphia to Trenton has been withdrawn, and three trains from Trenton to New York have been discarded. Six express trains which, up to Monday, stopped at Trenton Junction on their way from New York to Philadelphia, no longer do so. Only two of these trains have been substituted with new ones on the schedule, leaving a net loss of four trains from New York to Trenton Junction and Trenton. Thus Trenton has lost seven trains a day out of its New York service.

Pennington, which is a large and prosperous town, has also been hard hit by the new schedule. The 3 p. m. express from Liberty street, New York, no longer stops at Pennington. They now have no train until 5 p. m., unless they tumble out at Bound Brook, and wait fifteen or twenty minutes for a local from there to Pennington. Four of the morning trains, which until Monday stopped at Pennington on their way to New York, no longer do so.

The residents of Trenton, Pennington and the other towns this side also allege that the Reading so arranged its express and passenger train service as to drive the residents along the line to Philadelphia to do their shopping instead of to New York.

Meanwhile, the Reading is making a hard drive at the Pennsylvania Railroad to get from the latter the through passenger traffic between New York and Philadelphia. New express trains have been added to the Reading, and many of the former stops of the expresses, at Pennington, Trenton Junction, and elsewhere, have been cut out.

THE FORUM.

Counsel Explains Bond Case.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Regarding the published accounts in several papers, not your paper, about the case of Roland M. Smythe vs. the Inhabitants of the Township of New Providence, in the U. S. Circuit Court, which are untrue in fact, I desire to give you a brief statement of the facts. The suit was commenced on the fourth of May, Nineteen Hundred and Four, and not thirty years ago; and there certainly has been no final termination of the suit and the bonds have not been declared worthless.

At the trial there was one signature on the bonds which could not be proven by the witnesses then in the court room to the satisfaction of the court over Mr. McCarter's objection, but that such signature was the genuine signature and in the handwriting of the person it purported to be in there is no room for argument, as I have settled on fourteen of the bonds with the Township of New Providence, and when they settled they examined the signatures carefully and pronounced them to be all right; and I might add that I had an offer in this case from the same parties of a settlement before suit was brought, and the offer of settlement was made after the examination of the bonds in question in this suit, which offer I refused to accept.

The defense of the Township was a purely technical one, and as the defendants were so technical in every respect, and the court would not admit the bonds over Mr. McCarter's objection, it was deemed advisable by the plaintiff to take a voluntary nonsuit, which means that he withdrew his cause of action Suit will be commenced again, and as the United States Supreme Court has settled this question in other cases there is not much chance for the Township to escape the liability of these bonds. The present case, if necessary, will be carried to that court.

Respectfully,
ISAAC P. RUNYON.

TREASURER GETS DEPUTY.

S. Kensil Wildrick Is Appointed by the Governor.

At the request of State Treasurer Frank O. Briggs yesterday Governor Stokes issued to S. Kensil Wildrick, chief clerk in the State treasurer's office, a commission as deputy State treasurer, with powers similar in all things to those of the State treasurer in his absence.

Mr. Briggs purposes to be away for the balance of the present month and it became necessary for some one to have authority to sign checks and do the work that the treasurer or his authorized deputy can only do under the law.

A State statute provides for the office of deputy State treasurer, but Mr. Wildrick is the first one to fill this office for many years.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM'S RECORD FOR SEASON

ONLY ONE TOUCHDOWN MADE BY OPPONENTS—UNDEFEATED.

The football team of the Plainfield High School has a record this year of which it may be proud, and the eleven rightfully claims the Union county championship, not having lost a game. The team averages about 140 pounds. Twelve games were played, and only once was the P. H. S. goal line crossed. The eleven scored 192 points to its opponents' 19. Rutgers Prep. team was the one that crossed the local team's goal line, and then only after the hardest struggle.

The eleven enjoys another distinction, that of having won the city championship for the first time in ten years, defeating Leal's School team decisively in two games, the first by a score of 23 to 0, and the second by a score of 11 to 0. The other great achievement of the season was the defeat of Rutgers Prep., for the first time since these teams have been rivals. The score was 12 to 11. Rutgers Prep. outweighed the local team forty pounds to the man and the victory was one of which P. H. S. justly feels proud.

Among the teams P. H. S. defeated were Leal's School, North Plainfield High School, Westfield, Cranford and Somerville High Schools. William Douglas was captain, Lindsay coach, and Joseph Gavett, manager, and Hudson Burr, assistant manager. The team was comprised of the following players: Mahaffey, right end; Todd, left tackle; Douglas, right halfback and captain; Martin, sub.; Jones, left end; Stewart Freeman, fullback; Lyness, left half; Gideon Fountain, left guard; Leggett, center; Osgood, right guard; Guyon Fountain, sub.; Rittenhouse, right tackle; Howard Freeman, sub.; Flanders, quarterback.

Attorney General's Opinion Affects Borough Officials.

Trenton, Dec. 7.—Secretary of State Samuel D. Dickinson received an opinion from Attorney General McCarter yesterday that will be pleasing to borough officials all over the State who were elected last fall, but who failed to take the oath of office within ten days after election as required by the eighth section of the borough act of 1897.

Under the provisions of the act of 1905 the terms of these officers are to begin at noon on January 1, following the election. The question was directly raised by Dr. Charles B. Smith, who was elected Mayor of the borough of Washington, Warren county, last month, and who, with two members of the Council, failed to be sworn in as provided by the act of 1897. Colonel Dickinson referred the letter to the attorney general, who rendered the opinion.

ASKS COLBY TO NAME JUDGE.

Essex Senator-elect Will Consult with Constituents First.

Trenton, Dec. 7.—Senator-elect Everett Colby had a conference with Governor Stokes yesterday in reference to the selection of a successor to Alfred F. Skinner, who has resigned as judge of the Essex Common Pleas Court. The Governor asked the Essex man to suggest a lawyer for the place, and Mr. Colby replied that he desired to first consult with some of his constituents and consider the matter further. Mr. Colby expressed no preference for any one of the men who have been mentioned in connection with the judgeship.

The Governor and the new Essex Senator then talked over the latter's forthcoming report as chairman of the commission appointed by the last Legislature to inquire into the subject of lobbyists at the State House. Mr. Colby said he would have his report ready when the Legislature met.

The Governor expressed the opinion that something should be done to rid the State House of the obnoxious feature of lobbying and gave Mr. Colby to understand he would aid him in his work in that direction.

SHAFTER'S CLOSE CALL.

Stone Hurled Through Window by Which He Was Sitting.

San Francisco Dec. 7.—While Gen. William R. Shafter was sitting in a Pullman car of a Santa Fe train at Bakersfield Monday the window opposite him was broken. A report was circulated that at attempt had been made to kill Gen. Shafter, but he declared the missile was not a bullet, but a stone.

"I was certain a shot had been fired," said Gen. Shafter, "but subsequently proved otherwise. I never heard a window smash like that before. I am certain no harm to me was intended, but that some miscreant hurled a stone at the car window.

From "The Inland Printer," Aug. '04:
Tasteful composition has a large share in the production of the specimens although ink and paper have done their share, the typography has given the stamp of distinction to nearly every piece. A thorough appreciation of the suitability of certain type-faces to different kinds of printing has been the chief factor in producing this good work. Refers to Stafford, Printer

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Dec. 10.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—The city of God.—Rev. xxii, 1-5.

The character of life in the future is a subject that has a deep interest for every one who sincerely believes in a future existence, and the evidences in its favor are so many and so strong that no one should doubt it. God has fully recognized this attitude of man toward the future and has given us many revelations concerning the future in the Bible. Moreover, the conditions of the future are described in a way that we can understand them, and we may also believe that our life here is similar in many respects to the future life, with the exception that while sin has made earthly life imperfect there will be no imperfection in the heavenly life. As an illustration of the fact that heavenly things are intelligibly described we find heaven itself symbolized as a home, a country and a city. Such descriptions are readily understood. We know what a city is, and when heaven is described as the city of God we have some conception of what it will be and are filled with longings to make it our eternal abode.

The city of God is the dwelling place of God, of his Son, the angels and the redeemed of earth. We often hear the question, "Where is heaven?" and can only answer, It is where God dwells. To the dying repentant thief Jesus said, "Today shalt thou be with Me in paradise." Heaven is where Christ is, and Christ is with God. The exact locality is unknown. The earth transformed may be the final abode of God and His people. But, wherever it is, it is the city of God, the place where God dwells, and if we are the faithful children of God in this life it will also be our eternal home. More than this we do not need to know, and more than this God in His wisdom has not seen fit to reveal. Being satisfied with this, we should make it the supreme business of life here to make it our abiding place in the future regardless of its actual locality.

The city of God is a most attractive city. The descriptions of it in the Bible may be figurative and typical, but if they fall short in portraying it as it actually is the lack is on the side of incompleteness rather than of exaggeration. The type is inferior to the reality. The picture is underdrawn rather than overdrawn, for "eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him." In the city of God there shall be no impurities, no unfruitfulness, "no more curse," for there shall be no sin. "There shall be no night there, and they need no candle, neither light of the sun, for the Lord God giveth them light, and they shall reign forever and ever." We shall see Him face to face, and His name shall be in our foreheads. We shall be everlastingly saved and redeemed. If such descriptions are short of the reality, what must the reality be? Can you afford to lose the opportunity of becoming an inhabitant of the city of God?

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. xlvi, 1-11; Ezek. xlvii, 1-12; John xiv, 1-3; I Cor. ii, 9; Phil. iii, 20, 21; Heb. xi, 8-16; xii, 18-29; I Pet. i, 3-9; Rev. xxi, 1-4, 10-27.

Thoughtful For Youth Today.

Life is glorious. It is good to be young today. Let us not be behind our times. Let us know our country and study her welfare. Let us believe in the church and eagerly uphold her honor and her labors. And while we ask the church to be thoughtful for the youth today we may not forget that even tomorrow we shall be that older membership charged to turn and help on those that will follow us.—Von Ogden Vogt.

A Pen Point Thought.

No society is doing its whole duty that is not a stepping stone to full membership in the church of Christ.—Francis E. Clark.

At Baltimore.

This witty bit of verse, an epitome of the Baltimore convention by Amos R. Wells, was read at the dinner given to the Baltimore committee by the United society trustees:

Not a crank and not a bore
Worked his grind at Baltimore.

Showers of rain and blessings pour
Easily at Baltimore.

No mosquitoes dive for gore
In the halls of Baltimore.

Lovely ladies by the score
Fluster hearts at Baltimore.

Beautiful the Chesapeake shore
And the bay at Baltimore.

True and loyal to the core
Is C. E. at Baltimore.

Not the angels' voices soar
Sweeter than at Baltimore.

Till the sounds of earth are o'er
No more choirs like Baltimore.

Till I die and travel lower,
No more heat like Baltimore.

Till I be a second Noah,
No more rain like Baltimore.

Crabs and terrapin galore
Tickled tongues at Baltimore.

Streets amazing to explore
In the maze of Baltimore.

Everywhere an open door
In men's hearts at Baltimore.

Optimism to the core
Everywhere at Baltimore.

Youth and merriment galore
And good cheer at Baltimore.

Best of all this bounteous store,
Atwood's band at Baltimore.

Hail in one applauding roar
Thy committee, Baltimore.

When my auburn hair is hoar
I'll remember Baltimore.

And we will exclaim: "Encore!
We'll come again to Baltimore!"

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old.

In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible ones youthful appearance.

It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair.

The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use

Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing as well as Dandruff cure.

Accept no substitute—there is none.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Dec. 10: "The City of God"—Rev. xxii, 1-5.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Our race began its earthly course in a garden and ends in a city. It began in social isolation and closes in complex society of highest development.

In all the thinking the race has done regarding the future no literature in any language has preserved anything more soberly real, more poetically thrilling, than this insight of the Apostle John into the coming world.

It scarcely need be said that the deep truth in this passage has to do with the life of men more than with the changes of the physical world. Pearl gates as a spiritual figure are wondrously valuable and beautiful, but as a mere material thing would give too much care for keeping them clean. And far better material for traffic purposes can be found than pavements of gold. But no better illustration of the worth of righteousness can be found than these same expressions of the sacred book. How dear and precious they have become to us by familiarity and association, and how restful they are to the weary soul when, pressed and hungry in the strife of earth, we long for a land of pure delight!

Did you ever sit down and carefully think over this selection item by item? If not, then do so now.

A river of pure water—how much that means! Water of life! It is not stagnant. It is clear, cool, sparkling, refreshing. What will not that mean to me! Soul thirst and weariness satisfied, the aches of heart, the sore disappointments and spirit wounds all cured!

Coming out of the throne, the throne of God; never failing source of all that is desirable; sure as God's nature, enduring as His eternity; part of His own divine satisfaction given for me. We are partakers of the same nature and share in the same enjoyments.

Trees are there—not far away, but in the street and bordering it—trees for shade, trees for fruit. How much that means here on earth! How much more it must mean in heaven—enough for all soul cravings and all soul capacities; beauty as well as benefit in growth; healing trees there, for all sickness must be banished in our new home of the soul.

No curse there. What a city that will be—no slums, no night scenes, no dark side, no heartrending crimes and poverty, no misery shrinking from publicity, no rottenness of rulership, no greed, no grime, no pollution! God's throne is there, the throne of the Lamb. How much that will mean to us who have grown heartsick and homesick for peace and purity! His servants shall serve Him. Blessed privilege! No fear of men and no dread of consequences if we do the right thing. Blessed relief and consolation, freedom to be good and do justly.

See His face. We have longed for that. The child away from home, at school or in the far city at work, when the night comes and the homesickness will steal over one in spite of all that can be done, then, as the great tears overflow, how the heart longs for the sight of mother's face, just to see her a little hour! Oh, for the sight of my Father's face to give me courage in the hard struggle of life!

Over all of us there comes an unutterable, almost an unbearable, longing for the sight of faces which have faded from our sight and can no longer greet us evermore on this earth. What would we not give just for one little momentary glimpse of those features which appear to us only in infrequent dreams! Stronger than all this yearning of heart comes the soul cry for the face of my God, my Saviour. I shall see Him, and I shall be satisfied.

Bishop Gilbert Haven is reported to have said when nearing his end, "The first thing I want to do when I get to heaven is to see Jesus and fall at His feet and worship Him, and then I want to find her," mentioning the name of the loved wife who had preceded him there many years, "and then to rest."

That expresses it all. We shall reign forever and ever.

Faith's Real Victory.

Faith's real office and faith's real victory is in trusting the helm to Jesus in the fogs and through the dark hours. Everybody can trust God in the sunshine and over smooth water. It is easy to commit our way to the Lord when that way is as clear as the noonday. Faith's inspiring command is: Commit the helm to the Pilot when you cannot see your hand before your face, when the clouds have extinguished every star and no lighthouse of human guidance is in sight. Jesus can see in the dark if we cannot. That is a cheering truth to many a minister who is laboring under numerous discouragements. Take the Pilot on board, brother. Call all hands in the church to the oars, commit the helm to Him, and may the Holy Spirit send you "favoring gales" of blessing. The winds and the waves obey the Son of God. He who has promised, "Lo, I am with you alway," never forgets His disciples now any more than He forgot His disciples on that tempestuous night when He came to them walking on the billows. John Newton recalled his own experiences as a sailor when he wrote the cheering lines:

By prayer let me wrestle,
And [illegible]
With Christ in the [illegible]
I smile at the storm.

—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D.

Patience.

"Let patience have her perfect work" and bring forth celestial fruits. Trust God to weave your little thread into a web, though the pattern show not yet. —George MacDonald.

The Iron Brigade

A STORY OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC

By GEN. CHARLES KING

Author of "Norman Holt," "The Colonel's Daughter," "Fort Frayne," Etc.

Copyright, 1902, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

One moment of fluttering heartbeat—of latent, still smoldering rebellion, then at last—surrender. Slowly and with down-cast eyes the queenly head was raised. One swift look into his glowing face, and the white arms stole about his neck; the rosy mouth uplifted and, meeting the fervent pressure of those bearded, eager lips, in its own sweet way, gave answer.

L'ENVOI.

Three years later, in the early spring of '68, we were steaming back through Mississippi sound, en route for New Orleans by way of the Rigolets. It was an exquisite morning, and the land breeze was laden with the fragrance of the magnolias and soft with the balsam of the southern pine. The steamer darted swiftly through the placid blue waters, bearing among other passengers a little party of officers and ladies, returning from a brief visit to Mobile. Carver was there, captain and brevet lieutenant colonel in the regular service, and still with Hancock, who was then commanding the Department of the Gulf. Benton was there, holding like rank with his old friend of the staff; and with Benton, seated on the upper deck, was Rosalie, looking fondly into his face at times, then again, with earnest interest, on another pair, talking in low tones together at the bows. It had been a solemn pilgrimage, this mission to Mobile. They had gone thither to lay away all that was mortal of Paul Ladue, transferred from the rocky banks of the little stream in far-away Pennsylvania to the shady nook where, all night long in the moonlight, the mocking bird sang in this land of his boyhood and his devoted love. Gathered about his final resting place were few indeed of his kith and kin, but the tempered sunshine fell on fair women and brave men of both north and south—the blue and the gray—all enmity stilled, please God, forever. And of those who stood with tear-dimmed eyes, as a bugler of the Eleventh Alabama sounded the soldier's lullaby over the fresh-heaped mound, Elinor Benton had laid a little spray of lilies of the valley on the lowering casket. It was a gray-sleeved arm, for the old uniform was seen on one or two veterans, that drew her gently away and led her, bowed and reverent, from the burial of her earliest love. It was the same arm on which she was leaning now, as she stood gazing down upon the dancing waters under the forefoot, and it was on these two, Elinor and brother Jack, that Queen Rosalie looked with brimming eyes; then, questioning, up into her stalwart husband's face.

"DOES THIS LOOK LIKE IT?"

But for whom did not Queen Rosalie scheme and plan? Was it not she who, when the Pelhams had to part with old Pyramus, sold a precious ring to buy him? Was it not she who found place after place among the officers for young Pomp, well nigh spoiled in the exaltation of being his own master? Was it not she who pleaded for Hector, faithful to her husband through many scenes, yet sometimes lax in duty through the fascinations of New Orleans? The old home at Charlottesville had gone to other hands after the doctor's peaceful death in '66. Jack had previously settled down to hard work in New Orleans and, like many another manful young Southron, was winning his own way in the paths of peace. Life seemed vested with new interest to him, however, since the coming, early in the winter, of Aunt Elinor to stand sponsor on a very interesting occasion, and if Rosalie Benton had a wish still ungratified it was one that bade fair soon to be numbered with others of the past. Her soldier Fred was proud and happy in his profession, a success, despite all prophesies of Stanton to the contrary and all pleadings of the squire to quit and learn the law. Her baby boy had no peer in army circles in the south. Her brother, after one serious illness during the yellow fever the previous autumn, was in the best of health and the height of hope and spirits. Always a frequent visitor at their bright army home at the old barracks, he had become practically a day boarder as he expressed it, since the advent of Aunt Elinor. The war, that left its scars on so many a soldier frame, seemed to have bequeathed no bitterness to the men who battled in the field. They that fought so manfully in the smoke-shrouded ranks, either blue or gray, had no stomach for the post-bellum warfare waged in congress and convention by unterrified orators of the McKinnon type—men so seldom heard of on the fighting line that only when the war was over did we begin to realize the valorous zeal that burned unquenchable in their breasts. McKinnon had gone no more to the old home city. He scored brilliantly a while in Georgia after the war—prominent in the bureau of freedmen, refugees and abandoned lands—then went to congress on the carpet-bag ticket, but only for a term. We heard of him in Mexico in '69, head of some colonization scheme that soon dwindled into smoke, then lost track of him entirely.

As for the old brigade, the few remaining forms are bent; the beards are thinned and grizzled; the old and honored leaders have almost all been gathered to their fathers; only one or two of those that, rising with it, won the star of command, still move and have their being. But as year follows year, the few survivors gather to tell again the tales of Gainesville, Gettysburg and the awful wilderness, and to crown with love and loyalty the names of those that made them and led and lived with them through all that heroic struggle for national life, there rings ever a sentiment second only to the faith and fealty they owe the flag—boundless is their belief in the men that wore the blue; boundless, also, is their soldier admiration for the men that wore the gray.

[THE END.]

NOT SO EASILY FOOLED.

German Colonel Who Had a Keen Eye and Was Not Slow of Wit.

The noted soldier and historian, Theodore Ayrault Dodge; was educated in Berlin, and at a dinner party, apropos of German military discipline, he once said:

"The German soldier must never appear in public except in uniform. Even when he is on furlough he must not, under any circumstances wear civilian dress.

"Well, Swartz, a young lieutenant of cavalry, during my residence in Berlin, was one day engaged in some adventure or other, and put on, to disguise himself, a suit of black cloth. Dressed in this suit he was passing down an unfrequented street, when he came face to face with his colonel.

"Detected in so grave a misdemeanor, Swartz proved himself the possessor of a resourceful mind. He said to the colonel, in a bass voice different from his own:

"'Can you tell me, sir, where Lieutenant Swartz lives? I am his brother from the country, and I have come to pay him a visit.'

"The colonel readily and politely gave the required information and passed on.

"The lieutenant congratulated himself on his escape. He hurried home and put on his uniform. Duty late that afternoon called him before the colonel again. He saluted with confidence. The colonel regarded him oddly.

"'Lieutenant Swartz,' he said, 'I wish you'd tell your brother from the country that, if he pays you another visit, I'll put him in close confinement for ten days.'"

A Voice in the Wilderness.

Up among the rocks of a desolate region in Montenegro is a little church, built out of two caverns in the form of a cross, and presided over by a hermit priest, who prays there for his simple people and comforts them in their sorrows. To a recent English visitor, Miss Mary Durham, this man said, as he took leave of her:

"It is a wild spot. It is lonely, and a little dangerous. One must not cross the plain after dark, for there are bad men who rob and kill. Yonder is Albania. It is easy for them to come across. Even last night there were armed men. They came up here and threatened me with guns."

"And what did you do?"

"I stood here," he answered, simply, "and I cried to them, 'The Lord God has said, "Thou shalt not kill!"' Then," he added, in a matter-of-fact manner, "they went away."—Youth's Companion.

WORK AS DONE BY THE STATE COUNSEL

ATTORNEY-GENERAL SUBMITS AN INTERESTING REPORT TO GOV. STOKES.

Trenton, Dec. 7.—Attorney General Robert H. McCarter has revived a practice which has not been followed for a number of years in his office by submitting to Governor Stokes a report outlining the work done by the office during the last year. Most of the State departments make annual reports by law, but the office of the attorney general, like that of the clerk of Chancery and the clerk of the Supreme Court, are exceptions. The report shows that a vast amount of work has been done by the office, as is indicated by the following extracts from the report:

"While for the past few years it has not been customary for this department to make a report to the Governor, I have deemed it proper to revive the practice, in order that you may hereby become appraised of the extent and variety of the work which has been done in the office. No effort will be made to detail the ordinary labors of the department, but it may properly be noted that 186 opinions to various departments and State officials were rendered during the year. The department has also during the year prepared many requisitions for the commissioners of the Rahway Reformatory for the return of escaped prisoners or prisoners who have broken the conditions of their parole.

"All the contracts for new buildings erected by the various State institutions, together with contracts for heating, lighting and furnishing, have been prepared in this department. All proceedings of municipalities, other than cities, leading up to the issue of school bonds are examined and passed upon by the department, and number about 100 a year. Likewise all proceedings leading up to the issue of bonds proposed to be purchased by the trustees for the support of public schools, as an investment for the school fund, are examined and passed upon.

"The entire charge of collection of penalties and the enforcement of ordinances for or on behalf of the different boards of the State, such as the Board of Health, Board of Pharmacy, Fish and Game Commission, State Board of Tenement House Commissioners and the Commissioner of Labor, has been in this department, and it is believed that this plan is working much more satisfactorily than the old system of having private counsel for each board. So, too, the State Board of Riparian Commissioners no longer employ private counsel, but all their legal work is attended to by this office.

"The comptroller of the treasury during the month of February last transmitted to this department a list containing the names of 3,560 corporations in default in the payment of their franchise taxes for the year 1904. Of these, some already had been proceeded against by the attorney general, and 365 were under injunction for non-payment of the tax for the previous year. Proceedings against 1,352 corporations were commenced during the year in the Court of Chancery for injunctions to restrain them from the exercise of their franchises or the transaction of business. In many cases, the amount due for taxes being very small, letters were addressed to the delinquent corporations notifying them of the amount due, resulting in the payment of many items. In the remaining cases the department was either unable to procure service or had no address or no reachable address. The total sum collected from the above source was $203,718.33.

"This sum is composed as follows: Taxes, $176,536.44; interest collected with taxes, $22,278.22; taxed costs on proceedings in Chancery, $4,609.38; total, $203,434.64; interest allowed by bank on monthly deposits, $293.69; total, $203,718.33.

"From January 1 to October 31, 1905, twelve companies whose charters had been revoked for failure to pay taxes were reinstated. In each case the action was taken by the Governor upon recommendation of the attorney general."

The total amount collected for the State through the office of the attorney general was $259,953.46. In addition to the amount collected from miscellaneous corporations, as above indicated, $27,000 was received from the Guffey petroleum grant in a suit to oust the company from a wharf erected on riparian lands in the North River at Bayonne. The settlement was made before the case came to trial by the purchase of a grant from the riparian commissioners of the property on which the wharf was situated. Other amounts collected were penalties for violations of the fish and game laws, child labor laws, health laws, pharmacy laws and tenement house laws.

The report also comments upon the more important suits conducted by the attorney general's office for the State. Chief among these is the Delaware boundary suit, which resulted in the appointment of a joint commission by New Jersey and Delaware, and over which litigation had been pending for nearly thirty years.

OBJECTIONS MADE TO SEWER EXTENSION

ONE IS THAT IMPROVEMENT WILL BE CONFINED IN AREA.

Many persons believe that because the Common Council at the meeting Monday night passed the proposed sewer extension ordinance on first and second readings it means that the city will spend $55,000, the estimated cost of improvement. This is not altogether so. Plans, specifications and other details have been prepared with the intention of extending the sanitary sewer system in portions of the city not possible to sewer by gravity. An ordinance was prepared and read for information at the November meeting of the Common Council.

The proposed improvement does not cover the entire part of the city not possible to sewer by gravity, and this, to many persons, is the objectionable feature of the proposition. There are many residents who cannot now get into the sewer and they have to depend on cesspools. They think that the city should provide sewers in their section and now that it is proposed to expend a large sum of money, they believe the extension should be made to include all of the built up sections. According to the proposed extension, three pumping stations will be necessary, and this is the most expensive feature. Later on, as the additional extensions are made, other stations will have to be installed. With the new beds at the sewer farm and other improvements there, it will be possible to care for a large increase in the amount of sewerage. Richards & Gaston, of Somerville, now installing the new beds and other appurtenances, expect to complete the contract about January 1, and beginning with the new year it is expected that many additional sewer connections will be made throughout the city.

The Board of Health has been following up this matter and doing all in its power to abolish cesspools and outhouses and have the property connected with the sewer. This work will be pushed forward next year by the Board of Health until the cesspool and outhouse is a thing of the past.

NO "MYSTERY" IN THIS FIRE.

Ceiling Charred by Lamp Smouldered All Night.

The building at West Third street and Stebbins place, in which a grocery store is conducted by S. Mann, is plentifully supplied with electric lights, but at night the proprietor has been keeping a large lamp burning to furnish necessary illumination. It was suspended from the ceiling by an iron hook, but yesterday morning when Mann went to open up he found it deposited on the floor and evidences that his place had narrowly escaped destruction by fire.

The lamp had flared up and the heat had charred the ceiling above so that the hook dropped out. By one of those rare, fortunate happenings, the lamp remained upright when it dropped and continued burning. The ceiling had been ignited all night, as the tenants smelled smoke, but it was not until Mann came around that the cause was discovered. The boards were hastily chopped out and all danger was removed from what came near being one of those frequently "mysterious" fires. Hereafter Mann will burn electricity at night.

FORT BUCKS COLOR LINE.

Justice Advises East Orange Negroes to Fight Segregation.

East Orange, Dec. 7.—Justice J. Franklin Fort, of the Supreme Court, has come forward as the champion of the negroes in East Orange who are fighting the action of the East Orange Board of Education segregating the colored children in the public schools to "Jim Crow" classes simply because of their color. The negroes held a big mass meeting in Calvery Baptist church Tuesday night which lasted until after midnight. Shortly before the close of the meeting Justice Fort appeared in the building, was escorted to the platform, and delivered a short speech in which he severely criticised the Board of Education and encouraged the negroes to continue their fight against the uncompromising action of the board. He said:

"Sitting in my home tonight I read the resolutions passed by the Board of Education. I hesitated for some moments about coming to this meeting, for I was almost afraid to come and speak to you, not because of the sentiments which I entertain, but for fear that in an unguarded moment, stirred by an impulse, I might say something which I ought not say. We live in a community noted and famed for its character, wealth and rights for all citizens, no matter what their color. For the first time I apprehend in this community at resolution has been passed referring to a body of American citizens as a class. I suppose I know what they mean, but I was not aware of the fact before, that a citizen of this country was anything but an American citizen. I wonder if our Board of Education would pass resolutions regarding German-Americans, Irish-Americans and Italian-Americans. So I apprehend in this community of ours we are all citizens, irrespective of color.

"I do not care to speak of the merits of those resolutions, except to say that on the face of them I am against them. I mean this: that I have not studied the question as to the proper grading of schools, but I must maintain that the plan for grading on the basis of color has no foundation. Because of my position, I am out of all political arguments, but if I were what they call an Afro-American I would die in my tracks before I would submit to this. I had supposed that all of this matter had been shot to death from 1860 to 1865."

The applause which greeted these remarks of Justice Fort was tremendous, and people in the assemblage, with tears streaming down their cheeks, called upon him to go on. Justice Fort was deeply moved and his voice shook as he said: "I guess I had better sit down; I have said enough."

Justice Fort is the fourth prominent white man to step to the standard of the East Orange negroes in their fight for rights for their children in the public schools. County Counsel Joseph L. Munn, of Newark, was the first man to assist by offering his legal aid; then the Rev. Dr. William Hayes Ward, of Newark, took up the cudgel, and was later followed by the Rev. Walter Reid Hunt, pastor of the First Unitarian church, Orange, who at the charities conference in Orange last week severely arraigned the East Orange Board of Education for the way in which it had drawn the color line.

POLICE SHOTS WENT WIDE.

Burglars, Who Aroused Householders, Make Their Escape.

Burglars who made so much noise at 2 a. m. yesterday while packing up silverware in a dining room in a house at New Brunswick, that they awoke the occupants, narrowly missed being killed, when they were fleeing with the police in close pursuit. The bluecoats fired six shots at the thieves, but could not get near enough to them to hit them. They escaped and still are at large.

The burglars entered the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. S. English, who reside on Paterson street. The doctor and his wife were asleep in their room upstairs, but the burglars awakened Mrs. English. She aroused her husband. Both listened for a while and the noise was repeated. Dr. English raised his bedroom window and called for the police.

The burglars then fled with the police in hot pursuit.

Holloway—Johnson.

Miss Nannie J. Johnson and Charles Holloway, both of this city, were married at the Calvary Baptist church, last night, by Rev. P. T. Morris, of this city. The bride was gowned in white silk, trimmed with lace and carried white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss S. Flippin, was gowned in white lace and carried pink roses. Walter Schugger and James Lumkin acted as best men. Miss Mary Madison was also a member of the bridal party. Her gown was of white silk, trimmed with lace, and she carried pink flowers. The bride was given in marriage by Mrs. Aby Holmes. After the ceremony the bridal party and guests returned to 178 East Third street, where a collation was served. The couple will reside in this city.

Health Talk to School Pupils.

Dr. J. H. Buchanan gave the first of two talks to the pupils of the borough High School yesterday afternoon on health subjects. He spoke of ways to avoid catching cold and the proper method of ventilating rooms. The second talk will be given next Tuesday.

W. C. T. U. PRAYS FOR SHERIFF.

Women Hope That He May Have Daniel's Strength.

Prayers were offered this morning by the white ribboners assembled at the monthly meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Newark, for Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, of Essex county, so that he will be successful in the campaign to confiscate any device with which gambling could be done. Mrs. Sarah I. Blanchard, the president, prayed that Sheriff Sommer shall be able to bring about a reformation in the city, and hoped that he might be given the courage of Daniel to destroy the gambling devices in which children are allowed to indulge. She said she knew that Mr. Sommer would be criticised by politicians, but was certain that if the white ribboners prayed, he would go on with his work in spite of all politicians.

Prayers were also offered for the Rev. Dr. Charles Nash, who is trying to pass a bill on the Sunday closing of saloons. Mrs. Blanchard said while she might not agree with a great many statements made by Dr. Nash, she knew that he was anxious for the overthrow of the liquor traffic, and that he deserved the encouragement of all good people. She also hoped that William Ashe and his wife, who are going to have revival meetings in saloons, will be successful in their work. The statement made by a minister that there was no hope for inebriates was severely criticised this morning, and prayers were offered, in which Miss Waldron expressed the hope that the minister might see how wrong he was in the statement.

Mrs. Blanchard will make an effort to have Mr. Ashe and his wife talk to the white ribboners at the regular Sunday meetings in the rooms.

HAD COACHMAN ARRESTED.

Weston Man Charged Prisoner With Intent to Kill.

Somerville, Dec. 7.—Charles E. Welbourne, a wealthy New York business man, who has a summer home at Weston, made a wild drive to this place last night and urged the authorities to arrest his coachman, James Kean, who, he said, had assaulted him with a knife and attempted to kill him while intoxicated. Welbourne went before Justice of the Peace Kitchen and swore out a complaint for Kean's arrest. Kean followed his employer here and was arrested and place in the county jail. Welbourne escaped serious injury. The coachman says he acted in self-defense.

A few months ago Welbourne was arrested on a complaint of one of his servants, who swore that his employer had assaulted and threatened to shoot him. The Somerset Grand Jury failed to indict Welbourne on this charge. Welbourne came into public notice about a year ago as the claimant of a $1,000 bank note found by a colored porter on a ferryboat of the Erie Railroad. The court decided that he was the owner of the bank note.

DOG WORSTS AUTO.

William Jeffery's Bubble Comes Off Second Best In Tussle.

Returning from a trip to Morristown in his bubble wagon this morning, William Jeffery, the Park avenue real estate man, had a collision at Front and Richmond streets. The obstruction was a Great Dane dog belonging to some one in the neighborhood and strange to say (we have Mr. Jeffery's word for it) the canine was not injured, but the automobile was.

When the frightened chauffeur managed to bring his machine to a halt, he clambered out expecting to find the remains of a dog in the mechanism, but he was mistaken. The Great Dane emerged from the rear and went howling home to look for sympathy. An inspection of the machine showed that its front axle had been broken and as it was all right before the collision, the damage must have been caused by the dog. Mr. Jeffery figures out that—

Well, anyway, the machine with the broken axle is still at Front and Richmond streets and, doubting Thomases can see for themselves just how it happened.

Elizabeth Nurse May Be Pardoned.

Elizabeth, Dec. 7.—William R. Wilson, who defended Miss Mary Ann Hart, the matron of the Egenolf Day Nursery, nine months ago when she was sentenced to serve a term of one year in the State Prison on a charge of placing one of her charges in a bathtub of scalding water, stated yesterday that when the Board of Pardons meets again he will ask for her discharge. She will have served nine months in prison on December 8, and since two months are generally taken from the full sentence for good behavior in sentences of one year, it is thought probable that Miss Hart will be released from prison some time in January.

NON-SUIT ORDERED IN STANBERY AUTO CASE

JUDGE STRONG'S RULING RECEIVED WITH SURPRISE.

Greatly to the surprise of spectators and legal men in attendance, Judge Strong, in the Middlesex County Court this morning, listened to the appeal of his son as associate counsel for William R. Stanbery and ordered a non-suit in the action brought by Oscar Harrison against Stanbery in the widely known automobile collision case. It was being heard on appeal brought by Stanbery, who was decided against by Justice Von Minden at Dunellen, Harrison being awarded $200 damages for the loss of his horse and destruction of his wagon. This morning's decision changes the entire aspect of the case and may have something to do in the criminal cases that are to follow.

Stanbery's cousel was originally S. S. Swackhamer, and Alan Strong, son of Judge Strong, was engaged as associate in the appeal case. The case began yesterday and was concluded, so far as testimony was concerned, shortly before noon today. When the summing up began, Alan Strong made an appeal to his father for a non-suit and the judge so ruled, not permitting the case to go to the jury. It was said to be an unusual proceeding and aroused some comment, especially because of the relationship of the judge and the defendant's counsel.

In speaking of the case, Judge Strong declared that it made no difference whether Harrison was on the right side of the road or not, he should have made an effort to get out of Stanbery's way, even if he had to drive his horse upon the sidewalk. It was a remarkable ruling and one that may lead to argument on the part of vechicle owners.

Harrison's counsel has been Walter L. Hetfield, Jr.

CLOSED PORTALS.

The members of the Independent Order of Red Men of this State have received a communication from Great Sachem Herbert F. Stetser, of Gloucester, informing them that about January 20 many of the great chiefs and others will sail for Panama to institute three tribes in the Canal Zone, thus being the first secret organization to be established in this newly acquired territory of Uncle Sam.

In connection with this trip, it is proposed to hold three big meetings for the purpose of giving publicity to the event. It is proposed to hold one of these meetings in New Jersey, one in Pennsylvania and one in Delaware. The date for the meeting in New Jersey is Friday, January 19, at Trenton. The Y. M. C. A. Hall has been secured for the occasion. Governor Stokes, the Mayor of Trenton, together with many other notable persons thoughout the State have been invited to attend and make addresses. The local tribes expect to be well represented. Great Sachem William Newcorn is taking the initiative in interesting local Red Men.

INHERITANCE-TAX SUIT.

Question of Residence Is Involved In Hartman Litigation.

Testimony was taken yesterday before Vice Chancellor Bergen, at Newark, in an action brought by the State to collect collateral inheritance tax on the estate of Georgiana Eleanor Hartman, who was the wife of Rev. Charles Harvey Hartman, former rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Dover.

Mrs. Hartman left a will, which was probated in New York, bequeathing an estate valued at $87,500. Mr. Hartman was a resident of New Jersey. Surrogate David Young, of Morris county, brought an action to compel Mr. Hartman, as executor, to have the will probated in Morris county, in which event the State would receive an inheritance tax of $3,875.

On behalf of Mr. Hartman, his counsel, John R. Harden, of Newark, set up the claim that a wife can legally maintain a residence or citizenship separate from that of her husband, and that Mrs. Hartman's legal residence before and after her marriage was in New York. The case was not concluded.

The funeral of James Merritt, who died yesterday morning, will be held from his late residence on Watchung avenue tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The body will be taken to Peekskill, N. Y., for interment.

Rev. George A. Warner, the new rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, is residing in the former rectory of the church on Washington avenue, where he has engaged rooms.

W. C. T. U. FAIR CLOSES.

Large Attendance and Profitable Volume of Sales Marks Second Day.

The W. C. T. U. fair closed last night after a two days' run. The attendance was large and the profit side of the accounts will be very gratifying when the financial statement is made up for the union.

As on the first day, the Punch and Judy show and the graphophone were the popular features. The Scripture cake recipe sold rapidly, and more than a few households this week will pass judgment on cake made according to Biblical injunction.

Just before the fair closed for good last night there was a general reduction in prices on everything, and the late stayers had a bargain sale all to themselves. It helped clean up the tables and booths materially.

The same attendants who served on Tuesday were at the different counters and attractions yesterday. Mrs. T. T. Tomlinson, the general chairman, was present to oversee the affair.

He has sent out telegrams to the different members asking them if they can meet him in New York city next Saturday evening. He said today that he had not heard from many of the members yet and could not say whether the meeting would be held.

The committee consists of Paul Dashiell, Annapolis, president; Mr. Camp, secretary; Prof. L. M. Dennis, Cornell; Prof. J. B. Fine, Princefon; Robert D. Wrenn, Harvard; Alonzo A. Stagg, Chicago, and Prof. John C. Bell, of Pennsylvania.

YEGGS CHASED AWAY.

Explosion Aroused Citizens of Indiana Village.

Fairland, Ind., Dec. 7.—Aroused by a terrific explosion early this morning, citizens found that four robbers had blown open the safe in the bank of Robert Smith. A fight ensued, in which more than twenty shots were exchange between the robbers and citizens. The robbers were frightened away before they got any money.

On account of the lack of illumination in the town it was impossible to get a description of the thieves, but news of the attempted robbery was wired to Indianapolis, as it is believed the robbers fled in that direction.

HOPKINS ON FOOTBALL.

Noble Sport, but Base Business, Says Williams President.

Williamstown, Mass., Dec. 7—President Henry Hopkins, of Williams College, in a letter to the Williams Record, the official publication of the undergraduates of the college, gives his views upon football. He believes the sport one of the best, but favors such reform as will make it more sportsmanlike and less dangerous.

TO COMBAT OSTEOPATHS.

Allopaths and Homeopaths Will Fight Legislative Recognition of Others.

Trenton, Dec. 7.—The legislative committee of the State Medical Sociey of New Jersey has determined that strenuous action is essential to avert the possibility of the next Legislature giving the osteopath the same legal status as that now held by the allopath and homeopath.

All that transpired at the meeting is known only to the members, two of whom—Drs. A. K. Baldwin and Dr. Charles Kipp—are practitioners in this city, and neither would discuss thep lans of the organization further than to admit that it will oppose any effort to give the osteopaths the same standing as old school physicians. Five years ago the osteopaths began the fight for State recognition of their cult, and at each legislative session since them a bill with that object in view has been introduced in the Legislature. It invariably failed to get beyond the committee stage until last year, when the Senate gave a public hearing on the measure that almost resulted in a favorable report, and was compromised with a report without recommendation.

A similar bill met a like fate in the New York Legislature, and the osteopaths, encouraged by their advance, are said to have rallied their forces in a grand effort to win recognition next winter.

The number of practitioners has greatly increased, and the old school heard rumors of their rivals being ready to descend on Trenton fortified with an array of statistics and testimonials to show the beneficent effect of thei rtreatment that will force recognition.

SHE DEFIED THE COURT

Freeholder Westphal's Daughter Wouldn't Testify in Suit Against Mr. Stanbery.

WRIT THROWN AWAY

Young Miss Had Been Subpoenaed to Appear at Trial in New Brunswick—Bench Warrant Issued.

Miss Ada Westphal, daughter of Freeholder William Westphal, of this city, thinks that courts are just horrid things anyway.

She decidedly refused to come to court in New Brunswick yesterday and a stern court officer, armed with an official looking paper which had been signed by Judge Strong and which was really a bench warrant, had to be sent down to Newark, where she is attending Normal School, to force her to testify. But the girl won anyway and didn't have to testify, as Oscar Harrison's suit against William Stanbery was nonsuited.

Miss Westphal gave testimony before Justice Von Minden at Dunellen, when the case was tried before. She had been in Stanbery's automobile with her mother at the time of the fatal accident. But those trials were in vacation time. Anyhow she though that three trials of a case ought to be enough to satisfy the most exacting and when she was asked to leave school, come out to New Brunswick and testify again, she shook her head most positively.

All this developed at the opening of the trial yesterday. Lawyer Alan H. Strong announced that they had been unable to get Miss Westphal and that the defense needed her testimony. He put William Stanbery on the stand to tell how he had tried to get Miss Westphal to New Brunswick.

Mr. Stanbery said that last week he had gone to Newark and had sent a messenger boy again. He returned, with the subpoena and $1 witness fee in an envelope. The girl was not there and so he sent the messenger to the Normal School after her. The girl received the letter and signed for it. But she did not respond to the subpoena yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon Stanbery said that he went to Newark again, this time armed with a subpoena and a letter from Lawyer Swackhamer commanding the girl to go to court yesterday. The messenger boy was sent again. He returned, saying that the aunt had said that the girl was not at home. When the aunt saw the letter the messenger said she declared: "That's something from the court. I won't have anything to do with it," whereupon she threw it out of the window.

Judge Strong then granted a bench warrant for the girl and a constable was sent after her.

PORK NOT DISEASED.

Report on Suspected Case Made by State Board.

Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow has received a report from the State Board of Health regarding the piece of diseased pork, which the local board obtained several weeks ago from a local butcher. An analysis of the meat was made by the State Board and so far as can be learned no traces of tuberculosis appeared.

It is the opinion of Mr. Thurlow, as well as the State health authorities that placing the meat in alcohol to preserve it, had some effect on it and may have had a tendency to remove traces of the disease. In the opinion of the local health officer there is no doubt that the pig had tuberculosis.

HAPPY HOOLIGANS DINE.

Feast of Turkey and Wit at Watchung Notch Hotel.

The Happy Hooligans, an organization of congenial spirts who like outdoor sports and good times, held a dinner at Hugo Maul's hotel in the notch last night. There was no outdoor sport, but a good time was on tap from the sitting down of the club to the rising thereof.

Turkey was the piece de resistance of the feast, the which was a thing to be remembered. Demolli & Company served it in their best manner, and the attendant features were quite au fait, which is a Watchung phrase for very lovely. Landlord Maul is a great entertainer and he was as good as he ever will be last night. There were souvenir menu cards and odd favors.

The festive board was confronted by this array of trencher talent: William L. Gamble, Harry Werner, Jacob Blimm, Joseph Blatz, Walter Clark, Albert R. Vail, George H. Alcorn, Cyrus Boice, Adolph Bohren, L. W. Niles, Samuel Watson, Michael Crowle, J. T. Green and Mayor Newton B. Smalley. The Mayor was the guest of honor. Being original, and desirous of setting new fashions for guests of honor, he made a speech. So did all the rest.

Otto Maul's Imperial orchestra furnished the music.

SEASON OF MUSIC OPENS.

Chamber Concert a Marked Success.

The first of the three chamber concerts to be presented by Joseph McIntyre, the pianist, was given at the Casino last night. The first big musical event of the season, it attracted a large audience of society people.

Henri Burck, violinist; and Vladimir Dubinsky, 'cellist, made up a trio with Mr. McIntyre that would size up to any audience. Glenn Hall, tenor, assisted them. The programme was as follows:

Mendelssohn Trio in D Minor, Andante Tranquillo, Allegro Agitato; Aria from "Reginella," Braga; 'cello solo, (a) Air, Bach; (b) Papillon, Popper; Beethoven Trio, Op. 97, Andante; 'cello solo—Romance, Caesar Cui; songs, (a) The Lover's Pledge, Strauss; (b) As My Dear Old Mother, Dvorak; (c) Who is Sylvia? Schubert; Reissiger Trio, Op. 85, Andante, Rondo.

All the numbers were greeted with the sort of applause that is only stilled by encores. Had the wishes of the audience been met the artists might be playing and singing yet.

With the programmes distributed last night came little printed slips announcing that the second concert had been postponed from January 25 to February 1, the following Thursday. The change was made because the date conflicted with the Weingartner tour of the New York Symphony orchestra.

Frelinghuysen, will at some time in the near future invite the leaders of all factions of the party to attend a banquet to be given at Somerville, and it will be at this feast that the Senator hopes to reconcile all warring elements and bring about a lasting peace. PICTURED TRIP UP THE NILE.

C. W. McCutchen Entertains First Baptist People.

Under the auspices of and for the benefit of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, Charles W. McCutchen gave an interesting illustrated lecture, last night, on his trip "Up the Nile." Mr. McCutchen and his family went abroad over a year ago and the views shown last night were taken by them during that trip.

The journey started at Alexandria, through Cairo and up the River Nile for hundreds of miles. The views were selected ones, showing the most interesting scenes en route, and giving an excellent idea of the land of the Pharaohs. Mr. McCutchen prefaced his lecture by a brief talk in which he described in a general way Egypt, its area, people and many religions.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss introduced the speaker, explained the object of the lecture, which was to raise funds for the Young Women's Missionary Society work. The lantern was operated by A. M. Higgins, assisted by Mr. McCutchen's son, Brunson, who took many of the pictures shown.

A more extended account of Mr. McCutchen's lecture will be found in tomorrow's issue.

CONCERT MUCH ENJOYED.

Large Audience Pleased by Bright and Varied Programme.

The audience at the banjo and mandolin concert presented by William and Fred F. Van Eps and W. E. MacClymont at the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night had a delightful, if light and pre-digested, programme for their amusement. The numbers made an admirable mixture of humor and music. The humor was young and fresh enough to be enjoyed, and the music was "popular" in tone, and very popular, without quotations, with the audience. The latter was large.

Besides the Van Eps and Mr. MacClymont, Mrs. Minnie Marshal Smith, elocutionist, and W. W. Waters, humorist, appeared. Frank Hardman, banjoist, assisted, and in the opening number a banjo and mandolin orchestra of twenty played. The orchestra was made up of the following players:

Banjos, Lawrence Smith, Frank Hardman, Frank Embleton, Russell Runyon, J. C. Edgecumbe, William Briggs, W. C. Force, R. A. Osmun, Fred F. Van Eps; mandolins, Miss Maud Emmons, Miss Mertie Fedderman, Theodore Gavett, Chester Briggs, Martin Stuttsman, Monroe Long, John Martin, William Van Eps.

Waters and Mrs. Smith, both of whom are familiar to Plainfield audiences, scored successes that have become the usual thing for them here. Of the other artists, nothing need be said; the excellence of their playing is too well known to Plainfielders. The musical numbers included the orchestral selection, solo by the Van Eps', and trios by Mr. MacClymont and Mr. Hardman with the Van Eps'. They won insistent demands for encores.

Miss Marion Short was to have been the elocutionist, but illness prevented her appearance.

The Last Sermon in Course.

On Sunday evening the preacher at All Souls' church will be Rev. Frederick Lynch, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational, Orthodox, church, New York. Rev. Mr. Lynch is one of the most gifted of the younger men in the New York pulpit. Coming from his first pastorate at Lenox, Mass., only two years ago, to succeed the venerable Dr. Virgin, who is now pastor-emeritus at the Pilgrim church, Mr. Lynch has become so convincing and interesting a speaker that he is engaged for every evening this week. On Sunday evening he leaves his own pulpit in charge of his assistant, Rev. Mr. Van Eps, to come to Plainfield. Mr. Lynch's subject will be "The Message for Today."

BOARD OF TRADE MEETS

Organization Assembles For First Time After Long Summer Lethargy.

ARC LIGHTS DISCUSSED

Swimming Pool Committee Reports —Tentative Plans Discussed for Annual Dinner to Be Held Early in New Year.

With a good part of the membership in attendance, the local Board of Trade resumed its meetings for the season last night, the session being the first it has held since last summer. President Woolston was in the chair and something like the old time activity was noticeable in the way municipal matters were taken up and discussed.

Probably the most interesting was the question of arc lights, which the board has had under consideration for more than a year and which has been in the hands of a committee. It was stated by one of the members that the feeling among the marchants is for a change from the incandescent and that it could be done with a saving of cost to the city. In Passaic, so it was said, arc lights of the largest size are supplied for $65 a year, and throughout the State the cost of them has been greatly lessened withing the year. The committee was instructed to continue its investigations and will report further at the next meeting.

The board received the report of the swimming pool committee, which stated that it had proven successful, and through the assistance of philanthropic citizens all bills had been paid. The place had been well patronized by the boys and it was hoped to have stil better facilities next season. A vote of thanks was passed for those whose contributions had made the pool possible.

In order to gain more members during the winter, the board voted to reduce the dues to $2 and those in attendance were instructed to redouble their efforts in this direction. Tentative plans for the annual dinner were discussed and a committee composed of Eugene A. Laing, D. C. Ivins, H. W. Marshall, J. C. Pope and Amos Andrews were appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

The municipal ownership of water supply was talked over through J. V. E. Vanderhoef declaring himself against it, because, as he stated, it would mean an increase in rates. The board also placed itself on record as opposing the granting of switch privileges to the street railway company.

At the meeting to be held next month officers will be elected and reports for the year received.

Examinations for Health Officers.

The examiners of the State Board of Health met at the State House, at Trenton, Wednesday, and examined thirty applicants for certificates as health officers and sanitary inspectors in various cities of the State. The result will be announced as soon as the papers can be passed upon. The examining board is composed of Dr. William H. Murray, of this city; William Baker, C. E., associate editor of The Engineering News; Dr. David E. Chandler, Newark; Dr. D. C. Bowers, Elizabeth, and Dr. C. Clark Hunt, Metuchen.

Another Murderer in Jail.

Paul Vida, who is wanted in Brigeport, Conn., where he is under indictment for murder in the first degree, it being claimed that he and others killed a fellow countryman in a fight there, was taken to the Middlesex county jail yesterday from Perth Amboy, where he has been held for a couple of days. He will be held pending requisition papers. Prosecutor Berdine has the papers in the case.

Mason, Newark City Hospital; second vice president, Miss Laura MacHale, St. Joseph's Hospital, Paterson; secretary, Miss Emma Young, St. Barnabas' Hospital, Newark; treasurer, Miss Catherine Neafsy, Newark German Hospital.

Change in Executive Board.

Mrs. F. S. Martin, a member of Benevolent Band, King's Daughters, has resigned as a member of the executive board of the City Union, and Mrs. Duncan L. S. MacLaren, also of the Benevolent Band, has been elected to the vacancy.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Frank White, who claims St. Louis as his home, the tramp arrested for stealing carpenter tools belonging to Willard Apgar at Lincoln, has been sent to New Brunswick, to await the action of the Grand Jury. He acknowledges the robbery, but denies any acquaintance with Frank Ides or his associates.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Quick, who moved away from the borough ten years ago to live in Phillipsburg, visited several friends here Wednesday. They are now living at the Soldiers' Home. Evangelistic work in Bound Brook last night. His campaign there was very successful.

Garretson & Gray's men have resumed work on the Piscataway roads after a week of inaction, brought about by wet weather. It will be at least two months, Mr. Garretson says, before the work is completed. "It will never be completed this fall," he said yesterday.

All the iron fire escapes have been attached to the Lincoln School and are in operation. They have been thrown open to the use of the pupils in going in and out of school.

Miss Edna Coriell entertained the young people's card club last night. The organization has prepared for an active season. The meeting last night was the first of the fall.

W. G. Vance is very ill. His condition is most grave. For some days he has failed to recognize anyone, and barely takes nourishment enough to sustain life.

Theodore Voorhees, Mr. and Mrs. Rice, John Fenner and several others attended the trial of the Harrison-Stanbery suit in New Brunswick yesterday.

The Sunshine Society of Holy Innocents' church will open a two days' fair in Friendship Hall tonight. The Mandolin Club will play both evenings.

Mrs. Sarah Leonard, of Caldwell, is visiting her uncle, Josiah Maitland.

C. J. Bohannen, of Philadelphia, visited H. S. Garretson yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

One of the most successful as well as most enjoyable affair the Suburban Club, of the borough, has ever held was the third of the series of winter club dances, held last night in the club's hall. Suhr's orchestra, which was at its best, dispensed tempting two steps and waltzes to the enjoyment of all. At midnight a short intermission was held while refreshments were served, after which dancing was resumed and continued until a late hour. Those who tired of the waltz had the freedom of the club's parlors, bowling alleys and billiard parlors. Besides many from here the guests included a number from Plainfield, Westfield and Netherwood.

The weekly prayer and praise service will be held tonight at the Baptist church. These weekly church gatherings are becoming more popular, especially among the young people of the church, which is most encouraging for the pastor, Rev. T. Moore-Smith.

The Public Service Corporation has had a gang of men working in town for several days changing the electric light wires from the old to the new poles recently put up.

The musical concert given by Prof. MacClymont and the VanEps Bros. at Y. M. C. A. Hall last night, was enjoyed by a number of the lovers of good music from here.

Joseph Thys, of Terrill road, who has been detained at home for several months with illness, is able to be around again.

Mrs. Frank Perry, of McKinley avenue, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Schreiner, of Mountain avenue.

Mrs. M. E. Darby, of Plainfield, was the guest yesterday of her mother, Mrs. John R. Marsh.

These books are being introduced as regular studies in some colleges. Judge J. M. L., of Maine, says "the whole Truth of Life is well expressed in them" and that "at the age of 71, I have built myself all over by observing their teachings." Dr. Yates, of Cincinnati, says "I am convinced that you have the best work on the subjects taught, and I am familiar with most all writers on these and kindred subjects." I. Donnelly said "I would gladly give $100 for the set if I could not get them for less." The verdict of nearly all who receive them is equally enthusiastic. Over a quarter of a million copies have been sold within the past year. Note the following

Files Dissenting Report.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In reading the article in the issue of your paper of yesterday, December 7, I am somewhat surprised, for the reason that being identified with the Stanbery case from start to finish, and having personally examined all the witnesses except two, at the trial at New Brunswick, I feel sure that the report of the case as contained in said article has been given by some one who had little regard for the truth, and who desired to mislead the public as to the true situation.

In the three trials before Justice VonMinden, the same motion to dismiss the case was made by me, which was over-ruled, the Justice claiming that he had not jurisdiction to grant a non-suit. In the trial before Judge Strong, the plaintiff, Mr. Harrison, being confronted with his testimony at the former trials, admitted that he could see 150 feet at the time the accident occurred, and he admitted that he saw the automobile in time to turn out, but claimed that he did not have the room; yet it was clearly shown by the surveyor produced by Mr. Harrison, that there was an abundance of room, at least eight feet of clear, solid road-bed to his right. Harrison also admitted that he had testified at the former trial that he was on the right-hand side of the road, and the question was asked: "Q. And that is the reason you did not turn out, it is not?" His answer was: "A. That is the reason, yes sir." By his not turning out, it was claimed by Stanbery's counsel that it was contributory negligence on his part, and numerous decisions of the Supreme Court and the Court of Errors and Appeals were cited showing such to be the law.

As to the non-suit granted by Judge Strong, under the law, we beg to say, that to have refused a non-suit, would have been in violation of his duty as Judge. Under the law, he could not refuse it, and had he done so, the Supreme Court undoubtedly would have reversed him.

Attorney George Silzer, who was assisting W. L. Hetfield, Jr., resisted the motion for non-suit, but was unable to produce authorities to support his position. The Court in disposing of the case, said it was clear from the evidence that Stanbery had turned to the right, and that if Harrison had done the same in turning to his right, the collision would have been avoided.

Respectfully submitted,
S. S. SWACKHAMER.

SALESMEN WANTED
For several really high-grade specialty salesmen—the kind no salary offer would ordinarily interest—we have very attractive openings. We know of men who are earning from $5,000 to $10,000 annually, simply selling to dealers for a large and well known manufacturer a well advertised staple. To any successful salesman who is now selling a general line and who can handle a profitable and attractive side line, an excellent proposition will also be made.

AMUSEMENTS.

There is something unique and strikingly interesting in the adventures of an American as a member of the Russian Army. Richard Hamilton, its leading character in "By Right of Sword," to be played tomorrow afternoon and night at the New Plainfield theatre by Ralph Stuart, through a combination of circumstances finds himself undergoing the experience. He is a young college man of ample means who, in a moment of pique at the coldness of a certain young lady, seeks forgiveness abroad. He arrives at Moscow upon the occasion of a grand military ball. He bears such a striking resemblance to Alexis Petrovitch, a young Russian officer who has fled to avoid the consequences of an insult put upon him by a man whom he fears to face in a duel that all who meet him mistake him at once for the cowardly soldier. Even Olga, the lovely sister of Alexis, shares in the general error and Hamilton finds himself the object of attentions of various degrees of warmth and contempt. His situation is a novel one and his embarrassment plainly apparent and highly amusing. Olga discovering her mistake, reveals her chagrin at the previous conduct of her brother, and in a moment of chivalrous recklessness Hamilton volunteers to take his place, resent the insult and save the honor of the name of Petrovitch. The complications tha follow are mingled with comedy, sentiment and heroism. For three weeks Hamilton is the busiest man in Russia, making love to Olga in the guise of her brother, entertaining the officer's many callers, fighting a duel and finally defeating a Nihilistic plot to destroy the Czar. While paradoxical at first glance, the construction of the piece is so ingenious that Hamilton's masquerading seems a most natural and reasonable undertaking. Mr. Stuart revels in this part with the refined comedy and varied emotions, and his supporting company are all well suited to their various characters.

At New Plainfield Theatre, Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening.

There is the fragrant perfume of the apple blossoms and the clover all through the story of "Uncle Josh Spruceby," and one seems to breathe the balmy air of the country as the many interesting scenes are being enjoyed. You must see this play and see how much better you feel after witnessing the scenes on the old farm, and the natural acting of a company of capable actors. You will find the comedy the genuine article, and no matter how old a theatregoer you may be, you will smile, and smile loudly at the many clever lines and funny situations with which the play abounds. It will hold the boards at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night.

and lyrics by George Totten Smith and Aaron Hoffman, and music by Gus Salzer, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. The piece serves as a vehicle to introduce the inimitable

HEALTHY PLANTS
Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.
Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.
A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.
You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.
You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.
You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.
Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.
Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

GENERAL HOUSECLEANING.
WM. A. KLINE, 611 W. 3d St

S. HIRSCH,
The New York Ladies' Tailor and Furrier, has has opened his new place with a full line of imported models and is ready to attend the public. 403 Watchung Avenue.

comedians, Yorke and Adams, in a legitimate play and the authors have collaborated happily to bring about the desired result. The comedy abounds in bright lines, the action is brisk, the mounting and staging excellent and the music graceful and catchy. The costumes, designed by Archi Gunn and executed by Mme. Freisinger are novel and handsome, the scenery elaborate and the electrical effects new and brilliant.

Are you susceptible? If so, visit the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night, when Nat M. Wills and his big company of musical associates appear in Broadhurst & Currie's latest paragon of frivolity, "The Duke of Duluth," a farce of today that contains all the ingredients of comedy, music and song, and a large company of auxiliaries numbering seventy, most of the girls selected for their beauty and grace as well as vocal powers. Nat Wills, the happy tramp, is seen at his best in the role of "Darling Doolittle." His songs and parodies are new and original and evoke rounds of applause. His "G. O. P." song is one of those original ditties that calls for encore after encore. "Tammany and the Politicians" come in for their share of censure during its many verses. The scenery and costuming is magnificent and gorgeous and the cast is a star one.

Manager Henry W. Savage, who perhaps has done more and is doing more to encourage and maintain the American drama and American dramatists than any other manager now before the public, makes the interesting announcement that he will offer his successful star, Raymond Hitchcock, in a brand new farcical comedy by Richard Harding Davis at the New Plainfield theatre on Thursday, December 14. Mr. Hitchcock, whose delicious humor in the musical comedies, "King Dodo," and "The Yankee Consul," have delighted untold thousands for the last two seasons, makes the leap from the lyric field of comedy into straight farce, through the medium of Mr. Davis' latest product. No comedian before the public today has a stronger or more pleasing personality than Raymond Hitchcock, and his quaint, refined methods and unctuous humor have been a constant source of pleasure to lovers of comedy in its best form.

As Jim De Lancey in the comedy of that name, written by Augustus Thomas, John Drew has one of the finest roles he has ever had, from the fact that every aspect of the part reflects sides of New York society life with which he is perfectly intimate. There are abundant laughs in the play, many more than in any of the preceding Thomas comedies. Its performances in this city will be at the New Plainfield theatre on Friday, December 22.

The Knowing How!

The art of cutting and fashioning men's garments is attempted by hundreds of tailors—mastered by very few.

Many garments appeal to the eye from the shop window, but fall short when put to the test of service. At Watson's, things are far different. Every Watson-made garment is known to be just right before it goes to the customer. At Watson's they take care of this end. For you, the only thing to look out for is that your own particular taste is pleased. The fit will be our care too.

If you wish to be in the height of fashion, get a Watson-made Paddock. It marks the Zenith of tailoring—it is so manly, so graceful and so dignified that it distinguishes its wearer at once as being a smart dresser. But the Watson-made Overcoats of medium or 52 in lengths are products of the same tailors and appeal to many.

Overcoats $10 to $40.

As for the Watson-made suit, it is unapproachable unless you choose to go to the custom tailor and pay the custom-tailor price. The more you look about we'll like it because the more certain we'll be that you will appreciate the Watson excellence in cut, finish and fit.

Suits $10 to $25.

CHIEF'S COUNSEL SECURES TEMPORARY STAY

Charges Against Kiely Not Presented to the Common Council on Account of His Lawyer's Technical Objection.

TRIAL ON DEC. 19

Mr. Reed Declares That Charges Should First Go Before Police Board and Corporation Counsel Consents.

Through a technical objection offered by Charles A. Reed, Esq., of counsel for Chief of Police Patrick S. Kiely, the charges against the head of the police department were not presented by the councilmanic police committee at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night. The lobby was filled to overflowing with interested spectators and when they learned that another adjournment would be taken, there was a general expression of disappointment and suspicion.

Mr. Tyler, chairman of the police committee, stated that he had the charges, signed and ready for presentation, when he recived a letter from Mr. Marsh yesterday afternoon, informing him that he understood that Chief Kiely would insist that the Common Council cannot acquire jurisdiction to afford him a trial upon any charges until such charges are first submitted to the Board of Police. In view of this right, which Mr. Marsh says cannot be denied Mr. Kiely, he suggested that this be done, inasmuch as it is the intention and desire to try the case on its merits and not on technicalities. The police committee therefore concurred in Mr. Marsh's suggestion and an adjournment was taken to Wednesday night, December 13, when the charges will be presented after first being submited to the Board of Police at a meeting of such board to be held at 7 o'clock that night. Mr. Tyler announced that he would send notices to the members of the Board of Police asking them to meet at the time mentioned when the charges can be submitted to them.

Mr. Tyler stated by way of explanation that it was the intention of the police committee to present the charges last night and fix Monday night, December 18, as the late for the trial. This would give the accused a full ten days in which to prepare his answer and be ready for trial. By following the advice of Corporation Counsel, Mr. Tyler said the it would only mean a delay of one day, for the charges can be presented Wednesday night, December 13, and Tuesday night, December 19, can be fixed as the date for trial. This is now the purpose of the police committee, unless other objections are offered by defendant's counsel and sustained.

It was the general opinion among those present at the meeting that Chief Kiely's counsel was seeking to delay the presentation of charges and the trial until the new Common Council gets into power.

Mr. Tyler said that he had made every effort yesterday afternoon and in the evening before the Common Council meeting to get in communication with Mayor James F. Buckle and that he was unable to find him. He had telephoned to his store, his office, his home and other places where he is likely to be, but was unsuccessful in his efforts. It was his intention to get the Mayor to call a meeting of the Board of Police prior to last night's meeting so that the charges against Chief Kiely could be submitted before presentation at the Common Council meeting.

This is the communication of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh sent to Chairman Tyler, of the councilmanic police committee, yesterday afternoon:

"Plainfield, N. J., Dec. 8, 1905.
"Messrs. William S. Tyler and William S. Bullock,

"Gentlemen: In accordance with your instructions, I have reduced to writing, and submit herewith, the completed formal charges against the Chief of Police, based upon the memoranda of evidence which you expect to produce, and interviews with such of the witnesses as have called at my office. I understand that the Chief of Police will insist that the Common Council cannot acquire jurisdiction to afford him a trial upon any charges until the charges shall

SHE DID NOT INTEND TO IGNORE SUBPOENA

MISS WESTPHAL SAYS SHE DID NOT KNOW TIME OF TRIAL.

All unaware that she had committed a serious offense against the majesty of the law and against the dignity of the Middlesex County Court, Miss Ada Westphal, daughter of Freeholder William Westphal, of this city, was very much surprised when arrested by Constable Robert L. Pierce, who had been sent to Newark by Judge Strong to bring the girl, who was an important witness in the Stanbery-Harrison damage case, which terminated so suddenly Thursday afternoon, to New Brunswick.

When confronted by the grim featured officer of the law she had carelessly defied, the school girl, instead of becoming hysterical with fright, greeted the constable with a smiling face and seemed to think the whole matter a huge joke. When questioned as to the papers which her aunt threw out of the window when presented by a messenger boy, but which were later served on her at school, Miss Westphal frankly admitted having received some papers with a legal notice, but pleaded in excuse of her later action that she did not know when she was wanted, and that she did not want to sit in a stuffy old court room anyway.

When told that she would have to come to New Brunswick, the girl at once prepared for her journey, but in the meantime Harrison and his case had been dismissed by Judge Strong, who in throwing the case out found Harrison guilty of having been negligent and party responsible for the accident. Nothing more will be done in the matter of the bench warrant served on the young lady, as her presence turned out to be unnecessary.

SICKNESS DRIVES EXILE BACK TO GRIP OF LAW

BUT MAGISTRATE GIVES DRAKE HIS RELEASE WHEN HE EXPLAINS.

A month agao Frank, better known to his intimates as "Wacky," Drake was arrested for the 'steenth time for drunkenness and disorder, and Judge Runyon, tired alike of suspending sentence and sending "Wacky" to jail, ordered him to leave town under penalty of a severe sentence. Wacky promised to go and stay away until at least next April. The magistrate meant what he said, and ordered the officers to pick Wacky up if they say him anywhere in town before April, so when Patrolman Overbaugh saw the familiar form of young Drake on Park avenue yesterday he promptly clapped him into a cell.

Drake explained matters to the judge in court this morning. It appears that he went to New York, in accordance with his agreement, and started to work. He had no intention of returning to Plainfield until he was seized with an attack of blood poisoning, the result of a cut on the hand. He was incapacitated, and there was no place for him to find shelter except here, so he risked the arrest he knew awaited him and returned home. He showed the magistrate where his hand had been affected.

"Well," said Judge Runyon, "I can hardly regard this as a breach of the terms under which you were released. Just take up the agreement where your illness suspended it. I'll give you until Monday to leave town. If you are seen here again within six months I will fine you $50 and send you to jail for fifty days."

Wacky said the town would be minus his presence by Monday. Judge Runyon insists on Wacky's absence from Plainfield because he believes the young man would never reform unless removed from the influence of his old associates.

EGYPT THEN AND NOW

Land of the Pharoahs Vividly Portrayed by Charles W. McCutchen.

A TRIP UP THE NILE

Silent Marks of Former Greatness —The Temples and the Peoples of That Ancient Country.

Before the members of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church and many others, Charles W. McCutchen, on Thursday night, delivered an entertaining talk on a trip "Up the Nile." Owing to lack of space it was impossible to reproduce any extended account of his lecture, and for that reason the main part of the speech is given herewith:

"The first impression a Plainfielder would get as he journeyed through Egypt and up the Nile is that he was in the presence of that which is old, and after coming from such a new place as Plainfield to such ancient surroundings as are found on every side in Egypt, the contrast becomes unusually strong, and as you dwell a few weeks in Egypt you come 'under the spell of the old;' you feel the charm of antiquity and become profoundly interested, and before you are aware of it you have committed yourself to come back and dig for tombs, temples and ruins that lie hidden under sand on both sides of the Nile.

"Egypt has an area of about 400,000 square miles, most of which is irreclaimable desert; on the left bank coming down the Nile is the Lybian Desert and on the right is the great Arabian Desert, which stretches out like the sea. In the centre runs this marvelous river, and when one has been 1,000 miles up the Nile, we cease to wonder that the ancients worshipped it. It is shallow, broad and sluggish most of the time, but not green. Nile green can be found at McCreery's, but you cannot find it in Egypt. That river furnishes all the wealth, fertility and has been the foundation of all the glory of Egypt, so it became a saying that 'Egypt was the Nile, and the Nile was Egypt.' The white and the blue Nile join at Lakes Victoria and Albert Nyanza, near Khartoum, the scene of the great tragedy where Gen. Gordon gave up his life for the poor Sandanese on account of the indifference and a blunder of the English Government. The blue or black Nile carries with it a deposit of rich alluvial soil, which it spreads out on both banks in strips varying from five-eighths to fourteen miles in width, which produce the wealth of Egypt. Just think of it: over 400,000 square miles of country and yet only 10,500 square miles is tillable.

"The population of Egypt is about 10,000,000 people, most of whom are native Egyptians, 'Nilocks,' as they are called, or Arabs, and only 112,000 others, a large number of whom are Greeks, Russians, Austrians, Germans, French and English, and last census there were about 200 Americans, most of whom were missionaries.

"Egypt was like Athens, and I think if St. Paul had gone to Egypt instead of Athens, he would have said the very same thing, 'I perceive you are very religious.' Of the ten millions, ninety per cent. are Mohammedans, and about 800,000 Christians. Of these Christians, about 650,000 are Copts. The legend is that St. Mark went to Alexandria and selected twelve patriarchs, and they administered the Christian religion, which spread as far as Khartoum. We met the patriarch of the Coptic church, who was nearly ninety-three years old. He landed close to our dahbeea and was received with great ceremony. The Copts have been greatly persecuted by the Mohammedans. The Roman Catholics are represented there; also the Church of England and the Presbyterians in large numbers.

"These pictures were taken by members of my family and I bossed the job, and the most enthusiastic photographer and profound Egyptologist is my small son, Bronson, who will do something in throwing the pictures on the screen. On arriving at Alexandria one is strongly impressed that the people have not changed their nightgowns for ordinary street dress. Alexandria is the chief commercial city and some one has described it as being the Liverpool of Egypt. There are twenty regular lines of steamers carrying the produce of Egypt to all parts of the world. You are practically in an European city when you arrive in Alexandria, which was 1,200 years old when Cairo was founded.

"Ismail Pasha, that great spendthrift, who had so many qualities of the able and astute sovereign, the man who got Egypt involved in inextricable debt and after skilfully bringing about the completion of the Suez Canal, spent $20,000,000 of the

HELD UP CHURCH PLAY

Policeman Compels Mt. Zion Deacon to Pay $2 For License.

MAYOR ACTS PROMPTLY

Church Official Quickly Receives His Money Back When Executive Hears of the Case—Disapproves of Action.

The officials of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church are indignant over what they describe as a high handed action of the police. It is alleged that one of the officers, acting under instructions from Chief Kiely, compelled them, illegally and without any warrant, to pay a license fee for holding a church entertainment.

The entertainment took place at T. A. B. Hall Thursday night. It was in the form of a drama, in which amateurs from the church membership took part. None of the church officers had ever heard that an affair of the sort required the approval of the police department before it could be presented, so Chief Kiely's permission was not sought.

Shortly after the entertainment began Patrolman Messler entered the hall. He asked for the one in charge, and Deacon Edward Maynard saw him. Messler told the deacon that he wanted $2 for an entertainment license. Mr. Maynard alleges he said the affair could not go on until he received it. The deacon questioned the officer's right to demand the money.

"I am acting under the chief's instructions," Messler said.

Mr. Maynard paid the money rather than have the entertainment interfered with, but he went to Mayor Buckle yesterday and vigorously protested against the whole proceeding. The Mayor promptly returned the $2. The latter says the Mayor expressed his disapproval of the way in which the police acted.

"They had no right to proceed as they did," he is said to have informed Mr. Maynard.

CITY FLAG POLE GOES

Council Decrees No More Will Old Glory Wave at Head of Park Avenue.

SOME COMMUNICATIONS

Petition for Return of Police Commissioners' Bonds Granted—Street Work Contract Provisions Changed.

All that remains of the city flagpole is to be removed. This action was decided upon at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night. Mr. Tolles, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the pole had been examined by an expert and declared to be unsafe. On his motion the committee was authorized to take it down and make such disposition of it as was thought best.

Mr. Hibbard asked Mr. Tolles what disposition the committee proposed to make of the pole, and in reply the chairman of the finance committee said that it could be cut off and spliced and made of some use at one of the public schools, if so desired, but it was thought unwise to rest it at its present place.

The Board of Education, through Clerk F. E. Clark, acknowledged the receipt of a petition from the Common Council presented by residents of the West End asking for a public school building on or near West Front street and Clinton avenue, and that the matter would be attended to as soon as possible. The communication stated that with the opening of the new High School building changes would be made tending to relieve the overcrowded condition in the schools, but it was recognized that another school would be a necessity in the near future.

A communication was received from Mrs. Eugene A. Gross, of West Seventh street, asking that the proper grading be established on West Fourth street, near McDowell street, so that in heavy rains water would not overflow property owned by her. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Mr. Tyler reported back the petition of Charles A. Reed, Esq., asking for the return of the former police commissioners' bonds for cancellation, and he recommended, on the advice of Corporation Counsel Marsh, that the request be granted. The petition acknowledged the unconstitutionality of the act under which the commission was appointed by the Mayor and desired the return of the bonds given after the appointment, so that the matter may be set right with the sureties. The bonds were ordered returned through the adoption of a resolution suggested by Mr. Reed.

Mr. Tyler also reported back the police bills held up at the last meeting of the Common Council for the services of a patrolman appointed by the former police commission. Since that time the bills were signed by Chief Kiely and presented in the regular way. The bills were referred to the auditing committee on Mr. Tyler's motion and later ordered paid.

Mr. Wilson, chairman of the street committee, offered a resolution, which was adopted, allowing C. M. Meeker, who holds contracts for macadamizing certain streets, to use trap rock in his work on Monroe avenue, instead of slag. At present there seems to be a scarcity of slag, and by allowing Mr. Meeker to use stone the contract can be completed at an earlier date. It was Mr. Meeker's complaint in the first place that he was unable to secure slag to complete the job, and maintained that this caused a delay in the work on Monroe avenue. The substitution of stone for slag will make just as good a roadbed and will last as long as though slag was used.

Freeholders Receive Report.

County Road Inspector James W. Fink presented his report at the December meeting of the Board of Freeholders Thursday. It showed that during the year the cost of repairing roads amounted to $18,029.27. The new board will meet at the usual time in May for reorganization, when it is expected that Benjamin King, who is now filling the late Director Hubbard's unexpired term, will be chosen for the coming year. Contrary to the usual thing, not a single application was received at the meeting for the building or repair of any bridge in the county.

WIGHTMAN IN DISFAVOR

His Conduct as Head of Altoona Schools Denounced at Institute.

CAUSES OF TROUBLE

In Their Allegations Pedagogues Assert His Rules Are Almost Inhuman—Was Signed Last Spring.

Assembled at their annual institute, several hundred school teachers of Altoona, Pa., and vicinity, yesterday openly denounced the methods of Homer J. Wightman, head of the Altoona schools and former principal in North Plainfield. Resolutions were passed objecting to his almost inhuman rules, as was alleged, and today the entire teaching force of the city is in open revolt. The institute is still in session and it is thought the school commissioners will be called upon to remove him from office.

Mr. Wightman has been at Altoona only since September, having moved from the borough but a few days before the term began. He was greatly liked by the city officials, but almost from the start the faculties of the various schools objected to his innovations and general conduct. At the meeting yesterday the matter was taken up and the following complaints were made:

"First—That his general manner is haughty and obnoxious and not calculated to promote harmony between himself and teachers for the betterment of the schools.

"Second—That he is too strict a disciplinarian and that some of his rules practically amount to physical torture for those beneath him; one instance being that he will not allow chairs in the class rooms and the teachers are compelled to stand all day, sometimes causing the younger women to drop from exhaustion.

"Third—That all his orders are given in an overbearing way and, as a rule, seemingly with the intent of humiliating his subordinates; also that he wants all refractory pupils referred to him for punishment when frequently he is not at all familiar with facts as are teachers and principals."

The complaints are the talk of Altoona and surrounding districts today, although they did not come as a surprise. The teachers who have been in contact with Mr. Wightman have frequently made complaints, and when the institute assembled yesterday it was practically known that some form of protest would be made.

Altoona is a city of about 50,000 inhabitants and its teaching force numbers 150. When Mr. Wightman resigned the North Plainfield principalship he gave it out that he had been appointed superintendent of the Altoona schools and that his salary would be $6,000 yearly. While in the borough he was regarded as being rather strict, but there were no complaints against him and he did a great deal to improve the educational system.

LOUIS A. KLINE DEAD.

Former Well-known Plainfielder Passes Away in Boston.

Louis A. Kline, a resident of Craig place, the borough, several years ago, died at his home in Boston, Mass., on Thursday. He had been ill about two months with a form of paralysis. The remains will be brought here and interred in the Bound Brook cemetery.

Mr. Kline had been a resident of Boston about twelve years. Prior to that time he was engaged here in the manufacture of extracts and corn cure, having built up a good business. He was fifty-six years old and a native of New York.

Mr. Kline is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Alexander Willett, Mrs. Alburtus Swalm and Mrs. T. S. Armstrong, of the borough, and Mrs. J. H. Startup, of Middletown, N. Y.

Minstrels Make a Hit.

A large number of people from this city witnessed the minstrel show given by the S. T. Dramatic Club in the Westfield Club Hall for the benefit of the Children's Home. It was well staged and the performers were generously applauded. A big hit was made by William Bennett, of Newark, well known here, who gave his monologue, "The Boy With the Goods." Among the Plainfielders in the cast were Harry Hook, Will Kenyon, Luther Hampton and Donald Bechtle.

A Tour to Japan.

Mr. Honeyman's "Tour to Japan in the Cherry Blossom Season" is now fully planned and half of his party is made up. It includes some Plainfielders. It starts February 12, and is to occupy three and one-half months. Besides two days at Honolulu and a week in China, over a month will be spent in going through interior Japan. Itinerary may be procured at office of Honeyman's Private Tours, 181 North avenue.

NESTOR OF BAR HONORED

Eminent Lawyers of Two States Gather at Parker Dinner.

MEMORABLE OCCASION

Chancellor Magie and Ex-Ambassador Joseph H. Choate Pay Venerable Pleader Great Tribute.

Eminent members of the New Jersey and New York bars gathered at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, New York, last night, to honor the venerable Cortlandt Parker, of Newark, dean of the New Jersey lawyers, with a dinner. The affair marked the completion of his sixty-sixth year as a practicing lawyer.

It was in every way a memorable event in the legal world. Covers for 199 were laid, and the diners included the men who rank highest in the two states as lawyers and intellectual giants. Probably never before have so many great lawyers of New York and New Jersey gathered for such an event. The dinner was gotten up by the bench and bar of this State, through a committee of twelve well known judges and counsellors. Among the committeemen was Craig A. Marsh, of this city, who, of course, attended the dinner. It was, in effect, a public farewell to Mr. Parker as a lawyer; he himself seemed to regard it as such in his speech.

Attorney General McCarter was toastmaster. The speakers were Chancellor Magie, Supreme Court Judge Dixon, Joseph H. Choate, E. S. Savage, John E. Parsons, W. H. Hornblower, Vice Chancellor Pitney, and Francis Rawle, of Philadelphia.

When the toastmaster introduced Mr. Parker legal dignity was cast under the table, and the room rang and rang again with cheers. The guest of honor was plainly moved, and it was some minutes before he gained control of his voice.

Mr. Parker began his speech by saying he had never held office, having been all his life "only a lawyer." He spoke of the changes materialism had brought about and added: "We have a new word very lately introduced, its original and etymological meaning perfectly obscure, but which characters a peculiar iniquity. The word is 'graft.' What concealed perfidy does it not denote, and how universal? Some of its illustrations are very old. Legislatures have long been elected with contributions, the consideration of which is votes for candidates for the United States senate, and this system has been increasing in expense so much that elections have often cost, it is said, many thousands of dollars.

"I believe that the bar of New Jersey as a body—and I know of no other bar—is clean. As to its judges, no one has ever to my knowledge whispered a word against the innocence of any judge of any court in New Jersey, and woe to the man—candidate for any such post—who would offer money for the nomination.

"A crime of any sort seldom escapes and our State prosecution is not overwrought, either."

Mr. Parker declared that the jurisprudence of New Jersey, in his opinion, was superior to that of any other State, and because it adhered more closely to the forms of the old common law.

Joseph H. Choate eulogized Mr. Parker, and said:

"We honor Mr. Parker also for his splendid professional career. In his career there is no flaw, no stain, nothing but unsullied purity and honor from beginning to end. His character has been pure."

When Mr. Choate sat down Mr. Parker arose and went over to him with tears in his eyes to shake his hand. The two men arose and then the entire assemblage got up and joined in felicitations.

Chancellor Magie also paid a great tribute to Mr. Parker. After extolling the legal ability and profound learning of the guest of honor, the chancellor added that whatever measure of success he had won was due more largely to the influence and counsel of Mr. Parker than to any other factor.

The dinner souvenirs were very odd. They were in the form of exact reproductions of a volume of Blackstone, in miniature, in which the ice cream was served.

Entertained Sunday School Class.

W. C. Leek, teacher of a women's Bible class, one of the largest in Trinity Reformed church Sunday school, entertained the members of it at his home last night. There were about thirty guests, including besides the class Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck and Superintendent F. E. Smith. There was a splendid social time and during the evening a delightful programme of music was rendered, at the conclusion of which refreshments were served.

John A. De Hollander and Mrs. Richard Morris, of New Brunswick, are taking the places of Supt. Meserole and Miss Emma Space in the school while the latter are quarantined on account of the illness of Charles A. Morris, of Perth Amboy, a guest at the Meserole house, with diphtheria. Mr. Morris' mother has come from Hightstown to nurse him.

Tomorrow morning will witness something like a baptismal bee at the First Baptist church. Fourteen candidates will be immersed. They are the fruits of the recent revival, and number almost as many as the converts brought into the Methodist Episcopal church and the Presbyterian church together.

L. L. Block is still suffering from the effects of the injuries sustained in the railroad accident at Lincoln crossing several weeks ago. He is able to be around, but his left shoulder pains him considerably. Suit has not yet been brought, the company holding his claim for damages under consideration.

The suit of O. M. Hetfield against State Titsworth for damages, before Justice Von Minden, was postponed for two weeks yesterday. The plaintiff seeks to recover for alleged damage done on his garden by the defendant's chickens.

Marshall Mohan has been appointed a truant officer and is regularly empowered to enforce the compulsory education law. The appointment is made in response to a request from the school board.

The Bible class of the Presbyterian church will hold its annual missionary service at the church tomorrow morning. Miss Josephine Petrie, of Plainfield, will make an address.

Abner Coriell, Jr., has been sued on contract by Anna Carman, administratrix, in Justice Von Minden's court. The hearing is set for December 14.

Special music will mark the service at the Presbyterian church tomorrow night. Newton R. Cass, of Princeton University, will sing a solo.

A large party of Dunellen and New Market people attended the revival service in Bound Brook Thursday night. At least thirty made the trip.

Anna Carman, administratrix, has started suit on contract against Edward Ayers. It will be heard in Justice Von Minden's court on December 14.

Four candidates were made members of Rockview Council, D. of L., at its last meeting. Two more candidates are still to be initiated.

George Cole has sued Arthur Vail in a landlord and tenant action. It will be heard before Justice Von Minden December 12.

John Peters has entered on a position in a Plainfield restaurant. He has entirely recovered from his recent illness.

Mrs. George Lyscomb, of New York, has returned home after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. John Herbert.

George Schenck has repaired the chutes of his ice houses in preparation for the winter's harvest.

Seven converts were taken into the Methodist church as a result of the recent revival.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Borough Recorder Sheelen took summary action in a case of alleged abuse of a child which was being cared for by Mrs. Bender, of Terrill road. The little one's mother, Mrs. Singer, who lives in Brooklyn, was notified by the recorder to take her child to more congenial quarters. Mrs. Bender denied the charges, but as she has been before the borough court on several occasions, charged by her neighbors with being abusive and disorderly, it was thought best to take the child away.

A recent law passed compels taxpayers to pay their annual taxes on or before December 20 or become delinquent. In former years the delinquent list has not been made up until January. This has allowed many to become careless in the matter. Look out you don't get on the list, and then blame the township officials.

Charles and Battell Loomis, who have been spending their Thanksgiving vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Battell Loomis, of the borough, have returned to their studies at Mt. Pleasant Academy.

Services tomorrow at the Baptist church will be: Sunday school, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching by pastor, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7:15 p. m.; evening sermon, 7:45.

Fanwood Council, R. A., holds its annual election of officers for the ensuing year at the semi-monthly meeting of the Council, to be held Tuesday night.

Several from here will be found tonight at Madison Square Garden, watching the closing struggles in the finish of the six-day bicycle race.

The several Sunday schools in town are beginning to arrange for the annual Christmas exercises, which will be held during holiday week.

Rev. Mr. Hoffman will lead the prayer and praise meeting tonight at the Methodist church.

Frederick Clark is erecting a new barn on the Coles property on East Front street.

Miss Susie Parse is visiting friends in Newark.

NEGRO MURDERER MUST DIE.

Edward Tapeley Hears Sentence of Death Again Imposed.

Jersey City, Dec. 9.—Edward H. Tapeley, the negro who was born in Newark, who murdered his common-law wife, must pay the death penalty for his crime on December 22—just two weeks from today—unless the Court of Pardons interferes and commutes his sentence to life imprisonment, which is not thought likely. Tapeley, with an air of resignation rather than indifference, stood before Judge Blair in the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday and heard sentence imposed for a second time.

Tapeley was represented by Charles J. Peschall, whose motion for a postponement of sentence was denied, and who left the courtroom declaring he would save the negro. He did not say how, and it is not believed that he will be as successful in this case as he was in that of the negro murderer Edward H. Hallinger, whose sentence of death he was able to have postponed several times by various appeals.

Hapeley was originally sentenced to be hung on August 18, but the imposition of the death sentence was postponed through a writ of error obtained by the murderer's counsel. This writ was never prosecuted, and on motion of Prosecutor Speer it was dismissed. Immediately after sentence was pronounced the murderer was transferred to the condemned cell on the third floor of the jail and a death watch placed over him.

THE NO-PASS MOVE.

New Rule Will Have Little Effect in New Jersey.

Philadelphia, Dec. 9.—"No more passes over the Reading or Jersey Central after January 1," is the dictum of President Baer, who thus follows the lead of the New York Central and the Pennsylvania.

He intends also that the same order shall be made by every other road with which he is connected if he can have his way. He said:

"In issuing the order there will be no distinction made and every person not identified with the Reading and Central Railroad of New Jersey will be cut off at the end of this year."

In view of the sentiments expressed by Mr. Baer, it is thought he will try to induce the Lehigh Valley to take the same action. It is intimated that as the Pennsylvania controls the Norfolk and Western and the Chesapeake and Ohio, and dominates the Baltimore and Ohio, those roads are expected to swing into line.

New Brunswick, Dec. 9.—The new ruling of the Pennsylvania and other railroads cutting off all passes will hove little effect within the limits of New Jersey, in the opinion of an attorney of this city. In New Jersey the right to ride free over all roads is given to an army of State officials. This right, however, is limited to the traveling made necessary in the discharge of this official duties."

GREASE THEIR NUMBERS.

That's What Somerset Farmers Say of Auto Owners.

Whitehouse, Dec. 9.—The first meeting of the Anti-Automobile Association since election was held last night in Rupell's Hall at North Branch. There was a good attendance. No speaker had been secured for this session, so the members engaged in a general discussion relating to the laws against reckless automobile driving. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that the present laws in this respect in this State are too lax and that it would be a good idea to add to the fine and imprisonment.

Some farmers believe that many automobilists grease the numbers on their machines so the dust will collect, making it almost impossible to read them.

The next meeting will be held in Rupell's Hall, Thursday evening, December 21, when Clarence E. Case, law partner of former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, will speak.

Juniors to Attend Service.

The members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet in their rooms tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the purpose of attending services at the Y. M. C. A. at 4 o'clock. Rev. E. E. Roberson, of Bound Brook, a member of the order, will speak.

V. W. Nash, Sr., of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., has returned from Phillipsburg, where he has been on business in connection with the Workmen.

CUT OFF HIS HAND.

Madison Man Catches Member Between Machine Knives.

Madison, Dec. 9.—While cutting cornstalks yesterday afternoon, Benjamin F. Knapp, who lives about a mile from here, cut off his left hand, leaving but a fragment of the little finger. He had no idea how rapid the machine was going and endeavored to arrange one of the wheels, when his hand was caught in the cogs and carried to the knife and cut off before he could make the least effort to extricate it.

Two physicians were summoned, but he lost considerable blood and suffered severely from the shock. He is a veteran of the Civil War and has been a cripple for years, resulting from exposure on the battlefield.

MONUMENT TO ENEMY WAS KILLED IN BATTLE

SLAB MARKS BRITISH SOLDIER'S GRAVE IN PLUCKEMIN.

The village of Pluckemin, which nestles among the hills of Somerset county, midway between Somerville and Bernardsville, has been the scene of many historical events. Christopher Eoff's tavern, in Revolutionary days, was a famous hostelry, and it was here that General Knox's division of Washington's army camped for the winter, and it was in the old academy in the village where the French ball, which celebrated the alliance with France, was held. Only a few of the landmarks, however, remain to recall those historic events.

The most interesting relic of the past is a small and very plain marble slab in the old burying ground, which marks the burial place of the gallant Captain Leslie, of the British army, who fell mortally wounded at the battle of Princeton. A small white Presbyterian church stands on one side of the burying ground, right along the main street, and just beyond is the chapel. It is between these two that the grave of the British officer lies.

Upon the monument is the following inscription:

In Memory of the Hon. Capt. William Leslie, of the 17th British Regiment,
son of the Earl of Leven,
in Scotland.
He fell January 3d, 1777, aged 26 years, at the battle of Princeton.
His friend, Benj. Rush, M. D., of Philadelphia,
Hath caused this stone to be erected, as a mark of his esteem for his worth, and respect for his noble family.

Leslie was the son of the Earl of Leven, and was a captain in the Seventeenth Regiment of foot. He was of a military line, being descended from that old Earl of Leven who was a soldier under Gustavus, and who, at the battle of Marston Moor, boldly rode at the head of his Scotch covenanters to oppose the cavalier troopers massed by the thousands under the silken standard of Prince Rupert.

It is a singular circumstance that when Captain Leslie received his death wound so far from home and kindred there were two friends of his parents near at hand. The battle was fought almost within the shadows of a college, the president of which was John Witherspoon. He had been a Presbyterian minister at Paisley, a Scottish town not far from Milville House, the seat of the Earl of Leven.

Captain Leslie's mother was a devout Presbyterian, and she kept up a correspondence with Dr. Witherspoon even after he had been called to America. The other friend, who was close by when he fell, was Surgeon Benjamin Rush. He had obtained his medical education in Scotland, and while there became acquainted with the family of the Earl of Leven.

When the heat of the engagement at Princeton was over, Washington and his staff, while crossing some fallow ground, discovered a party of soldiers supporting an injured officer. Upon inquiring and learning his name and rank, Surgeon Rush, who was in the general's suite, thus addressed his chief: "I beg your excellency to permit this wounded officer to be placed under my care, that I may return, to however small a degree, a part of the obligations I owe to his worthy father for the many kindnesses received at his hands while I was a student at Edinburgh."

The request was granted, and Rush was quickly out of the saddle, and with the aid of an orderly placed Leslie in a farmers' wagon that was collecting the wounded. The young soldier at once received surgical treatment, and every care and attention was bestowed upon him. He was carried with the army as it retreated to the Millstone River and on through Somerset county to Pluckemin, which place was reached the following afternoon with the army in an exhausted condition. Captain Leslie died just as the wagon in which he and other wounded men was descending the hill below Chamber's Brook, on the outskirts of the village.

The next day was Sunday and the numerous visitors from the surrounding country who came to Pluckemin to head the news of the battle of Princeton and to see the commander-in-chief, were treated to an unexpected affair of ceremony. About midday a detachment of forty men from Rodney's regiment marched into the village and drew up in line, with its centre opposite the entrance to the building in which lay the dead body of Captain Leslie, probably Eoff's tavern. The young English officer was about to be buried with the honors of war, the light infantry being selected as escort because of their soldierly appearance and superior uniform.

The detachment was commanded by Captain Humphries. At the beat of muffled drum and wail of fife the men presented arms, as the body was borne from the house to the flank of the line. The escort then broke into columns of fours, and, reversing arms, marched in slow time and with solemn step to the Lutheran churchyard, where they filed to the left, forming in line opposite an open grave.

Dr. Rush was not the only mourner at that burial. Among the citizens and military clustering about the bier were the captured British officers whom Washington had generously permitted to be present in order that they might bid a final adieu to a comrade-in-arms who had been much beloved.

The grave was at first marked by Surgeon Rush with a brown headstone, with the forgoing inscription upon it. This stood for nearly sixty years. About the year 1835, Professor John D. Ogilby, of Rutgers College, when in Scotland, was requested by the then Earl of Leven to find and, if necessary, remark the grave. Upon the professor's return to America he went to Pluckemin, found the grave and set up the present stone, reproducing the original inscription.

Dr. Rush, soon after this incident, took his seat in Congress, which was then sitting at Baltimore. His figure soon after became a familiar one to Somerset people.

LITERARY NOTES.

"Chicago's Street Railway Deadlock" is vigorously discussed in the National Magazine for December by Mayor Dunne, who charges that the banks, newspapers and city council majority are in league to discredit his programme and defeat the desire of the people for municipal ownership of the cars lines. Joe Mitchell Chapple's "Affairs at Washington" presents many new and attractive portraits of men and women prominent at the capital. Frank Putnam has a spicy review of "The November Elections." "Stevenson's Monterey" is the title of a fascinating literary paper by Charles Warren Stoddard, recalling a little-known chapter in the life of the famous poet and storyteller. In "The Tribulations of Newville," Paul Tafel has a quaint and picturesque parable portraying the whole economic development of the United States and foreshadowing our future. "Old Bar A," by Jessie M. Whittaker, is a jolly and rollicking ballad of life on the Texas plains. Of equal merit is "The Christmas Backlog," a story-poem by John Brown Jewett, that will win every heart. "The Salt of the Earth," a two-part novelette begun in this number, is a vigorous and beautiful story of country life in Kentucky, by E. C. Litsey. Michael A. Lane's science paper is "Capital and Its Rights," in which he offers some shrewdly original suggestions and punctures some age-old falacies.

The new decorative magazine, Interior Decoration, issues a December number almost entirely devoted to American Colonial and English Georgian decoration. A fully illustrated article entitled "The Colonial Guest Chamber" is followed by an article on "The Colonial Parlor"; a third illustrated article is devoted to "The Five Phases of Colonial," and a fourth to "Colonial Wall Papers." There is an article on "The Collecting of Colonial Pieces" and one on the "Colonial Living Room." The famous Eighteenth Century architects, the Adam Brothers, are treated of in an illustrated article; "Chippendale and Sheraton," the furniture makers, are included in an article illustrated with glimpses of a Sheraton bedchamber. A special division of Colonial, known as "French Colonial," is illustrated, and the treatment of the "Colonial Hall" includes a full page reproduction of the hall in the "Hermitage" in Tennessee, the home of Andrew Jackson. There is an article on "Dining Room Wall Papers," "Modern Furniture Made in Colonial Style" and one on "Decorative Lighting." The three latter pages of the number are illustrated profusely with the nice things to be had for Christmas in the New York shops, as well as in shops all over the country. The number costs ten cents, and may be had from all newsdealers. It is published at 19 Union Square, New York. Subscription, $1 a year.

WE ALL HAVE TROUBLES.

There is no person who hasn't troubles.

No matter how smooth and calm a life may appear to a casual observer, rest assured if you come in close touch with that person you would find trouble in one form or another.

Troubles of the heart are the most common, and still the lover is a much misunderstood person and gets little sympathy from the cold, cold world.

This seems altogether strange, for at one time or another most persons have dabbled in love. This of itself should create a broad and deep sympathy.

A person, for instance, who has had the measles, chicken pox or dyspepsia is always willing to discuss all the various symptoms of these diseases.

But love, alas! is different.

One who has been through it, instead of being willing to discuss the symptoms with a fellow sufferer, is rather ashamed of having suffered.

It is such a selfish ailment that the sufferer is never interested in any case but his own, and a person once having recovered is apt to look at a fellow sufferer with a smile of kindly superiority.

So don't tell any of your troubles, but most particularly, unless you pine to be an object of ridicule and dislike, don't tell your sentimental woes.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

These books are being introduced as regular studies in some colleges. Judge J. M. L., of Maine, says "the whole Truth of Life is well expressed in them" and that "at the age of 71, I have built myself all over by observing their teachings." Dr. Yates, of Cincinnati, says "I am convinced that you have the best work on the subjects taught, and I am familiar with most all writers on these and kindred subjects." I. Donnelly said "I would gladly give $100 for the set if I could not get them for less." The verdict of nearly all who receive them is equally enthusiastic. Over a quarter of a million copies have been sold within the past year. Note the following

Why Buy McClure's?

McClure's Magazine is bought and read in homes not because it is a magazine, but because it is the magazine. Why?

FIRST—THE PRICE. It costs but one dollar a year, or less than ten cents a number, for over thirteen hundred two-column pages of reading matter. This amounts in actual bulk to twenty or twenty-five books costing anywhere from a dollar to two dollars a volume.

SECOND—QUALITY. The reading matter is written by America's leading writers—the best short story writers, the best writers on timely articles, the best writers of important serials, such as Schurz's Reminiscences or Baker's Railroad articles.

THIRD—TIMELINESS. The reading matter in McClure's is not only good; it is not only entertaining, amusing, instructive and inspiring—it is also about the subjects in which you and all Americans are most interested at the time. No subjects in the next twelve months are going to be so important as the question of railroad rates and rebates and the question of life insurance. Both of these questions will be discussed by authorities in an impartial, careful, interesting way.

FOURTH—ITS CHARACTER. McClure's Magazine is not edited for children, but at the same time, there is never a line in it that any young girl might not read. Its advertising pages are as clean as its editorial pages.

NEW JERSEY'S MAYORS UNITE.

Their League in Fight for Equal Taxation.

In response to invitations sent out by Mayor Fagan, of Jersey City, as President of the Mayors' League of New Jersey, a number of the chief magistrates of the cities of the State, including Westfield but not Plainfield, as well as members of the Legislature, met Thursday in the Mayor's office in the City Hall, Jersey City, for the purpose of discussing equal taxation and other remedial legislation. In order to define the position of the league Mayor Edward Kenny, of East Newark, presented these resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That this association favors the enactment of laws by the incoming Legislature as follows:

"1. A law providing for the taxation of railroad main-stem real estate at local rates.

"2. A law prohibiting any municipality from granting any public utility franchise for a longer period than twenty-five years in cities of the first class, with the privilege to other municipalities to make such grants for a period of not exceeding 35 years, if approved by a vote of the people.

"3. A law providing for the annual assessment of the franchises of public utility companies and the taxation thereof at local rates.

"4. A law repealing the Hillery tax law.

"5. That this association urge the members of the Legislature to use their influence toward the election of a Speaker pledged to favor the enactment of these laws.

"Resolved, That the Executive Committee be authorized to arrange for public meetings in aid of the cause of equal taxation at such times and places as it may be determined on."

The committee (all Mayors or Mayors-elect) appointed by Mayor Fagan is as follows: Edward Kenny, of East Newark; A. J. Lockwood, of Glen Ridge; August Gereche, Carlstadt; C. A. Reed, Morristown; W. Goldberg, Kearny, and Mayor Fagan, of Jersey City, ex-officio.

WANT LOVE RECIPROCATED?

An ancient manuscript gives Casanova's following love charm:

"A young man desirous of inspiring love in a girl that looks upon his suit with indifference will surely succeed in his quest if he obeys the following tried and approved instructions:

"On a Friday morning, before sunrise, go into an orchard and pluck an apple, one of pale color if the girl is pale, one with red cheeks if your lady love is distinguished for such beauty. While in the act turn your face toward the east and say not a word ere it's accomplished, no matter how many people you run across. After securing the apple, cause a little blood to flow in the breast, nearest your heart, and with this lover's ink write your own and your girl's name on a piece of thin tissue paper. This should be made into a roll and wound with a rope made of hair from the head of your girl and your own. Three hairs entwined of each will suffice.

"Now divide the apple into two equal parts, remove the pits and place into the hollow the bit of paper with the names. Then close up the apple again with splinters cut from the wood of twigs of a myrtle bush. The myrtle, according to mythology, has been a symbol of love and marriage since time immemorial, and all lovers should give it high place in their estimation.

"Wait until full moon, and during the night, with the light shining upon the stove, bake the apple in the oven until it's dry and hard, pronouncing from time to time the name of the beloved one. The apple you must manage to place under your lady love's pillow before she goes to bed; a girl friend, sister or cousin, or perhaps a servant, will do as much for you. Such will be the consequences:

"During the first night the beloved one will be unable to sleep; heartaches, her little head is tortured by uncertainties, yet at intervals she will dream pleasant dreams with her eyes wide open.

"During the second night the girl will become cognizant of the fact that she is in love, that someone is thinking of her, wants her, wants no one else.

"And on the third night the god of love will tell the girl that you are the man whose soul is craving for her, that you will make her happy and that no one else can make her happy but you.

"The same methods may be employed by a girl, or woman, toward the male person she loves."

RETIREMENT FUND MAY SPLIT TEACHERS' ASS'N.

DR. SWINGLE LEADS OPPOSITION—SAYS FUND IS NOT PROPERLY CONDUCTED.

Newark, Dec. 9.—That a rupture in the New Jersey State Teachers' Association is imminent and may be a distressing feature of the society's annual meeting in the Atlantic City high school, December 27 28 and 29 was admitted today by officers of the association. Dr. William M. Swingle, of Orange, president of the body, said he was aware of the seriousness of the breach of the society said to be occasioned by the management of the retirement fund in its relation toward the State association.

"You might say that the management is making the fund too prominent a feature to suit everybody," President Swingle said, "and that the leading superintendents and principals are opposed to the management of the retirement fund as at present conducted. There is also grave possibility that unless matters are adjusted in a proper manner that the principals and superintendents will retire from the body and form a new association."

At the last meeting of the association resolutions were adopted that a commission of three be named to consider the general working and operation of the fund, and to report on various points and make recommendations.

In accordance with this resolution Judge William R. Codington, of this city, Charles H. Hartshorne, of Jersey City, and Professor Byron C. Matthews, of this city, were named. After having gone exhaustively into the question in all its phases, taking testimony, investigating the status of existing funds and pensions in other states, summoning expert testimony and advice, all of which have been utilized in reaching their conclusions, a ful written report will be presented, embracing the committee's conclusions relative to the present standing of the fund, and it will make suggestions for future legislation, if in its judgment it may be necessary.

TOMMY'S PUP AND A CAT.

Little Tommy on our block owns a pet dog of no particular breed. The boy and dog took an airing last evening. Tommy's chum is the possessor of a fine tiger-striped cat, whose reputation as a ratter and a scrapper is all over the street. Tommy and his dog met the chum and his cat sitting on the latter boy's stoop. The boys began to talk and disagreed about the fighting qualities of their particular pets.

"Sic him, Danger!" said Tommy to his pup.

"Go for the ki-ki!" retorted the chum to his pet.

There was a growl of defiance from Danger and a snake like spit from Mr. Cat, and immediately the fur began to fly. Later developments proved that the pup was getting the worst of the fight and Tommy wanted to call all bets off. His chum wouldn't stand for it, as his cat was a beauty in a mix-up with Mr. Pup, and the two boys clinched and found themselves whirled among the four-footed combatants.

After the smoke of battle had cleared away Tommy was found nursing a black eye, his chum a badly bumper head, Tige was running home with a lacerated tip to his nose and Mr. Cat was calmly cleaning his whiskers on the fence near by. Others gathered around and wanted to know who licked. The question is still open to discussion.—Albany Journal.

SUPT. KREBS DELIGHTS METHODIST BROTHERHOOD

HIS TALK ON A JOURNEY OVER THE ALPS MUCH ENJOYED.

H. C. Krebs, the borough school superintendent, afforded an hour of unusual pleasure to the members of the Brotherhood of the First M. E. church last night, with a talk on his travels across the Alps and through Italy. Mr. Krebs took the trip in 1902, but his recollections of the journey are vivid, and he has the happy faculty of bringing his hearers into his recollections.

The story of the journey was not a "lecture." It was not so stiff; it was much more full of color and very much more interesting. When Mr. Krebs had finished every man in his audience had a vague feeling as if he had been through all that the speaker described. That was the influence of an absolutely convincing manner and description, not alone of places, but of people, virile enough to form mental pictures in the minds of the hearers that seemed very like recollections of their own. The bounds of a news report make it impossible to give an adequate resume of so delightful a travel talk.

There was an hour of informal sociability after Mr. Kreb's finished. Refreshments were served, and Mr. Krebs filled that period with enjoyment by recounting detached anecdotes of his continental wanderings.

The Brotherhood committee in charge of the affair was made up of Nelson A. Miller, Dr. Frank French, and William Symons.

WATCHES FOR CHRISTMAS

poor Egyptians' money in building a palace for himself and his guests at the inauguration of the Suez Canal. The principal guest at the palace at the inaugural was the Empress Eugenie. This palace is now a hotel, and we occupied one of the suites occupied by the Empress Eugenie at the Gazeera Palace. The Mohammedans oblige the Copts to wear blue, as a badge of inferiority, while an Arab wears either a black or white gown.

"The old citadel, Cairo, was built by Saladin in 1136, and has been the scene of many an enterprise, good, bad and indifferent, on the part of the rulers. In the neighborhood of the Shepherd's Hotel, Mohammed Ali had massacred Hoo Mamalukes. The mosque of Mohammed Ali is remarkable for its carpets and most exquisite rugs, which are great in size and deep in color. The mosque of Hassan Pasha is considered by many to be more beautiful than the mosque of St. Sophia at Constantinople. Cairo's population is between 570,000 and 600,000.

"She is about 110 feet long and 18 feet across and draws less than two feet of water. The light draught is necessary owing to the Nile being so shallow. We found her a most comfortable houseboat and her crew consisted of seventeen. We had to have a cook, an assistant cook, a waiter and a waiter to assist him and a valet dijon. Our party consisted of twenty-two or twenty-three all told.

"There are two great personages who have impressed themselves on Egypt; one is Moses and the other Ramses II. the Great, who never lost an opportunity to put up a statue or portrait of himself. If he had lived in these days, I think his name would have been Chauncey Depew. The "step" pyramid is older than the pyramid of Cheops, which was erected 4,000 years before Christ.

"The chief pleasure an Egyptian takes is in visiting the tombs or cemetery. You frequently see a little "gyassa" (work boat) crossing the river with a party, who take with them their day's provender and visit the tombs. There they enjoy themselves, thinking, I suppose, how pleasant it is to be dead.

"On the columns of the temples of Abidus and also on the seventy-two columns of the temple at Luxor, there are large numbers of bas-reliefs of Phtha and hieroglyphics, which have been reduced to record and go to complete the history of all these centuries. The breaks and disfigurements in the walls were made by Cambyses, who hated the Egyptian religion.

"The Egyptians are very musical; they cannot get along without music. All our crew were singers, and gave us a concert almost every evening. They could not work without singing. When they furled a sail, whenever the boat 'went about,' they would use some weird, strange intonation, as it were. We had to have and paid one man who was precentor for the crew. (The sailors call them 'shanty-men.') He was perhaps the best singer on the Nile. He would lead the solo with his fine tenor voice and the crew would join in the chorus. People would stop their camel trains in order to hear him sing, and applauded him enthusiastically.

"The temple of Luxor is on the site of the ancient city of Thebes, 450 miles up the river from Cairo. It is of great antiquity. It bears the marks of not only the original king who erected it, but of his successors who added to it. A king would establish a temple to commemorate himself, and as years passed by it would be restored and repaired and beautified by his successors. This temple has seventy-two columns fifty feet high and eleven feet in diameter, with the Lotos buds closed. Ramses erected these columns, and on each one of the Lotos leaves that appear on the top is a portrait of himself. Only a few years ago the rubbish in which this temple was buried was cleared away, and Lady Duff Gordon had her house on the top of the ruins of this temple. At its entrance there are two massive black granite portraits of Ramses II. in sitting posture. All of the obelisks were taken from the quarries at Assouan.

"A mile and a half from the temple of Luxor is the temple of Kamak, which was originally connected with the temple of Luxor by an avenue, and on each side of the road, facing the centre, was a line of Sphinxes to guard the passageway from one temple to the other. Thebes was on both sides of the river, which ran directly through it.

"The Collosi of Memnon were built by Amonocus III. about 1600 B. C. There has been a good deal of confusion about names. They were named after kings who built them, Amon, instead of Agamemnon. Ramses III. built the temple of Mednia in the form of a palace. It is an imitation of Assyrian architecture and it is said many of the kings lived in palaces attached to various temples. There are various hieroglyphic inscriptions, one of which depicts a couple of men playing chess. Ramses, the Greek, erected a temple to commemorate himself, and he is supposed to be the king who oppressed the Hebrews. Directly opposite Thebes is the Valley of the Tombs of the Kings. We counted forty or forty-two tombs. We went into the tomb of Ramses III. I think it was 500 feet in extent under the mountain. In these tombs are inscriptions and mural decorations, well preserved paintings which depict the history of the dead, and their expectations to the life beyond. Sometimes we see him making obeisance and sacrifices to his god, and sometimes we see the soul of the king appearing before his judges, and a scale, in which his soul is being weighed, on one side, and the good things he has done, and his sins, in the other side of the balance. This is of great interest of archaeologists. We met a Mr. Davis, of Newport. If anyone reads the Century Magazine, you will see his very interesting discovery of sarcophagi, mummy cases and various implements. The temple of Queen Hatasu, daughter of Thotmes I., sister of Thotmes II., and co-ruler with Thotmes III. She was a wonderful woman and this temple was erected by her. It is one of the most interesting temples at Luxor.

Quarries of Assonan.

"All the obelisks and statues came from this quarry, as also the stones for the great dam at the first cataract. We discovered an obelisk of one piece nearly ninety feet long, carved from the solid rock, but not as yet separated from the rock itself. It was covered with sand. These monoliths were cut loose and carried to wherever they were to be set up, and it is simply a marvel how it was ever done. At Assouan also are the tombs of men of renown, wealth and position, but not of kings, and upon the walls of these tombs are inscribed in bas-relief and colors the history of the men and what they did.

"The Great Dam of the First Cataract is a wonderful piece of engineering, undertaken by the English, whereby the waters of the Nile are stored up, so that when the river is too low the water can be distributed to the country below and be irrigated and by this means the fertility along the banks of the Nile can be increased. The locks are about thirty-two feet wide and 100 feet long, up to date in every respect, and the perfect machinery for opening and closing the gates can hardly be conceived. The dam is one and one-half miles long and runs across the river about six miles above Assouan. This place was selected on account of the location of the granite quarries. The masonry is of solid granite, eighty-two feet thick at the base and twenty-three feet wide at the top, on which is a driveway sufficient for two or three teams abreast. There are 160 sluice gates and the head of water is sixty-five feet, and over a billion tons of water can be stored up behind this dam. It is estimated it will increase the fertility and aggregate yield twenty per cent., so that there will be one-fifth more yield for the fellaheen farmers. It cost about thirteen millions and yields about $1,500,000 per annum."

Retirement of Prominent Firm.

The retirement of Hill & Shupp from active business in Plainfield, January 1st, and their contract with their successors to reduce the stock will require that they dispose of merchandise very liberally during the balance of December. As a means to this end the entire salesforce have had special instructions to make attractive prices on all broken lots of merchandise, which will undoubtedly open up to holiday buyers some of the most profitable buying opportunities in Plainfield. Fresh, new holiday merchandise was selected for the month of December, hence every department has attractions for the holiday shopper.

Elaborate Store Decorations.

The decorators at the Hill & Shupp store have been at work for days giving the store the most elaborate display in years, and the displays are so arranged that they offer exceptional opportunities for the selection of holiday merchandise at the convenience of the customer. An important feature of this season's display of fancy work is the Oriental display in charge of Miss Amelia Saleeby, a native of Syria. This young lady has expert knowledge on all kinds of rich Oriental fancy work and a little visit with her has been of exceptional interest to very many ladies.

A DOLL THREE FOOT TALL

To Be Given Away This Holiday Season.

An unusually attractive member of the Doll Family may be seen in one of the show windows of the Hill & Shupp Department Store.

This doll is as large as many children at two years of age and wears clothes made for the average child of that age. Her hair is "real hair" and can be combed and brushed. Her big brown eyes are amazingly expressive and close in sleep in the most life-like manner.

But the most interesting fact about this doll is the manner in which she will enter and gladden some home this Christmas time.

Hill & Shupp have offered to give this doll absolutely free to the customer who makes the greatest number of purchases at their store between now and December 21.

To determine this, the customer who presents the greatest number of "duplicate checks". (regardless of the amount of the purchase) at their store on Thursday, December 21, will be entitled to the doll and will receive same by calling at the store Saturday evening, December 23, at 10 o'clock.

A "duplicate" check is given each customer with every purchase at the Hill & Shupp store.

Orchestra Concerts.

The musical evenings at the Hill & Shupp store during the past season by the Plainfield Symphony Orchestra and Trio have interested thousands of Plainfield musical people. These concerts will be continued each Saturday evening and holiday week, December 18 to 23. The store will be open for evening shoppers every evening, commencing December 18, with an attractive orchestra concert each evening. The management expect to make this the most interesting holiday season in the history of this store.

Attractive Showing of Holiday Linens

Among other lines for which the Hill & Shupp store has enjoyed a well earned reputation, the Linen Department has been especially prominent. Some unusual depression on imported linens this present season gave opportunity for the purchase at exceptional discount a lot of superior table damasks, napkins, fancy towels and fancy toilet linens. They expect to have them on sale at special prices right up to Christmas.

Fine Embroideries Being Sacrificed.

The Hill & Shupp people are again giving their patrons a few days' opportunity to select from their entire large assortment of fine embroideries at a discount of 25c on each dollar. As these goods enter very largely into holiday preparations, the offering has already brought an unusual number of interested buyers.

Scene From "By Right of Sword" — Act 3d.

At New Plainfield Theatre This Afternoon and Evening.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Those who have enjoyed "Uncle John Spruceby" in times past will not need any urging, and to those who have never enjoyed that pleasure, we can say look in on "Uncle Josh Spruceby" and you will know that you have put in a pleasant evening and only regret that the time passed so quickly. This wholesome rural drama will be at the New Plainfield theatre next Monday night

Gus Yorke, of Yorke and Adams, who come to the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night, in the new musical comedy, "Bankers and Brokers," tells an amusing story regarding a piece of property he recently purchased in Connecticut. Directly opposite Mr. Yorke's house are some open lots containing a number of trees, and it was his custom each morning after breakfast to walk across the road and enjoy a cigar under their shelter. One morning Gus was approached by a clerical individual, who after wishing him goodday, remarked: "I have noticed you on several occasions under this tree, and always find you with a cigar in your mouth. Now, if it is not a rude question, would you mind telling me what these cigars cost you?" "Well," remarked Yorke, "this particular brand costs three for a half." "And how many do you smoke a day?" was the next question. "Oh, about a half dozen," was the reply. "Why, that's awful! Do you know that within twenty years, with interest, that amounts to over ten thousan dollars, and if you only gave up smoking you might own a nice homestead, as good as the one opposite?" "Perhaps you're right," was Mr. Yorke's answer, with a broad smile, "but don't you smoke?" "Why, no sir." "And do you own that house opposite or anything of equal value?" "Oh, no, but——" "Never mind the but, my friend," was Yorke's reply, "I own that house."

Broadhurst's new operatic farce, "The Duke of Duluth." Mr. Broadhurst is known throughout the country as the must successful writer of farces we have. This is his first attempt as a librettist and judging by the warm welcome that New York has extended his new vehicle, it would appear to mark his entry as a strong competitor in the field of musical comedy. Nat Wills is known throughout the country as a star comedian, having appeared with pronounced success last season in "A Son of Rest" and for many years as a tramp character in vaudeville. Mr. Broadhurst prefers not to disclose much of the plot of his new operatic farce, wishing to leave it to the public for disclosure. The action of the piece takes place in the mysterious land of Wot, a mythical country. Mr. Wills' supporting company of sixty-five people includes many well-known singers and comedians, besides a chorus of pretty girls, beautifully gowned and a lagre number of catchy and humorous songs and parodies.

In "Bankers and Brokers," at New Plainfield Theatre Tuesday Night.

With this season's production of the comedy, "De Lancey," especially written for Mr. Drew by Augustus Thomas, John Drew appears as a star under the management of Charles Frohman for the fourteenth year of his stage life. Mr. Drew first appeared under Mr. Frohman's management in 1890, at Palmer's theatre, New York. As "Jim De Lancy" he will be seen in this city in what the New York Herald called "the best comedy ever seen upon Broadway," at the New Plainfield theatre, on Friday, December 22.

Following a most successful New York engagement the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night will be the famous comedian, Nat M. Wills, in George H.

The engagement of Raymond Hitchcock and a notable company of associate players is the attraction which Manager Counihan announces for next Thursday night at the New Plainfield theatre. Mr. Hitchcock will be seen this time in a play which is a distinct departure from the class of vehicle with which he has hitherto been identified. The new play is by the well known war correspondent and dramatist, Richard Harding Davis, and possesses the unique title of "The Galloper," a title, by the way, for the definition of which one must peruse the writings of that picturesque and rollicking band of craftsmen who go to the front at war time to describe to the reading public the progress, pomp and circumstances of war. Mr. Davis' comedy is in three acts and Mr. Hitchcock assumes the role of Copeland Schuyler, a New York clubman, who, through certain complications volunteers to act as a genuine war correspondent where numerous comic situations befall him. The feminine interest representing the American girl is deftly contrasted. There is a genuine love and dramatic element in the comedy, various types of characters are exploited, and the amusing, strenuous and exciting incidents which actually befall newspaper correspondents in the field and on the fighting line are told in an inimitable way, actually sketched from Mr. Davis' own experiences in this campaign.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

"A Society Circus" will have its premier at the New York Hippodrome on Wednesday evening, December 13, succeeding "A Yankee Circus on Mars." Thompson & Dundy are confident that the new extravaganza will be the triumph of modern theatricals. "A Society Circus" has three acts and five scenes. It is replete with novel creations and a fortune has been expended for costumes, scenery and accessories. The story of "A Society Circus" relates of Lady Volumnia, whose "tainted" millions are spurned by charity, society and commerce. She seeks diversion in a gypsy camp where Paul Pasky, stranded circus performer, is revealed to her. He is her affinity, she is sure and she decides to utilize some of her ill-reputed in organizing a circus whose magnificence will be a revelation. The entertainment is provided at her castle, following what was to have been her marriage to the young gallant of the arena. But her designing secretary and major domo had abducted him, and he is not restored until there has ensued a remarkable series of incidents, a show of gowns in which American and France meet in contest for gorgeous supremacy; a diversified display of histrionic talent and a demonstration of the possibilities of the art of stagecraft at the Hippodrome. Mr. Thompson's crowning sensation is a water tableau which concludes his performance. The spectacle is described as one of transcending beauty. It is allegorical and pageantric in character and in magnitude tests the great proportions of the Hippodrome stage. More than four thousand gallons of water spout from houndreds of fountains each minute and the electric light effects are dazzling.

RAHWAY'S BIG R. R. STORY.

Pennsylvania Railway Plan Involving Use of Electricity.

Rahway, Dec. 9.—Since commencing plans for elevating the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks through Rahway, from the junction to Scott avenue, many changes have been made in their specifications, and the probabilities are that greater ones than all others put together are now in contemplation.

It has become necessary to have more speed, and it is an open secret that electricity is to be used between the junction below here and New York city. The time from here to New York averages forty-five minutes. This is to be cut down at least fifteen minutes.

New elevations, new roadbeds, new plans entirely are to come into use, for which specifications are said to be well under way.

Service for Old Jerry Horse.

While driven for exercise yesterday morning, Ted, one of the chemical engine team, sprained himself on a round stone. He was withdrawn from service and turned over to Dr. Pocock, the department vet. Old Jerry, the pensioned veteran of the fire stables, took Ted's place. Yesterday afternoon, for the first time in nearly a year, Jerry responded to the drill tap. He came out of his stall, galloped under the harness like the willing old expert he is—a bit slow, but unhesitating.

Will Build Auto Shop.

Sigmund Frucht, who purchased Dr. M. B. Long's property on Park avenue, is preparing plans for the erection of an automobile repair and storage building on the property. It will be one story high, 27x80 and will be built between the house and L. E. Hart's brick building. Mr. Frucht expects to have the building completed by February 1.

THE PEOPLE ALL
In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.
This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

"I CAN FLY HIGHER THAN YOU"

It was at 10 o'clock on a midsummer day, and the sunlight cast great golden splashes on the disturbed, fouled dust of the arena. The tiers fos aets, too, rising up, and up, and up, looked wofully deserted and bare and the canvas sides and roof, as they flapped and bellied in the wind, stood out hideously black and sioled in the searching light.

Lubin and Babette were dressed as angels or fairies, and were waiting with childish impatience to rehearse their ascending feat. They wore little wings to their backs, and Lubin carried a quiver of arrows slung on his shoulders, such as Cupid wears. A couple of workmen adjusted the wires that should convey the mthrough the great slit in the roof down which at night the limelight was to penetrate, and Monsieur le Directeur rubbed his hands in a satisfied way, and condescended to laugh with his subordinates, because he knew perfectly well that he had an excellent effect in preparation that should delight and astonish his patrons.

Lubin was a stout boy of nine. His heart beat high at the thought of his ascent, and though probably entertaining some misgivings, he assumed a stolid front and smiled bravely, tapping his little pink legs in the most casual manner with his gilt bow.

Babette was only six. She had golden hair, dressed like the halos one sees around the heads of saints, and her eyes were humid and timid as a doe's, and her limbs slender and fragile, and easily bruised or broken. She had no mother to stand by and comfort her; but Lubin, who had vowed his love for her, placed one arm around her waist and said, "See, Babette, we shall rise up towards the sky, like the angels in the pictures; and the people will clap their hands and cry, 'Bravo! Bravo, little Babette! This is excellent; this is grand!' And they will throw us sweetmeats, and Monsieur le Directeur will take you in his arms afterward and kiss you, and not use the whip, for you and I will bring him much money by our flying."

"Yes, Lubin," answered Babette, shivering, "but it is a long way up to the roof, and the wires may break."

"Not a bit of it," retorted Lubin stoutly. "See, I will go up first, and then you will feel sure."

The wires were held in readiness. "Now then, youngsters," said Monsieur le Directeur, "up you go! Ha, ha, ha! This shall be a surprise!"

Lubin stepped bodly forward and the hooks on the wires were fastened to a belt concealed in the folds of his trunks. Then the men above pulled, and he sailed gracefully upward, his little pink legs posed elegantly, his arms held forward, and his wings fluttering as if he really flew, so naturally nnd prettily that the manager and those below cried out "Bravo! Bravis-simo! This is indeed fairy like!"

When he was within three feet of the roof Monsieur clapped his hands and down he came, and, being unfastened, was sent off to dress himself, with a pat on the head and a penny.

"Now, Babette," said they, "you come and try."

Babette was nervous, but fearing the whip more than the fall, submitted quietly enough. Uu, up, up, until she passed through the slit in the roof and was basking in the real sunshine outside.

"Excellent, excellent!" shouted the manager. When Babette descended she was rewarded with two pats on the head and twopence.

She rushed to tell the news to Lubin. "I can fly higher than you, Lubin," she said exultantly. "I went right through the slit in the roof, and Monsieur Claude gave me twopence, and I am not a bit afraid." And she clapped her hands and danced around her child lover in great glee.

"Bravo, Babette!" cried Lubin proudly. "I told you there was nothing to fear."

"Ah! Lubin," she laughed, "I can fly higher than you—I can fly much higher than you."

Then she kissed him, and he kissed her, not in the least envious, and they went out and shared their threepence in chocolates.

Night came and the circus was full. The two children eagerly and joyfully looked forward to the limelit ascent that was to conclude the fairy ballet. They danced in the dance, they sang lustily in the chorus and then, as a hundred other little children were whirling around them, they took their places in the center of the arena, while the lines were dropped from the slit in the roof, through which the limelight flashed. The band played something dreamy, the crowds of fairies parted, and Lubin commenced to ascend amidst the plaudits of the audience.

How handsome he looked with his smiling face and gracefully posed limbs! The people were delighted. Babette was delighted. She called out in spite of herself: "Oh, Lubin, I can fly higher than that; I can fly higher than that!" Then he disappeared through the slit in the roof, and already her little legs were ten feet from the ground.

Up, up, up she went. The crowd cheered, and she smiled and bowed, and waved her baby arms, while her heart seemed too big for body to hold it.

"I'm coming, Lubin," she shouted, as she neared the slit in the roof, and saw the face of her little sweetheart looking down smiling and proud at her. "But I flew higher than you this morning, dear, and I——"

Snap! Oh, God of Heaven and young children! The wires had broken! Crash! A little bundle of quivering humanity and bloodstained gauze lay throbbing in the dust of the arena!

Turn out the crowd! Lower the lights! Don't let a mother's eyes see the tiny broken shape of this motherless morsel!

Monsieur le Directeur and his attendants crowded round her. He tried to lift her, but she screamed out, and somebody said: "Let her be! Let her be! You can't mend her!"

Then the pale faced public went away.

Lubin was by her side, crying over his little sweetheart. He laid his hand near her; he would not touch her for fear of causing her pain. She turned her eyes toward him. "I didn't fly so high as you tonight, dear Lubin," she whispered, "but I'll try and do better next time."

Then she fell asleep.

And as they lifted up the little crumpled bundle a certain man muttered in a broken voice, "Ay, but she's flown higher than we can see!"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

DEEDS NOT WORDS.

Plainfield People Have Absolute Proof of Deeds at Home.

It's not words, but deeds that prove true merit.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills,

For Plainfield kidney sufferers,

Have made their local reputation.

Proof lies in the testimony of Plainfield people who have been cured to stay cured.

Mrs. Margaret Reville, of 732 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For a long time I was troubled with a lame back and never found anything which gave me relief until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's pharmacy. In a short time after beginning to take them I felt their good effects, and from then on I improved steadily. I gave a statement at that time telling what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me, and I am glad to confirm anything I have previously said regarding the curative properties of this remedy. I used several other medicines to cure the lameness and aching in my back but got no relief until I took Doan's Kidney Pills and I give Doan's all the credit for my being cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

An Acrostic.
(By Mrs. M. L. Beam, of South River, N. J., who is past 80 years of age.)

Our way is dark;
Father, we need Thy care.
Who rules in heaven,
Art Thou not everywherer—
In earth and sea?
Heaven cannot Thee contain!
Hallowed by all
Be Thy most holy name!
Thy people read:
"Name of the Lord a tower;"
Thy people heed:
"Kingdom of thine and power."
Come soothe our hearts;
Thy promise we would plead:
"Will be their God;"
Be ours—our God indeed.
Done our own work,
On Thee we would rely;
Earth do His will
As they who dwell on high.
It is Thy life,
Is there aught here below
In which to trust?
Heaven is God's throne we know.
Give, Father, to Us but the Saviour's name,
This we will plead
Day after day the same.
Our plea is heard:
Daily Thy name we call.
Bread—Bread of Life—
And Saviour of us all.
Forgive our sins:
Us in our hearts renew.
Our foes forgive;
Trespassers are not few—
As we forgive;
We—let us all beware!
Forgive, God says,
Those all forgiven are
Who do forgive.
Trespass will surely come
Against us all—
Us 'till we reach our home
And find our rest.
Lead us—no more to roam—
Us in right paths;
Not leave us here to fall
Into this world's
Temptation—it surrounds us all.
But perils come;
Deliver us we pray,
Us from the evil—
From it day by day.
Evil abounds,
For every soul a snare;
Thine all the praise
Is, who can burdens bear.
The work is Thine;
Kingdom of glory won.
And made our own—
Th gift of Christ the Son.
Power, Lord, is thine,
And infinitely great
The Lord of Hosts!
Glory doth Thee await Forever! yes,
And ransomed ones like me
Ever may say,
Amen! Thus may it be!

What Every Wife Needs.

She needs a good temper, a cheerful disposition, and a knowledge of how her husband should be treated. She needs a capability of looking on the bright side of life and refusing to be worried by small things. She needs a secure grasp by such subjects as are of interest to men, and should not be above studying even politics in order to understand should her husband speak of them. She needs a sympathetic nature in order that, should sorrow fall upon them, she may be able to give comfort to her husband. She needs to understand something of sick nursing; a wife with no notion of what to do in cases of illness is but a useless thing. She needs considerable tact and patience —the one to enable her to know when to remain silent, and vica versa, and the other to put up with him when his temper is ruffled.—McCall's Magazine.

Everton Toffee.

This palatable sweet is made of one pound of powdered loaf sugar, one teacupful of water, one-quarter pound of butter, and six drops essence of lemon. Put the water and sugar into a new saucepan, and beat the butter to a cream; when the sugar is quite dissolved, add the butter and keep stirring the mixture over the fire until it sets. When a little is poured on a buttered dish to try, just before the toffee is done, add the essence of lemon. Pour into a buttered platter and when cool it will easily separate from the dish. This same sweet may be made into spicy butter- scotch by using brown sugar instead of white, and one-half ounce of ginger for flavoring instead of lemon.

Black Costumes.

It is understood that black cloth costumes are to be greatly in vogue once more. There is nothing that quite comes up to them whenever a quiet elegance is required, and a certain becoming dressiness. But while black suits appeal to matrons especially, and of all ages, it cannot be denied that the younger set once out of their teens sometimes look best in them. But on the other hand, they are not so likely to forswear the beautiful new colored cloths, which in point of fact represent their youth and beauty to perfection, and give so animated an expression of color to winter day assemblages.

The primary department of the First Baptist church Sunday-school met Thursday afternoon to rehearse for a Christmas entertainment to be held at the church on Saturday, December 16.

MR. FOWLER QUITS "CHEROKEE STRIP"

CONGRESSMAN'S SEAT ON REPUBLICAN SIDE IN THE HOUSE INTRODUCES A BILL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—Representative Fowler is no longer occupying a seat in the "Cherokee strip" on the Democratic side of the House. He discovered a seat on the Republican side, one row to the rear of his colleagues, Wood and Howell, and he preempted it at once. This gives all of the Jersey Republicans seats on their own side, and Mr. McDermott is the lone Jerseyman on the opposite side of the House. The members of the delegation are closer together than ever before.

In the estimate of appropriations required for the next fiscal year the secretary of the treasury asks for $500,000 to continue the improvement of the Delaware River; $46,100 for improvements at the Dover powder depot; $75,000 for the Passaic River improvement; and $15,000 for a light-house and fog-signal in the Passaic River.

Senator Kean has introduced a bill to correct the military record of Joseph H. Blanchard, late of Troop E., First New York Rifles; a bill making an appropriation of $30,000 for the Princeton monument; a bill to correct the military record of Stephen W. Stryker; a bill to grant a pension of $25 a month to Lydia M. Jones; and a bill to grant a pension of $12 a month to Abraham M. Cory, of New Providence.

Representative Fowler has introduced a joint resolution for the examination and survey of the westerly side of Arthur Kill; also a joint resolution to permit George H. Bridgman to accept an inkstand from the British government for his services to British interests while U. S. consul at Bolivia.

Senator Kean has a new seat. He has taken the seat formerly occupied by the late Orville H. Platt, of Connecticut. It is between Platt, of New York, and Senator Heyburn. He is also near Senator Lodge.

In the annual report of the secretary of the treasury it is stated that on July 19, 1904, on request of the governor of New Jersey and the State Board of Health the department of marine hospital service took charge of the quarantine station at Perth Amboy.

The Associations in the State Have a Total of $59,369,216.

Trenton, Dec. 9.—According to the annual report of David O. Watkins, State commissioner of banking and insurance, the total membership in the building and loan associations in New Jersey is 128,984, and the total assets of the associations amount to $59,369,216.

The total assets of the local associations aggregate $57,657,384, and of the State associations $1,711,832. The receipts during the year were: Local associations, $33,141,185; State associations, $1,279,084; total, $34,420,269.

The total number of shares in force at the end of the year in the local associations were 822,164 23-24, and in the State organizations 151,327, a total of 933,701 23-24.

At the present time there are 408 building and loan associations actively engaged in business in the State. This is an increase of sixteen over last year. Since the preceding annual report twenty-three associations have been incorporated and seven have ceased operation.

The report says: "As their returns indicate, the associations generally are in a prosperous condition."

Fire on the Fleischmann Estate.

The coach barn and other outbuildings on the estate of Uda Fleischmann in Millstone were destroyed by fire Thursday morning. A defective flue in the barn is said to have started the blaze. The horses and carriages were saved. The loss is $15,000.

Rutgers College Presidency.

There is a possibility that the Rev. William Isaac Chamberlain, now holding the presidency of the Arcot Mission College, at Vellore, India, may be the head of Rutgers College, several friends in this country having signified their intention of working for that end.

—The next informal dance will be held at the Park Club on Saturday night, December 16.

in the first instance have been submitted to the Board of Police. In view of the demands heretofore made by the defendant for a speedy trial before the Common Council, I inquired of counsel for the defendant whether the technical objection above referred to would be waived in order to bring about such a speedy trial. Counsel replied that while he desired a speedy trial, he was not at liberty to waive the objection referred to, and I may add that it was his legal right to decline to waive any objection whatever. While I regard the technical objection referred to as of little, if any, force, yet out of abundant caution, and in order that the case may be tried on the merits and not on technicalities, I suggest that perhaps you will think it wise to submit the inclosed charges in the first instance to the Board of Police, even though this may subject the members of the Common Council to the inconvenience of holding another adjourned meeting before we can get to trial.

"Since the Supreme Court has decided that the Board of Police of this city has no power to expell a police officer, or even to suspend him without pay, and that the Common Council is the only body having such power in this city, the Board may conclude that it will not go through the idle ceremony of having a hearing which would be without results, and accordingly at once refer the charges to the Common Council for trial. There would appear to be no reason, if the course indicated is adopted, why the trial may not still take place on the 18th inst., being the date which the Common Council has already informally selected as the date for trial.

"Yours truly,
"CRAIG A. MARSH,
"Corporation Counsel."

14TH ANNIVERSARY OF A C. E. SOCIETY

REV. MR. HERRING ADDRESSES 7TH-DAY BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE.

Reports of the past year's work, together with an able addrress by Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, were the features of the fourteenth anniversary exercises of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-day Baptist church held this morning.

Charles Neagle, president of the Senior Society, presided, and was in charge of the programme. Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor of the church, conducted the opening exercises, after which the reports of the Senior, Junior and Intermediate societies were read by Miss Bertha Mitchell, of the Senior Society. During the past year considerable money has been raised for missionary and tract work. It was reported that the student supported by the societies at Alfred University was graduated and that another is now being provided for at Salem College, Salem, West Virginia.

Following the reports, Mr. Herring gave an address on the subject "Ought, Can and Will," his line of thought being that Endeavorers ought to do all possible for their society. They can do much and they will accomplish considerable for the advancement of Christianity.

A young people's choir rendered special music during the services under the direction of Miss Jessie Utter, organist.

BITTEN BY VICIOUS DOG.

It Objected to Being Tied and Fastened Its Teeth in Woman.

In attempting to chain up a dog belonging to a boarder, Mrs. Sarah Haines, of Clinton avenue, was severely bitten yesterday morning. The dog belongs to William Mackey, who came to Plainfield a week ago from Elizabeth. He brought a half-breed bulldog with him, which was supposed to be very gentle.

During the day the dog was tied up in the yard. Yesterday morrning it brroke loose and Mrs. Haines went out to retie it. The dog allowed her to approach it, but as her outstretched hand came toward its collar it fastened its teeth in her wrist, and held on. Mrs. Haines struck the dog frantically over the head with her left hand and finally forced it to relinquish its grip. She picked up a stick, drove it back and ran to the house. Neighbors attracted by her screams drove the dog away with stones. Mrs. Haines was taken to a druggist, who cauterized the bites. The dog had not returned to the house up to last night. Mackey says he will have it shot if it comes back.

PROF. SHEARER HONORED.

Some of His Ideas to be Adopted in New York Schools.

Superintendent of Schools William J. Shearer, of Elizabeth, made an address at a meeting of the school teachers of the Borough of Manhattan, yesterday. The meeting was called for the purpose of learning something of the system introduced at Elizabeth by Mr. Shearer.

The New York teachers were much impressed with the excellence of Mr. Shearer's ides, and it is belived that his system will be adopted not only in Manhattan Borough, but Brooklyn as well. Andrew W. Epson, superintendent of the Public Schools of Manhattan, presided at the meeting yesterday.

Fault of a Driver.

One of the U. S. Express Company horses attached to a truck started to run away from the express delivery platform near the station last night, and narrowly run down a young man on a bicycle who was passing through North avenue at the time. These horses are seldom if ever tied while standing near the station, and while left alone they frequently make an attempt to get away. North avenue being a busy thoroughfare at train time, there is more or less danger from accident by the driving in and out of the express wagons.

At that time opportunity will be offered for persons desiring to unite with the church, and the Lord's Supper will be celebrated. The occasion promises to be one of general helpfulness and the public is cordially invited to participate.

SERMON MOVES JUNIORS

Several Asked For Preacher's Prayers at Y. M. C. A. Service.

250 ATTENDED MEETING

Three Councils of the City Go in a Body to Hear Rev. E. E. Roberson, a Fellow Junior.

Members of the Junior Order United American Mechanics filled the body of Y. M. C. A. Hall yesterday afternoon. They gathered to hear their brother, Rev. E. E. Roberson, of Bound Brook, preach the culminating sermon in the series of four he has been delivering at the Sunday meetings of the association. Fully 250 Juniors were in the audience, all three councils—Benevolent, Franklin and Somerset—of this city being represented by good sized delegations. They made the largest audience that has gathered at a Y. M. C. A. Sunday meeting this year.

The Juniors met at their hall in the Scheuer building, West Front street, just before the service and marched to the Y. M. C. A. in a body, two abreast. They filled the lower part of the hall, and nearly fifty were compelled to find seats in the gallery.

Mr. Roberson preached a strong evangelical sermon. As he explained, his three previous addresses were more in the nature of talks on subjects of general interest, but in his discourse yesterday he preached a sermon, pure and simple, drawing the lessons to be found in all that he had spoken on the preceding Sundays.

His plea was for the instant and unhesitating acceptance of Christ as the personal seviour. The text he took was from the thirtieth chapter of Deuteronomy, verse nineteen: "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live."

They who accept Christ, Mr. Roberson said, choose life—"I am the way and the truth and the life." He gave four reasons for the choice:

First, everybody needs Christ. He is needed that men may meet the purposes of their creation. There are four sides to man's nature—mental, physical, intellectual and spiritual. All three of the first named may be highly developed, and the world may call the man who has so developed himself a success, but unless his spiritual nature is not strengthened he is imperfect; he cannot be perfect until it is.

Secondly, it is manly to accept Christ. Once it was thought a man showed weakness if he became a Christian, but the example set by great and strong men like Lincoln, Gladstone and Garfield had destroyed that idea. The acceptance of Christ was, in fact, a test of manhood, and only men strong in manliness could accept him wholly.

Third, the acceptance of Christ gives men a chance to show how heroic they are. Moral courage is vastly superior to physical courage, and Christianity called for the exercise of that virtue. It called its followers to strife and battle, and not to a flowery bed of ease.

Fourth, Christianity meant everlasting life. It was idle for men to say that they did not need that assurance now, that there was time enough to prepare for it. It was needed at once; the call might come at any minute.

The sermon produced a noticeable effect upon those who heard it. When Mr. Roberson, just before offering the closing prayer, asked if there were any men who wished to be remembered particularly in his petition several hands were raised above bowed heads.

After the service Mr. Roberson was cordially greeted by the Juniors. The meeting was marked by two fine solos by Miss Merry, of Scranton.

P. H. S. MUSICAL CLUBS FOURTH ANNUAL CONCERT

ENJOYED BY LARGE GATHERING IN CAMERA CLUB ROOMS.

The fourth annual concert by the Plainfield High School Musical Clubs was given in the Camera Club rooms Saturday night for the benefit of the P. H. S. Athletic Association. The hall was crowded with members and friends of the school who enjoyed the excellent programme greatly. Much credit is due S. B. Howe, Jr., instructor of the musical clubs, for the good work.

In part first the orchestra rendered "Moonlight," Miss Marguerite Ostrom gave two recitations, "Our Hired Girl," and "The Raggety Man," Percy Mygrant gave a cornet solo and the glee club sang "Where Are You Going," and "Maiden of the Fleur-de-lis," each number receiving hearty applause.

Part second was entitled "Miss Beauty and Mr. Briggs," and was a feature of the programme. William Briggs introduced his trick dog, "Miss Beauty," who performed several remarkable stunts.

The mandolin and banjo clubs opened part third with "Yankee Boy," and "Kaloola," which was followed with a recitation, "The Tramp Musician," by Miss Edith Hanaford, assisted by Miss Florence Dickerson. There was a violin solo, "Barcarolle," by Clarence Heaume and the orchestra concluded the programme with the rendition of "Cupid's Garden." Several of these numbers were encored and the response was generous. After the entertainment the floor was cleared and dancing was enjoyed until nearly midnight. The athletic association will realize a substantial sum as profit from the concert.

SPOKE IN DUNELLEN.

Miss Josephine Petrie Tells Presbyterian Sunday-school of Work.

Miss Josephine Petrie, of this city, secretary of the Young People's Society Board of Home Missions, delivered an address before the Sunday-school and congregation of the Dunellen Presbyterian church yesterday morning. The occasion was the annual missionary exercises of the Sunday-school, which took the place of the regular morning service.

Miss Petrie is thoroughly conversant with missionary conditions in the western and southern fields and it was on these that she spoke. She described the nature and needs of the work among the unconverted people there, dwelling on the effort to bring the Montana Indians into the fold. She said more money was needed in the work, and the contributions were generous in response to the appeal.

$3,000 for Being Good.

Ten years ago when Rice's grandmother died she left him this sum of money providing he led a sober and industrious life for the period stated. At that time Rice was proprietor of a hotel at Mt. Bethel, but in later days he has been a teamster. He bears an excellent reputation for sobriety and industriousness and it is said the lawyers are experiencing no difficulty in securing the necessary affidavits to entitle him to the money.

Hope Chapel Fair Closes.

The fair of the Hope chapel Ladies' Aid Society was successfully concluded Saturday night and as a result the organization will clear nearly $150 for the benefit of the organ fund. Howard. In the list of committees given Saturday, the name of Mrs. Hartley, who did much for the success of the affair, was unintentionally omitted.

ESCAPES JAIL THROUGH HIS SISTER'S PLEA

"WACKY" DRAKE, REARRESTED TWICE ON SATURDAY, GETS ANOTHER CHANCE

Frank Drake, arrested on Saturday for breaking his agreement to remain out of the city for six months, and released by Judge Runyon after proving that illness drove him back and making a new promise to remain in exile for half a year, was re-arrested twice within three hours of his release. One charge was soliciting money on the streets and the other was drunkenness. In spite of everything Drake escaped from court this morning with the sentence of fifty days and fifty dollars that hung over him still suspended. A plea made by his sister saved him.

When Drake left the court room Saturday he promised to be out of the city by today; he understood that if he returned before next June or gave the police any trouble in the interim he was to go to jail for fifty days and pay $50. This was made very plain, so Officer Overbaugh, who had arrested Drake in the first place, was astonished to see him soliciting on Park avenue. He placed the youth under arrest and took him to headquarters. The magistrate gave Drake a sharp talking to, and allowed him to go. Within an hour Overbaugh saw Drake sagging about the streets, very drunk. This time Drake was cooped up.

When he was arraigned before Judge Runyon this morning, the magistrate was in no mood for leniency. He was on the point of ordering the young man to jail when Miss Drake, who is a young girl, appledged her word to the court that half. She said he was the victim of his associations, and a chance to get out of town and away from them would set him on the right path. She pleaded her word to the court that she would see her brother left town today. The magistrate was touched by the plea, and showed it. He gave Drake into the girl's charge, and brother and sister left the court together. Drake looked ashamed of himself, and the police think they have seen the last of him for at least six months.

PLAINFIELDER GIVES A HORSE FOR SECURITY

BUT IT WAS'NT HIS AND NEWARK POLICE WERE STUNG.

P. S. Dayton, the local flour and feed merchant, brought a horse back to the city, Saturday, which he sold on trial to a New York man and while away passed through experiences enough to nettle the most patient and submissive equine. The purchaser did not want the animal after he had used it awhile and Irenus Allen, of East Front street, was sent over to bring it back. He came by way of Newark and stopping in one of the wet goods establishments there, took a drink that put him out of business. He remounted the horse but fell off and when the police picked him up, the animal had strayed away. Allen insisted that the glass of German Joy he drank was drugged but the court thought it was a case of too many and imposed a fine. He didn't have the money but claimed the horse he was riding was his and that if the police could find it, they could hold it until he came home and got the necessary. The animal was finally located and Allen was let go.

He hurried to Plainfield and told Dayton where the horse was and that if he wanted it he could go after it. Dayton went to Newark expecting to have no trouble in getting his property but he had a great deal of it and the Newark police finally let him have it after an argument as to who was to pay Allen's fine. They now have no security and as Allen is in Plainfield and not likely to go back it looks as though the cops had been "stung."

Y. M. C. A. FIVE WINS FROM BROOKLYN PLAYERS

26TH WARD TEAM EASY FOR LOCALS—BUSINESS MEN DEFEAT LEALS.

In a game marked by fast plays, the Brooklyn Twenty-sixth Ward Y. M. C. A. basketball five fell before the prowess of the local association's combination Saturday night. The score was 33 to 19.

Plainfield held the visitors safely throughout the contest. The locals played rapidly, and excelled in team work. Leary and Scull did especially good work. The line up:

Brooklyn.	Plainfield.
Meyr	Smith
Losee	Thompson
forwards.
Kiendl	Scull
center.
Penny	Leary
Hurd	Neal
guards.

The "curtain raiser" was between the Business Men and Leal's School. Leal's was no match for the opposing combination, losing by a score of 28 to 9. The game, however, was snappy and interesting. The line up:

Business Men.	Leal's.
Hucke	Howard
Miner	Alpaugh
forwards.
Lott	Endicott
center.
Browning	Brokaw
Clarke	Valiant
guards.

There was a very large attendance. The spectators were frankly partisan and the contestants were enthusiastically cheered and applauded by their supporters.

COURTEOUS PICKPOCKET RETURNS PLUCKED WALLET

INTERESTING AND ILLUMINATING EXPERIENCE OF A NETHERWOOD MAN.

Whatever there may be of honor among thieves, the craft has some glimmerings of courtesy and consideration. This is illustrated by the experience of A. J. Beal, of Netherwood.

On Thanksgiving Day, in New York, Mr. Beal's pocket was very neatly picked, the operator getting away with a flat wallet. In the wallet was $10 in money, a commutation ticket and some cards with Mr. Beal's address. Mr. Beal, knowing nothing of the many sides to the grafter's nature, regarded the incident as closed, put another wallet into commission and got a new commutation ticket.

Saturday morning his mail contained a flat package. Is there any need to say that the package contained the lost wallet? No, the money was not in it, but the commutation ticket and the cards were. This pickpocket is a real person and not a character in fiction. He took the wallet to get the money and not for a gallery play. He returned the wallet, not because he was conscience stricken, but because he was courteous. Mr. Beal says he has no hard feelings against that thief. It is worth $10, he feels, to learn that the similarity between pickpockets and insurance presidents extends even to the practice of social amenities.

DESPERADO LURKING AT VALENTINE'S BRIDGE?

SLINKING FIGURE, SUPPOSED TO BE IDES, SEEN THERE SEVERAL TIMES.

Householders in the neighborhood of Valentine's bridge, half way between this city and South Plainfield, have been worried by the appearance of a mysterious figure about the bridge in the early morning hours, for the past few days. It appears to be that of a stockily built man, who seems to shrink from observance. The residents believe it is either "Dutch" Ides himself, or one of his gang. The last seen of Ides was in the neighborhood of South Plainfield, and it is figured that he would be apt to pick a hiding place somewhere in the neighborhood of the bridge, far enough from the railroads to throw off searchers who are looking for him about hobo camps, yet near enough to enable him to reach a favoring freight when the time for flight should come.

The man has been seen by several milkmen. He appears to have come out into the open at about the same time—between 3 and 4 o'clock—every morning for nearly a week. Descriptions of him vary some, but those who have seen him agree that he shrunk out of sight every time they came toward him in a way that always aroused suspicion. One milkman saw him with a catchel that seemed to be filled with weighty goods, and another saw him carrying a paper bundle. So far he has not attempted to interfere with anyone on the road or in the neighborhood, but if it is Ides, the residents say, this peaceful state of affairs is not likely to continue.

DOUBLE MORAL STANDARD

Rev. Frederick Lynch Says It is Responsible For Commercial Graft.

FINANCIERS' RELIGION

They Shed It When They Go Into Business and Don't Recognize Difference Between Right and Wrong.

Rev. Frederick Lynch, of the Pilgrim Congregational church, New York, preached the sermon of the last service in the special course at the Unitarian church, last night. His theme was the message of religion for the men of today.

Mr. Lynch's idea of modern religion is of a force that knows neither creed nor cessation; a force that is to work as strongly in business, in politics, in every act of each man and each set of men, and not merely in church life, so-called.

Mr. Lynch denounced what he called the double-standard of morality—the thing that allows men like Rockefeller to regard himself as a Christian in the Baptist church with which he is affiliated, and like a soulless, unfeeling, untouchable servant of Business in directors' meetings. Mr. Lynch ascribed the state of affairs exposed by the insurance revelations to this double standard.

"I am not so sure," he said, speaking in this connection, "but that some of the men who have been on the stand did not actually realize that they were doing anything ethically wrong or Unchristian-like. The double standard of morality works that way. It must be destroyed."

He believes that it will be. In the very revelations that have been made he sees signs that the great lesson of one all-active religion is being learned. He believes the people are awakening to the need for universal adherence to high ethical standards in every field of endeavor. The recent reform victories in several states he regards as a sign of the great change.

The appeal of religion, Mr. Lynch held, must not be made to moderns on the old selfish basis of personal salvation. The plea for religion must be based on the partnership of man with God in the effort to make the world permanently better, to bring about "the kingdom of God."

The world, according to Mr. Lynch, cares no more for what churches claim, cares nothing for what they call their theology. It rates the church for what it does for the betterment of man and the conditions in which he is forced to live.

"Religion is one, creeds may be many," said Mr. Lynch. "Religion is alike in all pure hearts of whatever denomination. The day of ecclesiastical labels is fast going by—we are becoming better known for what truths we are seeking rather than by the tags we bear. Religion is being measured, not by the claims made, but by the work the church is doing."

The committee in charge of the dinner dances, including Lewis E. Waring, Louis G. Timpson and T. R. Van Boskerck, was pleased with the opening affair and it is predicted that the succeeding ones will be even more successful. A local orchestra furnished music for the dinner and dance and this was a feature.

Its Basketball Team Wins from Hasbrouck Institute.

The basketball team from the Plainfield High School defeated the Hasbrouck Institute team at Jersey City on Saturday by a score of 60 to 16, in the first regular schedule game in the Scholastic Tournament. The star playing for the local team was done by Paul Collier, who scored thirty-two points for his team. The home five was simply outclassed in the play and had no show from the start.

Judgment His Text.

"Judgment," was the subject of a sermon delivered by Rev. George A. Warner at the Church of the Holy Cross, last night. He compared the fallibility of man's judgment and the fallibility of God's, that without knowing the motive which actuates a man's acts, it is impossible, he declared, for one to judge them fairly or correctly, whereas with God, who knoweth all things, is able to judge man, whether his acts are those of omission or commission, and the motives behind such acts.

NEW JERSEY'S RIGHT TO ITS OWN WATERS

ARGUMENT IN ERRORS COURT OVER HUDSON COUNTY COMPANY.

Trenton. Dec. 11.—Argument began Thursday before the Court of Appeals on the appeal of the Hudson County Water Company from the final decree of the Court of Chancery enjoining the company from diverting the waters of the Passaic River at Little Falls for supplying Staten Island, was continued Friday.

Robert H. McCarter, who, as attorney general, brought the suit, based his argument for the affirmation of the Chancery Court decision on theree propositions. He held that the State, as a lower owner, is entitled to preserve the integrity of the stream so that it will come to it unimpaired in quantity. His next point was that the State, without regard to its lower proprietorship, is entitled to an injunction as successor to the English crown and as representative of the public.

Finally, he held that the Legislature being valid, there is no doubt of the jurisdiction of the court to enjoin, and of the validity of the act giving to the court the right to do so.

Counsel for the company, former Justice Gilbert Collins and Richard V. Lindabury, claimed that the State has no general power to prohibit the transportation of the fresh waters of the State into any other State for use therein, and its attempted exercise of such a power through the act passed last winter is altogether ineffectual. It was further held that the decree of the Court of Chancery cannot be sustained upon the theory that the State has a personal right as riparian, or lower owner, to prevent the diversion from the Passaic River of water which, but for such subdivision, would flow to and upon the lands of the State under tide water.

The State, it was contended, has no property in the waters of the Passaic River before they reach the tidal lands. It was also claimed that the decree cannot be an enforcement of the police power of the State.

MERSHON WANTS NEW TRIAL.

Orders of Affiliation Held Up Until This is Argued.

Judge Schenck sat Friday to consider the question of making an order of affiliation in the township of Franklin, Somerset county, against Irving Mershon, of Princeton.

On November 21 a jury found Mershon guilty to be the father of a child of Hattie Dock, daughter of Abram Dock, of Griggstown, and the case yesterday was a continuation of that proceeding, so that Mershon, who is a bookkeeper in the First National Bank, of Princeton, could provide for the support of the child.

But the defendant has filed a rule to show cause with the court why a new trial should not be granted and this stayed the proceedings set down for yesterday.

The hearing on the rule was set down for next Friday. The proceeding is an unusual one and the right to grant a new trial under the law will be questioned. Irving Hoadlang, of New Brunswick, and George E. Pace, of Millstone, represented the township yesterday, and ex-Prosecutor Dungan, of Somerville, and Bayard Stockton, of Trenton, were counsel for Mershon.

FLIES AND RELIGION LEAD TO DIVORCE SUIT

SO MANY ARGUMENTS ENSUE, THAT WIFE FILES A BILL.

The difference of their religious faith and the fact that the wife let flies into the dining room while the husband was eating his dinner, have caused Mrs. Hattie W. O'Brien, of Sayreville, Middlesex county, through her counsel, Theodore B. Booraem, to file a bill for divorce inthe Court of Chancery against her husband, Thomas J. O'Brien. The difference in religion, according to Mrs. O'Brien, has been the cause of trouble between the two since their marriage on June 21 last, and the fly incident, she says, occurred on July 3, two weeks after their marriage.

On that occasion, she says, O'Brien charged her with allowing the flies to enter the room for the purpose of annoying him and he retaliated by throwing plates and dishes at her, and when she stooped to pick them up and put them back on the table, she says, he kicked and beat her.

Mrs. O'Brien says in her bill that ever since their marriage her husband has treated her cruelly, beating and kicking her. Once, she says, he threw her down stairs, and another time he threatened to shoot her and turned her out of the house. She says that constantly since their marriage her husband has tried to persuade her to change her religious belief and become a Catholic. She says he has threatened to do her injury unless she complied with his wishes.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

House Cleaning Needed.

Atlantic City is going to clean house. There has certainly been enough smell about the resort's city government recently to warrant something more than chloride of lime.—Trenton True American.

Loan Sharks.

It is stated that in Trenton as well as in other large industrial centers of this State there are men who pursue wage earners, offering to lend money to their victims and charging usurious rates. A strong novel of purpose could be written on these creatures of prey that catch the weak and unsophisticated in their nets, and open the road to crime, with disgrace visited upon innocent relations. The attention of the authorities should be directed to these sharks who violate the laws regulating the rates of interest.—Trenton State Gazette.

Will Hit Them Hard.

It seems like a shame that the city officials should be hit coming and going, as is the rule today. First the citizens want an investigation, and now the Pennsylvania Railroad Company issues an order to do away with free passes so long enjoyed by the legislators. It was quite handy for the Councilmen and others to hop on a train, take a run to Philadelphia and New York, or ask for trip passes to Florida and the West for their families or friends. All this ends with the first of the year. No more passes is the order, and the officials will have to pay or stay at home. The reasons given by President Cassatt are, that the pass privilege has been abused. "Heelers" and their friends shoved paying passengers out of seats, and he sees no reason why the politicians should enjoy this privilege. The new order will have a wholesome effect and politicians will be the hardest hit of all, because they are the people who abused the privilege and who stirred up the ire and opposition of the president of the railroad.—Atlantic City Press.

Theatre Censorship a Puzzle.

The City Fathers of Elizabeth are seriously concerned over the prevailing immoral tendency of plays in the theatres of that place, and have instructed a committee to take steps if possible to put a stop to the future production of such as may come under the ban. Such shows are regarded by the Aldermen as especially demoralizing to children. One of them characterized mothers who accompanied children to these plays as "matinee fiends," who would be better off at home attending to their household duties. How a censorship can be established is somewhat puzzling to these conservators of the public morals, but that some means shall be discovered to that end is their firm determination.—Hoboken Observer.

Home for Schumann-Heink.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, the prima donna, has bought William Ryle's summer home, "Will-Sue," located on the top of the Caldwell Mountains, near Paterson. The price paid for the property has not been made public. "Will-Sue" was so named by Mr. Ryle after he acquired the property fourteen years ago. His wife's name was Susan, and he combined her name with his own, coining the title "Will-Sue." The property comprises ninety acres of fine woodlands.

BOYS STONE A TRAIN.

Lads Dressed as Indians Caught by Central Railroad Detectives.

A number of small boys dressed as Indians with feathers in their hats and red ink upon their faces, for war paint, were playing Wild West Saturday in the vicinity of Lincoln avenue, near Garwood, two of the boys in the party having pop guns. After shooting at birds and breaking the windows in a number of dwellings the youngsters turned their attention to the passenger trains on the Central Railroad. Several trains were stoned with little damage, beyond the indentions made in the side of the cars by the missles.

As the game progressed, the boys became bolder, and took up a position on the bank beside the railroad tracks. Soon a passenger train came along, west bound, and the would-be Indians showered a fusillade of stones at the windows of the cars. Several panes af glass were broken and a number of passengers narrowly escaped serious injury. The train crew reported the matter to headquarters at Jersey City, and detectives were sent to Cranford on the case.

They had no difficulty in locating the guilty parties, but owing to their youth no arrests were made. The boys were given a good talking to by the detectives and were penitent. Their parents were warned against allowing their boys to participate in a recurrence of the incident.

UNVEIL A CANNON.

Strasburg Piece Placed on Court House Lawn.

Impressive as well as instructive were the services Saturday upon the occasion of the unveiling of the old Strasburg gun on the Court House green by prominent citizens of Elizabeth. The Supreme Court room in the building, where the ceremonies were held, was filled with Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, and a big crowd braved the elements when the flag covering the cannon was removed by James C. Ogden.

The address of the afternoon, delivered eloquently and with a strong, clear voice by General J. Madison Drake, who, as the commander of the Veteran Zouaves, has had the gun in his care for many years, reviewed the history of the gun as far back as it is recorded on history's pages. This address followed a programme arranged by Surrogate George T. Parrot, vice president of the Sons of the Revolution.

Philosopher in Hunt.

Arlington, Dec. 11.—Near the manufacturing district, twenty feet back from Elm street, hidden by old sheds and barns, stands a small shanty, substantial in construction. It is inhabited by John Walton, a Civil War veteran. "In this little hut, amid the bustle of the community, the old soldier eats, sleeps and entertains. Its dimensions attract attention. It is only seven feet long and five feet wide, and the occupant's arm can easily rest on the roof. A little addition on the north side, four by three feet, is the kitchen. Walton has never been in want for food and clothing. He draws a pension.

Architects Protest.

The New Jersey Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, at its regular meeting held in Newark on Thursday, criticised the methods about to be employed by the Board of Education of that city to procure plans for a new Technical High School. It has prepared a statement, in which it urges the board to abandon its scheme for a so-called open competition in favor, of a limited competition, of the kind employed by the Essex County Court House Commission.

DR. VAN DE WATER AT GRACE CHURCH

NEW YORK PREACHER SAYS CONSOLATION IS TO BE FOUND IN THE BIBLE.

"My Word Shall Not Pass Away," was the subject of an interesting sermon preached at Grace church, last night, by Rev. G. R. Van De Water, of New York. The well-known preacher gave an earnest and helpful exposition of the value of the Scriptures, which, he said were being studied more scientifically today than ever.

"There has been revision, but never has the Bible been so highly esteemed as today," said the preacher. "During the past year there have been many 'finds,' but everything certifies to the truth of the Bible and it has stood the test of time.

"Ask the wisest man you know to write a book of Proverbs and see what a mess he will make of it The Bible has been and is an encouragement to the oppressed and bereaved and it will always be a help and source of strength. It is said that the Bible is read less today than formerly, but it should be remembered that the Sunday-schools, colleges and universities and a multitude of people are studiously reading the Scriptures. It is the 'Book of all Books' and no library is complete without it. It may contain some chronological errors, but that is nothing serious. Until something better is offered Genesis will still continue to illustrate the story of original sin and the doctrine of the Resurrection, one of the most important, and which was good enough for our Lord will still be a blessing and comfort.

"Some parts of the Bible are more important than others, but it is all a divine inspiration and if you read it you will hear God speaking to you. Follow its injunctions and absorb its teachings. When man sinned God provided a remedy. Live up to the best of God's teachings and living will be divine. That dear old Book holds its own in the world, proving itself a message from Heaven. In the best sense it is the Word of God. It is prescious, life giving. Make it your daily food. Life is too short to spend it in contention. If divine consolation is to be found anywhere it is in the Bible.

"God helps everyone to search the Scriptures. It has been kissed by many a dying man, and embraced by many a brave soldier on the battlefield, and it will be a source of help and comfort to all who will study it."

TEN EYCK SELECTED.

He Will Be Appointed to Judgeship Tomorrow.

When Judge Alfred F. Skinner retires tomorrow from the bench of the Essex County Court of Common Pleas he will probably greet as his successor Jay Ten Eyck, his former law partner.

Mr. Ten Eyck was selected by Gov. Stokes Saturday last, according to definite information, to fill the coming vacancy. The formal appointment will, it is expected, be made today. Last Saturday the Governor's secretary, Edward M. Gray, called on Mr. Ten Eyck, at Newark, and asked him to go to Trenton today to meet the Governor. Mr. Ten Eyck assured Mr. Gray he would respond.

Prior to the call of the Governor's emissary Mr. Ten Eyck had given permission to Senator-elect Everett Colby to recommend him to the Governor for appointment. Previously Mr. Stokes had announced that he would be guided in making the appointment by Mr. Colby's preference.

Mr. Ten Eyck is one of the leading representatives of the young members of the Essex County bar. He is a member of the law firm of Coult, Howell & Ten Eyck, of which Newark's city counsel is the senior member.

Colby Lunches With the President.

Senator-elect Everett Colby and Assemblyman-elect W. Fallowes Morgan, of Short Hills, received an invitation last week to lunch with President Roosevelt at the White House Saturday. Mr. Colby went to Washington by the midnight train on Friday night and he and Mr. Morgan Saturday noon went to the White House and spent some time after luncheon in conversation with the President. Mr. Morgan was a classmate at Harvard with President Roosevelt, and they have kept up their college acquaintance. President Roosevelt was desirous of meeting Mr. Colby, with whose political achievements he is familiar, and the luncheon was arranged to afford this opportunity.

Charles Frentz, of East Second street, is recovering from an attack of rheumatism.

CAROLINE FISHER A "MRS. CHADWICK"

YOUNG WOMAN TO BE DEPORTED HAS INTERESTING RECORD ABROAD.

London, Dec. 11.—Revelations are following fast upon the arrest in New York of Caroline Fisher at the request of the authorities in Switzerland. Her brother is a curate at a church in South London.

Caroline Fisher, using different methods, is said to be another Cassie Chadwick.

The London Evening Post has published the following paragraph: "We regret to announce the death of Miss Fisher, of No. 105 Cadogan Gardens, Chelsea, which took place late Sunday night in Italy, after two days' severe illness."

It is known now that this announcement was wired by Miss Fisher under a fictitious name. The World's correspondent has informed the Travellers' Aid Society of these facts, and further information on this young woman's methods of "high finance" will doubtless be forthcoming.

The Rev. Mr. Fisher said: "My sister is thirty-six years old. She inherited ten thousand pounds, which yielded a comfortable income, and She moved in good society. She was extravagant, however, and quickly spent the principal. She was adjudicated a bankrupt last June and went to the continent."

The Board of Inquiry of the Immigration Bureau has decided that Caroline Fisher and her maid, both English, should be sent back to Naples. The Swiss government, through Consul Hendrich, caused the arrest of the two women on the charge of swindling a hotel.

Mr. Hendrich said yesterday that the woman, having been highly successful in Europe, had sailed here because she had been informed that this was a fertile field for clever and attractive women.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON HURT.

World's Greatest Twirler Will Undergo X-ray Examination.

Lewisburg, Pa., Dec. 11.—Christy Mathewson, of the world's champion New York team, has discovered that his injured wrist is again bothering him. He left here yesterday morning for New York, where, in accordance with instructions from the Giants' management, he will have an X-ray examination made of the injured members. The trouble began early last spring, when Mathewson batted down a hot liner.

While hunting with Frank Bowerman, his catcher, at the latter's home in Michigan, last October, the big twirler slipped and fell with all his weight on his wrist. Mathewson fears a small bone is broken.

Celebrated Their Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Rawson, of Bloomfield, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at their home in Williamson avenue, Saturday night. Nearly 500 guests from all parts of the State and Manhattan were present. Mr. Rawson is one of the best known volunteer firemen in New Jersey and is a member of the Essex County Republican Committee. The couple received many beautiful gifts.

Cockran Elected.

W. Bourke Cockran has been elected grand sachem of the Tammany Society to succeed Supreme Court Justice O'Gorman, who resigned last June. The election took place at a special meeting of the society, which was attended by John Fox, Timothy D. Sullivan, Col. Asa Bird Gardiner, George W. Plunkitt, Daniel F. McMahon, Randolph Guggenheimer, Thomas J. Dunn and Louis Haffen.

Union Has $100,000 to Begin Fight for Eight Hour Day.

The officers of Typographical Union No. 6 announced yesterday that the union has more than $100,00 to carry on the fight for the eight hour workday in the book and job offices which is expected to begin on January 1. Delegate Greenberg, of the union, made the following report to the Central Federated Union yesterday:

"We understand that there is going to be a general lockout by the Typothetae in the book and job offices on January 1, with a view of establishing the open shop in the book and job trade. It will not last long. The employers are each under bonds to lock their employes out, and will obey the order so as not to forfeit the bonds. There is little work in the first few days of January, as the magazine publishers have their magazines printed several months ahead. In two or three days we believe the members of the Typothetae, or most of them, will take their men back again as union men, and that will be the end of it. We are now in a position to raise a fund of $500,000 in a week to fight the lockout or to prosecute a strike if there is no lockout."

ENGLISH SWORN IN.

Assistant Prosecutor Takes the Oath of Office.

Lawyer John K. English Saturday took the oath of office before Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas James C. Calvert, as assistant prosecutor of Uunion county. Mr. English was appointed assistant prosecutor by Prosecutor N. C. J. English.

His appointment was made because of the law permitting a county of a population of more than 100,000 to have an assistant prosecutor. The last census showed Union county to have a population of much more than the number set by the law. Hence the appointment followed.

Mr. English has been practically the assistant prosecutor of the county for some time. But he has received no emolument for work that he performed, and was not officially the assistant prosecutor.

The new assistant prosecutor is a graduate of Lafayette College. He studied law with his father, James R. English, and was admitted to the bar nine years ago. He was elected a year ago to represent his ward in the city Council, and is one of the men of weight in the Council. Mr. English has attained an enviable reputation as a lawyer.

London Paper Sees Defiance in the Panther Incident.

London, Dec. 11.—The Pall Mall Gazette comments upon the action of the German cruiser Panther, which landed a party at Santa Catharine, Brazil, recently, without asking the permission of the Brazilian Government, and arrested a man who was wanted by the Germans as a deserter. The Gazette says:

"It almost looks as if the Panther incident was intended by her captain or a superior authority to test the practical application of President Roosevelt's pronouncement on the Monroe Doctrine. As the story stands, the performance would mean imminent war if we could imagine German marines so employed at Dover. An immediate explanation is desirable, as there are those who incorrigibly believe in German designs on South America."

President to Triplets' Parents.

Triplets ten days old were christened at the home of Edward Morris, of Trenton, yesterday. A feature of the occasion in which the parents took special pride was the exhibition of the following congratulatory letter from President Roosevelt's secretary, William Loeb, Jr.: "Having had his attention attracted to the recent happy event in your family, President Roosevelt wishes me to convey to you and Mrs. Morris, especially Mrs. Morris, his heartiest congratulations and good wishes for the future welfare and happiness of your children."

Building Falls In.

A severe wind-storm blew down, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, a two story and a half frame dwelling on Cedar lane and Chambers avenue, Trenton, revealing a gang of crap-shooters for whom the police have been looking for a long time. Two of the gamblers, August Rittman and his brother, Charles, were severely injured. August was taken to the hospital with, it is feared, severe internal injuries. His brother was able to walk home.

HARRISON JUROR INDIGNANT.

Where Will Usurpations of the Road End, He Asks.

The non-suiting of the Harrison damage suit against William Stanbery, which suit grew out of the Dunellen auto tragedy, has caused a good deal of comment. Lawyer George Silzer, who was one of Harrison's counsel, is more than ever convinced that the victory in the trial should have been his, and as predicted in the Press, yesterday definitely announced that he would appeal the case to the next term of the Supreme Court.

According to remarks made by jurymen on the case after it had ended in non-suit, the jury would likely have given Harrison a verdict. They were greatly disappointed that the case did not reach them. One member remarked to a Press representative:

"We can't get any rights on the roads anymore. The automobiles seem to own them. Where is it going to end? They can run us down and over us and kill us just as they please."—New Brunswick Press.

Retirement of Prominent Firm.

The retirement of Hill & Shupp from active business in Plainfield, January 1st, and their contract with their successors to reduce the stock will require that they dispose of merchandise very liberally during the balance of December. As a means to this end the entire salesforce have had special instructions to make attractive prices on all broken lots of merchandise, which will undoubtedly open up to holiday buyers some of the most profitable buying opportunities in Plainfield. Fresh, new holiday merchandise was selected for the month of December, hence every department has attractions for the holiday shopper.

Elaborate Store Decorations.

The decorators at the Hill & Shupp store have been at work for days giving the store the most elaborate display in years, and the displays are so arranged that they offer exceptional opportunities for the selection of holiday merchandise at the convenience of the customer. An important feature of this season's display of fancy work is the Oriental display in charge of Miss Amelia Saleeby, a native of Syria. This young lady has expert knowledge on all kinds of rich Oriental fancy work and a little visit with her has been of exceptional interest to very many ladies.

A DOLL THREE FOOT TALL

To Be Given Away This Holiday Season.

An unusually attractive member of the Doll Family may be seen in one of the show windows of the Hill & Shupp Department Store.

This doll is as large as many children at two years of age and wears clothes made for the average child of that age. Her hair is "real hair" and can be combed and brushed. Her big brown eyes are amazingly expressive and close in sleep in the most life-like manner.

But the most interesting fact about this doll is the manner in which she will enter and gladden some home this Christmas time.

Hill & Shupp have offered to give this doll absolutely free to the customer who makes the greatest number of purchases at their store between now and December 21.

To determine this, the customer who presents the greatest number of "duplicate checks" (regardless of the amount of the purchase) at their store on Thursday, December 21, will be entitled to the doll and will receive same by calling at the store Saturday evening, December 23, at 10 o'clock.

A "duplicate" check is given each customer with every purchase at the Hill & Shupp store.

Orchestra Concerts.

The musical evenings at the Hill & Shupp store during the past season by the Plainfield Symphony Orchestra and Trio have interested thousands of Plainfield musical people. These concerts will be continued each Saturday evening and holiday week, December 18 to 23. The store will be open for evening shoppers every evening, commencing December 18, with an attractive orchestra concert each evening. The management expect to make this the most interesting holiday season in the history of this store.

Attractive Showing of Holiday Linens

Among other lines for which the Hill & Shupp store has enjoyed a well earned reputation, the Linen Department has been especially prominent. Some unusual depression on imported linens this present season gave opportunity for the purchase at exceptional discount a lot of superior table damasks, napkins, fancy towels and fancy toilet linens. They expect to have them on sale at special prices right up to Christmas.

Fine Embroideries Being Sacrificed.

The Hill & Shupp people are again giving their patrons a few days' opportunity to select from their entire large assortment of fine embroideries at a discount of 25c on each dollar. As these goods enter very largely into holiday preparations, the offering has already brought an unusual number of interested buyers.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

An interesting experiment in theatrical high speed was tried on the stage of one of the New York theaters recently. In the coming production of "The Lightning Conductor" it is purposed to present on the stage an automobile with all the head lights blazing, going at the rate of sixty miles an hour through the early twilight, with every accompaniment of wind, dust and flying scenery. Of course, the automobile will really remain stationary, but the wheels will revolve, the roadway appear to slip away beneath them and the landscape will tear by at a terrific speed. The difficulty of the thing was increased by the fact that as it must be continuous with a following scene, of which it forms a part, the curtain cannot be lowered for any readjustment of the stage. Moreover, as the lighting must come from behind, the back drop must be semi-transparent. All these difficulties have been overcome, and there is nothing left to do now save to have sympathy for Mr. Kelcey and Miss Shannon who will sit in the car with a mechanical dust and wind blowing at a rate of sixty miles an hour. The play is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday, December 26.

Musical comedy is synonymous with fun. Mirth and merriment predominates and it is this unadulterated humor that has given this class of attraction its present vogue. For a night of good, clean, whole souled fun, that irradiates the soul like sunshine, one has but to attend a performance of B. E. Forrester's melodious comedy, "Bankers and Brokers," introducing the comedians Yorke and Adams, which will be at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. Mirth and music are blended into a gorgeous ensemble in which pretty girls, jolly comedians and novel specialties predominate. Abounding with bright lines, brisk action, admirably mounted and staged and filled throughout with graceful and catchy music, "Bankers and Brokers" is easily the one irresistible fun frolic of the season.

Miss Marie Tyler, the young and attractive leading lady of the Nat Wills Company, which appears at the New Plainfield theatre Wednesday night, is a new comer to the stage, having but recently graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Mass. Prof. Marchon, who had charge of Miss Tyler's musical education, tried very hard to induce the young lady to take up the higher grade of music with the ultimate intention of singing in grand opera, and was very much disappointed when Miss Tyler entered the ranks of musical comedy. Her voice is one of the purest sopranos with a very wide range and an execution which is well night perfect. Competent judges have voted Miss Tyler's voice one of great rarity and it will not be surprising to see her shortly at the head of her own musical organization. Messrs. Broadhurst & Currie, to whom she is under contract, are already looking for a suitable light opera in which to exploit her.

Owen Davis' new melodrama, "The Burglar's Daughter," comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, and is heralded as the most pretentious production playing in popular priced theatres. The story of the play tells of the adventures of a little girl who by her own beauty and innocence raises herself out of the criminal class in which she was born to a position as the wife of a fashionable clergyman, and the mistress of a beautiful home. The play is a character study of unusual strength, showing the gradual refinement of a little waif and the dawning of a great love that opens her eyes to the degradation of her former life. The company employed to tell this story is in strength and numbers most unusual and the scenic effects are of a novel and startling nature.

"Uncle Josh Spruceby," with all his rural quaintness, band of solo musicians and company of artists, will be at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

Besides the humor of "De Lancey," the new American comedy written by Augustus Thomas, and in which John Drew will be seen for the first time at the New Plainfield theatre on Friday, December 22, there is an important romantic element. The piece is almost daring—in making a hero of Jim De Lancey, who is a divorced man and a representative of America's idle rich class.

The new Richard Harding Davis farce entitled "The Galloper," which Manager Henry W. Savage will present in this city on Thursday night at the New Plainfield theatre, is said to be ideally suited to the peculiar talents of Raymond Hitchcock, who will assay the leading character. Mr. Hitchcock has long been regarded as a star of the first magnitude. The mediums of his hitherto successful stellar career have been what is commonly known as musical comedy, and perhaps Mr. Savage's popular star is best remembered as "The Yankee Consul" in Henry Blossoms' successful musical comedy of that title. Mr. Hitchcock's numerous friends and admirers will doubtless be pleased to welcome him in straight comedy and from all accounts Mr. Davis has succeeded in fitting him to a nicety in "The Galloper." The picturesque surroundings in which the scene of action is laid, afford splendid opportunities for elaborate embellishment which has been realized to the fullest extent by artist, Walter Burridge. The company in support of Mr. Hitchcock is a numerous one and embraces in its roster many names of prominence on the mimic stage.

Popular Christmas Gifts.

Three great features of holiday buying are dolls, Christmas cards and calendars. No matter how many or few gifts there are to be bought, one or all of these three things are almost sure to figure in the list. To find them in great variety, discriminatingly selected and at prices that touch the Christmas fund but lightly, go to L. S. Plaut & Co., Newark. Their stocks in these lines, especially this year promise to fill every want and fancy. The dolls have all the beauty that the minds of little ones can conjure and adults admire. The calendars have every attribute of the artistic, the useful, the ornamental, as one may desire. The Christmas cards have all the art and sentiment one looks for. The "Bee Hive" besides, is generally better equipped for Christmas gift-buying than ever. And the store, without and within; attractive with holiday time decorations. Santa Claus himself will hold forth at L. S. Plaut & Co.'s as usual and will greet little ones in his bower on the third floor, 9:30 to 12:30; 1:30 to 3:30. The "Bee Hive" serves free light luncheon (third floor) daily 11:30 to 2:30 for out of town patrons and those wishing to make the most of a day's shopping. Store will be open evenings only the week before Christmas.

WATSON MADE.

The Watson made Paddock is the coat that makes its wearers distinguished for style and good appearance. It's a dignified coat and it represents the latest edict of the authorities of fashion.

Of course the Paddock isn't the best for all figures—and tastes do differ. All right; the Watson made overcoats of medium, or 52 inch lengths are not a bit behind the Watson made Paddock in style, in material or in workmanship. In fit and general excellence the custom tailor's way equals them; but when they do there's a difference in price. Watson made prices mean a lot to the careful.

Paddocks $18 to $30.

A FACT PROVEN.
Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.
If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.
It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.
Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.
Accept no substitute. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."
Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

DEPTH OF BEAUTY.

"Beauty is but skin deep." Beauty is simply nothing of the sort, and that is the plain truth. Real beauty goes down to the bone, lies in the bones themselves, just as beauty in dress is not merely confined to the gown itself, writes Mrs. Eva Nepean in the Queen. I am not harking back to that venerable chestnut, the Frenchwoman's expensive petticoat under a twopenny-half-penney frock. But no dress ever looked good over bodly made and badly worn dessous; no dress ever "succeeded" as it should over a bad, cheap lining (for there are decent cheap linings, but they are meant to line cheap materials, you know); no expensive material ever disguised inferior art or shoddy trimmings. Just as in the old simile we are told that a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump of dough, so one touch of inferiority will ruin one's whole appearance—a horrid sort of truth which, like murder, will out, in spite of me. One sees the funniest things. People in distinctly superior garments will sometimes stick on an imitation jewel, "with intent to deceive," outrageously dyed fur, obviously machine-made lace, people who ought to know better, and who in some cases literally do not know what offence they are committing. Women have told me that for the life of them they cannot tell faked fur from real; I do not mean the more subtly faked furs, but those over which one instinctively quotes Yellow-dog Dingo, and murmurs: "What, that cat-rabbit!"—women who seem to have no idea that the ill-blown sphere or roughly cut lump of glass is not a pearl of finest "skin," or a diamond of purest water; women who will be perfectly happy in letting their maids put a bertha of eighteenpenny "lampshade lace" on a forty-guinea velvet gown by way of "doing it up." The forty-guinea velvet looks cotton-backed—that is the tragedy; the common mock pearls and paste cheapen the good dress they are worn with; the cat-rabbit, if trimming a splendid sealskin, would make it look the most inferior "electric seal" at once.

To look well one must begin at the very beginning. Just as one's hair (unless it be of the delightful sort that looks best bundled up anyhow and secured with one pin) never will "go up" properly if the finishing touches are expected to do all the worg; so one must take pains with one's appearance all the way through. You will knew perfectly well what I mean if you think of the hurriedly tied ribbon or the carelessly draped fichu upon which no amount of endeavor to get them right after a bad start has any effect. (It is always quicker to take them off and begin again, is it not?)

It is extraordinary how soon the habit of doing the hair well from the first, of putting on every garment properly, and of devising the right type of underclothes and the correct method of arranging one's tresses, can be acquired. These things want doing well always, and in a short time they almost do themselves.—Newark Advertiser.

LITERARY.

The December American Boy is replete with all the enjoyable reading matter that the boys demand at this season. There are the concluding chapters of Mr. Hawkes' splendid animal story, The Tripod Fox, and of My Four Years at West Point, the latter of which has fired many boys with patriotic fervor. Mr. Lisenbee's story, The Joy Claim, is continued, and the editor gives another of his boyhood experiences in Hank and the Walnuts. A Boy's Christmas Gift tells how one boy brought Christmas joy to a friendless little girl. When the Dyke Went Down is the story of a Canadian boy's rescue from drowning by a cow. In The Prize Offer Frank H. Sweet tells of how a boy, altho' confined to his bed by sickness, won a prize. On the Wings of the Wind is a story of the frozen North and relates the pluck and courage of a boy in order to bring assistance to famine-stricken and sick villagers. Goosie is a story of the American soldiers in the Philippines and tells how a pet mongoose saved the life of one of Uncle Sam's boys from the bite of a cobra serpent. How Jerry Beat the Hunters is a fine story of how a boy killed a bear which a large party of hunters were searching for. Of the larger articles there are: Boys, Take Care of Your Teeth, containing sound advice on this important matter; The Misfit Boy, warning boys against putting their efforts into what they are not fitted for; American Toy Makers Are Beating the World; The Freshman-Sophomore Class Rush at the University of Pennsylvania; The King of the Fairies, and No. 2 of Boyhood of Great Americans, telling of the youth of Admiral Farragut.

Mrs. Edward Long, of Bound Brook, is visiting relatives in Plainfield for a time.

—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders will meet in the Court House, Somerville, tomorrow.

Mrs. James Merritt, of Mountain avenue, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is reported to be slightly improved. It is expected that when she recovers she will make her home with relatives in New York.

AGED SUMMIT MAN DEAD.

Richard Urann Clark a Victim of Stomach Trouble.

One of Summit's oldest residents died when Richard Urann Clark passed away at his home Thursday, after a long illness of stomach trouble. He had been a resident of Summit for thirty-four years and twenty-three years ago located at Huntley, and it was mainly through his efforts that a railroad station was located there. He had been connected with the New York Life Insurance Company for many years and occupied a high position in that company at the time of his death.

In his leisure hours he devoted much time to literary work and was the author of two or three books of poems that met with favor. He was born in Poughkeepsie on June 21, 1839, and in Summit's early days was an active and powerful factor in its local affairs. He had served as warden and vestryman of Calvary church for several years. The funeral was conducted in St. Stephen's church, Millburn, Friday morning at 11:30 o'clock, and the interment was in St. Stephen's cemetery. He leaves a widow and eight children.

JERSEY ASSEMBLYMEN FEARED THE PENNSY

THATS WHY EQUAL TAX MEASURE WAS NOT PASSED.

Responding to a call issued by Mayor Fagan, the New Jersey Mayors' Equal Tax League met in the City Hall in Jersey City Thursday and adopted plans for influencing the Legislature to pass an equal taxation bill and a measure limiting the franchises of public utilities corporations. Those present included Mayors Kenny, of East Newark; Reed, of Morristown; Garecke, of Carlstadt; Goldberg, of Kearny; Berry, of Elizabeth; Mayor-elect A. J. Lockwood, of Glen Ridge; Senator-elect Colby, of Essex county; Assemblymen Perkins, of Westfield, and Morelli, of Passaic, and most of the Assemblymen from Essex and Hudson. Mayor Fagan presided.

"When I went into the Republican caucus to try and get our equal taxation bill through the Legislature," said Mr. Colby, "I asked the Assemblymen if there was any good reason why the bill should not be passed. They would not tell me then, but when we went out into the corridor they said that the reason they did not pass the bill was because the Pennsylvania Railroad would raise a rumpus. On the question of equal taxation there is an absolute conflict of opinion in our party. If there are Democrats here let them get into the fight. The only thing that will influence the Legislature is public sentiment."

The league decided to continue the agitation and hold public meetings throughout the State to awaken public sentiment and influence the legislators. The Mayors also will urge the Assemblymen to elect a speaker pledged to favor the enactment of equal taxation and limited franchise laws.

SHERIFF NOT TO HANG LONG.

Will Deputize Some One Else to Spring Trap.

If the sentence of the court is carried out and Charles Long, the condemned murderer, hangs on January 12, Sheriff Wilbur, of Mercer county, will not actually spring the trap which will send Long into eternity. If Long hangs a person not yet selected by the sheriff will operate the mechanism of the gallows from a recess concealed from the scaffold and frome all the witnesses of the execution. This person will not be known to any one save the sheriff.

As there is still a possibility that Long may secure a stay of sentence, Sheriff Wilbur has made no arrangements whatsoever. Not until it is positive that Long will be executed will the sheriq make the arrangements. He will attend to all the plans personally and will direct the execution.

Sheriff Wilbur has decided that if the sentence is carried out that only the court and sheriff juries, newspaper men and the necessary officials shall see the execution.

FASTING A HEALTH HELP.

Science Approves Religious Injunction of Abstinence from Food.

Dr. Richard C. Newton gave an address on "The True Education of Body and Mind" at the Woman's Club at Montclair on Thursday afternoon. He said nothing was more beneficial to the bodily health of the average man or woman than the fasts which are more or less enjoined in many forms of religion. He said:

"It is often of the utmost benefit to man's bodily health to refrain from food to a greater or less extent for considerable periods of time. It is in a majority of cases absolutely essential to promote mental development.

"It well has been said, 'There are as many persons today digging their graves with their teeth as they are drowning their souls in alcohol.' Physical, moral and mental education must proceed simultaneously and with equal steps to produce a vigorous, normal, well proportioned and active body."

P. R. R. Does Not Own Fast Line.

It was stated yesterday morning that the Pennsylvania Railroad does not own the Trenton and New Brunswick Fast Line, as has been stated. A local lawyer who has been buying up rights of way for the Fast Line to continue the road to Elizabeth declared the two were not connected in any way. The Pennsylvania Railroad has men at work surveying a line a short distance below the Fast Line and it is thought they will lay their new freight tracks from Trenton to Waverly over this route now being surveyed. This will mean another bridge across the Raritan River below the Fast Line bridge.

U. S. Senatorship Aspirant?

A Hackensack newspaper is informed that Colonel William Barbour has declared his intention of transferring his citizenship from Bergen county to Monmouth county. He has a bona-fide residence at Monmouth Beach in the colony established there many years ago, while in Bergen county his home has been only technical, although he was considered legally a citizen because he never changed his voting place. According to the Hackensack paper there is a possibility that Colonel Barbour will appear in the next contest for United States Senator.

WORLD'S GOLD IS MOSTLY HELD HERE

UNITED STATES NOW GREATEST MONEY POWER AMONG THE NATIONS.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The United States now holds more gold money than any other nation on earth, according to the report of Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely. Here are the figures:

Gold money in the world	$5,987,100,000
Held by the United States	1,348,200,000
France	926,400,000
Germany	886,700,000
Russia	783,700,000
Great Britain	533,200,000

This country also stands at the head of the silver holding countries, as the following shows:

Silver money in the world	$3,130,400,000
Held by the United States	685,100,000
India	603,800,000
France	411,100,000
China	350,000,000
Germany	210,200,000
Spain	173,700,000
Great Britain	113,400,000

The South American Republic of Colombia has more outstanding paper currency than any other nation—$741,000,000. The United States is next, with $559,900,000, and Brazil third, with $368,100,000.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The Shah of Persia will not sit at a table on which either salmon or lobster is placed.

The oldest clergyman in England is the Rev. John Edward Kempe, M. A., who has been in holy orders for seventy-two years, being now ninety-five years of age. He has been chaplain in ordinary to King Edward since 1901.

Senator Pettus, of Alabama, wears shirts made by his wife and socks which she has knitted. The old couple live in Selma, when not in Washington, and new manners and customs have changed them little. Since their marriage, sixty-two years ago, she has made all his linen garments. Until about twenty years ago she adhered to the ways of her foremothers and spun the flax herself.

The King of Portugal is the best royal rifle shot in the world. He is also quite as good with a revolver as with his rifle.

Queen Ranavalona III., who reigned over Madagascar when the French took possession, now lives in banishment in Algiers, on an allowance of $6,000.

Quang Ngoon Quock, who went to Los Angeles twelve years ago, poor and friendless, and is now a millionaire, started for China the other day on a two years' vacation.

Margaret Jessie Chung, a sixteen-year-old girl of Chinese parentage, living at Los Angeles, Cal., has become a newspaper reporter there. She is teaching English in the Chinese colony in that city, and for a year past has been secretary of a church memorial union. Miss Chung is thoroughly American in spirit, dress and ambition.

REV. DR. MABIE HERE.

Preached on Missionary Work in the Far East.

Rev. Dr. Mabie, of Boston, who is one of the secretaries of the Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church yesterday morning. During his discourse he told of the missionary work being accomplished in Japan, China and the Philippines and the prospects for future enterprise along that line.

Dr. Mabie told of the encouragement which mission work offered in these countries at the present time, and of the willingness of the natives to receive the Gospel. He also referred to the hopeful sign in the erection of colleges and schools where students are flocking to receive an education. His remarks were not confined alone to the work of the Baptists, but he spoke of the efforts being made by other denominations. In conclusion he urged that this work be supported by more generous contributions of money.

Salaries Were Not Earned.

The State Board of Arbitration is just now coming in for its annual denunciation at the hands of the newspapers. The strictures this year are unsually severe, due in great measure to the board's tacit admission, in its annual report, that the members last year did absolutely nothing to earn their salaries. They practically say that neither employers nor employes would accept their services. The annual appropriation for this board is $6,000, all of which is absorbed by the salaries of the four members, none of whom did anything to earn the money but get out the annual report. State papers are expensive, as a general thing, but we must have them. In this case, however, it would be cash in the State's pocket to abolish the board and hire somebody specially to write a report. There are plenty of good newspaper men about the Capitol who would take the contract for a whole lot less money.—Asbury Park Journal.

Frizzled Oysters.

Put four tablespoonfuls of butter into a frying-pan and place over the fire. To one pint of oysters use three beaten eggs and one cupful of soft cracker crumbs. Mix, eggs and crackers together gently, and turn them into the frying-pan. Then turn in the oysters, liquor and all, add a small saltspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper, shake the pan over the fire, thoroughly turning the contents over, allowing to cook until the eggs are well done—about seven minutes—serve with garnish of young celery stalks and tender leaves.

Suffering Jersey.

New Jersey, men and matters are generally grotesquely misrepresented in the Metropolitan press. Sometimes this seems to have been done to spice the stories, but even in such instances the truth would be more interesting than gaps filled with fiction from crude imaginations. Too often the stories, especially those having a political character, are maliciously colored, so much so as to suggest something that could not be explained.—Jersey City Journal.

Poor, But Honest.

"Pa, what is a Councilman?"

"A Councilman, my son, is a man who wears a fur coat."

"Pa, what is a reporter?"

"A reporter, my son, is a man who wears a shirt."—Atlantic City Review.

LAW OR POLICE TRIALS

Statute Under Which Proceedings Against Chief Kiely Will be Held.

METHOD OF TRIALS.

Gives Causes for Removal of Officer —Accused Must Have Reasonable Time to Prepare Defense.

Many people are unacquainted with the law according to which formal charges will be made against Chief of Police Kiely at the meeting of Common Council called for tomorrow night. For that reason the original act of March 8, 1889, with section three as amended by an act of March 27, 1902, is herewith reproduced:

"An act relating to police departments in cities and regulating the tenure and terms of office of persons employed in such departments.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

"1. The officers and men employed in the police department of every city shall severally hold their respective offices and continue in their respective employment during good behavior, efficiency and residence in the city where employed, and no person shall be removed from office or employment in the police department of any city for political reasons, or for any other cause than incapacity, misconduct, non-residence or disobedience of just rules and regulations heretofore established, or which may be established, for the government of the police force or police department of the city; provided, that any member of the police force of any city who shall be absent from duty without just cause for the term of five days shall, at the expiration of that time, cease to be a member of such police force; each member and officer of the police force in the cities of this State shall be a citizen of the United States and a resident for two years of the city in which he is appointed next preceding his appointment; he must be of good moral character, sound in body and in good health, and able to read and write the English language intelligently, and provided further, that it shall be lawful for the board, body or person in the respective cities of this State having authority to employ members of the police department therein, to employ officers or men temporarily in cases of emergency or for parts of years in cases where their services are not needed throughout the entire year, and discharge them at the expiration of such temporary employment.

"2. No person shall be appointed an officer or member of the police force of any city who has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude, or who is less than twenty-one nor more than fifty-five years of age at the time of his appointment.

"3. No person, whether officer or employe, in the police department of any city shall be removed from office or employment therein except for just cause, as provided by the first section of this act, and then only after a written charge or charges, stating the cause of complaint, shall have been preferred against such officer or employe, signed by the person or persons making such charge or charges, and filed in the office of the municipal officer, officers or board having charge of the department in which the complaint arises, and after the said charge or charges have been publicly examined into by the appropriate municipal board, officer or authority, upon such reasonable notice to the person charged and in such manner of examination as the rules and regulations governing the same may prescribe, it being the intent of this act to give every person against whom a charge for any cause may be preferred under this act a fair trial upon such charge, and every reasonable opportunity to make his defense, if any he has or chooses to make; and the officer, board or body having power to try such charges shall have power to issue writs of subpoena to compel the attendance of witnesses, which writs shall be served in the same manner as subpoenas issued out of the court for the trial of small causes; and every person who neglects or refuses to obey the command of such writ shall be liable to a penalty of twenty-five dollars, to be sued for in the corporate name of the city in any court of competent jurisdiction, and the penalty, when collected, shall be paid into the poor fund of such city; and it shall be lawful for and authority is hereby vested in the common council or other governing body of any city, by the affirmative vote of not less than four-fifths of the entire membership thereof, to designate and appoint, by ordinance, the board, officer or authority by whom such charge or charges shall be heard, tried and determined; and

BIG COAL SUPPLY AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD

RUMOR OF STRIKE TROUBLE LEADS TO ACTIVITY AT THE YARDS.

Rumors of another big coal strike in the Pennsylvania fields have been persistent within thep ast month and activity at the South Plainfield storage yards of the Lehigh Valley amount to a practical confirmation of expected trouble. For several weeks the full force of men has been employed and the amount of coal on hand is about ten times the ordinary supply. In the big heaps that tower in the air there is almost 2,000,000 tons of anthracite, from which the road will draw its supplies in the event of trouble. In addition to this a great amount of soft coal is held in cars on the sidings at the plant. It is estimated that there is about 8,000 tons of this, and it is kept solely for the engines.

The Lehigh has other storage plants, and it is said they are also being filled to their capacity. In previous years when strikes were on these reserve supplies were all that kept the road going and prevented a serious tie-up when the output at the mines was practically nothing for many weeks. The Jersey Central's main storage plant is located at Hampton Junction, and it is large enough to contain a supply sufficient to meet any emergency. The general activity at these stations is always look upon as an expectation of trouble and the large consignments being received at present is taken in that way.

WANT LEE TO GET THE CITY CLERKSHIP

REPORT THAT RETIRING COLLECTOR BE BOOMED FOR M'MURRAY'S PLACE.

There is a rumor in circulation that Tax Collector Robert L. Lee will be the candidate of the anti-organization councilmen to succeed City Clerk James T. MacMurray when the latter's term expires January 1. They advance the argument that Mr. Lee will be out of a position at the end of the year, while Mr. MacMurray holds an exceptionally lucrative one with the Pond Machine Tool Company, and therefore does not need the city clerkship's salary.

While it is not known that any promises have been made, it is the general opinion that Mr. MacMurray will be reappointed city clerk on January 1. It is believed that he has a sufficient number of friends in the 1906 Common Council to make his choice almost a certainty. Mr. Lee's strength is more or less of an unknown quantity.

It is argued by the independents that a city clerk should be at his office during business hours, which, under the circumstances, it is impossible for Mr. MacMurray to do and attend to his other business. A year ago there was talk of a change for this reason, and now another rumor is abroad that Mr. Lee's appointment will be urged.

BUYS BUSINESS PLACE.

Henry Haurand Becomes the Owner of Premises at 66-68 Somerset St.

Henry Haurand, owner of the Central Bottling Works, has purchased the building at 66 and 68 Somerset street, where the works are located, from Floret Wormser. Mr. Haurand announced the change of ownership today. The consideration was not mentioned.

The building is to be improved and enlarged. So is the Central Bottling Works. An extension in the rear will be devoted to the preparation of soft bottled drinks. The front is to be sunk to the level of the sidewalk, making a modern entrance. The upper part of the building is to be devoted to flats, as at present.

Enlarging Its Plant.

The Spicer Universal Joint Company, which recently purchased the property known as the Spicer & Hubbard mill at Madison avenue and West Third street, has arranged to occupy the entire building after April 1 next, utilizing that part now used by the W. H. Rogers' Silver Corporation. The whole building will be fully equipped with new machinery.

Borough Taxes Soon Due.

But eight days more remain for the payment of taxes in the borough before the ten per cent. interest is added. Collector Brown has secured the greater portion of the money, but there are still a large number of property owners holding back, and the notice is given for their benefit.

Birthday Party.

In honor of her birthday, Mrs. J. E. Higgins, of West Fourth street, entertained a party of friends last night. Games, music and refreshments were enjoyed by the guests.

BOYS CLUB REORGANIZED

Opened Last Night Under Management of the Y. M. C. A.

FIVE CLASSES PLANNED

Carpentry Students Start In, Others Delayed Until First of the Year —Gymnasium Interests for the Boys.

The Boys' Club began its work under the management of the Y. M. C. A. last night. The class in carpentry with a membership of about thirty-two opened its new term, and the other classes will be organized and started off as rapidly as arrangements can be made.

Although last night marked the actual opening of the club for the season of 1905-06, things are still somewhat upset at the club. Changes are to be made in the working rooms, and it will take until the first of the year to get all the classes under way. No changes in the general outline of the work is to be made, the new regime simply carrying out the same line of endeavor that has marked the club since its inception. The full curriculum is to include classes in moulding, pattern making, mechanical drawing and freehand drawing, besides the class in carpentry.

The boys in the carpentry class were put to work last night on a tool room. As soon as this is finished and new benches are installed, more pupils will be admitted to the class. The membership of the club classes is limited, on account of lack of room. Probably no more than sixty boys will be able to find accommodations, which means a long waiting list of ambitious gamins.

While no changes in the nature of the work will be made, minor changes in the nightly activities there will be. For one thing, the gymnasium periods will be made more important a part, and more systematized. The boys under sixteen are to have all of Wednesday night each week for gymnasium sports, and the older boys, after January 1, will have Friday nights. Basketball teams will be organized, and an inter-class league conducted. A strong representative team will be trained to meet the Y. M. C. A. Juniors, Whittiers, Hope Chapel, and fives of their standing. The teams are expected to do much in creating a strong club spirit, which the management believes must have a good effect on the club work.

Direct management of the club has been delegated by the Y. M. C. A. to Kenneth Robbie, its boys' secretary. He is the supervisor general. Charles Belknap is the instructor in carpentry and pattern making, and Mr. Crandall, of the North Plainfield High School faculty, is in charge of the mechanical and freehand drawing courses. Shortly after the club gets into full swing, probably some time in January, an exhibition of the work in all the classes will be arranged for a "visitors' night."

The roster of the club classes as it stood last night is as follows:

Carpentry — William Berkowitz, Edward Seader, Percy Haberle, Louis Rhodier, Rinaldo Coons, Russell Abbott, David Rogers, Martin Denlinger, Clifford Jones, Frank Hart, Walter Southard, Albert Renwanz, Charles Rhodier, Jerry Paoli, Tlfred Manley, John Brown, Charles Schenck, Joseph Deaby, Charles Smith, Charles Killosan, Thomas Lappin, Theodore Pruden, James McCray, Henry Lewis, Richard Day.

Mechanical Drawing—James Kelly, Edward Mattox, William Ross.

Moulding—Fred Stewart, George Moore, Albert Paoli.

Planning Alumni Reception.

The various committees and class representation of the Plainfield High School Alumni Association will meet in the Y. M. C. A. parlors tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Plans now in preparation for the reception to be given at the new High School building at Ninth street and Arlington avenue will be discussed and a full attendance is urged. In connection with this reception there will also be formed a permanent alumni association and it is proposed to hold a reunion and reception annually, affording the members an opportunity to get together and become better acquainted.

Local Bowling Headquarters.

The former Crescent clubhouse on East Second street, now owned by A. D. Findlay, is soon to be the local home of bowling again. William McLaughlin, of the borough, has leased the building and has placed a contract with the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company to install four first-class alleys in time for opening Christmas day.

Cards from Scotland.

Souvenir postal cards have been received from John Morton, who is travelling in Scotland, by a number of friends. Mr. Morton has been in Scotland for two months.

MAYOR RESCUES A BOY

N. B. Smalley Stops a Runaway at the Risk of His Own Life.

SPRANG AT ITS NECK

Dragged for Some Distance But Saves Scared Boy From Probable Injury—Cool-headed Executive.

At the risk of personal injury, Mayor Newton B. Smalley, seated in his own runabout, followed up a runaway horse in the borough this morning and directed a terrified by driving how to guide the animal until the executive could stop it. The horse belongs to C. L. Stanley, the North avenue florist, and took fright on Watchung avenue, starting at full speed along that thoroughfare.

The ever-ready Mayor was a witness to its bolting and whipping up his own horse started in pursuit. The Smalley brothers have always been noted for keeping animals that could reel off a mile with the best of them and the one in the chase is no exception to the rule. It soon pulled along side the Stanley rig and the Mayor was enabled to tell the young man driving what to do. Acting on this advice the runaway was turned into Mountain avenue, which is wide and at that time was practically free from vehicles. The Mayor then pulled ahead and jumping from his own rig awaited the coming of the frightened animal.

With a well planned spring he jumped from its head and got a firm hold. He was dragged for a considerable distance but clung on and in the end brought the horse to a walk. The rig had sustained no damage of any kind and the boy driving was all right beyond a scare. He started back for town after the Mayor, who can stop runaways as well as win elections and wield the municipal gavel, had given him some instructions on the proper handling of the reins when your horse tried to get away.

ORDERS SEWER PIPE FOR WEST END AVE.

BOROUGH APPROPRIATED $5,350 FOR IMPROVEMENT SOME TIME AGO.

The street committee from the borough Council has placed the order for the storm sewer pipe to be placed in West End avenue. The Council some time ago appropriated a sum not to exceed $2,350 for this work, and it is believed that it can be done for that amount.

The pipe will be from twelve to twenty-four inches and will be laid from Maple avenue on West End avenue to Green brook. The pipe will be placed in the middle of the avenue and extending to a certain point distant from the brook, will form a "Y," each branch leading to two catch basins to be located near the new concrete bridge to be built over the brook in the spring. This improvement, it is believed, will prevent the washing out of the proposed boulevard in heavy rains.

Mayor Smalley expects to start the work soon of digging out for the shrubbery to be located along the thoroughfare. Early in the spring the work of macadamizing the avenue and building the new bridge will be started.

Play by Richard Harding Davis.

One of the finest shows of the year at the New Plainfield theatre will be "The Galloper" on Thursday night, in which Raymond Hitchcock takes the leading part. Mr. Hitchcock's splendid success in "The Yankee Consul" will be remembered by theatre-goers. The author of the production is Richard Harding Davis, the war-correspondent, who was graduated from a reporter on the Philadelphia Press, after securing a degree at Lehigh University, to become one of the leading writers of fiction in this country.

Walter Smalley Settled.

Walter Smalley settled the claim of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company against him yesterday, and the company announced this morning that the action in Chancery, instituted to compel Smalley to explain the assignment of certain moneys to another creditor, had been discontinued. The hearing was to have been held this morning before Special Master John H. Van Winkle. C. M. Dolliver and I. P. Runyon were the ice company's lawyers.

—White Label canned goods have long since proved their superiority and this year they are better than ever. Neuman Brothers have received their new consignments.

TOLLES, CAUCUS CHOICE

Incoming Common Council Agrees on Him for Next Presiding Officer.

MR. DANIEL DECLINES

Limit of Committee Memberships Agreed Upon—No Mention of City Clerkship—A Full Attendance.

While there is no binding agreement, there was a tacit understanding at a caucus of the members of the 1906 Common Council, held in the office of Mayor James F. Buckle last night, that Ralph I. Tolles, present chairman of the finance committee, is to be the president of the incoming body. Mr. Tolles was president of the Common Council for 1904 and retired in favor of Councilman Leslie M. Daniel, the present presiding officer.

Intimation of this action was given in The Daily Press recently, it being stated then that the friends of Mr. Tolles were urging his candidacy for the presidency. Inasmuch as President Daniel has definitely decided that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself, Mr. Tolles is considered the logical successor to the present incumbent. There was no opposition, expressed or otherwise, at the caucus, and harmony prevailed throughout.

There was also a discussion as to the makeup of next year's committees. The present plan is to separate the police and license committees, as formerly, and have each committee composed of three members. In the case of the police committee, the three members, together with the Mayor and president of the Common Council, will constitute the police board, as at present.

It is also planned to have the street, fire and finance committees comprised of five members each, as formerly, and the chances are that the remaining committees will continue as at present so far as number of members is concerned. There was no discussion as to who would comprise these various committees, but as there is good material to draw from, Mr. Tolles does not anticipate any trouble in securing efficiency in committee work for next year.

The entire membership of the 1906 Common Council attended the caucus as follow:

Ralph I. Tolles, Leslie M. Daniel, Frank De Witt Randolph, Charles C. Randolph, Henry D. Hibbard, William L. Gloak, William S. Tyler, of the present Common Council, and George P. Mellick, Daniel F. Ginna, Francis L. Montgomery and Herbert Buxton, councilmen-elect.

When questioned as to whether there was any consideration of the city clerkship for next year, one of the members declared that the matter was not mentioned during the caucus, neither was there any talk as to other appointments to be made. This will probably come up in the regular way at the proper.

ENJOYED TRAVELOGUE.

Lincoln Picture Lecture on Alaska Pleases Star Course Audience.

The Lincoln Travelogue on Alaska entertained a good sized audience at the Y. M. C. A. last night, in the Star Course. Mr. Lincoln maintained his reputation as an engaging lecturer, and the views he showed of the land of gold, midnight sun, glaciers and other interesting things were very little short of magnificent.

Besides the travel pictures, the programme included new moving pictures, and trio selections by Fred and William Van Eps and W. E. MacClymont. The feature of the moving picture numbers was a series of six incidents in the life of Moses.

Quietly Married.

Miss Eva May Messler and George W. Summers, son of Mrs. Sarah Summers, both of Watchung avenue, were quietly married Wednesday night, December 6, by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel. The ceremony was performed at the home of the officiating minister on Grandview avenue. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Montross, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Summers are keeping house at the groom's home in Watchung avenue.

Nearly Put His Eye Out.

Chopping wood in his cellar yesterday morning, Thomas C. Flynn, of Plainfield avenue, came within an ace of putting his eye out. The axe blade drove a knot loose and it struck squarely, sharp end foremost, directly over the right eye. It cut a bad gash.

Miss Gertrude Jackson Weds.

Mrs. Irene Irving and Mrs. Melissa Cook attended the wedding of Miss Gertrude Jackson, formerly of this place, but now of Brooklyn, to Fred Morse at the home of her brother-in-law, Rev. Dr. Henry Swentzel, rector of St. Luke church.

DOCTOR MAY SAVE MR. NASH'S EYESIGHT

SULPHURIC ACID VICTIM SUFFERING INTENSE PAIN.

Justice V. W. Nash, who was terribly burned yesterday by sulphuric acid used in a fire extinguisher, while visiting fire headquarters, in company with friends, is suffering intensely today and is unable to see anything from either eye. It will be some days before Dr. Ard, the attending physician, will be able to determine whether the eyesight will be permanently injured or not.

Justice Nash, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Dyos, of Cold Spring, N. Y., went to fire headquarters at noon yesterday to see the horses come up to the apparatus. While waiting for the sound of the 12 o'clock gong, the party was being shown about the house. Captain William Townley was about to show and explain how a hand extinguisher is used, when the bottle fell out of the holder on the floor.

The acid struck Mr. Nash in the face, terribly burning the flesh and the eyes. Mrs. Dyos, who stood nearby, had her dress ruined, but her eyes were saved by a pair of glasses which she wore.

Dr. Albert Pittis was summoned at once and temporarily treated Justice Nash's injuries, after which he was removed to Dr. Ard's office on Park avenue. Upon the advice of the physician he was taken home, where he is now under Dr. Ard's treatment.

AT REVOLVER'S POINT BURGLARS DRIVEN OFF

SEVENTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY'S COURAGE SAVES FAMILY'S BELONGINGS.

Two second-story men entered the house of F. H. Bowe, 1302 South avenue, at 6 o'clock last night while the family was at supper, and were about to make a good haul when discovered by Mr. Bowe's son George. The lad, who is seventeen years old, with the nerve of a veteran detective, went from the bathroom to his mother's room, where he secured a revolver from a bureau drawer.

The boy returned to his sister's room, where he found one of the thieves operating and the other one about entering the room through the window. Save for a small light in another nearby room it was very dark in Miss Bowe's room, but the boy drew his revolver and backed both men out of the room.

The thieves stepped out on the tin roof, and before the boy could get downstairs and tell the members of the family what had happened they made their escape. So far as can be learned they did not take anything.

George Bowe describes the thieves as wearing slouch hats and black silk handkerchiefs about their neck and face. One was short and stout and wore a pea jacket, while the other was tall and slender and wore a long overcoat. The handkerchiefs covered their faces so that it was impossible to tell whether they had moustaches or whiskers. The lad says that he is sure he could identify the men if he should see them again.

Mrs. Bowe is loud in her praise of her son's brave act. Her husband has been detained at home several weeks by illness, and even though he had known what was going on upstairs would have been unable to assist in the capture of the burglars.

Manager Savage Coming.

Manager Henry W. Savage, the producer of some of the best known plays now touring the country, will be another of the party of prominent theatrical men to witness the performance of "The Galloper" at the New Plainfield theatre Thursday night. The play is his latest production and he has provided an exceptionally strong company for the support of Raymond Hitchcock, who is best known for his work in "The Yankee Consul" and "Easy Dawson."

Returns from Lecture Trip.

Miss Florence Howe Hall has returned from Washington, D. C., where she gave a course of three lectures at the National Seminary at Forest Glen, Md. Two were on women and social customs, and one "Personal Reminiscences of Distinguished People."

In the Borough Court.

Thomas Lyons, of West Third street, who was arrested by the borough police Saturday night, was given his preference of $5 or seven days by Recorder Doud last night. He is still behind the bars, while friends are trying to raise the money.

P. E. Bishop Visits Brother.

Bishop-elect Williams, of Michigan, has returned from a visit to his brother, Lewis A. Williams, of Dunellen avenue.

FRESH AIR WORK REPORTS

Results of the Year Reviewed by Plainfield Association at Annual Meeting.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Miss Sara Curry and Children From the Little Missionary's Day Nursery in Attendance.

The election of officers, reports of the work for the past year, together with addresses and an informal programme of music comprised the features of the annual meeting of the Plainfield Fresh Air Association held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night. There was a good attendance, including several interested workers and Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Home, accompanied by several children from the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, New York.

Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, president of the association, occupied the chair, and after conducting the opening exercises called upon Mrs. F. C. Pierson, chairman of the house committee, for her report. This showed that during the past season as many as 320 children and mothers were cared for at the Home at one time, and twenty-five remained throughout the season. In all 420 mothers were at the Home during the season, 1,745 children, while 700 children were sick in one way or another. Physicians made sixty visits to the Home. There was consumed 7,515 loaves of bread, 2,350 quarts of milk and 59,519 meals were served.

Miss Florence G. Hawkins, chairman of the devotional committee, gave an interesting report of her department of work, showing how the various Christian Endeavor societies, Epworth League and other societies from this and other nearby towns assisted and co-operated to make the charity a success. She also paid deserving praise to Miss Sara Curry, the matron and David M. Torrey for their help and interest.

David M. Runyon, treasurer, reported receipts for the past year of $1,648.06 and disbursements of $1,522.81, leaving a balance of $25.25. By way of comparison receipts and expenditures for past years were given. In 1902 the receipts were $1,138.79, expenditures $1,888.79, leaving a balance of $250. In 1903 the receipts amounted to $1,681.68 and the balance was $134.09, while in 1904 the receipts were $1,508.53 and the expenditures, $1,825.75, leaving a balance of $317.22.

After this report Mrs. Theodore Mantz sang very acceptably "These Are They," from "The Holy City," accompanied on the piano by Miss Carrie Dewey. Rev. Erskine M. Rodman then made a few remarks of an encouraging nature about the work. Master Harold Willard, accompanied by Miss Dewey, sang "My Kentucky Home."

In the meantime Miss Curry, accompanied by four children from New York, came in and the children entertained the audience with some of their favorite songs and recitations, which proved very interesting.

Alexander Morgan, who is one of the largest benefactors of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, and the Day Nursery work in New York, made a few remarks, telling of his interest. One helpful feature was an experience he had with a wealthy New Yorker, who was led to contribute $500 toward a home for cripples in New York, $3,000 for the Little Missionary's Day Nursery and a like amount for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. This money will be used toward erecting another building at Netherwood, and Mr. Morgan suggested that a number of improvements be made, such as erecting an attractive stone wall in front of the Home and building a terrace.

In a brief address, Miss Curry related some pathetic and interesting incidents concerning the past season's work which she said was the most successful in the history of the fresh aid enterprise. She spoke of a feature of last year's work, that of allowing the husbands of the mothers to spend Saturday night and Sunday at the Home, and in this way the men became warm friends of the institution and contributed in some measure towards its support. In a number of instances these men were converted.

Mrs. Mantz sang another selection from "The Holy City," after which David M. Torrey told of the Day Nursery work in New York and at the Home. He told of the $5,000 which had been given toward liquidating the mortgage on the New York property.

In this connection Dean Rodman referred to the beneficence of Francis deLacy Hyde in giving a lot near the Home upon which an auditorium

TO QUIT BERTH.

Assistant Commissioner General Early to Resign.

Colonel William H. Early will shortly hand to Quartermaster General C. Edward Murray his resignation as Assistant Commissary General of New Jersey. This will likely be done within the coming two weeks. This act on the part of Colonel Early is entirely a voluntary one and the decision to resign was reached by him because he has concluded he has held the office long enough and because his ambition of having served in the militia of the State for a quarter of a century will have been realized January 21.

Colonel Early has held his present office twenty-five years and he is today one of the most popular officers of the board.

When Quartermaster General Murray was appointed he at once renominated Colonel Early as his assistant, and when General Murray was seen yesterday and asked as to Colonel Early's probable successor he said:

"I know nothing of the resignation of Colonel Early and when it is handed in I will not accept it unless some very strong reason is given."

TRACT FOR FOREST PRESERVE.

Commission Considering the Purchase of 25,000 Acres.

The New Jersey State Forest Preserve Commission is considering the purchase of 25,000 acres of woodland in Atlantic county, with a view of still further prosecuting the work it has commenced in the saving of the forests of the Commonwealth. The land is particularly well adapted for the purpose. It is covered with forest and contains an abundant supply of water. The board is considering two offers from the owners, one to purchase the land in its entirety and the other to purchase it without the water power. The price, of course, would be less under the latter proposition. An investigation has been made of the tract by the State Geological Survey, which has reported to the Forest Commissioners that the water on the property could be developed to produce 500 horsepower and that with comparatively small expense.

The commissioners have already secured considerable property. A tract of 104 acres of Atlantic county land has ben presented to the board by Professor John Gifford, of Princeton, and a tract of 268 acres has been purchased adjoining the Gifford property.

The commissioners have also purchased in Burlington county a tract of considerable size from Charles W. Matthews, of Tuckerton. It is hoped to be able within a few years to make the improved forest land of the State one of the Commonwealth's most valuable assets.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

The Plainfield Country Club will hold its annual meeting in February, when officers will be chosen and reports of the past year presented.

There is no doubt that another attempt will be made next year to secure favorable action of the plan to open the Plainfield Country Club on Sunday during next season.

The delightful fall and winter weather has been thoroughly enjoyed at the Plainfield Country Club, where many members have continued to play golf. The course remains in fine condition and enthusiasts are loath to give up their favorite exercise.

The same Metropolitan Golf Association handicap committee which did such efficient work last season has been reappointed for another year. It consists of Leighton Calkins, chairman; F. W. Menzies and F. J. Phillips. The committee will issue its handicap list early in March.

The Baltusrol Golf Club has elected the following board of governors for the coming year: Louis P. Bayard, Charles B. Beckwith, J. Edgar Bull, A. de Barry, S. B. Davidge, John Du Fais, Frederick E. Walker, E. N. Todd, Louis Keller, Adrain H. Larkin, A. Friede Riach, Edward G. Thompson, Newton E. Stout and William S. Smith.

FOOTBALL RULE CHANGES.

Three Important Innovations Almost Sure to Be Adopted.

As a result of the conference of the intercollegiate football rules committee, held in Philadelphia on Saturday, it was pretty unanimously agreed among the delegates present that the following changes in the existing rules governing the great college sport are almost sure to be made:

Two umpires, instead of one.

Increasing the distance to be gained on three downs from five to ten yards.

The prohibition of a substitute for a disqualified player until ten minutes of actual playing time have elapsed from the time of the disqualification.

Coach Glen S. Warner, of Cornell, has also made the suggestion that stated officials, well informed on the rules, be employed by the Intercollegiate Football Association, of which the leading universities in the East are members.

Another proposition is to play only six men in the line of scrimmage, with three men five yards behind the line and two men inside the ends. The idea is to promote a more open style of game by strengthening the centre and weakening the ends. To encourage end runs, it is also proposed to allow a forward pass behind the line of scrimmage.

No definite action was taken on any of the proposed changes by the rules committee on Saturday, and the confreres will meet again in New York some time this week.

ANOTHER RAILROAD FOR METUCHEN, MAYBE

ANYHOW ITS CITIZENS ARE PUZZLED OVER SOME SURVEYS.

Metuchen is guessing and railroad companies are the cause. Three surveys out of at least a half dozen are considered seriously. A. G. Smith has disposed of three acres of his farm property, formerly the old Hill farm and W. H. Barr has sold a portion of his property. J. C. McCoy owns a tract of land facing Amboy avenue near the borough limits and it is said the mysterious railroad company is negotiating for this.

The company buying the property and securing options is called the Midland Railroad Company and people doing business with it are given to understand that it is a trolley road, despite the fact that a 100 foot right of way is being purchased and grades are being established by surveyors which show plainly that there is to be heavy traffic.

When Chief Smith disposed of his property the other night he was given to understand that there was another line separate altogether from the Midland Company (which is really a continuation of the Brunswick Fast Line), which is to run through the borough at a point near the Smith farm. Some people say this is the Pennsylvania's much talked of coal and freight road. Another projected railroad line has been surveyed for in North Metuchen north of Woodwild Park. The survey seems to come from and run in very different directions than the "trolley" and supposed Pennsylvania short line.

The other roads run southwest by northeast and this other road through Metuchen anyway runs almost due east and west.

In view of the fact that surveyors have been working for some time past in the vicinity of Bound Brook and Dunellen it looks as if this new road must be the same one working there. Metuchen has three railroads and two trolley lines now and some people are on uneasy seats wondering what the outcome of the three mysterious roads will be.

W. B. Pratt made the statement to a newspaper reporter recently that he had sold a strip of his property, near the Coudert-McCoy land, and that it was purchased by the Short Line. Mr. Pratt thinks it a bona fide trolley project and it is securing the width of land mentioned and making preparations for heavy traffic in order to make possible and safe a high rate of speed between New York and Philadelphia.

HIGH WIND DOES DAMAGE.

Blows the Roof Off a Freight Car Near Fanwood.

The high wind of Sunday did much damage in the vicinity of Fanwood. Limbs were broken from trees and in some of the residences window panes were blown out. About one mile east of here a heavy limb that had blown from a tree along the railroad tracks struck the telegraph line as it fell, tearing down an entire section of wires, putting the Western Union Telegraph Company's line out of business for about three hours, until linemen from Elizabeth arrived and made repairs.

While the wind was blowing a hurricane Sunday afternoon a freight train passing through Fanwood had two empty box cars with their doors open. The roof was completely torn from one of the cars and carried into a field nearby. The roof was loosened on the other car, damaging the car so that it was considered dangerous to run further. The train was shunted out on sidetracks. A number of trains stopped in the deep cut near Fanwood to close the doors of empty cars. The wind was so strong that railroad men say it greatly retarded the progress of trains bound westward.

Small wonder that those steel trust magnates do not wish to oust Corey. Their own glass houses may be struck.

Senate declined to pay honor to Senator Mitchell's memory by draping his desk. What a big amount of cloth would have to be wasted if the seats of all rascals in the Upper House of Congress would have to be thus adorned.

KILLED BY FALLING STONE.

It Struck Man on the Head and Crushed in Skull.

A small stone, which fell from the fifth story of the building in course of construction at Hamilton and Market streets, Paterson, struck about noon yesterday Antonio Lugaro, a stone cutter, who was at work on the ground. It crushed in his skull and he died in the ambulance on the way to the General Hospital.

Lugaro, who was employed by the Hinchcliffe Quarry Company, of Pine Island, N. Y., was at work cutting stone on the ground by the side of the building when the stone fell.

Jacob Steele, of Steele & Hopper, masons and builders, was standing close to Lugaro and he received a painful injury on the hip by a glancing blow from the stone. He was taken to his home, 132 East Eighteenth street, Paterson.

Voting Machine Got Busy.

The voting machine in the west district of Chester township, near Moorestown, which registered ninety-two more votes for township committee than the total number cast, was opened Saturday afternoon by Charles O. Fuller, representing the Voting Machine Commission. The machine was carefully examined and tested, but it failed to cut any such capers as shown by the result of the voting on election day, and it is generally conceded that the machine must have been incorrectly set.

HEART PIERCED, HE LIVED.

Teeth of Saw Shockingly Mangled Man Who Slipped.

Although his heart had been pierced by a buzz saw, Allen Gilleo lived forty-five minutes after the accident, which happened yesterday morning in a saw-mill at Carteret, a village near Elizabeth. Gilleo was working close to the saw, when he slipped on some grease on the flood and fell forward on the teeth of the saw. He was shockingly mangled before the machinery could be stopped.

He was placed in a carriage and was driven as fast as a good pair of horses could take him to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, in Elizabeth. Despite the efforts of the doctors there, he died three-quarters of an hour after the accident.

After the body had been taken to the morgue it was found that the saw had pierced the man's heart to a depth of about a quarter of an inch. When this discovery was made the doctors expressed surprise that the man had not been instantly killed.

Fugitive Caught in Elizabeth.

Joseph Connors, 30 years old, a fugitive from justice, was arrested in Elizabeth on Saturday night after he, with others, had, it is said, raided a lunch wagon and carried off $1 worth of provisions. Connors on the night of July 23 last, it is charged, broke into the saloon of Dennis Norton, on Fourth street, Elizabethport, and stole $13 out of the drawer and also a new overcoat. He fled but went back a few nights ago. He was arraigned in police court yesterday morning before Judge Mahlon, who committed Connors to jail, in default of $200, for the robbery at Norton's place and $100 for the raid on the lunch wagon.

Union County Cricketer Dead.

Titus J. Leach, secretary of the Union County Cricket Club, of Elizabeth, and one of its organizers, died suddenly on Saturday afternoon at his home on Fay avenue, that city, from acute pneumonia, which developed into heart trouble, after an illness of only one day. Mr. Leach was a native of England and was engaged in the real estate and insurance business in Elizabeth. He resided in Philadelphia for a number of years and for a time was connected with a vaudeville company in that city. He was an expert pianist and clever all-round comedian. He was forty-seven years old. He leaves a widow, one daughter and two sons.

SCHOOLS FOR NEGROES.

Delegation Will Wait on Governor to See if Officials Are Right.

Classes for the negro children of East Orange, who have been taken out of the public schools because of the organization of special "Jim Crow" classes by the Board of Education, were started yesterday by the negroes in Mt. Olive Baptist church, Ashland avenue, and Calvary Baptist church in Maple avenue.

A committee of negroes is going today to Trenton to make an appeal to Governor Stokes and State Superintendent of Schools Charles J. Baxter. Dr. J. A. Stilwell will head the delegation. The negroes believe the local board has violated thel aw.

There are eighteen children in the Mt. Olive school and there is an attendance of twenty-three at Calvary church. Rev. George W. Krygar, who is in charge, says all the children will be accommodated in a few days, as soon as the parents can be notified.

Miss Josephine Curtis, Miss Daisy Travis and Miss Ella Reed, colored young women who have received teachers' education, have been placed in charge of the classes. A white man, whose name is no divulged, gave sufficient money to buy books and stationery.

To Take Justice Dixon's Place.

Justice Fort will preside in the Hudson Circuit of the Supreme Court during the term, which opens today. Justice Jonathan Dixon will go to Justice Fort's former circuit. This announcement caused a sensation and much speculation as to the reasons for the change when made known at the courthouse yesterday. Not the slightest inkling of the impending change of circuits was given to the Jersey City bar until the announcement, without any explanation of the cause, was made.

JAMES R. F. KELLY DEAD.

Had But Recently Erected a Handsome Home on East Front Street.

James R. F. Kelly, who had been a resident of this city for the past three years, died yesterday at his home on East Front street. He was sixty-one years old and was engaged in the structural iron contracting business. He came to Plainfield from New York and first resided on Grant avenue; then erected a handsome home on East Front street, which was completed last spring. He leaves a widow and daughter.

The funeral will be held from his late residence Thursday afternoon at 4:30 and the interment will be in Brooklyn.

A Notable Organ Recital.

Those who go to Grace P. E. church tomorrow night to hear F Flaxington Harker's organ recital will be assured of a delightful musical evening. Mr. Harker is a player and a musician of unusual gift and attainments. He is known as a composer of sacred music and was at one time a sub-organist at York Minster Cathedral, England. George Vanderbilt heard him play there and induced him to come with him to Biltmore, where a handsome church forms part of the millionaire's great estate. Harker tired of the circumscribed field at Biltmore, and came North not long after. He is now organist of a big Methodist church in Jersey City. There will be no charge for attendance at the recital tomorrow night and everyone will be welcomed.

Young Wife's Suicide.

Mrs. Bertha Anderson, 22 years old, committed suicide at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brahme, of 279 Seventeenth avenue, Newark, Saturday night, by swallowing a quantity of carbolic acid. The young woman had become despondent, her parents say, over what she thought was an incurable disease. When she was found in her room she was unconscious and died before medical attention could be procured. County Physician McKenzie granted a burial permit.

No Epidemic in Dunellen.

Secretary Wilson Frederick, of the Dunellen Health Board, announced this morning that all reports of a diphtheria epidemic, actual or threatened, in that place had no basis in fact. There is only one case, which is that of a man from Perth Amboy, who brought the germs of the disease with him when he came to Dunellen on a visit to a friend. He is quarantined at the house, and there has been no indication of any spread. The case is a light one and the victim is recovering.

"Pirates of Penzance" Date Set.

The date for William Holmes' production of "The Pirates of Penzance" has been set for February 20 at the New Plainfield theatre. The first rehearsal was held last night and they will be continued at frequent intervals in order to make the performance far above the ordinary amateur affair. The proceeds are to be for the benefit of the King's Daughters' Day Nursery.

Clarence VanSyckle, of East Third street, who fell down the cellar stairs at his home several weeks ago, receiving severe injuries about his head, was able to sit up in bed today for the first. His improvement is steady, but slow.

Retirement of Prominent Firm.

The retirement of Hill & Shupp from active business in Plainfield, January 1st, and their contract with their successors to reduce the stock will require that they dispose of merchandise very liberally during the balance of December. As a means to this end the entire saleforce have had special instructions to make attractive prices on all broken lots of merchandise, which will undoubtedly open up to holiday buyers some of the most profitable buying opportunities in Plainfield. Fresh, new holiday merchandise was selected for the month of December, hence every department has attractions for the holiday shopper.

Elaborate Store Decorations.

The decorators at the Hill & Shupp store have been at work for days giving the store the most elaborate display in years, and the displays are so arranged that they offer exceptional opportunities for the selection of holiday merchandise at the convenience of the customer. An important feature of this season's display of fancy work is the Oriental display in charge of Miss Amelia Saleeby, a native of Syria. This young lady has expert knowledge on all kinds of rich Oriental fancy work and a little visit with her has been of exceptional interest to very many ladies.

A DOLL THREE FOOT TALL

To Be Given Away This Holiday Season.

An unusually attractive member of the Doll Family may be seen in one of the show windows of the Hill & Shupp Department Store.

This doll is as large as many children at two years of age and wears clothes made for the average child of that age. Her hair is "real hair" and can be combed and brushed. Her big brown eyes are amazingly expressive and close in sleep in the most life-like manner.

But the most interesting fact about this doll is the manner in which she will enter and gladden some home this Christmas time.

Hill & Shupp have offered to give this doll absolutely free to the customer who makes the greatest number of purchases at their store between now and December 21.

To determine this, the customer who presents the greatest number of "duplicate checks" (regardless of the amount of the purchase) at their store on Thursday, December 21, will be entitled to the doll and will receive same by calling at the store Saturday evening, December 23, at 10 o'clock.

A "duplicate" check is given each customer with every purchase at the Hill & Shupp store.

Orchestra Concerts.

The musical evenings at the Hill & Shupp store during the past season by the Plainfield Symphony Orchestra and Trio have interested thousands of Plainfield musical people. These concerts will be continued each Saturday evening and holiday week, December 18 to 23. The store will be open for evening shoppers every evening, commencing December 18, with an attractive orchestra concert each evening. The management expect to make this the most interesting holiday season in the history of this store.

Attractive Showing of Holiday Linens

Among other lines for which the Hill & Shupp store has enjoyed a well earned reputation, the Linen Department has been especially prominent. Some unusual depression on imported linens this present season gave opportunity for the purchase at exceptional discount a lot of superior table damasks, napkins, fancy towels and fancy toilet linens. They expect to have them on sale at special prices right up to Christmas.

Fine Embroideries Being Sacrificed.

The Hill & Shupp people are again giving their patrons a few days' opportunity to select from their entire large assortment of fine embroideries at a discount of 25c on each dollar. As these goods enter very largely into holiday preparations, the offering has already brought an unusual number of interested buyers.

STORE NEWS — HILL & SHUPP.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

At the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, as a special attraction, Nat M. Wills, the well known comedian, will be seen in "The Duke of Duluth," which is an operatic farce written and staged under the personal direction of the author, George H. Broadhurst, who has become widely known through his successful farces, "Why Smith Left Home," "The Wrong Mr. Wright," etc. Mr. Wills made a pronounced success last season in "A Son of Rest" and was for many years an idol in vaudeville. This new vehicle is said to fit Mr. Wills' talents admirably. The music is by Max S. Witt, who is widely known as the composer of such popular song hits as "The Moth and the Flame," "Grace O'Moore," etc., also the operatic numbers introduced in "Nancy Brown" and "A Girl from Dixie." A company of sixty-five people are engaged to support Mr. Wills, including besides the principals, a chorus of forty pretty show girls, especially selected for the beauty and grace. The costumes and scenic equipment provided by Managers Broadhurst and Currie are said to be the most elaborate ever given any musical comedy sent on tour.

Scene in "Duke of Duluth," at New Plainfield Theatre Tomorrow Night.

Plonsky and Pincus are the two principal characters in "Bankers and Brokers," the new musical comedy which will introduce Yorke and Adams to the patrons of the New Plainfield theatre tonight. These comedians will be supported by a company of sixty-five people, numbering some of the best singers and dancers in the business. A reproduction of a well known banker's office in Wall street, New York, no doubt familiar to many, is shown in the first act.

It will be a novelty to see Raymond Hitchcock without a comic opera setting, but it is believed that his role of Copeland Schuyler gives excellent opportunity for the refined droll methods that characterized his work in "The Yankee Consul." Copeland Schuyler is a New York clubman, goes to the front in a disguise of Kirke Warren, the correspondent. His quest is a demure young woman who has enlisted as a Red Cross nurse. A music hall performer known as "The Human Fly," who is the divorced wife of Warren and a Newark widow, also in pursuit of the journalist, add to the complications. The comedy is in three acts and the background of the Grecian mountains, where the actual conflict between the Cross and the Crescent occurred, have been depicted by Walter Burridge, the famous scenic artist. The engagement here is announced for Thursday night at the New Plainfield theatre.

One of the most remarkable stage sets ever contrived for a modern drama, is that which is said to be the second act, conservatory and hot-house scene in "De Lancey," the Augustus Thomas comedy in which John Drew will act the hero at the New Plainfield theatre on December 22. The set is a faithful copy of the grenn-houses of a prominent multi-millionaire, whose estate is just outside of New York.

Sarah McVicker, the well known character actress, is to play Aunt Mary in the forthcoming production of "The Lightning Conductor," in which Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon are to have the principal roles. This comedy is to be presented here Tuesday night, December 26. It is to have its premier on the 21st of December. Aunt Mary desires to marry her niece to a man of title, but unfortunately the young lady falls in love with James Brown, chauffeur. The cast will include Edward Durand, John Bunny, and a dozen or more lesser lights in the profession.

"The Burglar's Daughter," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, is Owen Davis' latest work, and might be easily said to be his best. The Vance and Sullivan Company are managing the organization, and a fine cast, carloads of scenery, plenty of mechanical effects and sensational episodes are among the features of the production. The story is of a young girl born to a low life among thieves and thugs, who is saved from destruction by the aid of a clergyman who takes her into his family, and surrounding her with refinement they win her away from her early environments. She developes into a beautiful girl, and the clergyman eventually makes her his wife. Her father, the Burglar, repents of his evil ways, but an untimely death prevents him from developing his new character to any great extent. There is some comedy and the eccentric characters introduced are of an interesting nature.

Richard Harding Davis, Author of "The Galloper," at New Plainfield Theatre Thursday, December 14.

WHEN YOU ENTERTAIN.

You might give an "International Tea" when next you wish to invite a number of guests to your home, and are in doubt as to the character of your entertainment.

Decorate the rooms with the flags from all nations; these may be purchased in the department stores in all sizes. Young ladies dressed in costumes to represent "America," "Italy," "Scotland, "France," "England," "Germany," "Japan," "Manila," etc., form the reception committee and serve the refreshments.

National songs, such as "America," "Le Marseillaise," "God Save the King," "The Watch on the Rhine," "Blue Bells of Scotland," "Beautiful Venice, the Bride of the Sea," are sung or played during the evening. When refreshments are served the guests are asked to choose at which table they will sit. "America" will serve an abundance of baked beans, doughnuts and pie. "Scotland" will have porridge, oat cakes, scones, with cheese and haggies. "Italy" presides over vermicelli soup, macaroni, grapes and figs. Sausage, pretzels and rye bread will be found at "Germany's" table, while the "French" table will have dainty rolls, salads and omelet. "England" will be represented by roast beef and plum pudding. "Japan" will be gay with chrysanthemums, cherry blossoms, tea, with delicate sweetmeats, rice and wafers. "Manila" will serve bananas, lemonade and oranges.

If it's to be a quiet little affair with only the members of your own family and a few neighbors, you might hold one of the new spelling bees. tI is conducted along these lines:

As it used to be played each player in turn contributed a letter, and the first one to spell a complete word lost the game. Thus, if five players were competing and the first gave the initial "s," the second "t," the third "i," making "sti," and the fourth added "f," the fifth player would have to search his vocabulary for some other word than "stiff." The only way of continuing "stif" without completing the word and losing the game would be by adding the "l," and switching the game on to the word "stifle" and its derivitives.

This was the old progressive spelling bee, whose vogue has declined. The new game, which is known as the "Double Demon Spelling Bee," is a further development of it. The novel point is that each player when it comes to his turn has the option of either affixing or prefixing a letter. This opens out all sorts of new opportunities. Thus in the case already quoted, where the fifth player had to continue the letters "stif," he would be able to get out of the difficulty by prefixing the letter "a," thus turning the growing word in a direction of "mastiff."

MATRIMONIAL FELICITY

"Edith," I said, "you'll have to speak to Mary, for she is not careful enough. There are two flies in the oatmeal this morning."

"Perhaps they are twins," my wife suggested.

"I am not speaking with a view to ascertaining their relation to one another, but merely to suggest that in the interest of maintaining an appetite, you have Mary use a few precautions."

As the lord of the house I threw considerable dignity into my little speech, and Edith, being a wife of only a year, appeared a bit nettled. I might have known that trouble was coming. That it should lie in the little pile of letters that Mary had placed beside my plate that morning, I did not at first suspect.

"Ralph," said my wife sweetly.

"Yes, dear," I answered hastily, a bit repentant for my brusqueness of a minute before.

"There is a letter from a lady in the pile for you!" Her voice was potent with hidden meaning.

I wondered. I knew I had not flirted, kissed os to any noticeable degree even looked at any prepossessing female for the last year. But a man who doesn't marry until he is twenty-eight has generally been in love once or twice—or more—before settling down, and this letter might contain secrets that in my wife's possession would prove a bane during my future life. Why, they might even lead to divorce, for women imagine themselves wronged if their husband has even had a flirtation before marriage that he has not confided in her. I took up the little pile and sorted them nonchalantly. The letter referred to was unmistakable, in its pale pink envelope, neat little seal and small, delicate handwriting. And yet I did not recall the hand. I slipped the envelope in my pocket.

"Ralph," said my wife quietly—but oh, there was a depth of meaning in the pronunciation of the name.

"Yes—dear."

"Do you know who it is from?"

"No—dear," I replied, truthfully.

"Then why don't you open it?" There was an impressive silence, the longest I've known since the momentous night I proposed and she accepted and then we sat side by side without a word for half an hour. She seems to have regretted the wasted time, for she has not been silent since.

"Ralph Loring, you are hiding something from me—your wife," she finally said, dramatically. "You are indulging in some miserable love affair when you've only been married to me for a year!"

"I have not," I shouted hotly. "And you know I haven't."

"Oh, yes, you have, and you're doing everything you can to make me miserable. You've refused to give up smoking vile cigars—"

"Yes, they are vile," I roared. "And no wonder. I have to give you so much for your dresses and ice cream sodas that where I used to smoke decent Bock occasionally, I'm lucky if I have money enough to get a Pippin nowadays."

"Oh, I s'pose you think you've got some young, innocent girl that you can fool and make love to other women, but I'm not as young as that."

"I'll bet you're not," I exclaimed brutally. "And I bet your birth certificate was lost in the Civil War."

"Mr. Loring!" she exclaimed, and I chuckled inwardly. I had hit a bullseye.

"Are you going to show me that letter?" she continued.

"I'm not!" I said shortly. "Not because there is liable to be anything in it that you could not see, but because I believe I should be allowed a bit of privacy. By George, if we are going to have much of this I'll be like poor Johnson."

"Well, what has Mr. Johnson got to do with this? He's dead!"

"That's just it. I envy him. He jumped off Long Bridge a couple of years ago and saved his wife's life, and was so sorry afterward that he jumped in again and drowned himself. And that is what I shall do if you keep on nagging me." Meanwhile I had thrust a hand in my pocket, and digging open the disputed letter with one finger I felt of the sheet within. Glory—it was embossed!"

"And now, madame, to make you duly repentant, I'll let you be the first to read that confounded letter." I tossed it across the table with a magnificently injured expression.

"It's open, Ralph," she said, a bit abashed already.

"Is it?" I said sternly. "Did you do that with my letter before I came to the table? Were you so mean as to mistrust me?"

"I didn't, Ralph," she pleaded. I subsided wrathfully.

A minute later I looked up to find her watching me guiltily. "It's only a tailor's announcement of the season's opening, all done up on fancy paper. Oh, Ralph, and I suspected you. Can you ever forgive me?"

I hesitated and deliberated. I knew it would be more effective that way. "I presume I must, little girl," I said finally. "But promise you won't ever again. You know you made me feel so bad that I—that I—that I could have gone out and shot myself."

"Oh, Ralph, you mustn't do that ever. Drown or poison yourself, please, dear, because you know shooting upsets me so!"—Gertrude E. Rebasze in Boston Post.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

FOR CHILDREN.

Let the children, even the very littlest ones, help make things for the Christmas tree; do not shut them out, for that is part of the fun. Here are some of the things they can do snowy afternoons and before bedtime: String cranberries and popcorn; make the paper chains which all kindergarten children know how to make; cut out paper dolls and petals of tissue paper for artificial flowers if the pattern is given them; make the paper flowers into garlands; wax or varnish autumn leaves for the walls; wind hoops with cedar and ground pine for wreaths; crack nuts and pick out the nut meats; make little bags of tarletan or net stockings for candies. Do not grow impatient if little fingers are a bit slow and clumsy, they are willing, and love and good cheer should be the watchword for Christmastide.

Tiny Japanese or Chinese lanterns are considered safer to use on the Christmas tree than unprotected candles.

To make artificial snow, stick bits of cotton in glue and then dip in powdered mica or diamond dust.

Doll heads with quaint caps may be used on the top of round blotters, bonbon boxes, pin cushions, pen wipers, string bags, and shaving balls. Stuff the head with cotton and add a large frill about the neck which will cover the foundation circle of cardboard on which the doll head must be sewed or glued.

English walnut shells gilded, filled with very tiny dolls and tied with ribbons, should hang on the tree and will please the little folks.

Better give baby home made stuffed animals of Canton flannel than cheap bright toys which are painted with poisonous paint. Everything goes into the little mouth, so if would-be kind friends send the baby a toy covered with paint, scrape the paint off or put it into baby's treasure box to keep until he is old enough to keep objects out of his mouth. Home made candy, or rock candy, too, is better for the very tiny babies than the bright colored cheap candy sold by the ton at Christmas time.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Raisins should never be washed for a pudding, as it will make them heavy. Rub them clean between towels.

To cool a room wet a cloth—the larger the better—and suspend it in the room you wish to cool. Ventilate the room, and the temperature will soon sink.

To whiten bedroom floors—When washing a wooden floor put two tablespoonfuls of paraffin oil into some clean soapy water as hot as you can bear your hands in. It will also destroy insects and drive away moths.

Burnt milk—Next time you burn any milk take the saucepan off the fire and stand it at once in a basin of cold water. Put a pinch of salt in the saucepan, give the milk a stir, and you will find that the burnt taste has almost, if not entirely, disappeared.

Scorched linen—The following recipe is good for removing scorch: Extract the juice from two peeled onions, and add half an ounce of castile soap, cut small, and two ounces of fuller's earth. Mix together and then stir in one cup of vinegar. Stand the vessel over the fire and let its contents thoroughly boil. When cool spread it over the scorch and let it dry upon the cloth. When well dried wash the linen.

To keep butter cool—Here is a very simple arrangement for keeping butter cool, one of the greatest troubles of the housewife in summer. Get a common flower pot and a piece of new house flannel, and soak both in cold water all night. Put the butter on a dinner plate, put the flower pot over it, and then cover with the flannel which you have wrung out of the water. You must wet the flannel afresh every day.

A method of washing knives—In washing knives the water should only be allowed to touch the blades, as it is apt to loosen the handles if they are dipped into it. A cure for this is to have a wooden or tin cover made to fit the tub for washing up, pierced with slits, so that the blades of the knives may be passed through into the water while the handles rest above. In drying knives care should be taken to turn the sharp edge of the blade away from the hand, lest it cut through the cloth.

The value of whitewash—The healthfulness of a dwelling is very much increased by its being constantly whitewashed. Whitewash should be made by pouring boiling water on to cakes of whiting and stirring until the liquid is like a thin cream, when a small quantity of dissolved glue is added to prevent the color from rubbing off when dry. Whitewash should be applied with a broad, flat brush, working it in a uniform direction up and down the wall. It is necessary first to remove the dirt and old whitewash by washing it off with a brush and plenty of clean water.

When peeling onions hold them under cold water, as that will keep them from smarting the eyes.

Never dry flannels in the sunshine, but in a shady place. They should be washed and hung out to dry as quickly as possible.

TWENTY-FIVE YEAR MEMBERS HONORED

BADGES OF MEMBERSHIP BESTOWED BY I. O. O. F. LODGE, NO. 44.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., held its annual roll call, last night, the affair of the year at which every member, be he near or far, tries to attend. The majority of them succeeded and the attendance was fully 200, one of the largest noted in a long time.

Following the regular order of business the roll was called and an hour or more was devoted to speech making. One of the addresses was given by Grand Outer Guard Crowther, of Perth Amboy, one of the most popular Odd Fellows in the State. Former District Deputy Armstrong, of Rahway, turned over the affairs of his office to his successor, Albert Barber, of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, of this city, and the "twenty-five year" badges were presented. They were given by David Weaver to William Pangborn, John Becker to Abram Wade and S. H. Schleif to Michael Kohler. In conclusion the gathering adjourned to the banquet room where a "Dutch" supper was served.

The affair was arranged and in charge of a committee comprising S. H. Schlief, William Day and John Becker.

SAVED FROM DROWNING.

Fourteen Rescued As Lightship Flounders.

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 12.—Rolling in the swells, and well down in the water, the lighthouse tender, Azalea, plowed her way slowly into port at dawn today, having on board the fourteen men rescued from the Nantucket South Shoal Lightship No. 58. These men were rescued in the open sea after a thrilling fight for life, which continued many hours, until every man of them was staggering from weakness, following loss of sleep and exhaustion.

Until the little lighthouse tender puffed into port the opinion had been general along the Atlantic coast that the lightship had gone to the bottom and that the men aboard her had perished. Azalea seemed in trouble herself as the swells tossed her. She had experienced a hard fight for life, and only her stanch build saved her from going after the big lightship.

Watchung Council, K. C., will elect officers tonight. The officers will be installed at the next meeting.

Miss Nellie Clarkson, of East Second street, is ill with a heavy cold.

GRACE MEN'S CLUB OFFICERS HOLD OVER

ELECTION DEFERRED TO NEW DATE AT ANNUAL MEETING LAST NIGHT.

The annual meeting of the Men's Club of Grace P. E. church was held last night. Because of a change in the constitution the old officers were continued, the election holding over until spring.

The constitutional amendment, passed last night, changed the date of the annual meeting from the second Monday in Advent to the second Monday in May. By resolution put through in connection with the amendment the present officers were held over until that time.

All the reports were of the most gratifying nature. President Hugh F. Fox, reviewing the work of the year, said the members had every reason to be pleased with the showing made by the organization and predicted even better things for the ensuing year. Treasurer George S. Clay's report showed the financial condition of the club to be very satisfactory.

Secretary Edward F. Feickert reported for the pulpit committee. He read a list of prominent out-of-town clergymen who have consented to preach at the special monthly services of the club, and urged the members to support the religious work by a more general attendance. A social hour, during which the members were entertained by Alfred Lorain, followed the meeting.

The next meeting of the club, which will be held the second Monday in January, will be marked by an illustrated lecture on the Panama Canal by Andrew McClean Parker. All the other men's clubs of the city have been invited to attend.

MRS. DUMONT'S RECEPTIONS.

Second of Social Functions Yesterday Afternoon.

Mrs. John B. Dumont, of Stelle avenue, gave the second of a series of three "at homes," yesterday afternoon, and like the first one held a week ago yesterday, was largely attended by society people. The hours were from 3 to 7 o'clock.

Assisting Mrs. Dumont in receiving were Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, Mrs. F. O. Herring, Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Jr., Mrs. J. E. Corlies, Mrs. H. C. Adams, Miss Wadsworth, Miss Grace Cockran and Miss Rowland.

The third "at home" will be given on Monday afternoon, December 18.

Face Serious Charge.

Charles Rehwold, hotelkeeper, of Kingsland, a member of the Union Township Committee and one of the most influential men in that part of Bergen county, was arrested yesterday by Constable Jacob Dunn, of Hackensack, on a charge of assulting Nellie Petro, sixten years old, of that place. The girl formerly was employed in the Kingsland Hotel. Julia Rehwold, wife of the hotelkeeper, will be arrested today, Nellie Petro charging that Mrs. Rehwold was her husband's confederate. Rehwold furnished $1,000 bail and was released. He denies the charges against himself and wife.

East Orange Pastor Resigns.

Rev. Dr. Fritz W. Baldwin, who for sixteen years has been pastor of Trinity Congregational church in East Orange, has offered his resignation and asked that he be released at the parish meeting in January. Dr. Baldwin has given no reason for withdrawing, but it is known his health is not very good and he wishes rest.

North Plainfield High School and the city High School will meet in the Interscholastic Basketball League at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon.

HINTS ON MAILING GIFTS

Timely Suggestions of Value When Sending Christmas Presents.

WHAT TO OBSERVE

Points Well to Be Remembered at All Times—What the Postmaster Says.

Postmaster E. H. Bird calls attention of persons using the mails to a few valuable hints before the Christmas rush of postal business begins.

By paying attention to these hints a more satisfactory use of the mails will be had and many delays caused by the lack of information by the senders of packages will be avoided. The postmaster's hints follow:

Always place stamp in upper right hand corner.

Second, third and fourth class matter deposited either in street box or postoffice, if not fully prepaid, is held at office of mailing until addressee (who will be notified) sends amount of deficiency.

Mail matter of every description should bear name and address of sender in the upper left hand corner. This will insure return of matter if for any reason same cannot be delivered.

See that the proper postage is paid.

Have your letters and packages properly addressed.

Do not hold mail until the close of business, but mail it at frequent intervals during the day.

Postage stamps are neither redeemable nor exchangeable for those of other denominations.

Stamped envelopes which have been spoiled by misdirection or other cause, and which have not been cancelled, if in a whole condition, will be redeemed for the value of the postage on them, playable in stamps.

Mail matter deposited on the top of letter boxes is not in the custody of the postoffice.

It sometimes happens that letters intended to be registered, and have the necessary postage thereon, are dropped in the postoffice in the ordinary letter box. These letters are not registered, but go through as ordinary mail. The postoffice department requires parties registering letters to present same at postoffice registry window, where a receipt will be given, or to any letter carrier, who will give receipt for same and letter will be duly registered.

All letters and packages with valuable contents should be registered, as it is always impossible to trace losses of ordinary mail matter.

More mail matter is improperly handled, delayed and missent because of imperfectly or carelessly written abbreviations of states than from all other causes combined.

Any postoffice, no matter how small, makes special delivery of mail matter bearing a special stamp, within one mile of the office.

A special delivery stamp placed on a letter or package does not guarantee it against the possibility of loss, but simply insures prompt delivery at the office to which it is addressed, therefore, do not use special delivery stamp instead of registering valuable letters and packages.

Ordinary matter addressed to fictitious persons or firms, to initials ("A. B. C.," "X. Y. Z.," etc), or to no particular person or firm, unless directed to be delivered at a designated place, as a postoffice box, street and number, or to the care of a certain person or firm within the delivery bound of the office, cannot be delivered, but sent to the dead letter office (unless the sender's return card is on article mailed) in accordance with the postal laws and regulations.

Postmaster Bird specially urges persons sending Christmas gifts to see to it that packages are securely tied, otherwise the wrappers often become separated from the box or article, in which case neither sender or addressee can be identified.

The postoffice department at Washington is interested in the careful handling of Christmas mail, as will be seen by the following instructions issued to postal employes:

During Christmas holiday season, numerous Christmas gifts are in the registered and ordinary mails. Many of them are fragile and some are not packed securely enough to withstand either the frequent handling they receive or contact with heavier bundles or packages.

Clerks are especially charged, therefore to exercise extraordinary care in dumping pouches and sacks in piling mail and also in delivering it, to avoid breaking or crushing Christmas gifts.

It is also important in distributing packages into pouches or sacks to do so carefully in order to avoid their being broken by contact with heavy matter or by striking the racks.

Trampling upon mail sacks is always forbidden. When sacks or pouches in the rack begin to fill up, they must not be jolted or the contents pressed down either by hand or foot, and if the contents do not settle by shaking the sacks from the bottom, they should be taken out and other sacks hung instead of endeavoring to pack sacks or pouches to the fullest extent.

When practicable, packages of merchandise, which sem especially liable to injury should be included in puoches whether letter postage is paid on them or not.

Clerks will be particular to note the pouch or sacks in which loose articles are found, and examine same carefully to see whether the address can be ascertained before treating them as unmailable. In all cases the pouch or sack label should be forwarded with reports of unmailable matter, and section 1512 to 1518, inclsive, P. L. and R., otherwise carefully complied with.

Clerks will also retie loose packages to prevent any loss of contents.

It is the especial duty of clerks in charge to see that these instructions are enforced in their several crews.

POLICE KIDNAP ZELAYA

Son of Nicaraguan President, Who Studied Here, Has Romance.

TORN FROM FIANCEE

Nicaragua's Minister, Acting As His Guardian, Has Police of National Capitol Block Marriage With Washington Girl.

On the eve of his marriage to a pretty Washington girl whom he had been courting for two years, Alphonso Zelaya, the nineteen-year-old son of the President of Nicaragua, who prepared for his entrance into the West Point Military Academy as a special student, under agreement between the United States and his government, at Cedarcroft School, Park avenue, was kidnapped Friday night while visiting his sweetheart. He was forced into a waiting cab, and driven to a prominent Washington hotel, where detectives kept him a close prisoner until Sunday night, when he was started for Central America under guard. The kidnapping was at the request of Minister Corea, of Nicaragua, the guardian of the young man.

Zelaya left Cedarcroft last year after a two years' residence here. He was well known to many Plainfielders. His lively temperament and accomplishments made him highly popular.

Zelaya, after a short time at West Point, resigned last year and returned to Washington, where he had studied. He had met Miss Marguerite Baker, daughter of Dr. W. W. Baker, employed in one of the Government departments, and had fallen in love with her. Zelaya was much in her company. It was known to all the boarders that they were soon to be married.

The wedding was set for Saturday, and all of Friday was spent by Zelaya and Miss Baker flat-hunting. Minister Corea heard of the contemplated marriage and asked Major Sylvester, Chief of Police, to aid him in preventing it as the young man was only nineteen years old. Sylvester consented and detailed two detectives, McNamee and Helan, to accompany a personal representative of the Nicaraguan Minister in a search for the young man.

They first went to his apartments, and not finding him there, proceeded to the home of Miss Baker. The young man and his sweetheart were in the parlor discussing plans for housekeeping when the detectives and Mercurie forced their way in.

"You're wanted to answer a very serious charge," Mercurie said to Zelaya. "Get your coat and come with us."

Zelaya went to the door, protesting that he had done no wrong and asking for what he was wanted. He was bundled into a carriage and the detectives piled in on top of him. At the Cairo Apartment Hotel, in Q street, near Sixteenth, the young man was escorted to a suit on the top floor. He threatened to commit suicide unless released. When Minister Corea heard of this he was greatly worried and the detectives were directed not to leave Zelaya alone for an instant.

Zelaya was so closely guarded that escape was impossible. It was under the charge of a trusted employe of the Nicaraguan Legation that he was started for Central America. Before the departure, Miss Baker, with several of her friends, appeared, and her tearful appeals resulted in the Minister's consenting that she see Zelaya a few moments.

Miss Baker, through a friend, made this statement: "Nothing can happen which will cause me to break my faith in Alphonso. I have every confidence in him and know he has been greatly wronged. It will not be long until he will return, and then we will be happy again."

The Washington Police Department justified its course by the plea that it was bound to protect the ward of a foreign Minister.

MISS VANSICKEL A DECEMBER BRIDE

JOHN HAROLD SCHMIDT, OF HARTFORD, THE GROOM.

Miss Eva Louise VanSickel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. VanSickel, of Madison avenue, and John Harold Schmidt, of Hartford, Conn., were married last evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the two families and a few intimate friends. Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, formerly paster of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, and an intimate friend of the bride's family, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Grave VanSickel, as bridesmaid, and the best man was Egbert Jurgensen, of New York. The other attendants were Reginald Schmidt, of New York, brother of the groom; Walter Struthers, of New York; W. J. Worcester, of Montclair, and Harold Wills, of this city, who acted as ribbon bearers. The bridesmaid preceded the bride, who was escorted by her father. He gave her in marriage. The Mendelssohn wedding march was rendered by vonBar's orchestra as the bridal party entered the parlor.

The house was decorated with Southern smilax and roses, and in the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, there was a bower of greens and flowers. The table in the dining room was garnished with choice roses and smilax.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon, trimmed with point lace and she carried lilies-of-the-valley and white orchids. She also wore a veil. The bridesmaid's gown was of pale green and she carried white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held. Supper was served by Maresi. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt left for a wedding trip, and upon their return will live at Hartford, Conn., where the groom is engaged as a bond broker.

BLACKMAILING LETTERS

Anonymous Grafter Seeks to Prey on Miss Van-Artsdale's Father.

GIRL VICTIM OF ERROR

Her Name Dragged Into Scandalous Case Through Similarity in Names of Her Employer and His Cousin.

Through a similarity in name between two cousins, Miss Margaret Van Artsdale, of Dunellen, has been given a lot of unenviable notoriety in the New York papers, and her father, Paxton Van Artsdale, has received the attention of some unknown blackmailer. The story of the affair reads like a chapter from a novel.

The cousins are A. H. Blackmar, a Wall street broker, and H. Blackmar, Jr., of 78 Wall street. Miss Van Artsdale works for the latter. For a year or more A. H. Blackmar has been in the habit of making his cousin's office his headquarters, receiving letters and sending out his correspondence there. What typewriting he had to do, Miss Van Artsdale, being in the office, naturally did.

Mr. Blackmar—A. H.—had had some trouble with his wife, being divorced, and joined the great army of alimony-payers. He grew slack in his payments, and in the course of time found himself in the throes of supplementary proceedings. His testimony was interesting, and the long ears of the New York reporters quivered with joy at the nature of it.

When they reported the affair they made Miss Van Artsdale the bankrupt young man's typewriter. Their reports made him testify that he had not paid her any salary for a year. She was not on his salary list, so this fact is not strange, but the papers did not make that point clear. They had side features to their stories devoted to Miss Van Artsdale's "stylish gowns," so that her part in Blackmar's domestic troubles seemed sufficiently plain to warrant raised eyebrows and sniffs from the feminine part of Dunellen.

The Van Artsdale family, at first, were not very much concerned over the occurrence. They believed the mistake could be rectified by the explanation, and accepted the annoyance that grew from it philosophically. But a new aspect was put on the affair last week when anonymous letters began to reach Mr. Van Artsdale.

They were threatening in tone, and bluntly demanded money. The writer hinted knowledge of the affair that was worth suppressing, and wanted pay for suppressing it. Mr. Van Artsdale's indignation over the blackmailing attempt makes up for any lack of heat over the wrong done his daughter by the papers.

He called the attention of Miss Van Artsdale's employer to the letters, and the latter shared his feelings. Mr. Blackmar felt keen regret over the original incident, and the new development moved him to deeper indignation than even Mr. Van Artsdale felt.

Mr. Blackmar has placed the blackmailing letters in the hands of a detective, and every effort will be made to run down the writer. The letters were unsigned, and give no clue to the author. Mr. Blackmar is determined to trace the writer out, if that can possibly be accomplished. A reward will be paid for information leading to his discovery.

Mr. Van Artsdale was seen by a Daily Press reporter in regard to the affair yesterday afternoon, but beyond acknowledging the receipt of the letters and his knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the original incident he would say nothing for publication. He refused to show the letters.

SETTLE $25,000 SUIT

Allen and Harkins Get Together, Ignoring Theis Lawyers.

HUSBAND WILL GO WEST

Willingness to Settle Said to Come From His Need of Money of a Health Trip.

The suit for $25,000 damages brought by Joseph Harkins against F. K. Allen, of the Hotel Iroquois, for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections will not be brought to trial. Settlement of the action was effected yesterday. Mr. Allen himself acknowledged that the settlement had been made, to a reporter, this morning.

Counsel on both sides knew nothing of the abrupt termination of the case, until the details had been arranged. Allen and Harkins met quietly and agreed on the sum that was to secure the former's release from legal proceedings. The first intimation that Craig A. Marsh, counsel for the defendant, had of the action was when his client came to his office yesterday afternoon and asked him to draw up a receipt for the money paid to Harkins. Isaac P. Runyon, Harkins' lawyer, learned of it still later.

"The settlement cost me between $500 and $600," said Mr. Allen this morning. Nobody else connected with the case would make any statement as to the basis of it.

Mr. Allen still vigorously maintains his innocence of the charge on which Harkins founded the suit. Not one of the allegations is true, he says, and the only explanation of the settlement is to be found in his desire to help an unfortunate young man and a natural disinclination to the notoriety that would attend a trial. Harkins, it is said, is in ill-health and was hard pushed for money with which to take a trip to the West, where he hopes to grow stronger. Mr. Allen intimated that Harkins offered to settle for money enough to take the trip, and he gave it to him more through compassion for his condition than for any other reason.

PERKINS TO BE LEADER

Union County Assemblyman Chosen by House After Colbyites Bolt.

PLAINFIELDERS THERE

Tucker Joins the Anti-organization Men in Leaving the Caucus—Martin Attacks Robbins.

The caucus of the Republican members of the House of Assembly for the purpose of electing a Speaker and officers of the House was held yesterday at Trenton without the Colbyites, of Essex and Hudson counties, who made good their threat to bolt.

Among the Plainfielders present were former Mayor C. J. Fisk, County Register F. H. Smith, George J. Tobin and Winfield S. Angleman.

The regular caucus selected Mr. Robbins for Speaker, Randolph Perkins, of Union, as leader; William Lutz, of Atlantic, sergeant-at-arms; George A. Grover, of Essex, supervisor of bills; Jacob Russ, of Hudson, bill clerk; Frank Tantum, Monmouth, assistant bill clerk; Charles H. Angleman, of Union, journal clerk; assistant journal clerk, Howard Keasby, of Salem.

The bolters did not wait for the caucus to express itself one way or the other about the selection of House officials. At the first opportunity Assemblyman Martin of Essex, read a prepared statement announcing the reasons for the Colby forces retiring from the caucus. The Essex and Hudson men took out with them Assemblyman-elect Tucker, of Union county.

Assemblyman-elect Dipple, of Hudson county, was deputized by Colby to remain in the caucus to report the transactions of the caucus.

Mr. Martin's statement, signed by the Essex and Hudson men, together with Tucker, said the signers declined to be bound by the caucus, and declared that it seemed certain that Assemblyman Samuel K. Robbins, of Burlington, was to be made Speaker. They therefore felt that they should retire. Mr. Martin declared that Robbins was being backed by the "agents of corporations" and that influences against limited franchises and equal taxation were actively supporting Robbins.

Robbins made a brief speech. He vigorously declared that he would not accept the office either as the tool of any man or of any corporation. He emphatically declared that he made no pledges as to the make-up of the committees or as to his action with regard to the conduct of the business of the House.

A steering committee was appointed for the distribution of the minor offices. It reported a cutting down of the usual list so that $5,950 in salaries would be saved.

ANOTHER ROBBERY.

Adam Blair's House on Park Avenue Entered by Second Story Man.

Adam Blair's house on Park avenue was added to the list of those at which second story men have operated, last night. A watch and some small pieces of jewelry were taken.

The robbery was committed while the family were away from home. Mrs. Blair discovered it when she come in at 9 o'clock. She notified the police and ocers were sent to the house at once. The usual lack of clues baffled them.

Entrance was gained by means of the porch and a second-story window. The police believe the theft was committed by one man.

Song and Piano Recital.

A delightful song and piano recital was given Monday night at the residence of Miss F. May Grant, 320 East Seventh street, by her youngest pupils, Misses Mabel Perrine, Fannie Berkowitz, Nellie Craiger, Bessie Adelberg, Ethel Vail, Adeline Lusardi and Valborg Steuer and James Vail. They were kindly assisted by Miss Campbell, Miss Perrine and Miss L. May Pruden. Each pupil acquitted herself in a manner pleasing to their teacher, winning hearty applause from all present. During the evening, Miss Helen Wooley gave several pleasing recitations.

FIRE RECORD BROKEN IN PAST TWELVE MONTHS

TOTAL NUMBER OF ALARMS OF ALL KINDS REACHED 107.

When Chief T. O. Doane presents his annual report to the Common Council at the next regular meeting, it will show that for the second time in the history of the department the number of fires in twelve months has exceeded 100. Since January 1 of the present year there have been a total of 107, six more than ever known before. These include box and still alarms, with the number about equally divided.

Though the year has been a record breaker, the fire loss has been lower than in many other reports. Because of prompt work on the part of the department, there were no large conflagration, many that threatened very heavy losses getting checked. A notable instance of this was the blaze at the Lounsbury embossing plant on West Second street, which caught fire early in the morning and seemed beyond saving when Chief Doane and his men arrived. By dint of hard work and well planned fighting they extinguished the flames with a loss of about $20,000 and left the building in such shape that it could be quickly repaired. There were other fires that threatened losses of from five to ten thousand dollars but which were kept to one or two. On the whole a perusal of the report is interesting and demonstrates as much as anything the efficiency of the local fire fighters.

CONGREGATIONAL MEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINMENT

MEMBERS AND FRIENDS ENJOY A VARIED PROGRAMME.

With vocal and instrumental music and story telling, the Men's Club of the Congregational church was entertained in a pleasant manner last night. There was a good attendance of members and friends and the informal programme in charge of Alexander Millar was very enjoyable.

Elmer D. Cutting, accompanied by Clifford A. Braider on the piano, gave several vocal selections which elicited hearty applause. He also favored the club with several of his best stories related in the Irish, Italian and Hebrew dialect.

Interspersing Mr. Cutting's selections and while refreshments were being served, the Amsterdam Club, instrumental trio, of New York, rendered a number of popular selections. The artists were given a cordial reception and their work was highly appreciated.

Mr. Millar had charge of the entertainment, while Henry Newman, J. A. Powlison, W. D. Dunning, assisted by other members of the club, served the refreshments. During the evening the club received an invitation from the Men's Club of Grace church to attend a lecture to be given early in January by Andrew McClean Parker on the Panama Canal. It was accepted, and as many of the members as possible will attend.

MISS ANDERSON A BRIDE.

Daughter of W. W. Anderson Becomes Mrs. Wyckoff.

A very pretty wedding was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Anderson, at Somerville, when their daughter, Miss Jennie May Anderson, well known in this city, and William Franklin Wyckoff, of Frankfort, were made husband and wife. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. E. A. Woods, of the First Baptist church, of that place, in the presence of 150 guests from this city and other places. Miss Lottie May Lissenden, of Hamilton Square, was bridesmaid, and Roscoe J. Cubberly, of Hamilton Square, best man. The ushers were Abram Cox, of Flaggtown, and Nelson O. Natter, of Frankfort.

The bride was attired in white silk mull, trimmed with Valencia lace and white satin ribbon, and carried a shower bouquet of white bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore white Swiss, trimmed with lace and satin ribbon, and carried pink and white carnations.

The parlors were elaborately decorated by a florist from Trenton. White and green were the prevailing colors. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Louanna Pietersen, of Finderne. An elaborate course of refreshments was served.

The gifts were very pretty, consisting of cut glass, dinner set, fruit dishes, berry dishes, silverware, pictures, etc., etc.

After the congratulations and refreshments the couple left for an extended wedding trip. The bride wore a traveling dress of blue broadcloth and hat to match, with a trimming of Alice blue.

NOW "WHAT'S IN A NAME"

Fight Renewed Against Wm. H. Rogers by International Company.

IN CHANCERY TODAY

Mr. Mark As Counsel for Defendant Subpoenaes Many Plainfielders—What the Contention is About.

Before Vice Chancellor Stevens in the Chancery chambers at Newark, this morning, action was commenced by the International Silver Company to restrain W. H. Rogers, of this city, from using his name in the manufacture of silverware. The proceedings are conducted against Mr. Rogers as an individual and are similar to those recently concluded in which the William H. Rogers Corporation was made defendant and was forced to alter its dies.

The William H. Rogers Corporation, composed mostly of Plainfielders, was organized several years ago to make silverware and soon built up a large business. All the output was stamped "The W. H. Rogers Corporation" and exception was taken to it by the International Silver Company, which maintained that it infringed upon its trade mark. Suit was instituted and after a long drawn-out contest, the Plainfield corporation was compelled to abandon its style of marking.

Since then William H. Rogers has continued in the business and his goods have been stamped "W. H. Rogers, of Plainfield, N. J." The International Company still objected and again began proceedings, virtually contending that William H. Rogers has no right to use his own name in connection with silverware that he manufactures. Mr. Rogers is made the defendant alone and has prepared to defend his right to continue marking in the way has has been doing. He is represented by Craig A. Marsh, who acted for the Rogers Corporation, while the International Silver Company has retained Edward A. & William T. Day, the well known firm of Newark lawyers.

Mr. Marsh has subpoenaed a large number of Plainfielders in the case but for what point in the case was not made known.

THIS MATINEE IDOL CAPTURED HER HEART

COMEDIAN JOHNNY GALVIN WON A PRETTY CANADIAN GIRL.

By special delivery letters and half a dozen or more telegrams, the word was conveyed to Plainfield today that "Johnny" Galvin, this city's popular comedian, had at last succumbed to the charms of womankind and is now a happy benedict. For the past year he has been starring in his father's production of "A Bell Boy," and he met his fate while appearing in St. Catherines, Ont., where the show made a week stand. At the opening matinee Miss Evelyn St. Cyr, the daughter of one of the city's well known residents, was included in the audience and the funny antics of the clever "Johnny" so amused the pretty Canadian girl that she expressed a wish to meet him.

An introduction was arranged by friends and it was a case of "love at first sight." When the Galvin company left for other parts the principal comedian had exchanged pledges with Miss St. Cyr, and he returned to St. Catherines last week to make her his bride. The ceremony was witnessed by a gathering of theatrical people and the young woman's friends, after which a reception was held at her home. Mr. and Mrs. Galvin are now traveling through western Ontario and they expect to come to Plainfield at the close of the present season.

When the news of the wedding reached town today the telegraph wires were kept hot for a little while with congratulatory messages sent to Brantford, Ont., where the happy groom is billed to appear tonight.

Plainfield Youths Rang Doorbells.

All are young men and went through George street ringing doorbells at that early hour. They were given a reprimand and discharged.—New Brunswick Times.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Gyp, the little brown dog owned by George Apgar, is credited with bearing a charmed life. PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Two old watches and about three dollars in cash, net returns from three burglaries several weeks ago, was discouraging for the burglars who were working in town, so they seem to have transferred their field of operations to Plainfield, where they can occasionally pick up a five-spot in doing a job.

Assessor Charles H. French, who was quite badly injured two weeks ago by being thrown from a trolley car while taking the sharp curve near Galvin's Park, is able to be around again.

Conrad Peitz and family have removed from the Cook property on Forest avenue to the house on Westfield avenue recently occupied by Frederick K. Clark and family.

A GOOD REASON.

Plainfield People Can Tell You Why It Is So.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause backache, headache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Plainfield people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. Agnes Christiansen, of 311 Prescott place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was sick with kidney diseases, suffered all kinds of hard pains in my back and loins, and about the kidneys. I could not bend over to pick up anything, and occasionally had dizzy spells and headaches. I could not rest well at night and on the whole my condition was such that life did not seem worth living. Doctors being unable to help me I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which had been used with success in our family. I took them, finding relief in a short time and continued the treatment until cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church, will give a talk on revivals at the mid-week prayer meeting in Vincent chapel tonight. He will tell of the work being done throughout New Jersey.

At the regular mid-week prayer service in Vincent chapel tonight the pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, will relate some of his personal observations of the wonderful revival meetings now being held in Elizabeth and Newark.

W. D. Murray will address the parents of children at a meeting to be held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, tonight. Parents of the children in the Sunday-school are especially invited to attend.

Under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist, a special musical programme will be given at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. The original quartette formerly of this city, comprising Elmer D. Cutting, Sydney R. Titsworth, Howard Lewis and E. Maxwell Honeyman, will give the musical numbers.

The First Chapters of "The Masqueraders" and Five Christmas Stories in the Xmas Number of the Sunday North American.

The North American promises something decidedly out of the ordinary in its issue for December 17, the Christmas edition of the Sunday paper. The management has secured six Christmas stories by the best-known authors, and will also begin the serial publication of "The Masquerader," by Katherine Cecil Thurston, the novel that has been praised by all of the critics as the greatest that has been written in the last ten years.

The short stories are: "A Stolen Christmas," by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman; "Davy's Christmas," by Annie Trumbull Slosson; "Solomon Crow's Christmas Pockets," by Ruth McEnery Stuart; "A Journey in Search of Christmas," by Owen Wister; "An Engineer's Christmas Story," by John A. Hill, and "The Christmas Gifts of Thaddeus," by John Kendrick Bangs.

The front cover of the magazine is said to be the finest head of Kris Kringle ever printed in a newspaper. There is a poem by Peter H. Doyle that the young folks will be reciting at the holiday entertainments.

All the magazine articles and comics will be full of the Christmas spirit, and one page that will be thoroughly practical is that which tells about the cost of the Christmas presents that are bought annually in the big cities.

The edition will be limited, owing to the extra work necessitated by the special features, so that it will be necessary to order the paper in advance.

NEW INAUGURAL DATE.

Committee Proposes the Last Thursday in April.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Formal action looking to a change of date of inauguration day has been taken by the transmission to Congress of a letter from H. B. F. Macfarland, chairman of the National Committee on Change of Date, reciting the action of the committee, which met in Washington on November 28 and passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that it should represent o Congress that it is advisable to change the date of inauguration day to the last Thursday in April."

The committee explains that a day of the week rather than a day of the month was chosen to prevent the date falling on Sunday.

Action by Congress is urged to enable the Legislatures of the States to act thereon at their next sessions.

VAIL JEWELRY FOR CHRISTMAS

THE GREAT TWELVE ACRE STORE Located in the heart of Newark.

THE TWELVE-ACRE STORE.

Hahne & Co.

Broad, New and Halsey Sts., Newark, N. J.

QUALITY BETTER or PRICE LOWER than in N. Y. with Choice as Great.

Here You Will Find all That the Heart Could Wish and Good Taste Select as Christmas Presents, Collected from Every Country in the World, for Young and Old.....

Only nine selling days before Christmas, and thousands of presents yet to be bought from our stock of a million and more. The experienced shopper doesn't go to New York as in former years to buy gifts, for this great and magnificent twelve-acre store of ours makes a trip across the Hudson unnecessary. Not only the children that are enraptured by the colossal display we make for their enjoyment, but grown people as well. We are fully aware that Newark's most powerful Christmas magnet is THIS STORE, and while we receive the greatest benefit from suburban as well as local patronage, that we are alone responsible for influencing North and Central New Jersey people to the number of many thousands to patronize home trade.

Nowhere else in this State is there a store in which people can buy presents for every age and condition, and we have on many occasions had the pleasure of hearing it said: "We looked around New York, but came back to Hahne & Co.'s store to buy, for we found we could do better there."

Our 48th holiday display is the most effective and fascinating we have ever made, and it excels, vanquishes, eclipses and over-matches all others. This is not vain boasting; come and be convinced by your own palatial store exhibitions. Our beautiful Grand Court, the admiration of every mercantile firm in the land, is illuminated by thousands of electric lights. A giant Santa Claus there bows a welcome and salutes the visitor. Throughout the store are various free special entertainments, among them Santa Claus and his workshop. Toy and Doll exhibition. Talking Machine Entertainment. Regina Music Box Concert. Orchestrion Music from fourth floor, bridge. Huge Santa Claus in Grand Court.

Note—We ask the indulgence of our patrons and request them to take small packages with them when convenient to do so.

Hints to Shoppers.

To avoid the crowds come in the morning. Get a transfer card and you make but one payment.

Fine Restaurant for ladies and gentlemen in the basement. Smoking Room adjoining the Restaurant.

Children's Free Presents.

Little Children accompanied by grown persons will receive a pretty present from Santa Claus if they will call from 10 to 5 o'clock at his workshop, second floor, near Broad street, north side.

To the Children.

Letters written to Santa Claus will be answered if the addresses be plainly given and postage prepaid. Letters may be dropped in our Christmas Box at Santa Claus' workshop or sent through the U. S. Mail.

DENVER ALREADY MAKING READY FOR ELKS

$60,000 BEING RAISED TO ENTERTAIN THE ANTLERED HOST IN 1906.

Denver, Dec. 13.—Denver is to be turned into a city of purple next July. When the warm winds of the day meet the cooling breezes from the mountains in the evening, the city at the foot of the Rockies will be one mighty sea of purple.

The State of Colorado, the city of Denver, the park boards, the owners of private parks and gardens and the entire city of Denver, in fact, will raise purple flowers in honor of the reunion of the B. P. O. Elks. Nature will be used in making every lawn bloom with purple flowers. Owners or managers of office buildings will unite with the tenants in having potted plants in windows. Added to this will be one of the finest electrical displays ever seen in the country, along with the bunting and flag display.

Thousands of dollars will be expended on this line alone and already florists are working overtime, preparing seeds and plants for the first big demand.

Between 50,000 and 75,000 Elks are expected to travel toward Denver next year. Grand Exalted Ruler Brown has approved the plans of the Denver committee. Under the directions of William Maher, exalted ruler of Denver Lodge, No. 17, $60,000 is being raised to entertain the visitors. In addition to this the great mines of Colorado, gold and silver, are offering gold and silver bullion as prizes. The roads have made a rate of $25 from Chicago, and this will attract many thousands of extra visitors.

The plans of the entertainment committee are unique in details. The largest band of Indians ever gathered together, at least during the past ten years, will be on hand. Wyoming will join with Colorado in furnishing the big band of the real Elk from the mountains and plains.

Trips to the greatest mines in the world, trips to the mountains, with Wild West shows of the real order, are a few of the things in store for the visitors.

Plainfield, N. J., December 13, 1905.

They can throw all the stones they want at Colby, but have you ever noticed that when the President invites a politician to luncheon it stamps the guest of persona grata at the White House?

Sheriff Sommer, of Essex county, says that an experienced typewriter and stenographer can earn more money that a public school teacher. In that he is quite right and it only goes to show the mean treatment received by the pedagogues at the hands of the average board of education. It is indeed encouraging to note that the Newark board is awake to the situation and proposes to give the teachers a fairer compensation for the work they perform. Would that other boards would follow suit.

Milkman Found Not Guilty.

Much interest was centered in a case tried yesterday before Justice Sutphen and a jury of twelve men at the Court House in Somerville. The State Board of Health charged Charles R. Gunther, of Franklin Park, with selling milk not up to standard. It was said the milk he disposed of did not contain twelve per cent. of solids. Many witnesses testified. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty. Josiah Stryker, of Trenton, represented the Board of Health and Assemblyman Irving Hoagland was counsel for the defense. The State Board has appealed the case and it will be taken to the Common Pleas Court.

SEVERAL THOUSAND FOR CHURCH REPAIRS

CRESENT AVENUE'S EDIFICE TO BE IMPROVED NEXT YEAR.

The officers of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church are planning to make some extensive improvements in their house of worship next year. This edifice has been without repair for several years and there are some changes desired that will cost several thousand dollars to make.

Since the church assumed the care and guidance of its three chapels, Hope, Bethel and Warren, it has expended a considerable amount of money in this direction. In consequence many improvements in the home church have been allowed to wait. The officers now believe that the time has about arrived when these proposed improvements must be made.

A preliminary change decided upon is that of improving the lighting of the edifice by electricity. The large incandescent lamps now used in the auditorium and chapel will be taken out and in their place clusters of electric lights will be placed where they will give the most light. It is also proposed to place the electric light wires underground where they lead up to the church and thus reduce the fire risk to a minimum.

The Watchung School, vegetables and groceries, and $1.75 in money. The Junior Circle of Christian Endeavor of Trinity Reformed church sent fruit, vegetables and other supplies. Somerset Street School, 10 barrels of fruit, vegetables and groceries.

M. E. KIMBALL.

Mr. Swackhamer's Client Explains.

Editor The Daily Press:

I notice that someone on behalf of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company has evidently been giving articles for publication which are not entirely fair to me, respecting their claim against me. It is true the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company obtained a judgment against me for about $250, and they attempted to collect this amount from some moneys from a judgment recovered by my attorneys, Codington & Swackhamer, from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

This was a case wherein I recovered judgment in the Circuit Court for $700, and which the Railroad Company appealed to the Supreme Court, and which was there also decided in my favor. I, of course, disputed the amount claimed to be due from me to the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company, and when they attempted to collect their judgment from the moneys due me from the Railroad Company I objected and the matter was compromised by my paying to them $165 in full settlement of their claim.

I simply desire to say that I have no judgments against me and am not indebted to any one in any amount, except possibly a few minor bills. I beg to say that I simply take the position which every honest man would do, and will not be driven into payment of money for which I am not liable.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. W. H. Manning and Mrs. J. A. Cubberley spent a part of yesterday afternoon drilling the Sunday-school children for the Christmas service.

The home of Mr. Labaw, of Clinton avenue, has received a new coat of paint, greatly improving the property in appearance.

The new house being built by Frank Faulks is being equipped with modern conveniences within.

The lake ice is not yet strong enough for skating, having only been frozen since Sunday.

A good spirit was manifest in the weekly prayer meeting at the Baptist church last night.

Mrs. Catherine Smith has been troubled for some time with rheumatism.

Miss Mabel Smith has been suffering since last week with a severe cold.

Additional suburban news on page two.

HOUSE SAVES $5,950.

Lops Off Spending of Taxpayers' Money.

Governor Stokes rested well last night in the assurance that the house of assembly, so close to the people of the State, had returned to observance of the law regarding expenses of holding sessions.

On the recommendation of Assemblyman Barber, of Mercer, the Republican house caucus yesterday took up in real earnest true economy in handling legislation and voted to adopt the plan of Mr. Barber for coming back literally to the law.

Later in the afternoon the steering committee reported a saving of $5,950 of the people's money in the salaries of doorkeepers, pages and legislative attaches. Only one Republican raised his voice loud against this plan and that was Mr. Miller, of Cumberland, who warned the members of the caucus that trouble awaited them when they went home and faced the music for not getting more jobs for their constituents.

The saving effected by Mr. Barber's resolution is as follows: Two doorkeepers, at $350 each for the session; two pages, at $200 each; one page, with postmastership, at $350; two pages, with assistant postmastership, $300 each; six gallery keepers, $350 each; one assistant to clerk of the house, $400; one assistant to journal clerk, $500; one assistant to supervisor of bills, $500; one clerk to committee on corporations, $500; one clerk to committee on stationery, $350—a grand total of $5,950.

The saving will be noticed in Mercer county, where last year the house members had the appointment of two gallery keepers, one doorkeeper and two pages. This year only two doorkeepers come to Mercer.

The appointment of minor offices to the different counties by the steering committee is as follows:

CAR WRECKS WAGON.

Collision at Eighth Street and Arlington Avenue Scatters Groceries.

One of Scheuer & Company's delivery wagons, driven by Robert Rick, ran into a southbound Arlington avenue car at Eighth street and Arlington avenue this noon and went to smash. The front of the car was stove in, but neither the motorman nor the driver was hurt.

The wagon was badly wrecked and the groceries in it flew in all directions. Rick was thrown out along with his baskets and things, but struck on a hospitable spot and escaped with a jolting.

FAIR AT HEAVENLY REST CHURCH OPENS

DECORATIONS IN CHRISTMAS COLORINGS; EXHIBIT OF BIG COMFORTABLES.

With every promise of great success, the annual fair of the Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Clinton avenue, was opened in the parish house yesterday afternoon. The sale began at 3 o'clock and ran until 10. It will continue this afternoon and tonight.

There was a large attendance and the trade at each of the counters was brisk. The decorations are very attractive. The Christmas colors, red and green, are carried out in crepe paper streamers and Chinese lanterns and the general effect is striking.

A feature of the display is a number of comfortables made by the women of the Guild. There are a number of members who are unusually expert in needlework, and the Guild makes a specialty of such things. For the benefit of the church funds they will take orders for comfortables, embroidery or aprons in any style. The comfortables are full size, right for tucking in all about the mattress.

Those who are in charge of the booths and tables are as follows:

Candy—The Misses Forster, assisted by Sunday school children. Aprons and Domestic Goods—Mrs. Edward Brown and Mrs. Lloyd Hampton. Fancy Articles—Mrs. Bayard Hawthorne, Mrs. William Merrill and Mrs. William Sutton. Groceries—Mrs. James Campbell. Cakes—Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Ludgate. ALTER PLANS FOR NEW COURT HOUSE

SOMERSET FREEHOLDERS ALSO APPROVE WEST END AVE. BRIDGE.

Very little business was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders in the Court House at Somerville yesterday. The members were all in attendance.

The plans and specifications for the new Court House were reconsidered, when, at the recommendation of the building committee, it was decided to eliminate the downstairs court room in the proposed new building.

The action of the committee on bridges in erecting a bridge in North Plainfield borough was approved and the contract price, $262.50, ordered paid.

The contract for building a bridge on Douglas avenue in Bernardsville was at his request transferred from Oscar Vleit to Thomas Douglas.

The consistory of the First Reformed church, of Somerville, made a proposition in the matter of the division line between the Court House and church building and the director was authorized to execute a deed in order to straighten the line.

The board will meet to accept the Davenport street bridge in Somerville next Tuesday.

Thankfulness.

Miss Sara Curry, of the Little Missionary Day Nursery, 93 St. Marks place, New York city, says she has many things this year to be thankful for. One is the friends God has sent her, so she was able to give 525—families over 3,000—people Thanksgiving dinners. In many of these homes she found them sick and helpless without anything. The must remarkable thing is to see how Miss Curry knows all about these homes, how many in them whether it is a widow with children or a sick woman or a poor man trying to keep his children together by bringing them to the Nursery every morning while he goes to work or other such cases she meets in her visiting. Miss Curry has just had given to her $5,000 to pay off two mortgages on the Nursery building, a friend has offered to start a sewing class and furnish a teacher for the young girls where they may become proficient with the needle. Miss Curry always adds to her remarks all these gifts and friends are from God in answer to prayers. It is asked when one hears about this remarkable work where is it going to stop extending its borders of usefulness.

Divorce Granted Joseph Albert.

A decree of absolute divorce has been handed down by Chancellor Magie in favor of Joseph Albert in the suit brought by him against his wife, Katherine Albert. The plaintiff is the well known baseball player and lives at Scotch Plains, while Mrs. Albert has been making her home in this city. The petition cited desertion and the testimony was taken before Special Master John H. VanWinkle. Albert was represented by Counsellor George Ball.

F. L. WALDO RELATES LIFE ALONG PANAMA

ENGINEER FURNISHES LUCID EXPLANATION OF ISTHMUS CANAL SCHEME.

The leading article in the current number of the Engineering Magazine is from the pen of Fullerton L. Waldo, of this city. It is entitled "An Engineer's Life on the Isthmus" and deals with the government operations at Panama in connection with the canal work. The article amplifies the lines drawn by other writers by making clear the fundamental soundness of the Panama Canal proposition and the nature of the temporary difficulties which have hampered the execution of the plans.

Mr. Waldo is an engineer of wide experience and his contribution on the subject has attracted much attention. The article is profusely illustrated with splendid cuts showing the process of the excavation work and the country through which the waterway is to go.

A DOLL THREE FOOT TALL
To Be Given Away This Holiday Season.

An unusually attractive member of the Doll Family may be seen in one of our show windows.

This doll is as large as many children at two years of age and wears clothes made for the average child of that age. Her hair is "real hair" and can be combed and brushed. Her big brown eyes are amazingly expressive and close in sleep in the most life-like manner.

But the most interesting fact about this doll is the manner in which she will enter and gladden some home this Christmas time.

We offer to give this doll absolutely free to the customer who makes the greatest number of purchases at this store between now and December 21.

To determine this, the customer who presents the greatest number of "duplicate checks" (regardless of the amount of the purchase) at this store on Thursday, December 21, will be entitled to the doll and will receive same by calling at the store Saturday evening, December 23, at 10 o'clock.

A "duplicate check" is given each customer with every purchase at this store.

THE DOLL FAMILY
have again made their headquarters with us for another Holiday season. This year there is an unusual number of them and all seem brighter and happier than ever.

If you wish to see most of them you had better come soon, for they are fast separating to their new homes.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
We will sell Boys' and Girls' Extra Heavy 17c Elastic Rib School Hosiery at 10c a pair. These have seamless foot, double sole and extra elastic garter top.

FOR A FEW DAYS ONLY
25 per cent. Discount on our entire stock of EMBROIDERIES.
As these goods enter very largely into Holiday preparations, this offering will be of unusual benefit just at this time.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Nat Wills, the "happy American tramp," and his company of sixty funmakers will present "The Duke of Duluth" at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. The production is one of those breezy comedies with music that sets everyone to whistling and carries a lot of pretty girls with handsome costumes. Mr. Wills has a part that fits him even better than his creation in "A Son of Rest," and which enables him to display his character representation of the great American gentleman of leisure.

Another of the most important plays of the season is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, when Henry W. Savage will produce "The Galloper," with Raymond Hitchcock in the leading role. The play is by Richard Harding Davis and deals with the experience of a number of Americans and war correspondents during the Graeco-Turkish War. The pictorial side of the comedy has been described by Walter Burridge and the background of the play lends itself to effective scenic treatment. Manager Savage has engaged a notable cast to launch the play successfully, and among the players are Edgar Davenport, who was especially released from the Eastern "College Widow" company to create the part of Kirke Warren, a famous war correspondent; Nanette Comstock, an actress of exceptional talent, who is remembered for her work with the Frohman forces and with Otis Skinner; May Buckley, a comedienne of ability, who was with James O'Neill; Scott Cooper and Helen Lackaye, sister of Wilton Lackaye; T. Daniel Frawley, Harry Stone, L. Rogers Lytton, Harold Vizard, Herbert Cothell, E. B. Tilton, M. W. Rale, Howard Potter and May Helmuth. The play gets its title, "The Galloper," from an expression used by the English newspaper men and army people to describe a dispatch bearer who first gets to the wire. Mr. Hitchcock, from all accounts, has a role that gives opportunities for the quaint, refined humor that made his work captivating in "The Yankee Consul" and "King Dodo."

The Vance and Sullivan Company, producers of many popular successes, will offer a new play by Owen Davis called "The Burglar's Daughter" at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. Few plays ever presented have had so gigantic a production. In the third act occurs a race over a bridge that calls for the services of twenty stage carpenters and the enlarging and strengthening of the stage of every theatre visited. Aside from this scene occur several stage effects almost as elaborate; the moving panorama of the shore of New York Harbor as seen from the deck of a palatial steam yacht, is one of the most beautiful as well as one of the most expensive stage pictures ever presented.

Easily the most fertile playwright before the American public today is Augustus Thomas, the author of "Arizona," "The Other Girl," "The Earl of Pawtucket" and numerous other light comedies. The newest product of his pen is "De Lancey," a three act comedy of American life, acted by a wholly American cast, in which John Drew will appear for the first time in this city at the New Plainfield theatre on December 22.

"The Lightning Conductor" is an automobile love story pure and simple. The lovers meet through an automobile mishap, they court in an automobile and have all manner of delightful adventures and several that are anything but delightful during the progress of the play, for no true love did ever yet run smooth nor the best of automobiles without mischance on the very best of roads. Mr. Kelcey appears as a motor enthusiast and is impressed into service as a chauffeur. Miss Shannon takes the part of a charming American girl, seeing France for the first time, and then from a motor car. The play is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday night, December 26.

THE REAL TEST
Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.
There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop failing hair?
No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.
Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."
It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.
Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Adele Ritchie, in selections from her most recent successes, will head the all-star vaudeville bill at Proctor's 58th Street theatre, this week. Miss Ritchie's sojourn in vaudeville has demonstrated a wonderful versatility that was never really called into play in the more conventional environs of comic opera. Paul Cohchas, Kaiser Wilhelm's Military Hercules, will be another offering of equal importance on this same bill, giving an extremely interesting performance introducing all the weapons of modern warfare, followed by Girard and Gardner, as funny as ever, in a comedy sketch of more than usual merit, entitled, "Dooley and the Diamond." Later on the bill comes Greene and Werner in their original creation, "Babes in the Jungle," a distinct singing and dancing novelty, replete with beautiful scenery, costumes, etc. The remainder of this all-star show includes Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Barry, in a new farcical absurdity; Four Milons, marvelous equilobrists; Trovollo, ventriloquist; Ed. Estus and others. Mr. Proctor has inaugurated a novelty in souvenirs, establishing a precedent by giving the souvenirs to the men and they were distributed to all the gentlemen in the orchestra and in the new smoking balcony on Monday evening On Saturday afternoon the matinee Santa Claus will distribute Christmas gifts to all the children in the house.

Grace George has achieved a veritable triumph in "The Marriage of William Ashe," at the Garrick theatre. The play is magnificently, even sumptuously, mounted, and as a production is conceded to be the most elaborate and beautiful series of stage pictures seen in New York this season. New York is not very favorable soil to plant the dramatization of any novel, yet the New York Herald said of the play made from Mrs. Humphry Ward's novel by Margaret Mayo, that "in a reason of somewhat wabbly dramas, 'The Marriage of William Ashe' stands out as a piece portraying intense emotion and realism," and the New York Sun declared it to be "an able dramatization, ably staged and acted." There are no complex ethical or social questions in "The Marriage of William Ashe" as there were in Mrs. Humphry Ward's earlier works. The motive is rather the wrestling of temperaments and the clash between accepted forms in high society and the audacity of the unconventional. The play keeps close to the story. The New York papers are unanimous in their praise of the brilliance and the charm of Grace George's achievement in the role of Lady Kitty.

A theatrical event of unusual importance is the presentation at the Grand Opera House for one week, beginning Monday, Dec. 11, by the distinguished English actor, Kyrle Bellew, of "Raffles, The Amateur Cracksman," the fascinating play which had a record breaking run of 200 nights at the Princess and Savoy theatres, in New York, season before last. As is well known, the story of the play differs essentially from the story of the two books by E. W. Hornung, "Raffles" and "The Amateur Cracksman," from which it was taken. The book is made up of sketches, whereas the play must, necessarily, hold together. The new character introduced in the person of Captain Bedford, the detective, a foil for Raffles, is still interpreted by E. M. Holland, whose impersonation of the character of Captain Redwood, the detective in "Jim the Penman," added largely to his own personal fame. The dramatizing of "Raffles," was done by the late James A. Herne—"Read your book, then throw it away and write your play." As the burglar, Mr. Bellew has a part that permits him for the first time in years to wear modern clothes, and the change is refreshing.

The New York Tribune.

Of course, a great deal depends on your own taste in the matter of newspapers. If you want a publication that serves up so much gore and so many thrills in every issue, it is money thrown away to buy The Tribune. If, however, you are looking for a daily history of the world, carefully collated and sifted and presented in the most attractive form that the facts and the laws of good taste will permit, you cannot make any mistake in reading The Tribune every day. But The Daily Tribune is more than a continuous history. It contains special articles on nearly every subject which is supposed to interest intelligent and clean-minded people, to say nothing of the illuminating and instructive editorial articles and reviews of books, music and the drama. Just by way of experiment, why don't you invest $1 and get The Daily and Sunday Tribune by mail for a month? With The Sunday Tribune goes a handsome illustrated supplement and a magazine, with colored covers, equal to anything sold for ten cents.

LITERARY.

The December Sunset is replete with the Christmas spirit. The cover design, "A Navajo Madonna," was designed by Xavier Martinez. Edwin Emerson, Jr., tells the thrilling story of the last Christmas celebrated by the Russians in Port Arthur at the historic moment when the great Muscovite stronghold was surrended by General Stoessel. Since Christmas is not reckoned among the public holidays of the Land of the Rising Sun, it is safe to presume that Christmas bells will not ring again for Port Arthur as long as Japan's ninety-nine years' lease of Quantung, wrested from Russia, holds good. Other features of this number are poems by Charles Warren Stoddard, Charles K. Field, A. J. Waterhouse and Ednah Aiken; Christmas stories by Arthur W. North, Mabel Craft Deering and Adelaide Soule; the story of an Indian fight by Cyrus Townsend Brady; the second of a series of articles on camping with Le Conte by George Wharton James; and an illustrated descriptive article on the Bancroft Library.

It is the desire of everyone possessing a camera to make pictures of home people as they see them. And every operator in every studio has heard and will continue to hear the hope expressed that "I wish I could get mother's or father's picture as we see them at home;" or, "I wish I could get baby playing as we see her at home," and such wishes. This is a desire of everyone that has pictures made, and the studio man is laboring under great disadvantages when he tries to please the customer who ha such a longing. All pictures are sized up for their likeness to the people as we see them about the house, in certain occupations that have become familiar to us, and if the studio worker cannot get the picture to show these little familiar traits in his work we are dissatisfied. But in later years, nay, I may say months, it has become an easy matter for the amateur with his Kodak, or whatever camera he may have, to make some of the very best pictures to be had.—Felix Raymer, in Recreation for December.

They Courted by Mail.

Utica, Dec. 13.—Letter writing between Miss Rose Conrad, of Whitesboror, and Sergt. Adelbert Covington, stationed at Fort McKinley, Portland, Me., which was begun purely in fun, ended yesterday in a wedding, which was celebrated in the city of Oneida. Miss Conrad and Sergt. Covington met for the first time last Saturday, although they had corresponded for three months and had exchanged photographs. Last Friday Covington got a leave of absence from the service and the day following arrived in Whitesboro and met his "girl" for the first time. Miss Conrad packed her trunk Saturday and that afternoon they went to Oneida to the home of Miss Conrad's sister, where the marriage ceremony was performed.

Saloons Told to Go.

Northport, L. I., Dec. 13.—The six hotel keepers of Kings Park, where the Long Island State Hospital is situated, have received word that Justice Garretson, of the Supreme Court, has decided against them in the suit brought by the State Excise Commissioners to declare void their licenses on the ground that all of their places stand within 500 feet of the State grounds. The defence was that the law is unconstitutional. One of the places has been established fifty years and all except two were established before the State Hospital. The case will be appealed.

Lot of Gold Missing.

Rock Springs, Wyo., Dec. 13.—Ninety thousand dollars in gold, belonging to a shipper whose name the express copany will not disclose, was in one of the cars wrecked and burned last week at Ah Say, and it cannot be found. Armed guards were rushed to the scene after the wreck and several people were prevented from searching for victims. Three hundred sacks of Australian mail were burned, including registered pouches.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

DRESSING BY SIGNS.

"The hardest thing about life in the suburbs," said the girl who lived there, "is that you never can tell what weather conditions are likely to prevail in town. You get up in the morning, peer out the window and discover the sky to be gray and weeping. Therefore, you put on your oldest duds. By the time you get into town the sky has wiped its eyes and is smiling again, and there you are in storm boots and high water skirts. Or the country sky is blue, and you dress up pretty, and, lo! in town you find it to be raining in bucketfuls," says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

"On many a doubtful morning my toilet is conducted something like this:

"Mother (at foot of stairs)—'Dear, you'd better put on a short skirt. It looks like a stormy day.'

"About the time I am dressed for rain Aunt Maude calls up: 'The paper says fair, dearie, so maybe it's going to clear up.'

"Off goes the short skirt gleefully, because I'm due to look particularly nice this afternoon, anyhow. No sooner do I get into a nice frock than swish goes a patter of drops against my window pane.

"'Oh, dear,' I say, 'it is going to rain.' And off goes the nice frock, just as mother comes trotting upstairs.

"'The birds are flying upward,' she says, eagerly—dear old mother hates to have any good times spoiled—'so I guess you can wear your silk.'

"There is also a blue patch in the sky above the buttonball tree. Wherefore, on goes the silk once more, and I set out in trusting confidence—to roll into the city train shed in a drenching downpour that lasts all day.

"If you live in the suburbs you'll soon lose faith in the birds, the newspaper reports and all other signs, and dress every morning in the melancholy conviction that whatever you don't expect the weather will do, in the country, that's what it will surely do in town."

IT WON'T GO NOW.

The woman wore a skirt of red cashmere, a jacket of yellowish covert cloth and a hat of black velvet, with pale blue satin knots.

Any one of these articles, as the feminine reader will instantly perceive, was all right in itself. Put that skirt, with a long redingote like it, and a black hat; or that jacket, with a tweed walking skirt and a tailored hat; or that black and azure chapeau with an all black costume, and how "fit" each would have appeared! Tossed together, they produced a most unholy combination, which attracted a battery of horrified glances to their luckless wearer.

Now, the point of this is that time was, and not so many years hence, when a woman might have appeared in that glaring hash of colors, and no one would have given her a second look, for the simple reason that the majority of women were similarly arrayed. In those unenlightened days most women of average circumstances wore a hat because it was a hat; a skirt and a coat likewise. Few beside the ultra-artistic were much concerned with the harmony or lack of harmony existing between the various parts of their attire. Many things passed as harmony then that would shock a sensitive beholder into convulsions now, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

How changed is the dress ideal! The poorest woman, with any intelligence at all, makes an effort now to have her clothes exhibit some relationship to each other, from head to foot. On six or eight dollars a week she manages a brown hat and gloves, with a brown suit; or a garnet or gray or blue tip-to-toe symphony. And great is the improvement in her appearance, therefore.

In the face of this, who can deny that there is reason in the changing fashions that have wrought this evolution?

Crimson skirts, with yellow coats and black-and-blue hats were all right once. But nevermore will they pass muster among women with any clothes sense whatever.

One Dollar for Every Six Words He Wrote.

Think of getting a dollar bill every time you wrote six words! And yet this is exactly what Conan Doyle, known the world over by his "Sherlock Holmes" and "White Company" stories, has just been paid for his latest and (what he himself says is) his masterwork. This new $25,000 story, a companion to his "White Company," is called "Sir Nigel," and the readers of "The Philadelphia Sunday Press" may expect the greatest treat of their lives on Sunday, December 3, in which issue this thrilling new romance begins exclusively. Don't fail to get The Sunday Press that Sunday and every Sunday so long as this great story continues.

SENATOR KEAN FOR RAILROAD TAXATION

COLBY WON'T SAY WHAT ROOSEVELT SAID TO HIM.

One of the chief topics of conversation in the State House at Trenton yesterday was the visit of Senator-elect Everett Colby and Assemblyman William Fellowes Morgan to President Roosevelt on Saturday. Everybody, particularly those affiliated with the State house machine, was anxious to know what the President said to the Essex men. But neither Mr. Colby nor Mr. Morgan would enlighten them.

There was also some anxiety to learn the significance of United States Senator John Kean's visit to Mr. Colby, after he had seen the President, and upon this there was more light. Mr. Colby said that after seeing the President he had a long talk with Mr. Kean, and he believes the Senator is in favor of railroad taxation and limited franchises. Rumors came to him during the summer, Mr. Colby said, that Mr. Kean was opposed to the taxation of railroad property at local rates, and he spoke to him on the subject. He was surprised to find that he and the Senator practically agreed upon those propositions. Mr. Kean suggested that if the value of public utility franchises could be fairly assessed and taxed locally there would be no need of a limited franchise law, on the ground that the power to tax is sufficient power to control.

Mr. Colby said further that he thought Senator Kean was surprised when told that there was a movement on foot to make a South Jersey man Speaker, in view of the fact that both the Governor and President of the next Senate are from that section of the State.

PRUDENTIAL AND G. O. P.

President Dryden Says It Gave Up $32,000.

New York, Dec. 13.—Senator John F. Dryden, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, of New Jersey, also was a witness yesterday before the legislative investigating committee. The details of the Prudential's relations with its subsidiary corporations in New Jersey were brought out.

Senator Dryden admitted that his company contributed $32,000 to the Republican National Committee in the last three campaigns, and had paid, in 1904, to Thomas N. McCarter, then Attorney General of New Jersey, $27,500 for legal services.

Mr. Dryden said that under the laws of New Jersey a public official of the State is permitted to engage in private business.

Runaway on Somerset Street.

A horse belonging to the Applegate stables and attached to the Watchung Cleaning Company's wagon, ran away on upper Somerset street at 7 o'clock last night through the breaking of a shaft. A colored boy driving was unable to stop the animal and he jumped from his seat just as the vehicle was thrown against a pole near Chatham street and turned over. The horse broke away, but was captured soon afterward.

Locomotives for Panama.

Paterson, Dec. 13.—It was announced here yesterday that the larger part of an order for 120 locomotives of the mogul type recently received by the American Locomotive Company from the Panama Canal Commission will be filled in this city. One hundred of them will be made in the Cooke shops. The remaining twenty will be built in the Dunkirk shops of the same company.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

(By Merry Tom.)

The good things continue to come this way. Negotiations were completed yesterday for the appearance of Blanche Walsh and her entire Madison Square theatre company at the New Plainfield theatre on March 13. She will present "The Woman in the Case," in which she has made the greatest success of her career.

The Leal School football team and some of its friends have engaged a whole row of seats for tonight's performance at the New Plainfield. "The Happy Tramp" certainly does make good with the boys and they will be ready to give him a "good hand when he sings his famous "G. O. P."

Manager Counihan, who believes in giving the people something new all the time, has inaugurated an original idea in calling over the telephone. Instead of saying, "Hello, hello," the genial Mr. Counihan breathes softly over the wire, "Are you there?" It goes fine, try it.

The recent hurried withdrawal of "The White Cat" from the New Amsterdam will in all probability mean the last of these Christmas spectacles that Klaw & Erlanger have been producing. None of them ever amounted to much from a box office point of view and "The White Cat" cost the big firm many thousands of dollars that they will never get back.

Talking about "the kids that are all the candy," what about Yorke and Adams? Playing a return date at the New Plainfield last night they "packed 'em in" and what's more they had the crowd laughing from 8:15 until 11:45, the between-the-acts intermission included. If they come back a third time the theatre will have to be enlarged.

"The Heir of the Hoorah," the new comedy of the West, brimful of local color and character, is due at the New Plainfield theatre in a few weeks. This play, produced in New York, at the height of the dramatic season, scored so strongly that it ran very late into the summer at the New Hudson theatre.

Raymond Hitchcock, the star of "The Galloper," due tomorrow night, was working as clerk in a shoe store at Syracuse, N. Y., a few years ago. But because he wasn't born in the harness, that doesn't say he can't act some. He is still a young man but has forgotten more about the business than some of Broadway's big people ever knew.

DUAL HANGING JANUARY 12.

Antoinette Tolla and Jerry Rossa Resentenced by Justice Garretson.

Hackensack, Dec. 13.—Antoinette Tolla and Jerry Rossa, both convicted of murder in the first degree, were resentenced yesterday morning by Supreme Court Justice Garretson to be hanged Friday, January 12, between the hours of 8 and 10 a. m.

Mrs. Tolla, twenty-four years old, fatally shot Joseph Sonta in her home at Kingsland March 4 last. She admitted the shooting, but her motive has ever remained a secret.

Rossa was convicted for fatally shooting Demetrio D'Afrino during a general quarrel in a boarding house in Lodi nearly two years ago. He has been twice convicted, the Court of Errors reversing the first conviction.

—Many cases of constant headaches are caused from eye strain. Stiles & Co., eye specialists, at 105 East Front street, tomorrow, Thursday. Free examination.

STATE TAXING BOARD AFTER INFORMATION

MEET AT COUNTY SEATS TO LOOK INTO METHODS OF ASSESSMENTS.

Important action with reference to future taxation in New Jersey was taken by the State board for the equalization of taxes at its meeting at the State House at Trenton yesterday.

Section four of the act creating the board of equalization of taxes provides that it shall be the duty of the board to investigate the method adopted by local assessors in assessment of real and personal property in this State, and to ascertain wherein existing tax laws are defective or are improperly or negligently administered, to the end that they make such corrections as are necessary, and to report from time to time to the Legislature.

In order more effectually to carry out the intent of this act, the board resolved to hold a series of meetings within the next few weeks, sitting at the county seat of each county, to hear both assessing officers and taxpayers on the matters set forth in this section, and to receive suggestions along these lines. To this end the assessors in the counties will be requested to attend these meetings and give information as to the practical working of the present tax system in their respective districts.

These meetings, of course, will not include the hearing of complaints brought before the board under the statute, on petition. They are purely for the purpose of information and mutual assistance.

MAY INDICT OFFICIALS.

Alleged Excise Violation in Middlesex County.

Justice Jonathan Dixon, of the Supreme Court, opened yesterday the December term of court in the Middlesex County Court House at New Brunswick.

He charged the Grand Jury in relation to the crusade of the South Amboy ministers against alleged excise violations in that place. Justice Dixon said the ministers went to Mayor Muirheid, of South Amboy, and complained of the alleged violations, and they claimed they were told that he could do nothing to stop it.

The matter was then laid before Prosecutor Berdine, with the result that the Grand Jury will now take it up. In charging the jury the Justice said it was the duty of the Grand Jury not only to indict the offenders if they found the charges to be true, but they could indict the officials if they found that they did not do their duty in suppressing the violations. He said he hoped the body would make a careful investigation of the charges and indict those who were guilty.

FRESH AIR HOME NOTES.

Organization Thanks Those Helping Annual Meeting.

The executive committee of the Plainfield Fresh Air Association at its meeting on Monday night, following that of the association, passed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Theodore Mantz, Miss Carrie Dewey, H. J. Martin and Harold Willard for the part they took in the annual meeting.

On December 21 it is proposed to burn a $5,000 mortgage on the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, New York, which has been paid. The donations of money for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home are very gratifying and indicate a prosperous year for the association.

Orchestra Plays to a Crowded House —Will Repeat Tonight.

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra gave its twenty-first concert before a crowded house last night. The programme was a highly enjoyable one, and the orchestra played it with precision and spirit. Applause was frequent and loud.

The soloists were Miss Etta Raybert, soprano; B. A. Paroubek, violin, and Otto Muller, 'cello. Their numbers were warmly applauded, and deservedly so. The concert will be repeated tonight.

Jersey City Barber Wins Suit.

Jersey City, Dec 13—Joseph Cupparo, a barber, of 207½ Warren street, this city, who claimed his nerves were shattered, has won his fight for the right to shave a customer without being in momentary fear of cutting off their noses. Vice Chancellor Stevenson had granted an injunction restraining the Day Manufacturing Company and the Williams & Farrant Company from running their machinery while the buildings they occupy touch the foundations of the building in which is Cupparo's shop.

Hauls His Hired Man to Jail.

Towaco, Dec. 13.—John Heddy, a farm hand, went to the stables of Noble Van Ness on Saturday night and packed up a lot of blankets, robes, harness, curry combs and other articles and hid them in a hay rick, and then went back to the barn to wait until morning, and while waiting fell asleep. In the morning when Mr. Van Ness went out in his barnyard he noticed in the snow tracks leading from the barn to the hay rick, and following them, found his property hidden there. He then aroused his neighbors, and after a long search found the man asleep in the hay. He was bound and Mr. Van Ness and several of his neighbors took him to Boonton in a wagon. Before Justice of the Peace J. E. Dixon, yesterday morning, he pleaded guilty and was taken to the county jail in Morristown.

CHARGED WITH INCAPACITY AND DRUNKENNESS

Seventeen Counts in Bill of Complaint Against Chief Kiely.

TRIAL, DECEMBER 19

Among the Charges is an Allegation That Andrew McCardell's Word Was Sufficient to Secure Release of Prisoners.

The charges against Chief of Police Kiely were formally presented to the Common Council by the police committee last night at the special meeting called to receive them. There are twenty-one counts in the bill of complaint, varying in gravity from wilful neglect of duty to laxity in paying bills. The date of the trial was fixed for December 19.

The chief is charged with incapacity in that he failed to detect John Goff in his violations of the excise law, with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman; with allowing a $60 bill for beer and whiskey to go unpaid for four years, and with allowing a number of prisoners to leave the city jail without hearing or bail at the behest of Andrew McCardell.

A large gallery gathered to hear the charges read. Former Senator Reed, Kiely's counsel, was present, and followed the reading of the complaints very carefully.

Tyler Files Charges.

The charges were brought up as soon as the Council came to order. The regular order of business was suspended, and Chairman Tyler, of the police committee, immediately offered a resolution of his committee for filing. The resolution recorded the committee's receipt and consideration of the charges and embodied a recommendation that the chief receive a hearing before the Council. The committee felt, the resolution said, that if the charges were true the chief should be suspended or removed. When the resolution was received, Mr. Tyler filed the charges. City Clerk James T. MacMurray read them. They are as follows:

"To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Plainfield.

"Gentlemen:

"We, the subscribers, being two of the members of the Common Council of the city of Plainfield and of the committee of the said Common Council known as the committee on police, hereby prefer the following written charges against Patrick S. Kiely, an officer in the police department of the city of Plainfield and chief of police of said city, and complain and charge him with incapacity, misconduct and disobedience of just rules and regulations heretofore established for the government of the police force or police department of said city (which said rules and regulations were adopted by the Common Council of said city on the twentieth day of July, A. D. 1896,)as follows:

Freed Prisoners Unlawfully.

"Discharging from custody, without bail or hearing heretofore, to wit, on October 22, 1903, at said city of Plainfield, a prisoner, namely John Nelson, who had been arrested, and who was then and there detained as a prisoner in said station house in said city of Plainfield.

"Discharging and permitting the discharge of, from custody without bail or hearing, heretofore, to wit, on October 14, 1905, at said city of Plainfield, a prisoner, namely Thomas Sheridan, who had been arrested and who was then and there detained as a prisoner in the station house in the said city of Plainfield.

"Discharging and permitting the discharge of from custody, without bail or hearing, heretofore, to wit, on October 14, 1905, at said city of Plainfield, a prisoner, namely John Newman, who had been arrested, and who was then and there detained as a prisoner in the said station house of the said city of Plainfield.

Orders from McCardell.

"Permitting Andrew McCardell, a person not a member of the police force duly nominated and appointed by the Mayor with the advice and consent of the Common Council, to exercise authority and control over the city jail, and over and concerning a person confined in the city jail, being the building used for police purposes and commonly known as the station house in the said city of Plainfield, and over said Patrick S. Kiely, a member of the police force, as follows: On October 22, 1903, in the case of the discharge of the prisoner John Nelson, who had been arrested and was then and there a prisoner in said city jail, and who was then and there discharged by said Patrick S. Kiely by order then and

THIEVES IN HESS HOUSE ON CENTRAL AVENUE

LOOKED FOR MONEY AND DISDAINED ALL OTHER LOOT.

Harlem Page Hess, 830 Central avenue, was added yesterday to the list of burglar victims that is being added to daily at police headquarters. The visitors from the under-world were at his house Tuesday night. They took nothing, but that was because they could not find just the swag they wanted and not because they didn't have all the time and opportunity they needed.

The thieves broke into the house through a lower window Tuesday night. The family were out of town Tuesday and the criminals worked undisturbed until they were ready to leave. Mr. Hess discovered the robbery yesterday, when he returned home. Evidences of the job were scattered all about the house. Every bureau, closet and drawer had been opened, and things were lying all about.

Mr. Hess took a rapid inventory of his goods, but could find nothing missing. It was evident that the thieves were after money, and did not want to be burdened with other loot. They found no money and went away practically empty handed.

The police were notified by Mr. Hess yesterday morning. Officers sleuthed carefully about the place and asked searching questions, but clues were as elusive as usual.

RECEPTION TENDERED REV. GEORGE A. WARNER

NEW RECTOR OF HOLY CROSS PRESENTED TO PARISH MEMBERS.

In the prettily decorated parish house of the Church of the Holy Cross, Rev. George A. Warner, the recently elected rector, was tendered a reception by the members of the Women's Guild, last night. It lasted from 8 to 10, during which time Mr. Warner was presented to the greater part of the church members.

The affair was directly in charge of the entertainment committee of the Guild, of which Mrs. A. T. Converse is chairman. Mrs. J. O. Stevens and Mrs. Samuel Townsend poured while Mrs. J. C. MacClymont and Mrs. Murray served. They were assisted by a corps of waitresses comprising the Misses Mary Barlow, Kate Barlow, Gertrude Pearson, Marion Carman, Louise Saunders, Eunice Watson, Madeline Howard and Gladys Burt.

A feature of the affair was an informal programme of music arranged in charge of Mrs. Odell, organist of the church. It included solos by Mrs. Joseph M. Shellabarger, Miss Mabel Smith, Miss May Smith, Frederick K. Pope and Louis Barton.

In the decorations, which were prettily arranged, yellow and white were the prevailing colors. There was also a tasteful array of potted plants.

VAUDEVILLE AT CHARITY BALL.

Annual Benefit at Casino to Be on Big Scale.

Plans for the charity ball to be given at the Casino Friday night, December 29, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, are progressing satisfactorily. The price of tickets will include, in addition to dancing and the vaudeville performance, an elaborate supper, which will be served in the billiard and bowling rooms.

Austin will furnish two orchestras, thus affording continuous dance music throughout the evening. Those in charge of the entertainment have arranged for a first class vaudeville show to be given in the clubhouse, where those who do not dance may have a good time. The responses thus far received indicate an attendance far exceeding that of last year.

MAYOR MARRIED 22 YEARS.

Borough Executive and His Wife Celebrate Informally.

Mayor and Mrs. Newton B. Smalley celebrated the twenty-second anniversary of their wedding yesterday. The observance was purely informal. A number of friends dropped in during the day to offer their congratulations and some sent messages.

During the afternoon, the Mayor was kidnapped for a mushroom dinner at Pedeflous' in honor of his being a benedict for a score and two years. No speeches were made but a delightful time was had.

The next annual convention will be held in the Westminster church, Elizabeth, October, 1906.

RESCUE MISSION PLANS.

Improving Edifice And to Hold Revival.

After the regular meeting of the Grove Street Rescue Mission, at the Christian church last night, important plans were laid for future work. General improvements in the interior of the chapel are now being made and active measures are being taken to prepare for a revival service to be held after the holidays.

It was determined that the song service, previously held on Tuesday evening, and the regular Thursday evening session of the Mission be consolidated with the mid-week prayer meeting of the church on Wednesday evening. The first half hour of this meeeting each week is to be devoted to song service and the remained to the regular mission service. It is hoped by this means to accommodate a larger number of persons and guarantee better meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts, of Prospect place, who have been touring the southern states with the John Osman Stock Company, were compelled to close their engagement at Grafton, Va., Tuesday night, because of Mrs. Roberts' illness. $110,000 GOES TO HOME

Institution Founded by the Late Wm. R. Clarkson the Beneficiary.

WILL HAVE $300,000

Able Execution of Trust Reposed in Alexander Gilbert and L. V. F. Randolph—Trustees Praised by Home's Board.

In their report the committee appointed by the directors of the Jennie Clarkson Home for Children have high words of praise for the manner in which former Mayor Alexander Gilbert and former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, both of this city, managed the estate of William R. Clarkson. Because of the business judgment of these two trustees in handling the late Plainfielder's affair, altogether about $300,000 will be vested in the institution, which is located at Katonah, N. Y.

Of the entire trust fund, approximately $110,000 is now payable the managers of the home. At the expiration of a life interest, an equal amount will be forthcoming. In addition to this, approximately $70,000, accumulated by the late Mrs. Clarkson since her husband's death, has also been bequeathed to the institution.

The Jennie Clarkson Home for Children was founded by William R. Clarkson shortly after the death of his daughter, to whom he and his wife were devotedly attached, and the institution was named for her. In his will Mr. Clarkson, who died a decade ago, formed a trust, having previously received the consent of Messrs. Randolph and Gilbert to administer it. To his wife, Mrs. Annie E. Clarkson, and his sister, Mrs. Ayres, he gave equal life interests. He made a provision, however, that on the death of either, the life interest of such should become payable to the home.

All the funds were invested by the trustees in carefully chosen real estate mortgages. In addition, all sums realized from the sale of real estate in New York, Brooklyn, Plainfield and Bayonne were in like manner invested in high grade mortgages. The homestead on East Front street alone was excepted and it has not been converted into cash because the trustees have not received a fair offer for it.

Mrs. Clarkson died on September 27, 1905. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ayres, is still living, though well advanced in years. The trustees will continue to manage the properties left on their hands until Mrs. Ayres passes away.

XMAS DINNER FOR POOR.

Salvation Army Undertakes to Give Cheer to 500.

Ensign and Mrs. Magee, of the local branch of the Salvation Army, are preparing for the annual free Christmas dinner, which it is proposed to give to 500 poor people of Plainfield. The plan is to give the dinner out in baskets, each one containing a good chicken, a loaf of bread, one pound of sugar, one quarter pound of coffee, one turnip, one cabbage, one quart of potatoes, one-half pound of candy, one-half pound of nuts, five oranges and one copy of the Christmas number of the War Cry, with supplement.

There is still $6,000 remaining to be paid in connection with the new building and Ensign and Mrs. Magee are making extra efforts to raise this sum at the earliest possible date.

WILLS A "HAPPY TRAMP."

He and His Company Please a Big Audience at the New Plainfield.

If all the great army of American tramps are as happy and congenial as the one impersonated by Nat Wills at the New Plainfield theatre last night, the "free and easy" life cannot be as hard as it is generally pictured. The big audience at the playhouse laughed itself to tears at the antics of this one particular hobo, who is really as clever a comedian who has even graced the boards. He was backed up as "The Duke of Duluth" by an array of singers and dancers that delighted the ear and pleased the eye.

Manager Counihan was one of those who fully enjoyed the show and he has already asked for a return date.

WOMAN A DRUG VICTIM

Put Aboard Train Here She is Finally Taken to Somerset Hospital

FOUND IN A STUPOR

Train Crew Could Not Arouse Her—Had Been Wandering About Plainfield—Picked Up by Policeman.

Among the passengers on a Central train arriving at Somerville from this city yesterday morning was a young woman, apparently about twenty-eight years old, who wore gold-rimmed eyeglasses. She was dressed in a brown tailor-made suit and wore a large picture hat, trimmed with two large black plumes.

When the passengers were discharged from the train at the station here, Conductor Frank Vannatta noticed that the woman made no attempt to leave the car. She was sitting upright in her seat. The conductor thought the woman must be asleep and he opened the car door and called out: "Somerville, all out."

After repeating this several times without arousing the woman he summoned the train crew. Failing to arouse the woman the trainment carried her from the car into the waiting room. Dr. J. P. Hecht was called to attend her. The doctor said the symptoms which her illness displayed were puzzling. After working over the woman for two hours without reviving her, Dr. Hecht ordered her removed to the Somerset Hospital, where he called in other physicians for consultation.

The doctor said to a reporter that the woman acted as though she was under the influence of some powerful drug. There was nothing about her person by which she could be identified.

The conductor said the woman was put aboard the train at Plainfield by a tall man, who said:

"The lady is not feeling well."

After making this remark the tall man went over to a policeman standing on the station platform, and as the train pulled out of the station, Conductor Vannatta says, the tall man was talking to the officer.

Upon investigation it was learned that the man who put the woman on the train was Patrolman Kelley, of the Plainfield police force, who was out as a plain-clothes man Tuesday night. Kelley says he found the woman leaning against a tree on West Front street, and that she told him she lived at Somerville, and showed her ticket, whereupon the officer escorted her to the station. While on the way to the station the officer says she told him she had recently undergone an operation for appendicitis.

Plainfielders Join in the Festivities.

Rear Admiral Coghlan, U. S. N., was the principal speaker at the quarterly meeting and banquet of the New York Commandery, Military Order Loyal Legion, held at Delmonico's, New York, last night. It was a "navy" night, and the Rear Admiral presented an interesting paper on "The Navy." Other speakers were Naval Constructor Baxter, Commander Fisk and Rev. Donald Sage Mackey.

The Plainfield members attending the meeting were Dr. Frank Wells, Captains S. C. Peck and M. C. Dobbins, Major W. D. W. Miller, Rev. Dr. Hubbell, Hugh Hastings and Walter C. Dobbins. Among the new members installed at the meeting was Hugh Janeway, a native and former resident of this city, but now of Jersey City. In the afternoon some of the members were guests of the Military Service Institution of the United States, at a meeting held on Governor's Island. Lieut.-Col. James S. Pettit, of the Eighth U. S. Infantry, read his Seaman prize paper for which he received $100.

Chairman Counihan, being a theatrical man of wide experience, is in a position to introduce many features never before seen in a local amateur affair of this kind and is being backed by his assistants to make the show overtop all previous efforts.

The exalted ruler, last night, also appointed the committee that is to arrange the Elks' annual Christmas entertainment. It consists of Charles J. Fisk, chairman; Herbert Buxton, John H. Cose, Maze Edwards, John J. Kenney, Charles A. Reed, William C. Smith, Edward M. VanBuren and W. F. Williams.

TEACHERS INSTRUCTED IN THE CARE OF PUPILS

TOLD BY DR. BUCHANAN HOW TO DETECT DISEASE.

Taking as his subject, "The Detection of Disease," Dr. J. H. Buchanan gave his second and last "health" talk to the teachers of the North Plainfield schools, yesterday afternoon. The gathering also included many parents of pupils who had been invited.

In the course of his remarks, Dr. Buchanan stated that it is highly essential that teachers should be sufficiently experienced to note any sign of illness exhibited by a pupil and to take immediate steps to dismiss him from the class. Children who are at all indisposed should not be required to remain at the desks a moment longer than necessary and it is within the teacher's privileges to send them home. But as a rule, the doctor declared, the teachers do not see diseases in their formative stages, when they are most difficult of detection, and in many cases the trouble is well advanced before the ruth is realized.

"A child who is in the full possession of his health," said the physician, "does not remain quiet for any great length of time. He is full of animal vitality that is bound to keep him looking for something to do and to rid himself of surplus energy. On the other hand, a dull eye and listless manner give warning of physical derangement and a warning for prompt action. Again, a child who is feverish or who complains several times of headaches should be sent to a physician. Another valuable aid to the detection of disease is the tongue, while a sore throat is always something to arouse suspicion. Beware of a tonsil covered with membrane and conduct a minute examination, using a microscope if necessary."

In closing Dr. Buchanan told the teachers they should never start the day's sessions without first scanning the face of every pupil to note the presence of any trouble. A sick child has no right to be in school and "it is better to make fifty mistakes in sending home than to be incautious and aid in starting an epidemic."

EASY ON CONTRACTOR

Council May Now be Satisfied With $50 Fine From Meeker.

OBSTACLE TO LENIENCY

Law May Compel the Collection of Full Penalty; But the Council is Willing to Take Considerably Less.

The question of penalizing Contractor C. M. Meeker for his failure to finish the macadamizing work in the West End on time gave rise to a lengthy debate at the Common Council meeting last night. The discussion hinged on the extent to which Meeker should suffer for his laxity. It was finally decided that a stipulated sum, in the neighborhood of $50, imposed as a fine, would serve the purposes of a deterrent penalty, and save the Council from committing the injustice of forcing Meeker to pay more than he could afford to lose on the contract by claiming the total sum due under the $10-a-day forfeit clause. There is a question, however, as to the city's right to do anything with the clause except ignore it, and the matter was referred to Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh.

Chairman Wilson, of the street committee, introduced the subject by offering a resolution providing for the infliction of the full penalty. The work should have been completed on November 15, and the contractor is liable, under the forfeit clause, to suffer a reduction of $10 for every day the work has run on since then. The contract is practically completed, so that the city might, if it saw fit, withhold about $300.

Councilman Tolles protested against the action proposed by Mr. Wilson. He thought the full penalty two exacting and too severe to be borne by the contractor. It developed in the course of debate that Meeker's contracts amount to $11,240, but Mr. Tolles held to the contention that a fine of $50 would be a penalty sufficienty deterrent to serve the city's purpose. He said Meeker had been held up through no fault of his own by lack of slag and other materials.

Mr. Bullock called attention to the fact that Meeker had been repeatedly ordered to hurry the work and warned over and over again of the penalty that overhung him, without seeming effort on his part to live up to the contract. He did not think it might be well to tax the contractor if he had been delayed in getting material, but if he had merely been paying attention to private work, something certainly should be done to him.

Mr. Wilson declared Meeker had done just that, and after repeated warnings from himself and Commissioner Gavett. Meeker seemed to think the penalty could not be enforced.

Mr. Gloak supported Mr. Tolles in his contention that $50 was a sufficient penalty. Mr. Wilson asked if such a limit on the penalty would not invalidate the whole clause. Mr. Randolph moved to table the matter until the work was completed, but the motion was not seconded and the debate went on.

Mr. Hibbard hazarded the opinion that the limited fine would invalidate the clause. President Daniel, who is a lawyer, and a very good one, agreed with him.

Mr. Higham recounted his personal experience of Meeker's laxity in getting at the Monroe avenue work and argued that the contractor was entitled to no particular consideration. After some scattering debate the consensus of opinion shaped itself in favor of a small fine if that course could legally be followed. On Mr. Tolles' motion it was voted unanimously to refer the matter to the corporation counsel, with the request to devise, if possible, some means whereby the penalty "for a less number of days than the whole number in default" might be collected.

Another street matter awoke debate earlier in the meeting. When Mr. Wilson, after the president's call for protesting property owners had brought no response, called up the ordinance providing for more West End macadamizing on its third reading, Mr. Tolles repeated his original protest against the work.

"It is too late in the year for such work as that," he said. "It will come under the control of the new Council and it should be left for them to inaugurate."

Mr. Gloak echoed Mr. Tolles. "The work should have been taken up at the beginning of the year," he continued. "I move the matter be tabled."

The motion was not seconded.

"We could not do the work earlier," explained Mr. Wilson. "The grade was not laid."

The vote on the ordinance was 7 to 3, Messrs. Gloak, Tolles and Randolph voting nay.

Two tax protests were received.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Bids for the work of opening and deepening the ditch on the Sanford property will be received by the Council at a meeting to be held Monday night. The work will commence at Bonegut creek; the contractor must engage to clean out the present ditch to an average depth of two and a half feet for a distance of 900 feet along the Hill property, to the Sanford line; dig a new ditch from the Sanford place for about 1,500 feet, to the line of the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Co. property. This new ditch is to be four feet wide at the top and three feet wide at the bottom. The contractor must remove all brush and trees eight feet from the center line on both sides, and level back the dirt for a distance of six feet on each side. When the job is done the present nuisance growing out of the ditch will be permanently done away with.

Local women and some of the men are interested in the plan of the New Brunswick storekeepers to run free trolley excursions to that city for the accommodation of shoppers. Washington, Dec. 14—Congressmen have troubles of their own, and New Jersey Representatives are no exception to the general rule. With the adoption of the civil service rules and examinations for positions in the different departments they were relieved of much annoyance. At the Capitol, however, there is no civil service examinations and appointments to the different positions are not always made because of the peculiar fitness of the individual for the place, but because he happens to be the protege of some Congressman to whom the position has been assigned as his share of the House patronage.

New Jersey has fared well for a dozen years so far as the distribution of patronage is concerned. When the voters of New Jersey swept the race track gamblers out of power and elected John W. Griggs Governor of New Jersey a solid delegation of Republican Congressmen was elected. There was a general reorganization of the force of employes of the House of Representatives.

As usual, there was a general scramble of the Congressmen to get all the "plums" possible from the "patronage tree." A combination was formed of some of the Western Congressmen, and some of the Eastern representatives were allowed to participate. It was humorously known as the "hog combine," but its originators were successful in carrying out some "deals," and those who participated were taken care of, in accord with the agreement.

It was found that the votes of the New Jersey delegation could be used in carrying out some of the "deals" affecting the patronage of the House of Representatives. Representative H. C. Loudenslager, of Camden, had served one term in Congress. He was, therefore, better posted about the "division of the spoils" than his colleagues, fresh from the Mosquito State, to make their debut in the halls of the national legislative body.

Mr. Loudenslager was approached by some of the men interested in the "combine." He conferred with his colleagues, and New Jersey's share of the patronage was apportioned among the Congressmen. If Mr. Loudenslager got the lion's share it was not to be wondered it, since he was instrumental in the Jerseymen getting more than would have fallen to their lot had they remained outside of the "combine."

It is expected that New Jersey will lose one of the places which has been charged up against the State ever since the late Vice President Garret A. Hobart was first elected. Among the positions which fell to the lot of the Vice President was one of chief telegrapher of the Senate. Mr. Hobart brought William Jeffers, of Hackensack down, and he was installed in charge of the telegraph business of the Senate. He filled the place with ability for several years.

Mr. Jeffers is an expert telegrapher. He made scores of friends among the Senators. When Vice President Hobart died he was so popular that he held the position indefinitely, which is not often the case, for as soon as an employe at the Capitol loses his "influence" his head generally falls into the basket without any delay. Mr. Jeffers, it is expected, will be named for postmaster at Hackensack, and his place will probably be filled by the appointment of some friend or protege of Vice President Fairbanks. As a result this will be a distinct loss to New Jersey.

Donald McLean, of Paterson, is secretary for United States Senator John Kean. He also acts as clerk of the Senate committee on contingent expenses. Mr. McLean is exceptionally well posted in the routine of the Capitol and the various departments.

Trained as a Washington correspondent, George W. Rouzer is an invaluable aid to United States Senator John F. Dryden, of Newark. He has had experience in the departments, knows the "ins and outs" of official life, and there are few men better qualified to discharge the arduous duties of taking charge of the diversified interests of a United States Senator. Mr. Rouzer displays his splendid executive ability as clerk of the committee on enrolled bills.

Serving for a number of years with the late General Sewell, of Camden, Colonel William M. Palmer is still with the committee on enrolled bills as an assistant to Mr. Rouzer. Colonel Palmer is a veteran of the Civil War, serving in that contest with distinction, and he was also on the late General Sewell's staff in the New Jersey National Guard. Harry Sheik, one of the brightest stenographers of the Prudential force, and a resident of Newark, is Mr. Rouzer's righthand man, and often takes dictation from Senator Dryden.

New Jersey has a few more men in the employ of the Senate. W. H. K. Depue, of Warren county, is often in charge of one of the principal galleries at the Senate, and when the receptions are held at the White House Mr. Depue's services are in demand. On account of his wide acquaintance with the Senators and public men he assists at the receptions. W. E. Burns, a telephone operator; H. L. Hart and M. R. Sutherland, employes of the Senate folding room, are all Jerseymen.

When Congressman Loudenslager made known his wishes with reference to the patronage, he selected clerk. He had a Camden man for one of the most responsible places in the gift of the House, that of chief the position, William J. Browning, formerly postmaster at Camden. Mr. Browning is the righthand man of Major A. McDowell, the clerk of the House. There are few employes more popular than he, and he has made scores of friends among the Democrats as well as Republicans. The position calls for plenty of executive ability and tact, and Mr. Browning seems to be endowed witn more than his share of these excellent qualities.

John G. Shreve, a well known newspaper man of Atlantic City, is clerk of the committee on labor. He has held this position for a dozen years, and he is so well posted on all labor questions that he is recognized as an expert. Mr. Shreve divides his time between this city and his home, and between conducting his newspaper at home and looking after the committee work he is a busy man. John Hoagland, of Camden, is an efficient assistant to Mr. Shreve.

Frank H. Barto, of Camden, is clerk of the committee on pensions, of which Mr. Loudenslager is the chairman. Mr. Barto is one of the most expert stenographers at the Capitol, and he is well liked as clerk because of his uniform courtesy and good nature. M. E. Matlack, a Mount Holly lawyer, acts as printing clerk, and in the position finds plenty of opportunity to exercise his technical training.

J. M. Thompson, of New Egypt, one of the Republican leaders in Ocean county, is the chief telegrapher of the House of Representatives. Mr. Thompson was trained on the Pennsylvania Railroad. He is an expert in his line, and has hosts of friends in the House because of his courtesy and attention to business. Other Jerseymen on the House side of the Capitol are William Dunn and T. E. Meeker, members of the Capitol police force; G. C. Randall, of Camden, an assistant to John W. Herndon, of the office of the folding room, and John Meshaw and Simon Beebe, who are janitors.

RECEIVER FOR PRINTERY.

Large Concern at Elizabeth—Liabilities About $70,000.

Elizabeth, Dec. 14.—The failure of the United Educational Company, of this city, printers and publishers of educational magazines and books, is announced. The firm's liabilities are said to be $70,000 and its nominal assets are placed at $180,000.

The plant was only removed to Elizabeth from New York some months ago, and occupied the building at 16 Jefferson street, formerly used by the Staples Printing Company.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the United Educational Company and John K. Creevey has been appointed receiver, he giving a bond for $20,000. The collapsed company was formed in New York last May with a capital of $300,000. Its offices were at 61 Sixty-ninth street, New York. The officers were Frederick R. Babcock, president and general manager, and Edward L. Kellogg, vice-president.

The firm has had trouble with its help since coming to Elizabeth, several of the girls employed in the bookbinding department going on strike because of alleged tyranny on the part of the forewoman, who belongs in Brooklyn, and on whom the strikers placed a boycott.

Debs Scores the Capitalists.

Paterson, Dec. 14.—Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist leader, spoke before a large crowd at Helvetia Hall Tuesday night, under the auspices of the local branch of Industrial Workers of the World. He made a strong denunciation of capitalists and received an enthusiastic reception. He spoke of the time when this country took up its fight for independence; told how it conquered the troops of King George. "We told the world then that we could get along without King George, and I tell you now that we can get along without 'King' Johnny Rockefeller and 'King' Andy Carnegie."

Dr. Lloyd Again Declines Bishopric.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 14.—Rev. Dr. Arthur S. Lloyd, missionary secretary of the Episcopal Church in America, yesterday sent from New York his official declination of the coadjutor-bishopric of Southern Virginia. A new bishop will be elected at Portsmouth in May. Rev. Dr. Tucker, of Norfolk; Rev. Dr. Bryan, of Petersburg, and Rev. Dr. John Lloyd, of Lynchburg, are prominently mentioned for the bishopric. Dr. Arthur Lloyd had previously declined the bishopric of Mississippi and Kentucky.

Jersey Guests at Wedding.

Washington, Dec. 14—Miss Louise Kauffmann, daughter of S. H. Kauffmann, was married Tuesday afternoon to Dr. John Crayke Simpson, formerly of Selin's Grove, Pa., but for many years a resident of the capital. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Satterlee. Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Benson, of Passaic, N. J., and Mrs. A. J. McGrath, of Newark, N. J.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

From present indications, the John Drew performance at the New Plainfield will be a record breaker. The call for seats has continued steadily since the sale began and it has already gone beyond any advance since the house opened.

Mrs. Lottie Blair Parker's latest play, "The Redemption of David Corson," which was seen for the first time on any stage in this city, has proved one of the greatest dramatic successes of the year in the Middle West. It has been greeted with crowded houses everywhere and has received the unanimous approbation of the press. It is at Louisville, Ky., this week and will remain in that vicinity until spring.

Plans are now being drawn for the new playhouse at Perth Amboy which will be ready next season and which is to be leased by Manager Counihan, of this city. It will be the first modern theatre the place has ever had and will be patterned after the one here. It will cater to more than 30,000 people.

If the average Plainfielder puffs himself up tonight and tries to look his prettiest, he is excusable. What with Raymond Hitchcock, Richard Harding Davis and Henry W. Savage in town, not to mention a half dozen other lesser celebrities in the literary and theatrical world, the best of us might be pardoned for sniffing at the Great White Way.

Did you ever notice what a nice, orderly lot of little fellows they are that fill up the seats in the "pit" at the New Plainfield. The ear-splitting, nerve-racking whistle that used to fairly tear the paper off the wall at Music Hall is missing, and as for "guying" anyone on the stage, the mere mention of it is enough to make them look aghast.

Sober and sedate Sam Cunningham, who presides over the destinies of the New Plainfield theatre box office, is responsible for the following: "While Nat Goodwin was spending a vacation in the Adirondacks a few summers ago, he sat at a hotel table, presided over by a genial, old darky waiter, who was very attentive. One day Nat asked him his name and he replied, "George Washington, sah." "George Washington, George Washington," repeated the actor in a reminiscent sort of way, "it seems to me I've heard that name before." " 'Deed yo' have," exclaimed the delighted old colored man, "I'se been waitin' on dis hyah table fo' ten years."

May Be Incendiaries' Work.

New Brunswick, Dec. 14.—Incendiaries seem to be pursuing the Fleischmanns at Millstone. A large hay barn on the Udo Fleischmann place was burned Tuesday evening. A week ago the large barns and outbuildings were destroyed by a mysterious fire, which imperiled a number of valuable horses. A short time prior to that the stables at the Fleischmann farms and training track were burned under suspicious circumstances. The barn burned Tuesday night is on a farm adjoining the Mettler farm. John Mettler saw two men running away from the fire. Other neighbors saw the same men. When it was discovered that a fire had been set a suspicion was directed against the two men and searching parties were organized. The search is being kept up.

—Tickets for the concert to be given by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra this evening may be obtained at drug stores.

REASONS FOR THE BOLT

Colbyites Issue Statement Which is Read at the Caucus.

TO BE UNHAMPERED

Say They Desire to be in a Position to Carry Out Pledges for Equal Taxation and Limited Franchises.

After the Colbyites bolted the House caucus at Trenton Tuesday, Assemblyman Martin, on their behalf, read a statement in the nature of an ultimatum from the Colby men, declaring that they would be bound by no caucus, and stating that they desired a speaker who would favor their principles of equal taxation and limited franchises. The statement in full follows:

"The undersigned, members-elect of the New Jersey House of Assembly, have decided that it is our duty to state our position with regard to our relations to the other members elected upon the Republican ticket, in reference to the organization of the House and action upon bills which may be introduced therein.

"We decline to be bound by any caucus upon any matter which would adversely affect the passage of the bills popularly known as the equal taxation limited franchise measures, to which we were pledged in the recent campaign. We are always ready to confer with the other members elected on the Republican ticket in reference to these or other measures relating to matters of party policy.

"Our desire is to have a speaker elected who is committed to the principles of equal taxation and limited franchises as understood by our constituents. There is no necessity in this Legislature for a caucus, for the reason that the Democrats only have three members of the House and the Republicans do not need to caucus in order to secure the organization of the House by Republicans.

"Our action, therefore, in declining to be bound by any choice of the caucus for speaker does not imperil the election of a Republican as speaker, but our main reason for declining to be bound by a caucus in the matter of choice for speaker is this:

"We are elected upon specific understanding or pledge to the people to do everything in our power to bring about the taxation of railroad main stem at local rates, the taxation of franchises and the limitation of franchises, and the repeal or modification of the Hillery tax act. These principles have a definite and positive meaning among our constituents. By pledging us to these principles they laid down a standard and test of Republicanism which is accepted by more than one-half of the population of the State of New Jersey.

"In the past the favorite weapon for the defeat of equal taxation measures has been the appointment by the speaker to leading committees of members who were subject to the influence of men who represented the corporations. Bills sincerely aimed at the securing of equal taxation have been buried in committees and no popular pressure has been sufficient to secure their report. What the enemies of our equal tax principles have done in the past it is fair to presume they will try to do in the future and that they expect to do it by the election of the candidate for speaker whom they are earnestly supporting.

"This leading candidate for speaker is Mr. Robbins, who has been respectfully requested by us to indicate his position upon these questions. His replies have been unsatisfactory. He declines to commit himself to this standard of Republicanism. If, after all the agitation that has taken place upon this subject, he is not yet clear that our equal taxation and limited franchise principles are sound, it is fair to reason that he will continue in this state of mind during the session. In addition to this, almost every influence in the State of New Jersey, which has hitherto labored to defeat equal taxation and limited franchises is actively and vigorously supporting Mr. Robbins' candidacy.

"It is fair to presume that these people are at present against equal taxation as the same is understood by our constituents and that they see in the election of Mr. Robbins a distinct advantage to them and to the corporations which they represent.

"Under the circumstances, therefore, it is fair to assume that the agents of the corporations who are so vigorously backing Mr. Robbins expect that he will appoint committees to which equal tax bills will be referred, composed of a majority of men whom the political representatives of these corporations believe they can control. If, therefore, we vote for Mr. Robbins, we join with the avowed enemies of our equal tax principles in bringing about conditions which will seriously impair, if they do not entirely destroy all chance of securing the passage of these measures in the coming session.

"It seems to us, therefore, clear that our duty required us to vote for a candidate for speaker who publicly adheres to our principles as understood by our constituents and to the definition of Republicanism as it has been defined in these measures and in our platforms. Any other course, it seems to us, will be a violation of the colemn pledges which we have made to the people and upon the faith of which we were elected.

The statement was signed as follows: William P. Martin, Russell M. Everett, George F. Serbe, Gustav A. Kayser, Austin Colgate, Henry C. Hines, William Fellowes Morgan, Gustavus F. Sommer, Philip C. Walsh, Jr., Charles R. Underwood, G. W. Roeber, Theodore L. Bierck, Euselrus W. Arrowsmith, Jr., Edward K. Patterson, Herman A. Berg, William A. Joerg, James A. Wooley, Erward K. Tucker. John J. Coyle, of Hudson, agrees, but is absent."

LITERARY NOTES.

In her novelette, "The Outsider," which opens the January number of The Smart Set, Beatrix Demarest Lloyd has written an exquisite romance of Italy, a story of rare literary charm and distinction. So delightful is the atmosphere of this tale, and so delicate is the art revealed, that it should take rank with Harland's "The Cardinal's Snuff-Box." This is high praise indeed, but a reading of the story will justify it. The new year opens auspiciously for The Smart Set. Short fiction in great abundance is to be found in the same issue. A delightfully humorous story, "In Vino Veritas," by Gertrude Lynch, should attract much attention. It tells of a young man who imbibes too freely before attending a smart reception. There he proposes to a girl and straightway forgets all about it. The ethics of such a situation are cleverly dealt with by Miss Lnych. "The Adequate Egerton," by Roland Franklyn Andrews, is another charming story, with a touch of Wall street and a happy ending. Marion Hill, in "The Great Perhaps," writes powerfully of an unhappy marriage, dealing with a question which will interest every reader. "Anne Houghton, Star," is a story of theatrical life by a new writer who is certain to be heard from again. The note of pathos in this graphic page from an actress' life will appeal strongly to women. Really humorous stories are difficult to find. In this issue there are two which will be enjoyed: "Mitland, of the Blues," by Ellis Parker Butler, and "Bridget, Buster of Busts," by William Hamilton Osborne; and there are other contributions from Alice MacGowan, Johnson Morton, George Bronson-Howard, Arthur H. Adams and W. C. Morrow.

"TELEPHONE" MEN WANTED.

Albany and Washington Detectives to See Elizabeth Captives.

Elizabeth, Dec. 14.—The arrest of Lawrence Brown and Edward Wilson, the young men suspected of knowing something about thefts in this city attributed to two men who pretended they were telephone repairers, is regarded by the police as an important capture. The prisoners are wanted in several places, among others Washington, D. C., and Albany, N. Y. Chief Sylvester, of the Washington police, sent a detective with witnesses from there this morning to identify the men, while Chief of Police Hyatt, of Albany, has also sent a couple of detectives to bring the men to that city.

All the detectives will get here this afternoon. Just to whom the prisoners will be turned over has not yet been determined by the Elizabeth authorities, but this will be settled at a conference which will be held after the arrival of the Washington and Albany detectives. Meanwhile other places may be heard from.

Former School Commissioner Samuel L. Moore, of this city, claims that his servant girl is entitled to the principal credit for the capture of the offenders, as she says she caught one of them taking money out of a bureau drawer in the house and then quickly sent word to the police, while, she says, the thieves were searching the house for more plunder.

The local police have learned of a theft in Washington, where $1,500 worth of valuables were taken. The victim is William E. Boulter, of S street, northwest.

Half a score of detectives from various cities and towns in New Jersey, including a couple of Newark, visited police headquarters here this morning to see if they could identify Wilson and Brown. What the outcome of their examination of the prisoners was the police authorities here will not reveal. Three women, whose homes were robbed, also saw the prisoners.

A reporter learned today that, in addition to entering the home of John W. Whelan, secretary and treasurer of Senator Kean's water company, Wilson and Brown likewise gained admission to the residences of Peter M. Kling, former manager of the Stephenson Car Works; Rev. John A. Stuchell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Robert Morrell, a New York coal merchant, and vestryman of the Trinity Episcopal church here, all of whom live on one block of South Broad street. Wilson had $25 in his pocket when arrested.

Governor Will Be Invited.

Trenton, Dec. 14.—Plans have been launched by the committee of twenty of the Republican Club for a reception which will be tendered by the club to Governor Stokes and United States Senators Kean and Dryden. The naming of the exact date and the other details were left to a sub-committee of seven, which will be appointed by Alexander C. Yard, chairman of the main committee. It was decided that the reception would take place during January. Besides Governor Stokes and Senators Kean and Dryden, the guests of honor, other guests will be present.

NEW STYLE OF CAR.

Inventor Says It Will Attain Double the Speed Now Attained.

Syracuse, Dec. 14.—James N. Vandegrift in a paper before the Syracuse Technical Club Monday night announced that the Westinghouse Company was building a car invented by him which will run at double the speed now attained and will carry passengers from New York to Chicago in ten hours less than the Twentieth Century Limited and from Syracuse to New York in an hour and a half.

His plan is to have four wheels on a car placed one ahead of another and running on a third rail between the two rails now used. The cars will be pointed at the ends to reduce the resistance of theair and to lessen the danger in case of a collision. The motor cycle train will be kept in an upright position by wheels and rollers running on the two outside tracks. These will serve to keep the cars upright when not in motion.

When the train is in motion, according to Mr. Vandegrift, it will maintain its own equilibrium, as does a bicycle on the gyroscope principle, and the faster it travels the safer it will be. Mr. Vandegrift figures that as a great many accidents are due to track jumping or derailment from one cause or another the new method of travel will be safer than the old.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR MILLIONS.

Jerseyites Want Share of Industrial Community Assets.

Jersey City, Dec. 14.—For the millions of dollars accumulated by the quaint Harmony society in its industrial community in Economy, Pa. where George Rapp, a strange character, for years held sway as "patriarch," a stubborn contest is to be fought by three New Jersey women

Mrs. Elizabeth Munn, of 27 East First street, Bayonne; Mrs. L. R. Tyron, of the same address, and Mrs. Ada Eeveritt, of 28 Boyd avenue, Jersey City Heights, are so positive that they are Rapp's oldest living heirs and that they can prove their legal right to the money, that they have referred their case to Charles E. S. Simpson, of 286 Newark avenue, this city, and John Cadwalader, Jr., of Philadelphia, as counsel, to prepare it for its submission to the Beaver county (Pa.) court of common pleas.

The funds, which the women claim amounts to at least $5,000,000, are held by John S. Duss, known in New York as a band master and advocate of education through music, who became the third "patriarch" of the society, and, by virtue of that position, custodian of its wealth.

WIFE ANNOYS HIM.

Says She Pesters Him When at His Business.

Vice Chancellor Stevenson, sitting in Jersey City, was asked yesterday by William M. Abbott, of Hoboken, to issue an injunction restraining his wife, Catharine, from interfering with him in his business.

Abbott insited that the woman shall let him alone during business hours, as she jeopardizes his position as ticket agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Abbott has an office at 112 River street, Hoboken. In his bill he sets up that his business carries him quite often to the Hamburg-American piers in Hoboken. The couple have been at swords' points some time. On November 4, it is alleged, when he was on the steamship pier, his wife appeared and began to talk angrily to him before a crowd, creating a scene.

He alleges that when the story of the incident reached the ears of his superiors he was told that if there was a recurrence of the scene he would lose his job.

The Vice Chancellor after listening to counsel said he could not grant an injunction, but he did grant a rule to show cause.

ASSAULTED AGED EDITOR.

Thirty Days in Jail for Knocking Him Down.

Charged with a brutal assault on Mark A. Ward, the veteran city editor of the Orange Journal, John Gannonfi thirty-five years old, residing on Main street, Orane, was sent yesterday to the county jail for thirty days by Police Justice Bray. Only for the intercession of Mr. Ward, Gannon would probably have been sent to the penitentiary for six months.

Mr. Ward, who is more than seventy years old, started home from his office about 2 a. m. Saturday. He met Gannon on Cone street. Gannon was drunk, and as he passed gave Mr. Ward a push that stretched the old man sprawling in the gutter. Surprised and indignant, Mr. Ward picked himself up and demanded of Gannon his reason for striking him. Gannon then clenched his fist and struck Mr. Ward a terrific blow which knocked him out between the car tracks unconscious. Two men standing near interfered and prevented Gannon from still further beating the old man.

Cleveland Leaves Buckingham.

Former President Grover Cleveland, who has spent the last week at the Buckingham Hotel, New York, left Tuesday, but it could not be learned whether he had gone to his home in Princeton or elsewhere. It was said that he was in good health when he left the hotel.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

Problems Are Discussed at Gathering Preliminary to Conference.

New York, Dec. 14—The problems of marriage and divorce were discussed yesterday in this city by a distinguished gathering of clergymen and laymen, representing all of the great religious denominations except the Roman Catholic Church, which alone forbids absolute divorce for any cause. The meeting is being held in the Church Misssion House, with Bishop W. C. Doane, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Albany, presiding.

The purpose of the conference is to agree as to just what the Christian Church in America shall recommend in the way of divorce legislation to the interstate conference on marriage and divorce, which, on the call of Governor Pennypacker, is to assemble at Washington on February 19. The conference will be composed of commissioners from every State in the Union, appointed by their Governors, and whatever they agree on as the national policy on the subject of divorce legislation will be reflected on legislation in the separate States. It is to exert a moral effect on that convention that today's interchurch conference is held.

There is a divergence of views as to the number of causes that should be allowed for divorce. An effort is to be made in today's convention to limit the cause to ,two—infidelity and desertion. There is also, outside of the Protestant Episcopal delegates, a strong sentiment in favor of allowing ministers to remarry the innocent party in a divorce for either of these causes.

SCHOOL KISSING BEE ENDS.

Pupils Prove Too Affectionate, So the Teacher Has to Go.

Bridgeton, Dec. 14.—At a meeting of the Fairfield school board yesterday the Back Neck school affair was taken up, and it was decided to demand the resignation of the teacher, Smith Westcott, to take effect on January 6 next. The school was closed last week by three women whose children attended the school. It was alleged that there had been promiscuous kissing among the pupils, and that Westcott was unable to preserve discipline.

After they had decided to demand his resignation the board directed the three women to make a personal apology for their action and to send a written apology to the board.

1906 A YEAR OF HORROR.

Seeress Says United States Will Be Decimated by Epidemic.

Paris, Dec. 14.—Mme. de Thebes, who was accredited as court diviner to the superstitious Napoleon and Eugenie, and predicted, as it is alleged, the downfall of the Second Empire, has issued as her vaticinations for 1906 a budget of blood and horror; Germany is to come very near to a smash early in the year; South America will be contorted with wild upheavals; the United States will be decimated by an unconquerable epidemic. Madame de Thebes sums it up as a strange, extravagant, mad, incomprehensible, astonishing year.

Declares His Wife Bothers Him.

Jersey City, Dec. 14.—William M. Abbott, of 1135 Washington street, Hoboken, has come into the Court of Chancery asking it to issue an injunction restraining his wife, Catherine A. Abbott, from interfering with him in the course of his business and insisting that she let him alone during business hours, as he stands in danger of losing his job. The application for an injunction was made here to Vice Chancellor Stevenson. The injunction was denied, but a rule to show cause was granted, and next Monday, in Jersey City, Mrs. Abbott will have to explain to the court why she should not be restrained from visiting her own husband while he is working.

To Open Voting Machines.

Camden, Dec. 14.—Supreme Court Justice Garrison granted yesterday the application of William French, attorney for Joseph E. Nowrey, who in the recent election was defeated on the face of the returns in his contest for sheriff, to open the voting machines used in the election. Nowrey is having the shrievalty vote recounted. The order issued by Justice Garrison is the first of its kind. The justice says that the general election law in the matter of a recount also applies to voting machines. The votes in the ballot boxes recounted so far give Nowrey ninety-four more than the original count.

Inasmuch as Councilmen Tyler and Bullock have preferred charges against Chief of Police Kiely, it is to be presumed that they will not sit at the trial. In all probability, the Councilmanic jury on Tuesday night will consist of but nine members.

It is indeed laudable on the part of the city to give some attention to the pests that are destroying the beautiful trees adorning the splendid thoroughfares of this city. But its plan of campaign is not one that will strike the average citizen as a wise one. In fact it looks like throwing good money away, and the city is not yet in a condition to become reckless with its funds. As we understand it, trees covered with the San Jose and Cottony Maple scales are to be sprayed with a liquid that will kill the pests. This work is to be confined solely to the trees along public streets. But how about the trees on private property? If they are to remain in their present condition, what is the sense of doing anything at all? The whole proposition is about as rational as it would be to quarantine a block or two should an epidemic of any sort strike this city. To be effective the remedy must be general. Otherwise it is of no avail.

It is seldom that we can agree with Chairman Wilson, of the councilmanic street committee, but his position at the Common Council meeting last night regarding the unfulfilled macadamizing contract was, to say the least, a very sensible one. The city agreed to pay C. M. Meeker over $11,000 for certain street work. When the time limit expired, it was extended. But even on November 15, when the extension itself expired, some of the work was not even started. An excuse given was that he could not get some of the necessary material. This, it will be conceded, is no fault of the city. On the other hand, the street committee and other councilmen complain that he refused to go ahead, strongly intimating that the municipality would be would be powerless to collect the penalty named in the contract. And now it has come to pass that several members of the councilmanic body do not wish to see the terms of the contract carried out. For what reason? Simply because they consider that a deduction of $300 from the bill would be a hardship. If Mr. Meeker be allowed to break his agreement, in the future what contractor will live up to his agreements?

WORK OF INCENDIARIES.

Torch Again Applied to Property of Udo Fleischmann.

The hay barn on the Udo Fleischmann place, near Millstone, was destroyed by fire early yesterday. It had evidently been set afire by an incendiary. A week ago a similar fire destroyed other barns and endangered several valuable blooded horses. A month ago the barns at the race track and the training stables were burned.

It is supposed all these fires were the work of a revengeful incendiary. Detectives are hunting for two men who are said to have been seen running from the barn yesterday just as the blaze started.

STATE LIBRARY REPORT ISSUED

ACCESSION OF 3,417 BOOKS AND PAMPHLETS MADE DURING LAST YEAR.

The annual report of State Librarian Henry C. Buchanan, which has been submitted to Governor Stokes, shows that during the year 3,417 books and pamphlets have been added to the library, making the present total 71,057. The accessions during the year included the following: From the United States Government, 964; from other States and Territories in exchange, 793; through donations, 505; bought for the law library, 386; bought for the reference library, 633; daily and weekly newspapers donated, 56; received from the custodion of the Capitol, 80. Among other things, Librarian Buchanan in his report says:

"Of the $4,500 made available for the purchase and binding of books during the year, $1,830.28 was spent for the 386 volumes added to the law library, $1,178.95 for binding and repairs, about $1,350 for books, magazines and newspapers bought for the reference library and $139.76 lapsed into the State fund. Included in the amount spent on the reference library is $361.15 for books and pamphlets relating especially to New Jersey. The sale of the library of a collector brought to light more than 150 pamphlets, some of them exceedingly scarce, which were not in the State Library.

"Of the purchases made for the reference library, 239 were books and pamhplets relating to the history of New Jersey and municipalities, institutions and families of the State; and of the contributions made, 396 were of material of the same character. Besides, there were 322 duplicates donated, which were exchanged for other books that are included in the figures already given.

"Early in the present calendar year all of the alterations and improvements which were under way at the time the last report was made were completed, and the State Library is now in better condition in every respect than at any time in its history. The increased shelfroom has made it possible to rearrange and make more readily accessible the books in the law department and to classify by the decimal system and rearrange those in the reference department.

"A new and complete manuscript catalogue of the law library has been made, and during the year the dictionary card catalogue of the reference department has been practically completed. The latter includes about 38,000 separate words. In the report of 1899 it was stated that it would cost $4,000 to introduce the card system, but by extending the work over a period of years it has been possible to complete it at a trifling cost above the price of the blank cards and the subscription to such of the printed cards made by the Library of Congress as were of use.

"The books in the library are now in good condition. During the year many volumes which were damaged by the double moving when the alterations were made a year ago have been rebound or repaired, as have those which were badly worn by use. The cost of binding and rebinding and repairing books during the year has been $1,178.95, to meet which a special appropriation of $1,000 was made by the Legislature at its last session.

"At a meeting of the commissioners of the State Library held on February 28, the librarian was authorized to have rebound in separate sets one set of the legislative documents, in order that they might be rendered more accessible for use. These documents, which consist of the messages of the Governors and the reports of the various State departments and institutions, were printed in the Assembly minutes and the Senate journal during the early days of the government; but about 1840 they were collected together and bound separately under various names, such as New Jersey reports, legislative reports, legislative pamphlets, appendix to House journal, appendix to Assembly minutes and appendix to Senate journal, until 1862, when they were designated as legislative documents, and by that title have since been known.

"For several years the legislative documents have comprised five large volmues annually, and until five years ago there was nothing on the outside to direct one to the particular document for which he was searching. In 1900, the State printing board directed that the contents of each volume be printed on the "back title," and, while that proved to be a great help and time saver, it did not meet the requirements.

"In compliance with the instructions of the commissioners, a set of documents covering the period between 1847 and 1904 was broken up and the messages and reports gathered together and rebound, so that one seeking information concerning a department or institution has before him, in a few volumes, all of the official publications that have been made. There still remains in the library a complete set of the documents, in their orginial form, covering the same period of time."

WOMEN WHO HOLD FEDERAL OFFICES

THERE ARE NOW OVER 11,000 OF THEM IN SERVICE OF THE GOVERNMENT.

It is more than forty years since General Spinner, who has been called "the father of the employment of women in the federal service," found places for a few women in the Treasury Department at Washington. He was then treasurer of the United States, and there was a great dearth of eligible employes in consequence of the drafts made upon the young men of the country by the employment of women in place of men, and the idea which he started has gone on almost uninterruptedly since, but not to the extent that is popularly supposed.

By the last government report it appears that there are 122,000 men in the federal service of the government as clerks, bureau chiefs and messengers, of whom not one-half receive $850 a year or less.

There are 11,250 women and girls in the federal departments, of whom 6,363, somewhat more than half, receive less than $720 a year. Of this number in the Treasury Department, 1,500 in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, 1,000 in the Indian service, 650 in the Government Printing office, 209 in the War Department, 950 in the Pension Office, 80 in the Navy Department, 729 in the Department of Agriculture and 19 in the Department of State.

Less than ten per cent. of the federal employes are women, and a great majority of them hold minor positions at small pay. An outcry was made after the close of the Civil War by those who feared that by the employment of women and girls men were deprived of a fair chance of livelihood in Washington, but the fact is that the number of men has increased very much more largely than the number of women in federal departments during the last twenty-five years.

HEART-TO-HEART TALK WITH COLBY

GOVERNOR STOKES AND HE HAD IMPORTANT CONFERENCE AL CAPITOL.

Trenton, Dec. 14.—According to some interesting reports that were circulated here yesterday, Governor Edward C. Stokes and Senator-elect Everett Colby had a heart-to-heart talk late Tuesday afternoon that may be of considerable benefit to the Republican party in the Legislature during the coming session by reason of it making known to Mr. Colby the fact that the State executive and the general administration and its friends are not so widely separated from the Colby and Fagan representatives as the latter have been believing.

It was stated also that as a result of the talk there might be held within a short time a conference between the Governor and some of the Colby-Fagan section of the Republican party, at which there will be a move made to get on a more friendly footing.

The talk between the executive and Senator-elect took place in the Governor's private office, when Mr. Colby happened to go there on some matter or other. It was said that the Governor, after the transaction of the immediate business that carried Mr. Colby to the office, gave some advice to the Senator-elect and let him know that supposed differences of opinion on important legislative matters that are to come up at the next session of the Legislature had little existence in fact.

According to the report, the Governor told Mr. Colby that there was no need for the latter to stay away from his office on account of the hypothetical differences over party matters and that considerable good might have been and might still be accomplished if the Colbyites were willing to at least talk over matters, instead of estranging themselves completely by never consulting with the other elements of the party.

It was said that Mr. Colby was considerably surprised when the Governor and he considered pertinent subjects of the day, and that they found they were not very far apart on pending important matters.

The Governor, according to the report, expressed a willingness to have Mr. Colby bring a party of the more conservative Essex and Hudson men to the Capitol before the opening of the session, so that various subjects could be talked over in time to bring about harmony during the session.

It is not known whether the action of the Essex and Hudson members of the House in leaving the Republican caucus was discussed. The talk, it is believed, will remove considerable rancor.

$125 STUD IN SOILED SHIRT.

Laundry Helper Kept It and Is Charged with Larceny.

When Mrs. Remellow, of Tottenville, S. I., sent her husband's laundry to a New Brunswick laundry she forgot to take from the bosom of one shirt a $125 diamond stud. What Mrs. Remellow neglected to do was done by Walter Carlos, a clerk in the laundry. He was neglectful in other directions, for he did not notify the proprietor or the owner of the stud.

Two days later he left the laundry and went to work in a saloon. When Remellow missed the stud it was traced to the laundry. A detective found Carlos, who denied that he knew anything of the jewel. The detective put him through the third degree and then he produced the diamond. He was lodged in jail on a charge of larceny and will be given a hearing this morning.

Carlos arrived in New Brunswick from the West some time ago. He was active in Young Men's Christian Association work and through the influence of the secretary of the local association was given work in the laundry.

MARMO GETS A STAY.

Everything Was in Readiness for His Execution This Morning.

Trenton, Dec. 14.—United States District Court Judge Lanning refused today to grant an application for a writ of habeas corpus for Guiseppi Marmo, the Newark wife murderer. The refusal acts as a stay of execution until the United States Supreme Court can hear the appeal which will be taken. Marmo was to have been hanged tomorrow in Newark.

Henry Pomerehne made the application, which was based upon a claim of newly discovered evidence and also on the contention that Marmo is insane.

All was in readiness in Newark to hang Marmo when the news of the stay reached that city. The gallows had been erected and Marmo was to have been executed at 10 o'clock this morning.

Rode Off on Cop's Wheel.

Roundsman John Flynn is riding a rocky-looking wheel instead of his Cleveland roadster, and hopefully waiting for the rectification of the mistake that brought the change about. The Cleveland disappeared from in front of the postoffice yesterday afternoon while the officer was mailing a letter. Somebody in a hurry jumped on it without looking carefully and left a Red Zone wheel behind.

JACKSON HAS NEW ANTI-TOXIN BILL

MIDDLESEX ASSEMBLYMAN KEEPS UP HIS FIGHT.

Assemblyman Frank Henry tried last year to have passed by the Legislature a bill providing for the establishment of a State Laboratory for the manufacture and dispensing of diphtheria anti-toxin free to the inhabitants of this State. He was unsuccessful and this year Senator Jackson proposes to make an effort in this direction. He has had prepared a bill which he will introduce, a copy of which will be found below:

"An act to provide for the free distribution of diphtheria anti-toxin to the inhabitants of this State.

"Whereas, The preparation known as diphtheria anti-toxin has become of vital importance in the treatment and prevention of the spread of diphtheria; but, by reason of the cost at which same may be purchased, it is impracticable to use same to any great extent; therefore

"Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

"The State Board of Health shall provide such laboratory or laboratories, apparatus, materials and other requirements necessary to make or prepare and distribute, without charge, in sufficient quantities to supply the inhabitants of this State, diphtheria anti-toxin in such manner, through local boards of health, or otherwise, as the said State Board of Health shall, by rules, determine.

"This act shall take effect immediately."

NURSERY PACKAGE PARTY.

To Be Held on January 1 by King's Daughters.

Completion of plans for the opening of the King's Daughters' Day Nursery in this city were discussed at a meeting of the committee at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this morning. It has been decided to open the nursery on January 1 with a package party. Friends will be asked to bring tea, coffee, sugar, potatoes, cereals, canned goods and other articles which will be useful in such an institution. The women in charge will hold a tea.

The nursery will be opened for children between January 1 and 15, and in the meantime the property will be put in condition. The matron will be at the nursery from January 1.

The Juniors have completed arrangements for the presentation of a flag for the new High School building. The flag will be formally turned over to the Board of Education as soon as the building is finished.

A DOLL THREE FOOT TALL
To Be Given Away This Holiday Season.

An unusually attractive member of the Doll Family may be seen in one of our show windows.

This doll is as large as many children at two years of age and wears clothes made for the average child of that age. Her hair is "real hair" and can be combed and brushed. Her big brown eyes are amazingly expressive and close in sleep in the most life-like manner.

But the most interesting fact about this doll is the manner in which she will enter and gladden some home this Christmas time.

We offer to give this doll absolutely free to the customer who makes the greatest number of purchases at this store between now and December 21.

To determine this, the customer who presents the greatest number of "duplicate checks" (regardless of the amount of the purchase) at this store on Thursday, December 21, will be entitled to the doll and will receive same by calling at the store Saturday evening, December 23, at 10 o'clock.

A "duplicate check" is given each customer with every purchase at this store.

THE DOLL FAMILY
have again made their headquarters with us for another Holiday season. This year there is an unusual number of them and all seem brighter and happier than ever.

If you wish to see most of them you had better come soon, for they are fast separating to their new homes.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Dec. 17: "What Methodism Stands For"—I Tim. iii, 14-16; I Pet. ii, 9.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

It was well remarked years since, by one who was not himself a Methodist, that Methodism is Christianity in earnest.

It is not claimed that any new doctrinal truth has been discovered by us. We make no assumption of superiority to others in the regularity of our descent or orders in the ministry. Our mode of government is not supposed to be superior to all others. But what we do and have from the first emphasized is the necessity for indwelling piety and an outward life that corresponds. We aim to live after the New Testament model.

It has come to pass in the process of time that we have naturally been led to put emphasis on those truths that are most vitally important to the inner experience of salvation. We have pressed home on men the necessity for choosing the right way, and this, in the very nature of the case, has led us to make much of the freedom of the will. But there are whole denominations of Methodists who are Calvinistic in their views of the human will. It was on this point that the Wesleys and George Whitefield separated. Yet Whitefield was as ardent a Methodist as the world ever possessed. We have not laid stress on the mode of baptism. Insisting on the supreme necessity for heart purity, we have let the outward symbol and its mode of application be largely matters of minor consideration.

The historic continuity of the church and the tracing our ministry in unbroken succession to the apostles have given us much less concern than the question of our possessing the apostolic spirit and the approval of the Lord on our work.

Our fellowship has been and is as broad as the church of Jesus Christ.

John Wesley said, "I desire a league offensive and defensive with every soldier of Jesus Christ."

We are not so broad and colorless in our views as to hold nothing distinctive in Christianity as separate from the other great religions of the world. We are exclusively and pronouncedly followers of the Man of Nazareth. We follow Him in His teachings and work, and our hope of the future is through Him. We are aggressive to spread this gospel wherever man is found. Our commission is to the whole world. If the providential indications beckon us to any place, we cannot consent to stay away because others may dislike our presence there. We will be courteous, but we will not compromise on anything less than the right and the truth.

"We live to make our church a power in the land, while we live to love every other church that exalts our Christ." This sentiment, given the league at the start by the beloved Matthew Simpson, is still our motto and should be the inner feeling of every member.

All this being true, it follows with logical precision that each should earnestly seek for himself and do what he can to help others to attain the highest New Testament standard of experience and life. Where there is such an earnest purpose formed in the soul it will soon be found that there is neither time nor relish for the questionable amusements and dissipations of the fashionable world. More and more there will be an instinctive avoidance of them, and the taste will in time grow so far away from them that they will have absolutely no attractiveness.

We are set to be leaders in this work of bringing the world to know and love Christ. Let us devote all our energies to the task and be people of one work. The world will not be smaller and less attractive, but will become more beautiful, and our lives will be happier and more helpful.

The Best Loved.

Who are the best loved people in the community? I answer unhesitatingly: They are the unselfish. They are those who have drunk deepest of the spirit of Christ Jesus. They are those who have the most effectually cut that cursed cancer of self out of their hearts and filled its place with that love that "seeketh not its own." This beautiful grace sometimes blooms out in most unexpected places. It was illustrated by the poor lad in the coal mine when a fatal accident occurred and a man came down to relieve the sufferers and the brave boy said to him: "Don't mind me. Joe Brown is a little lower down, and he's most gone. Save him first." There are enough Joe Browns who are lower down in poverty and ignorance, in weakness and in want than we are, and Christianity's first duty is to save them. It was to save sinners from sinking into the deeper pit of hell that Jesus died on Calvary. He who stoops the lowest to rescue lost souls will have the highest place in heaven. Will it not be these unselfish spirits who will have John's place up there on the Saviour's bosom and will be "the disciples whom Jesus loves?"—Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D.

Points to Impress.

That sin spells doom.

That only fools fail to learn from observation.

That struggle against sin in one's own strength is folly.

That God uses bad men to achieve some of His purposes.

That God never adopts harsh measures till nothing else will do.

That wicked men are entirely responsible for their wickedness.

That the loss of a national conscience means loss of national character.

That though we run away from punishment it always overtakes us, sooner or later.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
